CANARIES

They Are Subject to Many Diseases—How They Should Be Treated.

To neglect the cleanliness of food, cage or water is a sure means of bringing on disease. The cups should be so arranged as to be easy of access for the bird's head, and the bathing dish should be shallow and large enough to prevent the bird from injuring his plumage in his vigorous plunges.

Perches which are too small are a source of misery to the bird. They should be—when of the same size throughout—about twice the diameter of a common lead pencil.

If a young canary is observed to sleep more than usual or if it has the appearance of a puff ball, it should be taken in hand at once. Probably it is suffering from indigestion, arising from unwholesome or stale food, or from being given too many delicacies. The bird should be caught and a couple of drops of castor oil dropped down his throat, or the drinking water may be removed from the cage for a couple of hours and then put back with a few drops of cod liver oil floating on the top.

Either of these remedies will probably afford relief. The bird should then be removed to a dry, warm place and fed on crushed hemp for a few days.

Diarrhœa is caused by giving too much green food, food which is wet or decayed or stale seeds. Bad drinking water is another frequent cause.

When the first symptoms of moult are observed, give a little magnesia in the drinking water, 10 or 15 grains to a wineglassful, or put in the fountain a senna leaf, changing it every day.

To catch cold when moulting is almost always certain death to the bird. Therefore avoid drafty places for the cage.

At this time an abundance of food is necessary, and must be given by additions of a little hemp seed, white bread soaked in milk and lettuce or endive. The bird should also be kept warm.

Canaries are subject to many diseases. A common complaint is asthma. This generally arises from indigestion and yields to plaintain and rape seed moistened with water as the sole food. In very bad cases leave off hemp seed and use rape only; give abundance of bread soaked in water and pressed; lettuce or watercress, according to season; twice a week give a boiled bread and milk ball about as large as the end of the thumb.

This is made by throwing a piece of the crumb of bread into a cup of milk, boiling and stirring with a wooden spoon till it is of the consistency of pap. It must be given cold and always freshly made. If allowed to sour, it will give indigestion. This paste acts as a purge and its effects must be watched.

For overgrown claws and beak use sharp scissors and take care to avoid drawing blood. The long claws are a source of discomfort and danger, especially when the female is nesting.

A bird which is egg bound needs immediate treatment. Give coarse brown sugar and drop some sweet oil into the duct.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Singular Pet.

In a "Tour Around Hawaii," written in 1825, is this amusing description of an odd pet, the favorite of two native women:

When we reached the house of our host, the head man of Kapapala, we met a cordial reception.

Few of the Hawaiian females are without a pet, usually a dog. Here we observed a species of favorite that we had not seen before. It was a curly tailed hog about a year and a half old, three or four feet long and in tolerable order. He belonged to two sisters of our host and joined the social circle around the evening hearth.

During the evening he closely followed every movement made by his mistresses, and at supper put forth his nose and received his portion at their hands. According to custom, they washed their hands after the meal, and then passed the bowl to the hog.

At the usual time for retiring to rest these two ladies spread their mats and tapas on the ground in one corner, and, as is the usual practice, lay down to sleep with their clothes on. The hog waited very quietly till they had taken their places, when he marched over their tapas and stretched himself between them. The large tapa that covered them all was then drawn up by one of them to his ears, after which she reclined her head on a pillow by his side.

I could not forbear smiling broadly at seeing the three heads in a row. This disconcerted the women a little, and they raised their heads and the hog grunted.

The brother said that his sisters had a great attachment for the hog, having fed it since it was a few days old, and did not like to have it sleep out with the other hogs in the cold, adding that if it were put out it would make such a noise all night at the door that no one in the house would be able to sleep.

Klondike Gold.

He had spent two or three winters in the Klondike country, or said he had, and he was telling his friends about it.

"It isn't so awfully cold up there when one gets used to it, is it?" asked a listener.

"Well," he hesitated, "I don't really suppose it is; anyhow, it isn't to the one that's used to it. He don't know a thing about it. He's been froze to death a month by that time."

"Oh, indeed," stammered the inquirer, who seemed to be disturbed by the sad fate of the person accustomed to it.

"Yes, and I've seen it so cold that a bullet shot up in the air would freeze up there and not come down till the spring thaw. But that isn't as bad as it was last winter. By jingo, I'm a liar if we didn't have a Boston girl up there last winter teaching school and the weather was so cold that that Boston girl actually set the schoolhouse on fire by spontaneous combustion—she was that warm by comparison. Cold? Well, if we could only ship the cold down to this country like we can the gold you would be playing golf on snowshoes all summer long right here in the city of Detroit."—Detroit Free Press.

The Worst Part.

"I hear that burglars got into your house the other night and stole jewelry worth $500," said Collingwood.

"That wasn't the worst of it, either," replied Camperdown.

"What else was there?"

"Well, they lighted the gas all over the house and left it burning until we came home from the theater and extinguished it."—Harper's Bazar.

By using electric lights at night on beds of lettuce, radishes, spinach and similar vegetables they are brought to maturity much faster than when this artificial stimulant is not employed.

THE FIGHT AT LEXINGTON.

Senator Lodge's Account of the First Battle of the Revolution.

When Major Pitcairn got to Lexington green, about half past 4, thanks to Bowman's warning, there were some 60 or 70 men assembled to meet him. "Disperse, ye rebels, disperse!" cried Major Pitcairn, and rode toward them. There was much discussion then, and there has been much more since, as to who fired first. It matters not. It is certain that the British poured in a volley and followed it up with others. The minutemen, not yet realizing that the decisive moment had come, hesitated, some standing their ground, some scattering. They fired a few straggling shots, wounded a couple of British soldiers and drew off. Eight Americans were killed and ten wounded. One of the eight had carried the standard when American troops captured Louisburg, and thus redeemed for England an otherwise ineffective war. One was wounded and bayoneted afterward. One dragged himself to the door of his house and died on the threshold at his wife's feet.

What matters it who fired first? The first blow had been struck, the first blood shed. The people, in obedience to the orders of a provincial congress, had faced the soldiers of England in arms. They had been fired upon and had returned the fire. It was not a battle, hardly a skirmish; but it said to all the world that a people intended to govern themselves, and would die sooner than yield; a very pregnant fact, speaking much louder than words and charged with many meanings. A wholly new thing this was indeed to have people ready to die in battle for their rights, when a large part of the rulers of the civilized world did not recognize that they had any rights to either die or live for. A great example to be deeply considered, and destined to bear much fruit, was given by those brave men who died on Lexington green in the fair dawn of that April morning.—From "The Story of the Revolution," by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, in Scribner's.

MOST WHOLESOME MEALS.

Mrs. Rorer Tells the Best Foods For Different Times of Day.

In The Ladies' Home Journal Mrs. S. T. Rorer writes at length to show that Americans eat too much meat, but says she does not want to be understood as condemning meat entirely. Individually she uses "all (with the exception of pork and veal) in moderation and toward the close of the day. From long experience," she says, "I have found that a heavy morning's work can best be accomplished on a breakfast composed of a well cooked cereal and fruit, with perhaps a cup of French coffee or cereal coffee and a piece of well toasted whole wheat bread. The noonday meal, especially if work is to be continued in the afternoon, should be composed of a cream soup, with whole wheat bread, an omelet, some of the lighter forms of nitrogenous food, in the proportion of one third to two thirds carbonaceous food. Fruits, again, may be taken, if they agree—a baked banana, a baked apple, peaches, pears or any of the very ripe, subacid fruits.

"After the day's work is over and one can take time to rest and thoroughly digest a meal dinner should be served. A warm beef soup, stimulating rather than nitrogenous, should form the beginning of the meal. This may be followed by some light entree, either of fish or vegetable, then the red meat, either boiled, broiled or roasted (never fried), with its accompanying vegetable. With beef serve potatoes or macaroni as the starchy food, with mutton or chicken rice. A green vegetable should be added for its salts, and this may be onions or young peas, beans, cauliflower or spinach. The salad should follow, and with it a tiny bit of cheese, with a piece of whole wheat bread, a bread stick or a water biscuit. Then a simple, light dessert may be served."

WOMEN IN FRENCH FICTION.

Distorted Portraitures of French Wives and Mothers Presented by Novelists.

Miss Anna L. Bicknell, who lived for some years in the Tuileries as a governess in the household of Napoleon III, contributes to The Century an article on "French Wives and Mothers." This is richly illustrated by drawings by Boutet de Monvel. Miss Bicknell says:

Those who have gathered their opinions as to the real character of the average Frenchwoman from the romantic literature of the present century, more especially that of the last few years, would necessarily bear a severe judgment, tinged with a considerable amount of contempt. Such an opinion would, however, be unjust and wholly undeserved, as any impartial observer, having been privileged to share French home life, could truly tell them. The average English woman is very graphically depicted in English novels, and a foreigner can form a fair estimate of her merits and demerits from the descriptions of English domestic life presented by popular writers. But it is not so in France or in French literature. The real French gentlewoman deserves to be better understood, for she is totally unlike the heroines of modern novels, whose writers know about as much of aristocratic life as the author of "The Lady Flabella" in "Nicholas Nickleby." The pictures presented in Octave Feuillet's writings are perhaps the truest to nature as it is seen in some melancholy cases. But he himself certainly would have been ready to admit that the women he met in daily life had nothing in common with his morbid heroines. As he belonged to a good old family of the upper bourgeoisie, he had better opportunities of knowing the society which he depicted so powerfully in his novels of fashionable life than have the upstarts who describe salons of which they have never crossed the threshold.

But even in the works of Feuillet, although the frame is accurate, the portraits are those of exceptionally diseased minds. Women like Mme. de Champalion in "M. de Camors" or the dreadful Julia de Trecœur may exist in France or elsewhere, but those who know French society will certainly recognize more readily women like Mme. de Camors and her charming mother or the Suzanne of "La Clef d'Or," with the home of Sibylle and the dear old people so delightfully described there. Many examples might be quoted equally sweet and pure among the heroines of Feuillet's impassioned narratives, and one is convinced that these have been more faithfullly copied from nature than the others.

The fact is that the great majority of French novelists belong to the Bohemia of literature and are not admitted within the precincts either of aristocratic circles or of the less refined but equally strict burgeois homes. They know only the borderland, peopled in general by the wealthy and adventurous foreign set which budded and expanded during the second empire and has now taken its place by the side of French society, but not within its pale.

A Realistic Scene.

"Realism is the thing," insisted the garrulous actor while they were taking their night lunch after the show. "Nothing takes like the real sawmill, the cotton mill, train of cars, fire engine, burning block, genuine horse and all that sort of thing.

"I discovered that when I was a kid getting up amateur performances. That's where I learned human nature before we youngsters knew anything about the ways of the world and had a comb with a piece of paper over it and a jew's harp and a mouth organ for the orchestra. I'll never forget when we gave 'Red Handed Antonius' in the barn—3 cents for adults, 1 cent for children over 5 and free seats for the balance. Everything was real. I had a corn knife for a sword, and there wasn't a soldier in the squad that didn't have a musket longer than himself. When we fought, the anger of battle flamed from our eyes, and when one fell he went down so hard that it took weeks to remove the bruises. The audience would get on their feet to cheer, and it took half a dozen husky marshals to keep them from going after the villain with pitchforks.

"When it came time to behead Antonius, the excitement was intense. The music of the orchestra was slow and dismal. The children had to be carried out, and they whooped as they went. The people held their breath as I ground the corn knife on a real grindstone and hissed my vow of vengeance. When I removed my coat and rolled up my sleeves, the breathing stopped. Just here my father entered by way of a granary door and carried me kicking off the stage. If he had not, I would have decapitated the youngster who was playing Antonius as sure as I am alive. If the whole thing hadn't been so realistic, we couldn't have held our audience for ten minutes. It's the same way the world over."—Detroit Free Press.

Laughed Himself to Death.

Among the historical incidents connected with the rathhaus is one relating to an old judge who laughed himself to death. One sultry day, reads the record, during a recess of the council the members were leaning from the windows of the rathhaus in the hope to catch any stray wind. It was the period of hoops and voluminous skirts, and maid shared with mistress the mania for distended attire. On this pulseless summer day a pretty servant girl in a wide hooped skirt and a gay bodice made her way through the loitering groups up to the fountain. She filled her tub and lifted it to her head, but in this movement, lo, the wonderful skirt was wrested from its fastenings and it dropped to the ground. The judge had seen the maid approach the fountain like a ship under full sail, and when he now beheld her, collapsed and abashed, he was filled with such humor that upon the spot he laughed himself to death.—"Stuttgart," by Elsie J. Allen, in Harper's Magazine.

Clerk Worm Turns on Shopper.

She wanted to look at baskets, and for that purpose the clerk took from the shelves a large assortment until all but two were scattered over the counter. The woman did not want to buy, so she turned away, making the excuse, "I only came in to look for one of my friends." The clerk felt rather exasperated and replied, "Madam, if you have the slightest idea that your friends are in either of these two baskets on the shelves, I shall be pleased to take them down for you to examine."—Springfield Republican.

The Rabbit Industry.

It doesn't take much to start the rabbit industry—a few rabbits and a turnip patch or some other pasture—but it takes a mighty hustling to check it after it gets a good start. We kill about 14,000,000 of them in North Carolina every winter, but there are more here now than there were when Mr. Raleigh brought his immigrants over.—Wilmington (N. C.) Star.

THE REFORMED FAKIR.

He Had a Great Graft the Winter He Spent In Albany.

"I've earned an honest living in many ways," said the reformed fakir, when he was raking over the dead leaves of his past the other night, "but I never struck such a graft as I was up against the year I wintered in Albany. A friend got me a little job there that paid me a couple of dollars a day. Besides that, I was entitled to a pass down to New York and back every week. I might have starved if I had been so exclusive as to try to live on this alone. So I set my wits to ferreting.

"I hadn't been there long before all the pretty girls in town were after me. No, as I don't pose as a handsome man I did not take it to heart. They didn't want me, but they wanted the autographs of the statesmen. I'd sing 'em a song like this:

" 'Why, cert, girls, I'd be delighted to oblige you. Nothing would give me greater pleasure. But you know I can't go on the floor. My friend the doorkeeper, however, can get just what you want, but it will be some trouble to him, and he may charge 10 or 15 cents, and'—

" 'Oh, that's all right,' the girls would say, and nearly every one would put down a quarter a sig. And every quarter went into my pocket, for that guff about not being allowed to go on the floor was all a blind. So's they wouldn't see me, I'd just tackle the statesmen somewhere else.

"Then I got on to the money to be made in strikes. Every time a bill was introduced that would hurt some one or some interest in New York, I learned all I could about the matter there and wrote to a friend in New York who looked up the other end. Then I would write to the parties something like this:

" 'A bill detrimental to your interests has been introduced here. Better come up and see about it.'

"When they reached Albany, I never failed to get my reward for putting them on.

"There was another way of coining an honest plunk—I worked all the boys I could for passes. Those who didn't go home over Sunday were willing to give up, and those who could get more than one I jollied into turning the extras over to me. Then I sold them to fellows who couldn't get even one pass, or who wanted two or three.

"By these grafts I managed to live well, and save every cent of my salary."—New York Press.

A THOROUGH ARTIST.

Sir Edward J. Poynter's Great Care For Minute Details.

It may almost be said that it is impossible to appreciate the finished work of this artist without some knowledge of the contents of those portfolios which contain his drawings. It at all events increases our respect for the man and his art to know how much thought and labor and thorough craftsmanship have gone to the making of his more important compositions. For the figure of St. George, for instance, which we see clothed in a complete suit of Maximilian armor, gleaming through the dusk of the lobby of "the house," he thought it necessary to draw the figure nude, and not only nude, but ecorche, and it was not unusual for him about this time to make a study even of the skeleton in the attitude required for a figure. Such a drawing I have before me now—a drawing for one of the men, who is stooping to pick up a stone to hurl at St. Stephen, on one side the figure nude, but fully fleshed; on the other, trunk and legs and arms "in the bones."

Contrasted with such studies there are others of great completeness and finish, but still preparations—one, for example, of the same St. George, but fully armed, with his attendant figures of Purity and Fortitude fully draped and underneath the shield of the United Kingdom, with naked children on either side holding a festoon. The work is bordered with a band of roses conventionally treated and executed in water colors with the utmost care, yet so broadly that when photographed it looks like a fresco. This little drawing, almost as beautiful in color as in design, was experimental only. The shield and the children were replaced by a more formal design for the mosaic.—"Sir Edward J. Ponyter, P. R. A.," by Cosmo Monkhouse, in Scribner's.

SMOKED CANARY BIRDS.

Do Clouds From a Pipe Develop a Rich Color In Their Plumage?

A little old shoemaker who has a busy, old style cobbling shop on the east side is a bird fancier, and he has peculiar ideas about canaries. One night he was sitting on his leather covered bench, smoking an extremely odorous quality of tobacco in a black pipe. A customer was waiting for him to finish straightening up a worn heel, and he made several remarks concerning the birds which hung about the cobbler's shop. They were fancy birds, and he could not help noticing it. Finally he asked the shoemaker how he got such richly colored birds.

"It's part in the breeding and part in the atmosphere," said the cobbler. "You raise birds in a shop where two or three men are constantly smoking, and in time you will get the darkest orange color if you use a little judgment in mating and they don't run to green."

"I should think that tobacco smoke would be unwholesome for the birds," said the visitor.

"On the contrary, it makes them hardy and seems to be good for them every way. Women who have canaries would do well to put them where they can get a little tobacco smoke once in awhile, although I don't think cigarette smoke would do them much good. What they need is strong tobacco smoke from an old pipe like this or the smoke from a black cigar. I've raised my best birds when I had two jours working in this little shop with me and all of us smoking pretty nearly all the time."

Then the old man sighed and said: "That was before they half soled and heeled shoes while you wait—before machines were used for cobbling. No two or three jours and an apprentice for me now. I sit here alone, with my birds, pegging away and keeping them well smoked."—New York Sun.

Road and River.

The brave Pierre Stuppa, the Swiss general, having been deputed by the 13 cantons to solicit the arrears of pay which had been owing for a long time to the Swiss officers in the French service, M. de Louvois, the war minister, who was present, said to the king, Louis XIV:

"Sire, those Swiss are very importunate. If your majesty had all the money that your royal predecessors have given to that people, it would form a road from Paris to Basel."

"That may be," observed Stuppa with an air of firmness, "but at the same time if your majesty had all the blood that the Swiss have shed in the service of France it would form a river from Paris to Basel."

The king was so struck with the observation that he ordered M. de Louvois to pay the whole of the money without delay.—Nuggets.

He Was Cruel.

Chinese cannot be telegraphed. Figures have to be used corresponding to certain words. Only one-eighth of the words in the language are in this code, but this has been found sufficient for practical purposes.

The Bulldog a Good Dog.

No member of the canine family has been more persistently maligned than the bulldog. Writers who have no intimate knowledge of the dog and his attributes have described him as stupidly ferocious, and illustrators have pictured him as a sort of semiwild beast, till the general public has come to look upon him as dangerous.

"Give a dog a bad name," is an old saw, and perhaps a true one, but when it is applied to the bulldog it is manifestly unjust. Writers, too, have fallen into grave error in claiming that the bulldog is deficient not only in affection, but in intelligence.

Stonehenge, who is considered one of the greatest of canine scientists, claims that the bulldog's brain is relatively larger than that of the spaniel, which dog is generally considered to be the most intelligent of the canine race, while the bulldog's affection is never to be doubted.—Outing.

TRAINMAN'S TOOTH ACHED

So He Decided to Get a Freight Train to Pull It.

"Say, did you hear about my friend Bill?" said a trainman. "Well, that fellow has made me laugh more times than once. Not long ago Bill gets a jumping toothache. He wants to have that tooth out, but he don't want to pay the money, nor he ain't got the nerve to have the thing done. All the same that tooth is keeping him up at night, and Bill he almost goes wild. 'Either me or that tooth,' says Bill; 'one or the other. I ain't going to stand this sort of life.'

"All the same, when Bill starts to go to the dentist his knees begin to bend, and he is so scared that the tooth stops hurting. But when he turns back and reaches the house the tooth is plugging him again. Now, Bill thinks of a great scheme. What does he do but buy a piece of strong string (say, you know this kind of silk thread?), and he waxes that and ties it to his tooth so tight that it cannot come off. Then Bill walks down to the railroad station. You see, it was his idea to tie the string to a freight car, and then when the train started it would jerk the measly tooth out.

"He finds a freight and ties the string to the coupler of the last car and stands around to wait until the train starts. Well, sir, he begins to feel chilly about the gills. The more he thinks of the time when the train is going to move the worse he feels. Every time a whistle blows he jumps. 'Well, I guess I'd better untie,' thinks Bill, 'and come again another day,' but when he goes to loosen the string he finds that it's no go, and he can't jerk the thing loose because the other end is on the tooth.

"Well, sir, that train begins to start, and Bill he doesn't have the nerve to stand back, so he just trots on behind like a little pup on the end of a chain. 'Where are you going, Bill?' hollers out a feller. 'You seem to be in a hurry.' Well, sir, Bill starts to swear like mad, but the train is beginning to go a little fast, and he has to commence to lope like a jack rabbit. You see, the train had been going through the city, but now it started to get outside. Bill didn't have the nerve to stand still, so he just humped himself after the train like it was something that he wanted bad.

"'Say, mister, why are you running that way?' asked a brakeman who got on to the thing. Of course that sort of guy made Bill madder than ever, but he had to lope on. Lucky for Bill the train had to slow up for a crossing, and while it stopped he borrowed a knife and cut the string. But, say, it was funny to see Bill chasing the freight."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Catching Thieves by Code.

"Most folks think an elevator starter has a very easy job, but they're wrong," said the man who has charge of the elevators in a La Salle street skyscraper.

"It seems to keep you busy, but the work looks easy," remarked a bystander.

"You think just what the others do—that we have nothing to do but tell the conductor of each elevator when to start up," replied the starter. "Seeing that the elevators are not overloaded and that they are not all either at the top or bottom of the building at once is the easiest part of our work. The hardest is stopping thieves. Pickpockets and overcoat lifters work the skyscrapers regularly. I've spoiled their game in this building, though."

"How?"

"I have arranged a code of signals by which I can, without attracting the attention of anybody else, warn the elevator conductor to keep his eye on certain persons while in the car, see them if they do any pocketpicking and notice at which floor they leave the car. For instance, if on a cold day like this two men well dressed, but without overcoats, come in here, as soon as they step into an elevator I say, 'That's all right, No. 7.' All you see is that the elevator starts up at once. The elevator man, however, knows that I suspect the last persons entering his car may be overcoat thieves, and it is his duty to notice at what floor they leave the car and, if possible, which room they enter. If instead of saying, 'That's all right, No. 7,' I had said, 'Go ahead, 7,' the elevator conductor would have known I suspected the last two men—for pickpockets work in pairs—in his car were pickpockets, and he would keep a constant watch on them."

"How does your system work?"

"Well, we've caught four pickpockets and seven overcoat thieves already this winter, and the season isn't half ended. The public doesn't realize how much it owes to the elevator starters, who are generally considered a lazy lot of fellows with an easy job."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Bismarck of Jewish Descent.

Few people are aware that Prince Bismarck is of Hebrew descent. He derives his Jewish blood from his mother, whose father—Anastasius Menken, one of the favorite bureaucrats of Frederick the Great—was of Hebrew parentage. Although of late it has evidently appeared politic to the prince to countenance the anti-Semitic movement both in Germany and Austria, yet while in office he invariably showed himself a good friend to the Jewish nation and chose the Hebrew banker at Berlin, Baron von Bleichroeder, as his most trusted confidant. Indeed, in those days he was so well disposed toward the Jews that he even discussed the advisability of marrying his sons to Jewesses on the ground that it would bring money into the family again and likewise "improve both morally and physically the Bismarck breed."—International Review.

ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS

Local Brethren Commemorate the Anniversary by a Parade to St. Andrew's Church—Sermon by Rev. J. G. Potter

The Independent Order of Oddfellows was organized in Maryland 79 years ago by Thomas Wildley and four other members of the Manchester Unity of England. The first lodge, which is known as Washington Lodge, is still in existence.

The annual church service of the local lodges in commemoration of the anniversary was held yesterday evening in St. Andrew's church. About 150 members of the order took part in the procession, which marched by way of George and Brock streets to the church. Otonabee Lodge No. 13 was marshalled by Mr. W. J. Miller, P. G., while Mr. A. MacFarlane, P. G., acted in a similar capacity for Peterborough Lodge No. 111. The parade presented a splendid appearance as it passed up the main street.

Music was rendered by the full choir of the church at the service, a tenor solo, "The Everlasting Day," being exceedingly well rendered by Mr. E. W. Maybee. The choir showed the effects of careful training in the several numbers rendered and certainly did credit to Mr. Mulligan, the conductor.

Rev. Mr. Potter delivered the sermon, taking his text from the Gospel of St. James—1st chapter and 27th verse: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to visit the fatherless and widow in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world."

He spoke of the principle objects of the Order of Oddfellowship as being the Order of Oddfellowship as being the pure. A man to be an Oddfellow must have an unblemished moral character, and that went a long way towards making a Christian. An Oddfellow should be a pattern of morality, and if not, then there was a little of the hypocrite about him. The order taught to raise the arm against any form of vice. It took hold of the moral man and lifted him into a still higher state. It was the foundation stone of purity. Financial affairs were a secondary consideration. He loved to look at the emblem, "Friendship, Love and Truth." They placed one on the platform of purity, and were a beautiful foundation to rest on. No man who carried on fraud in his business could be an Oddfellow, no habitual drunkard in its ranks, no breaker of God's laws one of its fold. Oddfellowship taught loyalty to the Queen, loyalty to the country we live in, loyalty to our fellowmen and loyalty to our home. An Oddfellow must be a gentleman, in fact a man in all that the word implies, who keeps the laws of God and the laws of man. The Oddfellow visited the sick, relieved the distressed, buried the dead, carefully and respectably laid the departed one away, and looked after the widow and the orphan.

It was 79 years since Oddfellowship was first instituted in America and it now numbered in its ranks 960,000 men and women; while the Manchester Unity had 900,000 members. During the year the society had spent millions of dollars for relief, burials, etc. By being a good Oddfellow one was nearer God, nearer Christ-like. It made them truthful as citizens, truthful in their homes, and truthful before the world. He hoped this year would be the most successful in the history of Oddfellowship, morally, influentially, numerically and financially. To adhere to the principles of Oddfellowship was to be manly, to build up our manhood and to set an example for good which it would be well for others to copy.

On the return of the brethren to their hall, Bro. A. Rose, N. G., Otonabee Lodge No. 13, took the chair, while Bro. Frank Perry, N. G., Peterborough Lodge No. 111, occupied a seat at his right. Bro. Rose expressed his satisfaction at the large turnout of the brethren and said that he thought he but expressed the opinion of every member present when he stated that the sermon they had just listened to was one of the best ever delivered on Oddfellowship in Peterborough.

A vote of thanks was then unanimously tendered the Rev. Mr. Potter, the choir and the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church, the two former for their services and the latter for their courtesy in extending them the use of the church.

A MYSTERY SOLVED

The Body of Mrs. Richard Reed, of Young's Point, Recovered Yesterday

Some weeks ago the Times chronicled the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Richard Read, of Young's Point. It was supposed by some at the time that she had committed suicide while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity by drowning herself in the river, as her foot prints had been traced to the water's edge. Others, however, thought she had wandered off into the woods and perished from exposure. Both the river and the neighboring woods were thoroughly searched, but no trace of the unfortunate woman was discovered.

Yesterday the body was discovered by Mr. J. Douglas, floating in the water in the vicinity of the residence of his father—Dr. Douglas.

Owing to its long immersion in the water the body was scarcely recognizable but was easily identified by the clothing.

The family of the deceased have the sympathy of the whole community in their particularly sad bereavement.

U. S. FLEET TO BOMBARD HAVANA

Admiral Gives Official Notice of His Intention

U. S. DECLARED WAR 6.30 LAST NIGHT

Congress Authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to Enlist as Many Men as He Deems Necessary and Appropriates $8,830,000 to Enable Him to Carry the Resolution into Effect

WAR DECLARED

Washington, April 25.—6.30 p. m.—The President has signed the Congressional resolution declaring war against Spain.

THE PRESS CENSOR AT WORK

Havana, April 24, via Key West, Fla., April 25.—As the Government of the United States will not allow Madrid and New York telegrams to come to Havana for the press the Spanish Censor here will not allow correspondents to telegraph to New York press. The above message is from the correspondent of the Associated Press at Havana and is the first news received direct by cable from Havana since the despatches of the Associated Press on Saturday morning last, announcing the arrival of the United States fleet off Havana and the establishment of the blockade of the Cuban coast.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY GRATEFUL

London, April 25.—The Washington correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that in an interview this afternoon President McKinley said: "Not the Government alone but the whole nation feel most deeply the good will sent to them across the sea," and he added impressively, "Nor will they forget it."

WAR AND WAR MEASURES

Washington, April 25.—War and war measures were the only topics discussed by the Senate to-day during more than four hours of its session. The body had scarcely convened when the message from the President urging Congress to declare the existence of war between the United States and Spain was laid before it. Without comment the Message was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee. Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed. One amendment of great importance was attached to the bill at the last minute by Mr. Hale, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee. It authorizes the secretary of the navy to enlist as many men as he may deem necessary to man the ships of the navy during the existence of the war and appropriates $8,830,000 to enable him to carry this amendment into effect the naval bill was then passed at 3 o'clock. The Senate went into secret legislative session and passed the bill of the house declaring the existence of war between the United States and Spain.

TO BOMBARD HAVANA

Washington, April 25.—Word has been received here from Commander Sampson asking the authorities for permission to bombard Havana. This request, it is understood, is due to the fact that the guns at Morro Castle have been turned on the American squadron several times.

TORPEDO BOAT FIRED ON

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, Matanzas, Island of Cuba, via Key West, Fla., April 25.—7.42 a.m.—The United States torpedo boat Foote, Lieut. W.L. Rodgers commanding, has the honor of having been the target for the first shots fired by the Spaniards at the American flag during the war just commenced. The firing occurred between five and six o'clock on Saturday evening, while the torpedo boat was taking soundings in the Harbor of Matanzas. She was then within two or three hundred yards of the shore. Suddenly a Spanish masked battery on the east side of the harbor, and not very far distant from the Foote, fired three shots at the torpedo boat. They all went wide of the mark and the Foote returned leisurely to her soundings and then announced that she had been fired upon. The Cincinatti was anxious to steam instantly and reduce the Spanish batteries, but she was not permitted to do so. No captures are reported by the fleet off Matanzas. It is alleged that two Spanish gunboats were seen in shore; but she report could not be verified.

PRECAUTION FOR SAFETY OF NEW YORK.

New York, April 25.—The War Department has issued regulations for the entrance of vessels to New York harbor. No vessel will be allowed to pass Sandy Hook between sunset and sunrise, and rules are established for the guidance of vessels in avoiding submarine mines.

RELYING ON GOMEZ.

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Sherman said to-day that for the present the insurgent army would do the greater part of the fighting in Cuba.

He added that there was no intention of taking the militiamen and the new recruit into Cuba until thoroughly inured to the hardships of military life, and that probably the regulars also would be held in this country until later in the season.

The Secretary expressed the opinion that Admiral Sampson's fleet would take the first opportunity to form a junction with Gomez' army.

SPANISH BUDGET.

Madrid, April 25.—The budget will be presented to the Cortes on Tuesday.

It will give the Government ample authority to raise war revenue; will propose loans guaranteed by a tax on navigation, and the Almaden quicksilver mines, and will impose taxes on gas, petroleum and electric light.

Two years' taxes will be levied, payable quarterly in advance, and reimbursed within a decade by special bonds.

Power will be given to the Bank of Spain to increase its note issue from three hundred to four hundred thousand millions, in which case the metallic reserves must be increased.

HIS GRACE BREAKS OUT.

Madrid, April 25.—The Archbishop of Madrid has issued a diocesan letter, in a flamboyant style, that occasionally sinks into absolute rodomontado.

The Archbishop makes the war appear a quesiton of good and evil, with Spain all white and the United States all black.

He appeals to all the saints to protect the Spaniards, almost promising invulnerability against American bullets.

TO SAIL FOR MANILLA.

New York, April 25.—A special to the World from Hong Kong says: The Asiatic squadron, Commodore Dewey, will sail early Monday morning without fail, direct for Manilla, and will promptly invest it.

Some of the vessels will go south to Iloilo, 200 miles distant, on the island of Panay.

The Spanish fleet has received orders to concentrate and intercept Commodore Dewy's squadron.

An engagement is considered certain within the next ten days.

THE VATICAN NEUTRAL.

London, April 25.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says: Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, declares that the Vatican will observe the strictest neutrality.

The Pope desires prayers only for a speedy conclusion of peace. He classes the singing of Te Deums for victory an utterly incongruous proceeding.

SHERMAN A WRECK.

Washington, April 25.—Mr. John Sherman, the venerable Secretary of State, handed his resignation to the President at a special meeting of the Cabinet at 10 o'clock. This resignation takes effect at noon to-day, and with it Mr. Sherman retires after a service of over 40 years, embracing the House of Representatives, the United States Senate, the Secretaryship of the Treasury and the Secretaryship of State.

For some time friendly suggestions have been made to Mr. Sherman with a view to persuading him to resign. It has just leaked out that the Administration has been barely saved from serious embarrassments during the last few weeks by reason of Mr. Sherman's peculiar mental condition. As nominal Secretary of State, the representative of any foreign Government has been at liberty to confer with him and even negotiate for the settlement of any questions at issue, when, as everybody knows, he is almost a complete mental wreck, and cannot remember one day what happend the day before. It is even related by one of his old senatorial associates that in a recent conversation the name of Blaine was mentioned, and Mr. Sherman was utterly unable to recall who Mr. Blaine was, or to associate anything in connection with that name. This condition of the head of the diplomatic establishment of the United States has been not only unfortunate but dangerous.

But the incident which brought the question of Mr. Sherman's remaining in the Cabinet to an issue occurred a few days ago, when Minister Hengelmuller of Austria-Hungary called to propose a conference of the European Powers to which the pending difficulty between Spain and the United States should be referred. To this plan Mr. Sherman readily assented, and authorized the Austrian Minister to go ahead and complete plans for such a conference. Having done this Mr. Sherman forgot all about it, but it happened that the Austrian Minister, fearing such a situation, took occasion to congratulate Assistant Secretary Day upon the handsome prospects of an amicable settlement of the existing difficulty. This was the first information Mr. Day or the President had had of the elaborate plan of the Austrian Minister for settling the difficulties of Spain and the United States.

The Administration took alarm and promptly disavowed the act, the details of which by this time were very hazy in Mr. Sherman's own mind.

SPANISH TORPEDO BOAT SAILS.

London, April 25.—Spanish torpedo boat Audaz ordered to leave Queenston by six a.m.

MORRO CASTLE AGAIN OPENS FIRE

On board U. S. Flagship New York, off Havana, April 25.—Morro batteries again opened fire on the U.S. fleet early this morning without effect.

STILL AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS.

New York, April 25.—World's special from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands: The Spanish squadron still here.

INSURGENTS TO DO THE FIGHTING

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Sherman said to-day that for the present the Insurgent army would do the greater part of the fighting in Cuba.

"DEATH TO THE YANKEES."

Kingston, Jamaica, April 25.—Upon the U.S. Consul leaving Quantanamo on Friday mobs filled the streets yelling "Death to the Yankees." The American flag was torn, trampled upon and treated with other indignities.

CONFERENCE OF THE POWERS.

London, April 25.—The St. Petersburgh correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: A conference of the Ambassadors of the Powers on the subject of Cuba has been held. Well informed persons declare that Russia will support Spain.

ASIATIC SQUADRON SAILED.

New York, April 25.—A Hong Kong special to the World says: The Asiatic squadron will sail early Monday morning. The Spanish are looting the Philippine Islands.

SPANISH VESSEL CAPTURED.

On board Flagship New York, off Havana, April 24, noon.—There have been no casualties among our forces and not a single shot has been fired against the batteries. The large Spanish merchant ship, Calalina, was captured by the Detroit, and was taken to Key West.

NEUTRALS AND THE BLOCADE.

CAPTURE OF THE PEDRO.

Off Havana Harbor April 24.—The capture of the Spanish steamer Pedro, and the incidents attending on the squadron's appearance before Havana, alredy reported briefly in these despatches, form an intensely interesting initial chapter of the history of the war.

About 4.30 p. m. yesterday, when Havana was 15 miles distant, the squadron was signalled into battle formation of the double column, the New York leading the battleships, and the Cincinatti leading the cruisers and gunboats. Just as the evolution was completed, the following signal was hoisted on the flagship: "Disregard movements of commander in chief."

Simultaneously, Capt. Chadwick sent Chief Engineer C. J. McConnell this message: "Get up all the steam you can. A steamer has been sighted and the Admiral wishes to capture her."

A few moments later smoke was pouring from all three of the New York's funnels and she stood away to the southeast.

The squadron, led by the Iowa, continued on its course, heading in a southwesterly direction. The New York was soon tearing through the water at a rapidly increasing speed, and was fast leaving the squadron in the rear. Away in the distance, close under the mist-covered hills of Cuba, midway between Havana and Matanzas could be seen the outlines of a large steamer heading to the eastward.

Then the old cry of "A chase," "a chase," was heard fore and aft, and the officers and crew of the New York gathered on her deck, eagerly watching the flagship churn through the blue water, foaming white at her stern until she was making about 18 knots. The New York gained rapidly on the stranger until to the great delight of all on board the cruiser, it was evident that the latter would cut off the steamer from escape. The crew of the New York, by this time, were at their stations, and the guns were loaded and trained.

When the Spanish flag was seen flying at the stranger's stern, a cry of delight went up from the blue jackets on board the New York. It was evident that the Spaniard was doing her best to get away from the cruiser, and was heading in nearer and nearer to the coast, hoping to find safety in shallow water where the warship could not dare to follow her. When the Spaniard was about three miles from the shore, at about a mile from the New York, an eight-inch gun from the cruiser's forward turret suddenly belched out a stream of fire, accompanied by a crashing report. It was only meant as a warning shot but the steel projectile went ricocheting over the water, in dangerous proximity to the fleeing merchantman.

The echo of the report had hardly died away among Cuban hills when the Spaniard hove to. About ten minutes later the New York was near her. In the distance a few lonely looking houses could be seen perching on a wild-looking beach.

A prize crew, commanded by Lieut. E. E. Campbell, and composed of Assistant Engineer Neall, four marines and a boat's crew, all well armed, were lowered over the side of the cruiser, and amid exultant cheers from their comrades on board the New York, they pulled over to the Spaniard, which proved to be the Pedro of Bilbao, an excellent prize.

Sudden Death of Mr Girven

Mr. Jas. Girven, who resides at Downer's Corners, died very suddenly Saturday evening. It appears that when he was ascending the stairs at about 9 a. m. and had just reached the top, he lost his balance and fell to the bottom. Death was almost instantaneous, for after being picked up by his son he only opened his eyes before expiring, not being able to even articulate. At the time of his death the deceased was living with his son Henry. The only external evidence of injury was a severe scalp wound. The deceased was 92 years of age, and was born in the County Fermanagh, Ireland, in 1806, and left there at the age of 21, coming to Canada and settling in Otonabee, where he has resided ever since, with the exception of one year that he spent in the United States.

U. S. DECLARED WAR 6.30 LAST NIGHT

Congress Authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to Enlist as Many Men as He Deems Necessary and Appropriates $8,830,000 to Enable Him to Carry the Resolution into Effect

WAR DECLARED

Washington, April 25.—6.30 p. m.—The President has signed the Congressional resolution declaring war against Spain.

THE PRESS CENSOR AT WORK

Havana, April 24, via Key West, Fla., April 25.—As the Government of the United States will not allow Madrid and New York telegrams to come to Havana for the press the Spanish Censor here will not allow correspondents to telegraph to New York press. The above message is from the correspondent of the Associated Press at Havana and is the first news received direct by cable from Havana since the despatches of the Associated Press on Saturday morning last, announcing the arrival of the United States fleet off Havana and the establishment of the blockade of the Cuban coast.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY GRATEFUL

London, April 25.—The Washington correspondent of the Daily Mail cables that in an interview this afternoon President McKinley said: "Not the Government alone but the whole nation feel most deeply the good will sent to them across the sea," and he added impressively, "Nor will they forget it."

WAR AND WAR MEASURES

Washington, April 25.—War and war measures were the only topics discussed by the Senate to-day during more than four hours of its session. The body had scarcely convened when the message from the President urging Congress to declare the existence of war between the United States and Spain was laid before it. Without comment the Message was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee. Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was resumed. One amendment of great importance was attached to the bill at the last minute by Mr. Hale, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee. It authorizes the secretary of the navy to enlist as many men as he may deem necessary to man the ships of the navy during the existence of the war and appropriates $8,830,000 to enable him to carry this amendment into effect the naval bill was then passed at 3 o'clock. The Senate went into secret legislative session and passed the bill of the house declaring the existence of war between the United States and Spain.

TO BOMBARD HAVANA

Washington, April 25.—Word has been received here from Commander Sampson asking the authorities for permission to bombard Havana. This request, it is understood, is due to the fact that the guns at Morro Castle have been turned on the American squadron several times.

TORPEDO BOAT FIRED ON

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, Matanzas, Island of Cuba, via Key West, Fla., April 25.—7.42 a.m.—The United States torpedo boat Foote, Lieut. W.L. Rodgers commanding, has the honor of having been the target for the first shots fired by the Spaniards at the American flag during the war just commenced. The firing occurred between five and six o'clock on Saturday evening, while the torpedo boat was taking soundings in the Harbor of Matanzas. She was then within two or three hundred yards of the shore. Suddenly a Spanish masked battery on the east side of the harbor, and not very far distant from the Foote, fired three shots at the torpedo boat. They all went wide of the mark and the Foote returned leisurely to her soundings and then announced that she had been fired upon. The Cincinatti was anxious to steam instantly and reduce the Spanish batteries, but she was not permitted to do so. No captures are reported by the fleet off Matanzas. It is alleged that two Spanish gunboats were seen in shore; but the report could not be verified.

PRECAUTION FOR SAFETY OF NEW YORK.

New York, April 25.—The War Department has issued regulations for the entrance of vessels to New York harbor. No vessel will be allowed to pass Sandy Hook between sunset and sunrise, and rules are established for the guidance of vessels in avoiding submarine mines.

RELYING ON GOMEZ.

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Sherman said to-day that for the present the insurgent army would do the greater part of the fighting in Cuba.

He added that there was no intention of taking the militiamen and the new recruit into Cuba until thoroughly inured to the hardships of military life, and that probably the regulars also would be held in this country until later in the season.

The Secretary expressed the opinion that Admiral Sampson's fleet would take the first opportunity to form a junction with Gomez' army.

SPANISH BUDGET.

Madrid, April 25.—The budget will be presented to the Cortes on Tuesday.

It will give the Government ample authority to raise war revenue; will propose loans guaranteed by a tax on navigation, and the Almaden quicksilver mines, and will impose taxes on gas, petroleum and electric light.

Two years' taxes will be levied, payable quarterly in advance, and reimbursed within a decade by special bonds.

Power will be given to the Bank of Spain to increase its note issue from three hundred to four hundred thousand millions, in which case the metallic reserves must be increased.

HIS GRACE BREAKS OUT.

Madrid, April 25.—The Archbishop of Madrid has issued a diocesan letter, in a flamboyant style, that occasionally sinks into absolute rodomontado.

The Archbishop makes the war appear a quesiton of good and evil, with Spain all white and the United States all black.

He appeals to all the saints to protect the Spaniards, almost promising invulnerability against American bullets.

TO SAIL FOR MANILLA.

New York, April 25.—A special to the World from Hong Kong says: The Asiatic squadron, Commodore Dewey, will sail early Monday morning without fail, direct for Manilla, and will promptly invest it.

Some of the vessels will go south to Iloilo, 200 miles distant, on the island of Panay.

The Spanish fleet has received orders to concentrate and intercept Commodore Dewy's squadron.

An engagement is considered certain within the next ten days.

THE VATICAN NEUTRAL.

London, April 25.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily Mail says: Cardinal Rampolla, the Papal Secretary of State, declares that the Vatican will observe the strictest neutrality.

The Pope desires prayers only for a speedy conclusion of peace. He classes the singing of Te Deums for victory an utterly incongruous proceeding.

SHERMAN A WRECK.

Washington, April 25.—Mr. John Sherman, the venerable Secretary of State, handed his resignation to the President at a special meeting of the Cabinet at 10 o'clock. This resignation takes effect at noon to-day, and with it Mr. Sherman retires after a service of over 40 years, embracing the House of Representatives, the United States Senate, the Secretaryship of the Treasury and the Secretaryship of State.

For some time friendly suggestions have been made to Mr. Sherman with a view to persuading him to resign. It has just leaked out that the Administration has been barely saved from serious embarrassments during the last few weeks by reason of Mr. Sherman's peculiar mental condition. As nominal Secretary of State, the representative of any foreign Government has been at liberty to confer with him and even negotiate for the settlement of any questions at issue, when, as everybody knows, he is almost a complete mental wreck, and cannot remember one day what happend the day before. It is even related by one of his old senatorial associates that in a recent conversation the name of Blaine was mentioned, and Mr. Sherman was utterly unable to recall who Mr. Blaine was, or to associate anything in connection with that name. This condition of the head of the diplomatic establishment of the United States has been not only unfortunate but dangerous.

But the incident which brought the question of Mr. Sherman's remaining in the Cabinet to an issue occurred a few days ago, when Minister Hengelmuller of Austria-Hungary called to propose a conference of the European Powers to which the pending difficulty between Spain and the United States should be referred. To this plan Mr. Sherman readily assented, and authorized the Austrian Minister to go ahead and complete plans for such a conference. Having done this Mr. Sherman forgot all about it, but it happened that the Austrian Minister, fearing such a situation, took occasion to congratulate Assistant Secretary Day upon the handsome prospects of an amicable settlement of the existing difficulty. This was the first information Mr. Day or the President had had of the elaborate plan of the Austrian Minister for settling the difficulties of Spain and the United States.

The Administration took alarm and promptly disavowed the act, the details of which by this time were very hazy in Mr. Sherman's own mind.

SPANISH TORPEDO BOAT SAILS.

London, April 25.—Spanish torpedo boat Audaz ordered to leave Queenston by six a.m.

MORRO CASTLE AGAIN OPENS FIRE

On board U. S. Flagship New York, off Havana, April 25.—Morro batteries again opened fire on the U.S. fleet early this morning without effect.

STILL AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS.

New York, April 25.—World's special from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands: The Spanish squadron still here.

INSURGENTS TO DO THE FIGHTING

Washington, April 25.—Secretary Sherman said to-day that for the present the Insurgent army would do the greater part of the fighting in Cuba.

"DEATH TO THE YANKEES."

Kingston, Jamaica, April 25.—Upon the U.S. Consul leaving Quantanamo on Friday mobs filled the streets yelling "Death to the Yankees." The American flag was torn, trampled upon and treated with other indignities.

CONFERENCE OF THE POWERS.

London, April 25.—The St. Petersburgh correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: A conference of the Ambassadors of the Powers on the subject of Cuba has been held. Well informed persons declare that Russia will support Spain.

ASIATIC SQUADRON SAILED.

New York, April 25.—A Hong Kong special to the World says: The Asiatic squadron will sail early Monday morning. The Spanish are looting the Philippine Islands.

SPANISH VESSEL CAPTURED.

On board Flagship New York, off Havana, April 24, noon.—There have been no casualties among our forces and not a single shot has been fired against the batteries. The large Spanish merchant ship, Calalina, was captured by the Detroit, and was taken to Key West.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 26, 1898

OUR WAR EDITIONS

Yesterday we announced that we had purchased one of the famous Webb printing machines, capable of printing and folding 60 complete newspapers per minute. This is at the rate of a newspaper (four, six or eight pages, it makes no difference) printed on both sides, leaves pasted in and folded, every second, or 3,600 per hour. This modern printing machine is now required to handle the large editions of our paper.

To-day we have a further announcement to make. We have decided to issue, in addition to our regular morning edition, an edition at three o'clock daily, containing war news up to 2 o'clock. Our purpose is to supply the people with the latest events, morning and afternoon. Our morning edition will give the midnight despatches similar to those appearing in the Toronto papers; and the afternoon edition will give practically the same matter as the Toronto evening papers of the same day contains.

The morning edition will be supplied to subscribers at 25 cents a month, while the evening edition can be obtained only from the news boys and at the Times Bookstore and Sailsbury's Bookstore.

WAR REPORTS

The air is full of reports of imaginary captures and wonderful deeds in connection with the Spanish-American war. Things most unlikely to happen are hourly reported as actual facts. Our readers may rest assured that we have our despatches verified, and that all the latest authentic details will be given in The Times. If any rumors are not verified by The Times it is safe to conclude the rumor is imaginary.

BRITAIN'S GOOD STROKE

Great Britain is simply studying her own interests in establishing a precedent in favor of the theory that coal is contraband of war.

Under the conditions of modern naval warfare coal is as truly a contraband as gunpowder or dynamite. Without coal a warship is helpless, and there is no logic which would justify a neutral power in supplying coal to the vessels of belligerent nations.

Great Britain has a certain interest in asserting that coal is contraband, because, with her own coaling stations in every part of the globe, and the coal docks of neutral ports closed against her enemies, the allied powers of Europe could not keep their warships steaming in the far parts of the seven seas.

WAR NOT WORDS

So Spain and the United States are at it! United States papers talk of destroying the Spanish fleet as merely a preliminary exercise—an intersting prelude to war. Not so fast, Brother Jonathan, you have our sympathy, but it is too serious a time to indulge in your national weakness—brag. There is a nation from whom you learned much, to whom you are to-day indebted more than ever before. Her statesmen never brag. Her great leaders never bluster. They know war. They understand war, with all its terrible effects: Take a lesson from her. When you win, as win you will, you will know the cost of war. You will know that it is a frightful experience. Recognize now that it is not child's play. Consider it in view of its awful horrors, and should disasters come, as come they will, you will not have a nation say, 'You deceived us, you taught us to believe otherwise.

THE RUSH TO THE YUKON

It is not to be wondered at that thousands are on their way to the confines of the Arctic circle. The Anglo-Saxon race possesses a spirit of adventure and an indomitable courage that have led it everywhere the wide world over. Neither Africa's burning sand, India's coral strand, nor Arctic's eternal snow and ice, have had terrors enough to frighten the Saxon away.

In this case there is undoubtedly gold in the Yukon, the Klondike, and many of the streams in that far-off land. It is also undoubtedly true that many will find graves, after untold hardships, rather than gold. Placer mining, while easy as compared with quartz mining, requiring little more than a pick and shovel, a tin dish and rubber boots, is much more uncertain, and soon fails altogether. The mines that have proved rich and enduring have been the mines in the mountains rather than in gravels of the old watercourses. In these the gold is found in little pockets formed by the eddies of the stream, where it has been deposited in the form of dust or nuggets of various sizes. The mother lodes are in the hills. The probabilities therefore are that the richness of Yuokn placers have been greatly exnggerated, and that the vast majority who go there will be bitterly and sadly disappointed. Such as escape home will return sadder and wiser men, and will learn, as many before have learned, that richer treasures than gold are to be found right at home in the industry and benefactions of a settled and civilized community. A mad haste to get rich, and a superficial idea that gold is the highest good, have wrecked many a life and blasted the highest interests of many a home. If men would ponder over the true value and meaning of money, they would often be safely guided over critical situations in life, and saved from life-long regrets and sorrows. Money is but a medium, an accepted means of exchange of one thing for another. It has no intrinsic value. It only represents value. If men lose more in getting the gold than can be bought for the gold they get, it is a losing game. The true heroism and the true riches are right at home and all around us, in noble lives, in loving hearts, in trained and cultured minds, and in true citizenship.

United States officers refused clearance papers to a ship laden with mules for Cuba, and thus forced Spain to do its own kicking.

The story that Spain will cede Cuba to Austria if true—and perhaps there is some fire under the smoke—would seem to point to the conclusion that Spain proposes to act as Austria herself did in the case of Lombardy, which was formally ceded by the Peace of Zurich to France, who in turn handed it over to the Italians. This circuitous process may act as a political placebo, but it is hard to see where the cure comes in.

Prevent Pneumonia

Prevention is always better than cure, even when cure is possible. But so many times pneumonia is not cured that prevention becomes the natural act of that instinct of self-preservation which is "the first law of nature." Pneumonia can be prevented and is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Some years ago I had a severe cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I could neither eat nor sleep, and was in a wretched condition. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and took it according to the directions, and at the end of fifteen daysw as as well and sound as before the attack. I have recommended it in many cases of pneumonia since, and have never known it to fail in effecting a cure."

JOHN HENRY, St. Joseph, La.

"I was attacked with a cold that settled on my lungs, and defied the skill of my physicians so that they considered me incurable. At last I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was entirely cured after having taken two bottles."

FRANCISCO A. SEVERIANO,
Taunton, Mass.

If the great powers of Europe would club together and buy a bicycle for the young King Alphonso they might thereby reconcile his Majesty of Spain to the loss of Cuba.

The press of the country is reminding its readers that the passage of a prohibition tax will require the imposition of a tax which will raise a sum of $8,000,000 annually. It should not lose sight of the fact that there will also be a claim, and morally a just claim for compensation which would also require a large sum. The issues must be looked at in all their bearings. But the answer "Yes" or "No" has first to be obtained from the country. Perhaps if the drink bill for the year were cancelled two or three years would more than make up the deficiency.

THE EMPEROR WORSTED.

A Plucky Little Hungarian Girl Got Revenge For Sadowa.

The present kaiser would probably not admit that he had often been thwarted in any of his plans, but an anecdote has recently become known which shows that he at least once "got the worst of it," and it is all the more piquant from the fact that he was defeated by a girl.

When the kaiser, who was then Prince Wilhelm, was about 10 years old, he and Prince Heinrich spent some time at Cassel with their tutors, who sometimes allowed the little princes to play with other children. One day when several of them were gathered together it chanced that a little French girl was among the number, and the young Germans conceived the brilliant idea of making her a representative of the country they all so cordially hated. The delightful plan was immediately put into execution, and the poor child was tied to a tree. Then began a fusillade of pine cones, sticks, etc., and whenever anything struck her there was a cry of "Here's for Sedan!" This went on for a few minutes, when a little Hungarian girl, Helena von D——, who was watching, could bear the injustice no longer, and, singling out Prince Wilhelm as chief offender, she threw herself on him. The attack being unexpected, he was completely taken by surprise and fell down, whereupon she began to pound him, crying out at each blow, "Here's for Sadowa!"

The prince was fast getting the worst of it, for his little adversary was thoroughly in earnest, when the imperial tutors, hearing the noise, rushed up and separated the combatants. After that the princes were more carefully watched, and Wilhelm had no opportunity to "get even" with the little champion of justice. Some days afterward, hearing that the princes were leaving, Helena went down to the gate to see them go by. As they passed Wilhelm spied his foe, and leaning out behind his tutor he stuck out his tongue.

Helena was the daughter of titled parents, and later she was married to an Englishman. When the kaiser was in London, she told this story to one of his gentlemen in waiting, who in turn repeated it to his majesty. The latter exclaimed: "Is that devil of a girl here now? I would like to see her." A meeting was arranged, but Helena became ill, and so they never met after that one encounter to make friends or renew hostilities.—New York Tribune.

A SAVAGE CRITICISM.

The Teacher's Artistic Cleverness Received a Hard and Cruel Blow.

In one of the Cleveland public schoolrooms of the primary grade the teacher has been reading Longfellow's "Hiawatha" to her pupils. Of course this is a rather ambitious work for the little ones, says The Plain Dealer, but they enjoy it, and the rhythm seems particularly pleasing to them. When they come to a hard word, the teacher goes to the blackboard and draws a picture to illustrate its meaning. This the pupils find highly entertaining, and it helps in quite a remarkable way to fix the text in their minds.

A few days ago they came to this line in the early part of the poem:

At the door on summer evenings sat the little Hiawatha.

"At—th' door on sum-mer eve-nings sat th' lit-tle"—read the children.

"Go on," said the teacher.

But they couldn't go on. The name of Hiawatha was too much for them. They knew who Hiawatha was, but they didn't recognize his name. So the teacher went to the board and took considerable pains in drawing:

First.—A wigwam with poles sticking up above it, and a rude aboriginal drawing above it, and a rude aboriginal painting on the side.

Second.—Little Hiawatha, with feathers in his hair, squatted at the wigwam door.

Third.—A fine harvest moon.

Then she pointed at Hiawatha and asked what it was.

There was a general craning of necks and shaking of heads.

"Come, come," said the teacher, "you know what that is."

Then one little girl spoke up:

"I guess it's a mud turtle."

And instantly, with one accord, the class glibly repeated:

"At th' door on sum-mer eve-nings sat th' lit-tle mud-dy tur tle."

And the teacher feels that her artistic cleverness received a hard and cruel blow.

Stylish Evening Bodice.

The simplest and perhaps the most fashionable bodice for evening wear, says a New York fashion authority, is the full blouse shape of chiffon, drooping over a fitted silk lining, the top cut out in square or rounding fashion, with a full tulle ruche, a narrow band of fur, a fall of lace or beaded revers to finish the edge. The sleeves consist of short, full puffs similarly trimmed. This is a basis for any kind of flower trimming that taste suggests. Rows of shaded pink roses devoid of foliage are in great use on evening gowns this winter, as are maidenhair fern and lilac sprays, laid upon strands of pink or orange satin ribbon not more than an inch and a half wide.

In a Chicago Art Gallery.

"It seems to me the perspective in this picture is faulty."

"The—er—what?"

"The perspective."

"Oh, yes, that part of it is very ugly. It's laid on too thick, and you can buy better frames than that one for $6 a dozen."—Chicago Tribune.

A Bad Bargain.

"Jane, did you break the china plate?"

"Yes'm. You got fooled on that plate, mum. It's a weak un. It broke the fourth time I dropped it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FRUITS FOR THE TABLE.

Mrs. Rorer Tells the Best Kinds—How They Should Be Served.

Fruits are more appetizing and, perhaps, more easily digested if taken in the early part of the day—whether or not before the breakfast must be determined by the eater.

Grapes, oranges and shaddocks may be served before the cereal. Baked apples, peaches, baked bananas, figs, dates, prunes or stewed fruits should be served at the close of the breakfast.

Raisins, sultanas, dried figs and prunes should be soaked thoroughly, so that they may take up the same amount of water with which they have parted in the process of drying, and should then be heated just enough to soften the skins.

The subacid fruits, such as apples, figs, dates, peaches, persimmons, pears, prunes and apricots, are, perhaps, the best of the winter fruits and may be used to good advantage with animal foods.

Acid fruits must at all times be used most sparingly, especially by persons inclined to rheumatic troubles. The continued use of an orange or shaddock before breakfast will diminish the power of stomach digestion, for which reason they should be served with cereals or such foods as require only intestinal digestion.

The papaw and pineapple belong to a class alone. They contain a vegetable pepsin which assists in the digestion of the nitrogenous principles. These fruits, then, may be served with meats and will aid in their digestion. When served with bread and butter, they do not form so good a diet. They are more digestible raw than cooked, as the heat destroys the activity of the ferments.

Apples as a rule are more easily digested cooked than raw, although raw apples are more palatable.

The fashion of adding sugar to fruits should be avoided, as they have already been endowed with a sufficient amount of sugar, and as all the starch and cereals are converted into sugar any further amount would be stored in the system, to its detriment. If our bilious friends would throw aside their liver pills and with them sugar, they might be free from much discomfort.—Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Chrysanthemum.

When the plant was introduced, about 1840, it was only the small daisylike flower, now only seen as a rule in cottage gardens, which was highly prized as a novelty. The taste for growing and showing it began early, and before 1860 there were many chrysanthemum societies in existence, among them the Stoke Newington, which formed the nucleus of the National society. Yet it was not until 1859, when the plants suffered severly from early frosts, that there was any idea of growing it under glass. The Japanese variety was noticed in 1864 as a novelty, "very curious and interesting, but scarcely ornamental." How little did the author of these remarks suspect what a future was before the plant he so summarily set aside! Three years later, however, we find Japanese varieties recommended with pompom and incurved, and since then they have ever increased in favor.

The gorgeously colored, moplike blooms now exhibited every autumn would certainly astonish that writer of 30 years ago. The golden and bronze shades of the chrysanthemum suited the taste of the promoters of the "high art" æsthetic movement of a few years ago, which, if it had no other merit, helped to bring this flower more forward and revived the culture of sunflowers, which were fast becoming extinct in our gardens.—Longman's Magazine.

SERVANTS' LIVERIES.

They Had Their Origin During the Reign of King Pepin of France.

So far as the present writer is aware, the earliest mention of "liveries" made in history was during the reign of King Pepin of France, who flourished about the year 750 A. D.

A form of amusement to which King Pepin was partial was what were termed cours plenieres. These were assemblies at which, upon the king's invitation, all the lords and courtiers of France were expected to be present. They were held twice in each year—at Christmas and Easter—and generally lasted for about a week at each time. Sometimes these gatherings took place at the king's palace, sometimes in the neighborhood of one of the larger French cities and sometimes in some rural district. While the festival lasted the king took all his meals in public, bishops and dukes alone being privileged to sit at the royal table. A second table was provided for abbots, counts and other leading men, and at both tables there was shown more profusion than delicacy, both in the quality of the meats and drinks and the manner in which they were served. Flutes, hautboys and other musical instruments were played before the bearers of each course as it was removed from the tables. When dessert was served, 20 heralds, each holding aloft a jeweled goblet, shouted thrice, "Largesse, largesse from the most potent of kings!" As they shouted they scattered among the crowds handfuls of gold and silver coins. Then the trumpets were blown, while the better class spectators shouted and the meaner sort scrambled and often fought vigorously for the money scattered by the heralds.

Charles VIII of France put a final stop to the cours plenieres, alleging that the expense attendant upon his wars with England made it impossible for him to continue them. One of the severest causes of expense, it was explained, arose from the fact that, beginning with King Pepin's time, etiquette and custom alike demanded that the king should upon these occasions give an entire suit of new and gorgeous clothing not only to his own servants and retainers, but also to those of the queen and all the princes of the blood royal. These garments were said to be livres—that is, "delivered" at the king's expense—and from this word the English word "livery" was derived, as was the custom of providing servants with "livery," from the above mentioned practice of certain of the French kings.—London Society.

AMERICAN HEIRESS IN PARIS.

Impecunious Titled Parisians Drew Lots to Decide Who Should Marry Her.

Lilian Bell, in a letter from Paris to The Ladies' Home Journal, writes that the most shameless thing in all Europe is the marriage question, and proceeds to narrate the experiences of a rich American girl who came to Paris with letters to friends. On account of her wealth she was invited everywhere by mothers of marriageable sons, but being unable to speak French was not much of a success. She went to a convent to learn French, and was shown much attention by the Duchesse de Z——, who was determined that her son should marry her. "Suddenly, to the amazement of everybody, the heiress sailed for America without a word of warning. The duchesse was furious. 'You must follow her,' she said to her son. 'We cannot let so much money escape.' The son said he would be hanged if he went to America or if he would marry such a monkey, and as for her money, she could go anywhere she pleased with it, or words to that effect. So that ended the affair of the Marquis de G——.

"When the other impecunious young nobles heard that the duchesse no longer had any claims upon the American's money, they got together and said: 'Somebody must marry her and divide with the rest. We can't all marry her, but we can all have a share from whoever does. Now we will draw lots to see who must go to America and marry her.' The lot fell to the Baron de X——, but he had no money for the journey. So all the others raised what money they could and loaned it to him, and took his notes for it, with enormous interest, payable after his marriage. He sailed away, and within eight months he had married her, but he has not paid those notes. His wife won't give him the money!"

Austrian Christmas Customs.

In Austria they are particularly thoughtful of the bringer of the gifts and joy. The people place lighted candles in their windows, that the Christ child, in passing through the city or village or along the country road, shall not stumble or fall.

A belief in the special presence of evil spirits during Christmastide and in their efforts to interfere with and lessen the joys of the season prevails throughout Europe.

The bugbear "ruprecht," under different names and in numerous varying disguises and in strange antics, plays a conspicuous part among the Germans and surrounding peoples. In Tyrol the terrible "klanbauf" accompanies St. Nicholas, and is continually hovering about his path ready to kidnap naughty children.

In Austria this monster is very terrible in appearance, going about with clanking chains and hideous devil's mask. He is frequently heard at night as he flies through the air, and his rattling chains are giving notice of his presence.

In many places there is the belief that wolves roam the earth on the night before Christmas and create great havoc in destroying vines and other property and even human beings. This belief has made an excuse for a means of mischievous frolic. Men and boys frequently disguise themselves as wolves and go about frightening the people.—Chicago Times-Herald.

He Had Forgotten.

Sir W. R. Hamilton, the great mathematician, had a very promising boy whom he reared with true parental triumph, so Aubrey de Vere tells us. When he was going to bed one night, his father said to him: "Tomorrow Aubrey de Vere will be here. Shall you not be glad to see him?" He mused for some time and then made reply remorsely, "Thinking of Latin, and thinking of trouble, and thinking of God, I had forgotten Aubrey de Vere."—San Francisco Argonaut.

An Appreciable Difference.

"The chief difference between the man with a lot of new made money and the gentle zephyr," said the corn fed philosopher, "is that the gentle zephyr blows itself quietly."—Indianapolis Journal.

In 1680 the Duchesse de Fontanges had the misfortune to have her hat blown off at a hunting party, and she tied her hair with one of her ribbon garters. Hairdressing with ribbons remained a fashion for seven years.

No fewer than 26,826 doors and windows in London have been found open at night by the police in one year.

LITTLE SISTER.

Little sister's prim and sly,
With a keen and knowing eye,
With a bright and roguish glance,
Sharper than a soldier's lance.
At that glance my faint heart goes
Down and hobnobs with my toes.
Can she know the boon I seek—
Why I call three times a week?
How she watches all my moves—
Ah, I hope she quite approves!
And she treats me to such airs,
While my darling is up stairs.

She's discovered why I call!
Little sister knows it all!

—Harry Romaine in Ladies' Home Journal.

SHE THOUGHT IT STRANGE.

Naggley Went Out For His Little Walk Anyway.

Naggley threw down the evening paper he had been reading, yawned and stretched and said he guessed he'd go out for a little while, whereupon Mrs. Naggley said:

"Where are you going?"

"Oh, no place in particular."

"No, I s'pose not. It's anything or any place to get away from home with you. It's mighty strange that you can't content yourself for any length of time in your own home—mighty strange. I was reading this from Goethe today, 'He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home.' I said to myself when I read it, 'I wish to the Lord Joe Naggley felt more like that.'

"Mrs. Goethe must have been a happy woman to have a husband who could say that. I'll bet a dime she did not have to sit alone evening after evening while Mr. Goethe ripped and paced around anywhere and everywhere, just so he needn't have to be at home with the wife he'd promised to love and honor and cherish, and who had done all she could to make home pleasant for him, and I'll bet Mr. Goethe didn't belong to three or four lodges and clubs that ought to be wiped out of existence, so the members of them would stay at home with their wives, where they belong.

"It's mighty strange that a man can talk so sweet and nice about a home of his own when he's trying to delude some girl into marrying him, and then when he gets her and a home he wants to be on the gad all the time. I say it's mighty strange.

"How many times before we were married did you make me sing 'Home, Sweet Home,' for you, and now if I try to sing it you look as if you'd taken a dose of ipecac. And look at that motto, 'There's no place like home,' that you made me work before we were married so as to have it all ready for our own home. It doesn't appeal to you any more than it appeals to that lamppost out there across the street. I'd like to know why.

"The land knows I do all I can to make home peaceful and pleasant for you. You couldn't scrape up a tablespoonful of dirt in this whole house, and I'll put my cooking against that of any other woman I know of—yes, I'd put it against Mrs. Goethe's even.

"I'll bet that her husband appreciated her a good deal more than you appreciate me, and I'll bet her home wasn't a bit cleaner than mine, nor her— What's that? What did you say about her tongue? I pity the poor woman if she didn't have a tongue.

"There never was a married woman yet who didn't need all the tongue the Lord gave her, and I don't know what I'd do if it wasn't for my tongue, and—Oh, yes; rush off as usual right when your wife is speaking! It shows just how much you respect her. It's mighty strange how soon men change after they are married—mighty strange!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

THE EMPEROR WORSTED.

A Plucky Little Hungarian Girl Got Revenge For Sadowa.

The present kaiser would probably not admit that he had often been thwarted in any of his plans, but an anecdote has recently become known which shows that he at least once "got the worst of it," and it is all the more piquant from the fact that he was defeated by a girl.

When the kaiser, who was then Prince Wilhelm, was about 10 years old, he and Prince Heinrich spent some time at Cassel with their tutors, who sometimes allowed the little princes to play with other children. One day when several of them were gathered together it chanced that a little French girl was among the number, and the young Germans conceived the brilliant idea of making her a representative of the country they all so cordially hated. The delightful plan was immediately put into execution, and the poor child was tied to a tree. Then began a fusillade of pine cones, sticks, etc., and whenever anything struck her there was a cry of "Here's for Sedan!" This went on for a few minutes, when a little Hungarian girl, Helena von D——, who was watching, could bear the injustice no longer, and, singling out Prince Wilhelm as chief offender, she threw herself on him. The attack being unexpected, he was completely taken by surprise and fell down, whereupon she began to pound him, crying out at each blow, "Here's for Sadowa!"

The prince was fast getting the worst of it, for his little adversary was thoroughly in earnest, when the imperial tutors, hearing the noise, rushed up and separated the combatants. After that the princes were more carefully watched, and Wilhelm had no opportunity to "get even" with the little champion of justice. Some days afterward, hearing that the princes were leaving, Helena went down to the gate to see them go by. As they passed Wilhelm spied his foe, and leaning out behind his tutor he stuck out his tongue.

Helena was the daughter of titled parents, and later she was married to an Englishman. When the kaiser was in London, she told this story to one of his gentlemen in waiting, who in turn repeated it to his majesty. The latter exclaimed: "Is that devil of a girl here now? I would like to see her." A meeting was arranged, but Helena became ill, and so they never met after that one encounter to make friends or renew hostilities.—New York Tribune.

A SAVAGE CRITICISM.

The Teacher's Artistic Cleverness Received a Hard and Cruel Blow.

In one of the Cleveland public schoolrooms of the primary grade the teacher has been reading Longfellow's "Hiawatha" to her pupils. Of course this is a rather ambitious work for the little ones, says The Plain Dealer, but they enjoy it, and the rhythm seems particularly pleasing to them. When they come to a hard word, the teacher goes to the blackboard and draws a picture to illustrate its meaning. This the pupils find highly entertaining, and it helps in quite a remarkable way to fix the text in their minds.

A few days ago they came to this line in the early part of the poem:

> At the door on summer evenings sat the little Hiawatha.

"At—th' door on sum-mer eve-nings sat th' lit-tle"—read the children.

"Go on," said the teacher.

But they couldn't go on. The name of Hiawatha was too much for them. They knew who Hiawatha was, but they didn't recognize his name. So the teacher went to the board and took considerable pains in drawing:

First.—A wigwam with poles sticking up above it, and a rude aboriginal drawing above it, and a rude aboriginal painting on the side.

Second.—Little Hiawatha, with feathers in his hair, squatted at the wigwam door.

Third.—A fine harvest moon.

Then she pointed at Hiawatha and asked what it was.

There was a general craning of necks and shaking of heads.

"Come, come," said the teacher, "you know what that is."

Then one little girl spoke up:

"I guess it's a mud turtle."

And instantly, with one accord, the class glibly repeated:

"At th' door on sum-mer eve-nings sat th' lit-tle mud-dy tur tle."

And the teacher feels that her artistic cleverness received a hard and cruel blow.

Stylish Evening Bodice.

The simplest and perhaps the most fashionable bodice for evening wear, says a New York fashion authority, is the full blouse shape of chiffon, drooping over a fitted silk lining, the top cut out in square or rounding fashion, with a full tulle ruche, a narrow band of fur, a fall of lace or beaded revers to finish the edge. The sleeves consist of short, full puffs similarly trimmed. This is a basis for any kind of flower trimming that taste suggests. Rows of shaded pink roses devoid of foliage are in great use on evening gowns this winter, as are maidenhair fern and lilac sprays, laid upon strands of pink or orange satin ribbon not more than an inch and a half wide.

A Bad Bargain.

"Yes'm. You got fooled on that plate, mum. It's a weak un. It broke the fourth time I dropped it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FRUITS FOR THE TABLE.

Mrs. Rorer Tells the Best Kinds—How They Should Be Served.

Fruits are more appetizing and, perhaps, more easily digested if taken in the early part of the day—whether or not before the breakfast must be determined by the eater.

Grapes, oranges and shaddocks may be served before the cereal. Baked apples, peaches, baked bananas, figs, dates, prunes or stewed fruits should be served at the close of the breakfast.

Raisins, sultanas, dried figs and prunes should be soaked thoroughly, so that they may take up the same amount of water with which they have parted in the process of drying, and should then be heated just enough to soften the skins.

The subacid fruits, such as apples, figs, dates, peaches, persimmons, pears, prunes and apricots, are, perhaps, the best of the winter fruits and may be used to good advantage with animal foods.

Acid fruits must at all times be used most sparingly, especially by persons inclined to rheumatic troubles. The continued use of an orange or shaddock before breakfast will diminish the power of stomach digestion, for which reason they should be served with cereals or such foods as require only intestinal digestion.

The papaw and pineapple belong to a class alone. They contain a vegetable pepsin which assists in the digestion of the nitrogenous principles. These fruits, then, may be served with meats and will aid in their digestion. When served with bread and butter, they do not form so good a diet. They are more digestible raw than cooked, as the heat destroys the activity of the ferments.

Apples as a rule are more easily digested cooked than raw, although raw apples are more palatable.

The fashion of adding sugar to fruits should be avoided, as they have already been endowed with a sufficient amount of sugar, and as all the starch and cereals are converted into sugar any further amount would be stored in the system, to its detriment. If our bilious friends would throw aside their liver pills and with them sugar, they might be free from much discomfort.—Mrs. S. T. Rorer in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Chrysanthemum.

When the plant was introduced, about 1840, it was only the small daisylike flower, now only seen as a rule in cottage gardens, which was highly prized as a novelty. The taste for growing and showing it began early, and before 1860 there were many chrysanthemum societies in existence, among them the Stoke Newington, which formed the nucleus of the National society. Yet it was not until 1859, when the plants suffered severly from early frosts, that there was any idea of growing it under glass. The Japanese variety was noticed in 1864 as a novelty, "very curious and interesting, but scarcely ornamental." How little did the author of these remarks suspect what a future was before the plant he so summarily set aside! Three years later, however, we find Japanese varieties recommended with pompom and incurved, and since then they have ever increased in favor.

The gorgeously colored, moplike blooms now exhibited every autumn would certainly astonish that writer of 30 years ago. The golden and bronze shades of the chrysanthemum suited the taste of the promoters of the "high art" æsthetic movement of a few years ago, which, if it had no other merit, helped to bring this flower more forward and revived the culture of sunflowers, which were fast becoming extinct in our gardens.—Longman's Magazine.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER

(Buffalo Express.)

A special dispatch from Bangor, Me., to the Boston Herald, says:

Many Canadians are coming over into the United States for the purpose of enlisting in the army and navy for the war with Spain.

In the train that arrived here from St. John, N. B., to-day (Thursday) were a dozen young men from New Brunswick, who were on their way to Augusta or Bangor to offer their services.

The military spirit is strong and well encouraged in Young Canada. Like the material of which our 74th and 65th are composed, the Canadian militiamen represent the first families of the country, and some of them have had their baptism in war in the Canadian Northwest rebellions. United States Consul Sewell says 500 subjects of Queen Victoria could be enlisted on short notice in Toronto to fight for Uncle Sam and reports from elsewhere in Canada show that this friendly feeling is general from Halifax to Vancouver. An officer of the Governor General's Body Guard of Royal Canadian dragoons, stationed at Toronto assured Col. Sewell that if given authority to do so by the President he would raise a troop of 500 trained cavalrymen for service in the war against Spain. This would mean a detachment of the flower of the Canadian active militia, and the offer is the best possible indication of practical sympathy with the United States and the natural Anglo-Saxon disposition to take a hand in, when there is a chance for a fight.

Another reason for the practical friendliness which our neighbors appear to be so anxious to demonstrate is because of the obvious intimate commercial and family relations which exist between the border provinces of the Dominion and this country. Moreover, there is the spirit of the Canadian press, which is almost a unit in commending the interference of the United States in Cuba. The Toronto News, for instance, says: "The motives which have led the United States to go to war with Spain are such as to command the respect of the world, and to point the Powers of Europe to the performance of a similar duty on that hemisphere.' The Peterborough Times, in similar strain, declares that if "the British Government had taken Turkey by the neck over Armenia just as the United States Government takes Spain by the neck over Cuba, there would have been a howl of delight throughout the British empire. This may help us to understand the present feelings of the people of the United States.'

This is what stirs the blood of our war-like neighbors, and urges them to offer their swords to Uncle Sam in his mission of humanity, and a stirring spectacle would be the sight of a troop of Canadian dragoons marching at Chichamauga side by side with American cavalrymen, wearing the same uniforms, singing the same warsngs and ready to fight under the same starry banner!

Nowhere have we seen a more cordial expression of friendliness for the United States and the cause which this country has championed than in the Montreal Star of last Thursday. That paper's leading editorial is written in a broad-minded, light-hearted ed vein, and rings with a better Americanism than some papers printed on this side of the line. 'Brothers are, perhaps, more apt to quarrel than strangers,' says the Star, "but there is seldom any bitterness in their quarrels; but there is no nation under heaven that we Britons would like to see whip the United States, unless now and then under great provocation we feel as though we would not mind doing it ourselves. In times of peace and prosperity there may be rivalries betwen us; there may be occasional international threatening and jibing, because we have both got our share of fools; but in times of national trial or misfortune the dominant feeling among Britons is that the two nations are one people." The Star takes the liberties that a friend may: "American diplomacy is rough," it thinks, "and it is possible that the awful calamity of war might have been averted by diplomacy of another order, but the end in view, the termination of the reign of horror in Cuba compels our sympathies. Spain's methods of colonial government are not our methods. Spain's way of fighting is not our way, and all our sympathies will go with the brave soldiers and sailors of a free people fighting for the cause of humanity and struggling to extend the bounds of freedom."

The Star beleads the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes very gracefully, and it is properly appreciative of the great fact that England's stand will keep the rest of Europe in check.

Men and medicines are judged by what they do. The great cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla give it a good name everywhere.

A KIND NEIGHBOR RECOMMENDS PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND THE MATCHLESS SPRING MEDICINE.

It Was Commenced With a Small Degree of Faith

Now there is Joy, Thankfulness and Gratitude for a Marvellous Cure.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO,

SIRS:—I suffered intensely with neuralgia in my head and face, and was in such a condition that I could not rest day or night for two and a half years. I was treated by different doctors and used their medicine and sometimes got a little relief, and the pain would come back as bad as ever. I walked the floor night after night and thought I would go crazy. A neighbor. knowing my condition of suffering, asked me if I had tried Paine's Celery Compound. I said "No, I have no faith in anything now, as I have tried so many medicines and they have not done me any good." However, I decided to try one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and it gave such good results I continued until I had used six bottles and was cured. I can never cease to express my gratitude for the great good I derived from Paine's Celery Compound.

Yours truly,
MRS. THOS JACKSON,

EDMUND BURKE.

An Able and Versatile Statesman Who Never Attained High Office.

Though Burke never attained high office his abilities were so versatile as to qualify him for any post which a cabinet minister could fill. His practical wisdom was as conspicuous as his power of generalization. No one had a clearer comprehension or a firmer grasp of great principles of universal application; at the same time his policy in every department of English politics rested on a wide and solid basis of information and experience. He was steeped in the history of the past, yet penetrated through and through with the reality of the present and ever and always mindful of that future in which the speculations and measures of the day were to be tested and finally approved or condemned. His prodigious activity in public affairs sprang not from an intellectual source alone, nor from his imperial patriotism. It was constantly fed from an inexhaustible store of moral energy. He was animated by a detestation of all forms of oppression, whether by kings or governors, parliaments or peoples, which was in him a consuming passion, from which his noble nature could only obtain relief by denunciation of the oppressor and the destruction of his power.

I cannot help thinking that Burke must have been stimulated, too, and sustained by delight in his studies and his work. It is impossible, without counting this as an additional incentive, to understand the amazing industry which he devoted to the elucidation of all the great questions dealt with in his speeches and writings. How his method reproves the habit, too common in our day, as in other days, of debating subjects affecting the fate of millions of our fellow creatures as if they could be disposed of by echoing the chatter of ignorance, or prejudice, or vanity, or self interest! When we read Burke's speech on Fox's East India bill, we say, "What a great proconsul he would have made!" When we read his speech on conciliation with America, we feel that the greatest of colonial ministers was lost in him, and when we read his speech on economical reform we exclaim, "Here is an ideal chancellor of the exchequer!"—J. O'Connor Power in North American Review.

I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. The Clock Stopped Short

The Post Office clock has been out of order for some time, and the weights by which it is controlled have been loaded with ten or twelve additional pounds of lead to force it to run, and in consequence the machinery has been badly strained. Messrs. Clarke & Gibson have been given an order to regulate and repair the clock, and in consequence for the next ten days it will be of no service to the public.

Dropped Dead in His Boat

Saturday evening Mr. James Gilroy, of Smith, left home with the intention of setting out some night lines for fish in Chemong Lake. Not returning search was made, and on Sunday his dead body was discovered in a punt on the shore of the lake. He had evidently sat down in the punt and started to bail out the water in it, or arrange the lines, when he fell over backward and died without a struggle, the fishing tackle and bait taken from the house being in the boat.

THE BOARD OF TRADE MEET

And Decide to Resuscitate the Trent Canal Association

A Strong Resolution Passed Condemning the Recent Action of the Toronto Board of Trade Relative to the Trent Canal

The Board of Trade met last night in the Council Chamber in special session.

The meeting was called in pursuance to a requst from the Joint Committee of the Town Council and the Board of Trade to discuss the advisability of sending a deputation to Ottawa to urge on the Government the speedy completion of the Trent Valley Canal; or to devise other means of putting intelligently before the public the great national importance of the work.

The President, Mr. John Carnegie, occupied the chair, and there was a fair attendance of the members.

Mr. Dumble felt that while the resolutions of the Toronto Board of Trade might influence those who knew nothing of the Trent Canal, they would bear no weight with those acquainted with the merits of the scheme. He would suggest putting the claims of the Trent Valley Canal before the public in pamphlet form. A carefully prepared pamphlet, scattered broadcast, would be very beneficial. He believed that a great deal of the opposition met with was due to a lack of knowledge on the part of those opposing the project. Put the merits of the scheme pithily before the public and this opposition would cease to exist. The idea of resuscitating the old Joint Board formed from municipalities along the line for the purpose of watching the interests of the Canal was a good one and one which he hoped to see the Board adopt. He also thought it would be wise to interest Montreal in the scheme, as it was a work which when completed meant increased trade for that city. Toronto was jealous of the scheme because it would carry trade past her doors. Montreal was not fully informed as to the merits of the Canal and this drawback should be remedied with as little delay as possible. Peterborough was accused of pushing the scheme for the advantage to be derived from the mere construction of the Canal. This impression should not be allowed to go unchallenged. It was decidedly incorrect and no opportunity should be lost of giving it a most emphatic denial. The first thing to be done would be the promulgation of literature bearing on the subject. It meant a good deal of labor. Statistics would have to be gathered from all countries and intelligent comparisons instituted. This would cost money and their first move should be in the direction of securing a grant from the town, and he would also propose resuscitating the old Joint Committee to aid the scheme. The reflections of the Toronto Board of Trade on the work would have to be met and their evil influence nullified. A great many members of the Toronto Board of Trade did not sympathize with the action of the Board, but nevertheless the mischief had been done and it would take a great deal of labor on their part to undo it.

Mr Stratton was strongly in favor of the resuscittation of the old Joint Board, which he believed would do good work. He thought a small pamphlet should be issued setting forth merits of the scheme. Peterborough being the most important town on the route should take a leading part in prosecuting the work. Differences of opinion as to its advantages were a thing of the past—the work was commenced and must be finished. He felt that if the canal was to be completed within the next four or five years it would be necessary to press strongly our claims on the Government.

Mr Carnegie was in favor of the old Joint Board being resuscitated. He believed it was formerly called the Trent Valley Canal Association. Such an association was absolutely necessary and he hoped steps would be taken which would lead to its being again put into harness.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Stratton, that in the opinion of this Board it is desirable to organize on a permanent basis the Joint Board, representing all the interested bodies, with a view of advancing and urging to completion the Trent Canal, and with this view the Secretary be requested to invite all Mayors of towns and Wardens of counties on the line to cause to be appointed representative members of this committee to meet at Peterborough on a day to be named.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Rogers. That whereas the Government of Sir John Macdonald and of Sir John Thompson on the report of a Royal Commission, adopted the Trent Canal as a great national work and proceeded to let large contracts for the completion thereof; and, whereas for years large expenditures have been made and much work accomplished in construction; and, whereas during all this time the Board of Trade of Toronto failed to pronounce against the scheme, this Board protests against the recent utterances of that Board, assuming to dictate to the Government at Ottawa what its policy should be in reference to this great national undertaking.

The Board again reiterates that nature has on the line of shortest communication between the Great Lakes of the west and the waters of Lake Ontario placed a chain of lakes and rivers affording open and free navigation over two-thirds of the route, and that nothing but apathy and the absence of great political influence has hindered the country from completing the other third of a waterway which, in its relation to the great carrying trade of the lakes would supply a link of communication more economic and effective than the Erie Canal, which tends to the keeping down of railway charges; has against the keenest competition brought to New York as much grain as all the railways combined, and this Board asserts its faith in the Trent Canal scheme, not alone as a local work, but one which in view of the great future development of our great west will materially assist in cheapening grain freight and so add to the value of western produce. This Board suggests to the Toronto Board of Trade that a broad view of such national undertakings will best insure the prosperity of cities like Toronto which must depend in the future more and more largely on the vast western country giving scope for the energies and trade of the East.

This Board wishes all prosperity for Toronto but respectfully suggests that if its Board of Trade would retain its high place it should refrain from utterances on matters which in the nature of things it can have but slight knowledge, especially when the time and manner of its action is transparently open to question.

Mr. H. C. Rogers in seconding the resolution, wished to refer to the previous resolution. The ignorance that prevailed in connection with the Trent Valley Canal was astonishing, and cases right in our own midst were numerous. By all means, he said, throw light on the subject by issuing a pamphlet which would dispel wrong ideas and point out the great importance of the work.

A committee comprised of Messrs. P. Hamilton, Robt. Fair, T. E. Bradburn, Richard Hall, D. W. Dumble, J. I. McBain and J. R. Stratton, was appointed to wait on the Town Council and solicit a grant for the Trent Valley Canal Joint Association to assist them in advancing the interests of this important work, and also to request the Town Council to appoint a Committee to co-operate with this committee in asking the County of Peterborough for a grant for the futherance of the work of the association.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE STR. CITY OF PARIS CAPTURED

By the Spanish First-Class Cruiser Don Carlos V.

DEATH OR VICTORY BLANCO'S MOTTO

The American Armed Light House Tender Mangrove has Captured the Big Cebailos Liner Panama, a Spanish Auxiliary Cruiser—She Carried a Valuable Cargo and Stores for the Spanish Army

CITY OF PARIS CAPTURED

Queenston, April 26.—The Red Star Line str. Fenhlard, Capt. 'fAlbrecht, which left Philadelphia on April 16th, has arrived here and reports that she sighted the American Liner City of Paris, which has been chartered by the United States Government, early Monday morning in company with the Spanish warship Don Carlos—possibly the Carlos V— and both vessels were steaming rapidly. The inference is that the Paris is a prize oft he Don Carlos. The Carlos V is a first-class armoured cruiser and sailed from Havana for Ferrol on April 13th. The Paris is a rich prize.

VICTORY OR DEATH

Madrid, April 26.—8 p. m.—In the Senate Marshal Count Chaste eulogized the army in Cuba and recalled his experience 45 ye[illegible] ago, when, as catpain-General of Cuba he ordered the forts to fire on the Anglo-American fleet which was obliged to retire, and he hoped General Blanco would fulfill his promise to come through the conflict dead or victorious. (Cheers.)

PRISONERS RELEASED

Washington, April 26.—Upon the recommendation of Captain Lemly, Judge Advocate-General, Secretary Long to-day directed the release from a Boston Naval prison of 28 sailors. The men have been in prison for various infractions of military law and the Department believes that condinctive service.

WILL SAIL WITHOUT ORDERS.

Madrid, April 25 (delayed in transmission).—The Pais to-day announced that the Spanish admiral in command of the fleet at St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, has cabled to the Government here that when the United States fleet is before Havana, his place is not at the Cape Verde Islands, adding that he would sail against the United States squadron in the morning, order or no order.

MINES IN NEW YORK.

New York, April 26.—Thus far 74 mines have been placed in the bay, and it is believed that three times that number will be planted from Fort Wadsworth to Sandy Hook.

Should a hostile fleet succeed in passing the Sandy Hook fort, they would come to grief in the harbor, because of the mines and dangerous reefs.

Orders from the War Department were received to-day, to place secret buoys in the Lower Bay as a guidance for our vessels, which might have occasion to enter the harbor after dark.

FEAR A MASSACRE.

Hong Kong, April 26.—Mail advices from Manilla dated Saturday say the insurgents were then gathering in masses around Manilla, and that a massacre of the Spaniards at that port was apprehended.

The Spaniards have laid mines about Manilla.

The U.S. squadron leaves Mir's Bay to-morrow to watch the Philippine ports. The insurgent leader, Aguinaldo, is on board the United States cruiser Olympia.

A RICH PRIZE.

Key West, Fla., April 26.—11.15 a. m.—The lighthouse tender Mangrove, now armed with two six-pounders, has captured the big Ceballos liner Panama, a Spanish auxiliary cruiser.

CAPTURED NEAR HAVANA.

New York, April 26.—Specials report the big Spanish steamship Panama, of the Ceballos Line, which left New York on April 20 for Havana, with a number of Spanish refugees on board, and a very valuable cargo, including it is understood stores for the Spanish army, was captured yesterday evening, about 20 miles from Havana, by the little lighthouse tender Mangrove, now belonging to the Mosquito fleet. The Mangrove mounts two six-pounders and four 38-revolvers. She is commanded by Lieutenant-Commander W. H. Everett, and has a crew of thirteen men. The Panama is of about 2,800 tons, and a very valuable prize.

HAD TO FIRE THREE SHOTS.

Key West, Fla., April 26.—When the Mangrove sighted the Spaniard Panama she ran up to the latter and fired a gun across her bows. The liner did not take the hint, and a second shot was fired, after which the Panama slowed down a little. A third shot was fired across her bows at a hundred yards, and the deck officer of the Spanish vessel was hailed and notified that if he did not heave to a shot would be sent through his vessel. This notification caused the Panama to be brought to. Ensign Dayton then boarded the Spanish steamer and took possession of her.

MORE PRIZES.

New York, April 26.—Specials report from Key West that a large Spanish vessel is being brought into Key West by the United States ship Mangrove.

It is said that the captured vessel is the Spanish transport Monsterrat.

Another special from Key West credits the gunboat Newport with having captured two prizes.

The Monsterrat registers 2,938 tons net, and is 371 feet long. Her owners are the Trans-Atlantic Company of Barcelona.

A SLOOP AND A SCHOONER.

Key West, April 26.—The United States gunboat Newport has brought in two prizes, a sloop and a schooner.

ITS FORMIDABLE.

London, April 26.—The British neutrality proclamation fills four pages of the Gazette, and begins:

"Victoria, R: Whereas we are happily at peace with all Sovereigns, Powers and States, and whereas a state of war unhappily exists between His Majesty the King of Spain, and, in name and during his minority, between Her Majesty the Queen Regent of the Kingdom, and the United States of America, and between their respective subjects, citizens and others inhabiting within their countries, territories or dominions."

Some of the newspapers here assert that the rule in regard to coal being contraband of war is new, but is identical with Lord Granville's proclamation of 1870, at the time of the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war, and identical with the proclamation issued at the time of the commencement of hostilities between China and Japan, prohibiting supplies being furnished to belligerent ships, except provisions and coal sufficient to carry a vessel to the nearest port of her own country, no coal to be again supplied to the same ships without special permission, within three months of the time she had previously been supplied.

SPANISH FLEET NOTIFIED TO LEAVE CAPE VERDE ISLANDS.

Washington, April 26.—The Post to-day says: The Spanish fleet which mobilized at Cape Verde Islands was notified by Portugal to leave St. Vincent.

A CHALLENGE TO SIGSBEE.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 26.—Captain Sigsbee has not heard anything definite concerning the challenge from Lieut. Carranza.

GERMANY WILL NOT ISSUE A DECLARATION OF NEUTRALITY.

Berlin, April 26.—Germany will not issue a declaration of neutrality.

NO NEWS OF THE PARIS.

London, April 26.—Lloyd's had received no news of the American liner Paris up to 6 o'clock this morning.

WAR UNNECESSARY.

St. Joseph, Me., April 26.—Bishop Burke declares war between United States and Spain unnecessary: that it will be a calamity to this Government and forever a blot on our national character.

FRESENTED A PITIABLE SIGHT.

New York, April 26.—World's special from Nassau, Island of New Providence, W. I., says: "The Spanish soldiers presented a pitiable sight but their spirits were undaunted and they are eager to meet the Yankees. President Masso and his Cabinet are delighted with the action of the American Congress and are eagerly waiting the landing of the American troops. Now we can use ammunition without stint." They say: "We will listen to proposals of an armistice when the Spaniards leave Cuba. It is independence or death."

CAN DEFEND HAVANA.

Havana, via London, April 26.—Capt. General Blanco cabled Madrid that he can defend Havana without Spanish warships.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

London, April 26.—Mr. James F. Hogan, anti-Parnellite, will ask question in the House of Commons if Senor Polo Barnabe, formerly Spanish Minister at Washington, is at liberty to use Toronto as a basis of supplying Spain with information.

TORPEDO BOAT SOMERS IN TROUBLE.

Falmouth, Eng., April 26.—The United States torpedo boat Somers notified in view of neutrality measures to leave this port and failing to do so a British torpedo boat has taken up a position near her.

CONCENTRATION OF BATTERIES.

San Francisco, April 26.—The concentration of the heavy artillery batteries stationed near San Francisco will begin at once.

THE SOMERS OUT OF IT.

THE END OF SPAIN.

New York, April 26.—A World Rome special says: A high official in answer to a question as to the result of the American-Spanish war said: "It is the end of Spain. They have committed monstrous sins for which they are paying now." He adds that it "is to be feared that the Americans, intoxicated by an easy victory, will throw haphazard all their energy against the European colonies left in their neighborhood. Canada will assuredly be one of their first victims unless an Anglo-American alliance is established between London and Washington. Where it will end I do not know. In any case it seems to me the war has in store some unpleasant surprises."

STEAMER ARRIVES FROM HAVANA.

New York, April 26.—The Ward Line steamer Saratoga arrived this morning from Havana with 211 passengers, full cargo and one million dollars in specie. She passed out of Havana harbor in company with a German steamer.

DENIES REPORT.

Washington, April 26.—Secretary Long denies the report that Morro Castle fired on the fleet and that it replied.

SPANISH WARSHIPS AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS.

London, April 26.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, says:

"Visiting the Spanish fleet has been forbidden, and no manoeuvering target practice or exercising whatever is proceeding. All the ships have been painted black since they arrived here. No shore leave is granted.

"The cruisers, including the Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo, have been all day coaling from the Ciudad de Cadiz. All the stores, medicines and supplies in St. Vincent have been purchased to supply the squadron, and even passing vessels are laid under contribution. The Bay is quite busy with launches and boats carrying stores, and the port is brilliantly illuminated all night with electric searchlights and signals.

"Two Portugese men-of-war are here. Governor-General De Lacordo is staying until the Spaniards depart. The Portugese consider the Spanish fleet very strong and believe that Spain will be victorious at the commencement, but that America's money will eventually triumph."

MAY HAVE TO BE AMPUTATED

A Galway Man Has His Leg Fearfully Crushed While Working on Boyd's Drive in Glamorgan Township

Mr. John McGee, one of the most popular young farmers of Galway township, met with a terrible accident on Saturday evening. He was with a gang of men engaged running logs over a slide, and the logs having "jammed" above the slide he and others started to pull them apart with pike-poles. After a number had been thus drawn out of the tangled mass the "jam' gave way suddenly and one huge log shot forward with tremendous force and pinned McGee's left leg against the side of the pier, crushing it in a fearful manner.

Foreman Creswell at once improvised a stretcher and detailed twelve of the men to carry the poor fellow through the bush to Kinmount—a distance of seven miles—where he would receive medical attention. They gained the railway track at Maxwell's Crossing, a few miles above the I.B. & O.R.R. junction, where a lorry was procured to take him into Kinmount. When Dr. Frost had examined the limb he decided that it would be better to dress it after McGee had reached his home, so the poor fellow had to endure a further trip of five miles in a wagon. He is doing as well as can be expected, but there is grave danger that the limb may have to be amputated.

McGee is a magnificent specimen of manhood, weighing 225 lbs. without an ounce of superflous flesh, and his popularity is evinced by the widespread expressions of regret heard on every side. He had hired for one month and was to leave camp for home one hour later in order to begin seeding on his farm.

Sunday Milk Delivery

There has been some talk is certain quarters against the alleged violation of the Lord's Day Act by the delivery of milk on Sundays. In Ottawa the law in this regard is being enforced, and at a meeting of the Medical Society of that city the absurd regulation was vigorously condemned. It was stated that the state of affairs existing last summer should not be repeated, when children were dying from the lack of fresh milk. In response to leter from the Ottawa Humane Society, the Medical Society placed itself on record by passing the following resolution, moved by Sir Jas. Grant and Dr. Chabot: "That in compliance with a letter from Ottawa Humane Society, the members of the Ottawa Medical Society have considered the proposition and fully endorse the idea that for the promotion of general health, particularly of children, the milk supply should be continued on Sunday during the hot weather." This should settle the goody-good people who are agitating against the Sunday delivery of milk in Peterborough.

Trees and the Air.

According to a reliable computation, a single tree is able through its leaves to purify the air from the carbonic acid arising from the respiration of a considerable number of men—as many as a dozen or a score. The volume of carbonic acid exhaled by a human being in the course of 24 hours is estimated at 100 gallons, and a single square yard of leaf surface, counting both the upper and under sides of the leaves, can decompose about a gallon of carbonic acid in a day.

THE SPANISH PRETENDER

Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, claims the throne through his father, Don Juan, brother of Charles VI. of Spain. He was born March 30, 1848. In 1872 the standard of rebellion was raised on his behalf in the north of Spain, and he entered the country himself in 1873, and in spite of the efforts of the various governments he could not be dislodged from his fastnesses in the north. When the republic came to an end, and the eldest son of ex-Queen Isabella came to the throne as Alfonso XII. Don Carlos appealed to the people by manifesto to espouse his cause as against the son of Isabella. A stubborn struggle ensued, which the Carlists maintained for twelve months. At length their last stronghold, Tolosa, fell, Don Carlos flying to Paris. In 1881 he was expelled from France on the ground that he had allied himself with the Comte de Chambord and other enemies of the French republic Since the death of Alfonso XII. Don Carlos has not actively preferred his claims.

OUR WAR DESPATCHES

We have already alluded to the feverish interest taken by our people in the war now fully opened between the United States and Spain. The avidity with which every successive bulletin is scanned, and the great demand for the paper when the fuller details are printed and sold on the streets and in the stores, alike prove this. "It is a glorious time for us," was the comment on the war by a little newsboy as overheard on the street. The Times desires to inform its readers that it will do its utmost to provide them with as correct and rapid a news service in connection with the war news as possible. The war news service has been well organized at every point of vantage, and as has already been shown there is no indication of anything partial or colored in the despatches thus far received. The quantity is great, but the quality will be the main feature in the intelligence supplied our readers. It cannot have escaped notice that the British and American papers are acting in unison in connection with this subject. To some extent this alliance reflects a much closer feeling and may be regarded as indicating the unisonous sentiment of the two nations. The interest felt in the war in Canada is but natural. It is a conflict in which, if Great Britain is not actually taking an active part, she is at least taking a very sympathetic interest, and so a kind of quasi-alliance may be held to exist. The war news is therefore of prime interest to us, and the Morning and Evening Times shall strive to supply its readers with the best.

THE PRESS ON THE SITUATION

Brooklyn Times: "Whatever the result of our little difficulty with Spain may be, the American people will not soon forget the more than friendly attitude of Great Britain.

New York Tribune: "There must be no grudging shown toward the great power that is so friendly towards us, and is, if need be, ready to be at our side in twenty-four hours against all the world."

Gazette, Worcester, Mass.: "If any one under the folds of the English flag met with harm from Spaniards or Cubans, every gun, every chip, every drop of blood and every penny of England's resources would be summoned if necessary to avenge the insult. It is such policy that promotes civilization through British sovereignty. Every agent of the Queen is as large as her territory, as rich as her treasury and as dangerous as her full military power."

New York Journal: "American citizens in Havana are now quite safe—because the American government is not represented there, our officials being all withdrawn. American citizens remaining are under the protection of the British flag.

And note this: While they are under the British flag, nothing will happen them, nor blow them up, and no unfortunate accidents will happen to them.

We are not particularly proud of this but it is a fact, and it might as well be announced for the comfort of those who have relatives in Cuba."

In this war, weeping must be done in public. Both nations are united against privateers.

The severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and Spain means that these two great nations have decided to quit lying about it and get right to business.

The Examiner innocently asks what excuse have the United States for blockading Havana harbor. Our contemporary should know that the wreck of the Maine is at the bottom of it.

All this country has to do is to declare mud contraband of war, and for reasons that are obvious the Globe will be immediately compelled to let up on its cruel war against the poor old Senate.

Another deputation to Ottawa to urge the construction of the Trent Valley Canal! It will be close figuring to find out whether the expense of sending so many deputations or the actual construction of the canal will have cost the most.

Stomach Trouble

Stomach trouble is the common name applied to a derangement of the system which is keenly felt but vaguely understood. It may mean inability to retain food or to digest it. It may mean nausea, pain after eating, fullness, inordinate craving for food, or entire lack of appetite. Whatever it means, there's trouble, and it's with the stomach. If you have stomach trouble, you will be interested in this letter from a man who had it and was cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For nine years I suffered from stomach trouble. I tried the aid of the best doctors of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and spent large sums of money, all in vain. One day while waiting a train in Bellaire, O., I picked up a paper with a notice of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I got one bottle to try it. It did me so much good that I purchased five more bottles. I took four of them and gained in flesh, my appetite improved, and now I can eat anything. My stomach is all right, thanks to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—CALVIN M. STEVENS, Uniontown, Pa.

A correspondent of a New York paper suggests the following as an appropriate hymn for congregations to sing at the opening of divine service:

"Lord help us in the holy task
  Of blowing out the Spaniards' brains,
Give us the strength, we humbly ask,
  To draw the life-blood from their veins.

"Their sunny islands may we take,
  Their sea coast cities shell and burn;
Sad orphans of their children make,
  Their wives to lonely widows turn.

"Guide, then, our bullets as they fly,
  That they may mangle, maim and kill.
And give us succor from on high,
  To work Thy righteous, holy will."

New York bankers, corporations and merchants, among them being John Wannamaker, who employs 1,500 hands, have offered to continue the salaries of all their employees who go to the front. Mr. Wannamaker will also insure each man's life for $1,000. This is patriotic. It is also a lesson which may be laid to heart by employers who decline to let their people go for a few days with the militia for training. In case of war such people might have an unpleasant lesson as to the consequences of this short-sighted policy.

NOT EASY TO ESCAPE.

AVERAGE CRIMINAL PRACTICALLY SURE TO BE CAUGHT.

Conscience the First and Greatest Aid of the Detectives—Letters, Indiscretions, Carelessness, Any or All of These May Cause Betrayal.

On the evening after the capture of a man for whom the police had been hunting for several months a party of men who had met by chance in a cafe began to discuss the case, and one of them said that he was positive that, under similar circumstances, he would have fooled the detectives and escaped.

"Maybe you'll tell us how you would escape if you had committed a crime," said the first speaker. "We'll make up the crime, and you'll tell what you would do. Let's take a robbery and an easy one. Suppose you went from your office to Jones' here. Jones knows you as a respectable man. You see on his desk a bundle of bank notes. Say there is $20,000 in the package. Lots of people are entering the office and walking past the desk. Jones' attention is diverted. You pick up the bank notes and slip them into your pocket. No one sees you do it. You chat with Jones for a few minutes, bid him good day and walk out of the office. We'll give Jones 15 minutes to discover his loss. You know that 50 people have had a chance to steal the money, and that you are one of the last who will be suspected. Now, what would you do?"

"It seems to me that the case you make out is altogether too easy," said the self offered criminal. "I should do absolutely nothing except attend to my everyday business in my everyday way. On leaving Jones I would walk out of his office, speaking to the men whom I knew, and then I would go to my own office, put the money in an envelope and lay the envelope on my desk as though it was of no particular value. I would work until my usual hour to go home came, and then, after dinner, I would come down here and see you fellows. I would not vary the routine of my business or social life. Probably the newspapers of the next day would contain long accounts of the mysterious theft of $20,000, with a hundred guesses as to the identity of the robber. If they did, I would drop in on Jones, tell him I was sorry for his loss and ask him if I could help him in any way. He would bewail his loss and maybe might borrow a few thousand of me to tide him over.

"I would leave the $20,000 in my desk. I would not touch it. I would let it kick around. I would talk of the robbery with my friends, but not too much. I would say that I hoped the robber would be caught, but I would be careful not to be too talkative about the case. Jones would send for the police and all of his clerks would be examined. The detectives would look wise, talk about outside and inside jobs, round up a few well known sneak thieves and have Jones look at them. The matter would die out after awhile. After a few months had passed I could spend the money and my theft would never be suspected."

"Your theory is all right except for one thing," said a man who had listened attentively to the conversation. "You forget that you are made of flesh and blood. If you were cut out of a block of wood, you'd get away splendidly. But the moment you got that money in your pocket your fear of detection would become so great that your knees would knock together. Even if you controlled yourself until you had finished that chat with Jones you speak about so lightly, which I don't think you would be able to do, the strain would exhaust you so that you would go to pieces when you got to your own office. You also speak of letting the money kick around. You couldn't do it. That little package of bills would grow to a mountain. Your nerve would fail you if it lay on your desk. Knowing it was there, you would be in a panic lest some one should find it. If you put it away in a vault, the whole thing would weigh on you. You'd dream of the stuff. Your nerve would give way. You would betray yourself in a fortnight."

"All that you say about self betrayal is true," said the man who started the conversation, "and there are other things to be considered. Jones would have talks with the detectives. He is now a healthy minded man who believes all his friends are honest, but in his conversations with the policemen he would hear about robberies of mothers by their children, of husbands by their wives and of dozens of cases where intimate friends had stolen from the houses of their associates. His mind troubled by his loss, he would be constantly on the lookout for a plausible explanation of the mystery. At first he would declare that neither you nor any other friend could have taken his money. Then, as he thought of the stories he would hear from the detectives, he would begin to think it possible that some one he trusted as a friend had committed the theft.

"He would get into a condition in which he would suspect every one, and after awhile he would give your name with those of all the other men he saw on the day of the robbery. Then a detective would call on you. He wouldn't take into account that you were a respectable man or anything of that kind. Unless you have more nerve than any one I know, his interview would shake you some, and you can be sure that he would see any break you made. Then the rest would be easy. You would be caught either by a blunder of your own or by the work of one of the detectives you think so useless now."

THE ISOLATION OF A CHILD.

I once knew a dear little mother,
With a beautiful blue eyed boy.
She constantly bathed and brushed him,
And when he had tired of a toy
She would take it and scald it and scrape it
And lay it away in the sun,
And that is the way she took care of
His playthings, every one.

Pent up in his own little playhouse
The baby grew peaked and pale,
And there were the neighbors' children,
All dirty and happy and hale.
If the baby went out for an airing,
The nurse was to understand
That none of the neighbors' children
Was ever to touch his hand.

But they did, and the injured mother
Brought the dear baby inside
And shut him up in his playhouse,
Where the little one fretted and died.
Then the torn heart turned to the Virgin,
And this was the weight of her prayer:
"O mother, dear, don't let him play with
The other angels up there!"

MR. JORDAN'S MONEY.

The Former United States Treasurer Once Narrowly Escaped Arrest.

Ex-Treasurer Jordan frequently amuses his friends by telling of an exciting experience he had while treasurer of the United States. Mr. Jordan occasionally indulges in joking remarks uttered with a serious countenance. It was the indulgence of this proclivity while connected with the treasury department that came near resulting in his introduction to a pair of handcuffs and incarceration in a dingy cell. Mr. Jordan had occasion to make a trip to New York just at a time when a new $5 bill was issued by the bureau of engraving and printing. It happened that the treasurer on the day of starting on his trip drew a portion of his salary, and the cashier handed him a bunch of the new $5 bills, which had reached the office within an hour. When he arrived in New York, Mr. Jordan proceeded to purchase some needed articles and handed the clerk one of the new bills. The clerk had never seen money that looked like that bill, which was spotless and uncrumpled by handling. He examined the alleged money and the man who gave it to him with equal care. Mr. Jordan watched him with suppressed amusement and remarked in a matter of fact way:

"It's good money. I made it myself."

That was enough for the clerk, who went to the cashier's desk with the bill. There was a hurried conference and a message was sent to police headquarters over the telephone. In a short time a couple of detectives in citizens' attire were standing on either side of the treasurer of the United States. They waited there to watch developments, fumbling their handcuffs in their pockets. In the meantime the cashier studied the new bill further, looked carefully over his counterfeit detector and rummaged through treasury circulars relating to the issuance of money. Finally he came across a description of the new $5 bill which was to be issued by the treasury department. His message had not yet reached the clerk, who was exchanging significant glances with the detectives and watching Mr. Jordan, when the latter, getting tired of waiting for his change and realizing that his new money was probably puzzling the cashier, produced his card. At the same moment the cashier's message that the money was not counterfeit reached the clerk, the detectives wandered off with crestfallen countenances and the treasurer proceeded to the nearest bank, where he exchanged his new bills for money that had passed through a thousand hands and was far from being sanitary.—Washington Star.

An Unpleasant Rencounter.

A shabby man with morose, intellectual features and a well dressed man whose countenance bespoke refinement coupled with a genial disposition rather than with mental power found themselves side by side in a Columbus avenue car.

"Why, Ned!" shouted the prosperous looking man as his kindly eye fell upon his neighbor.

"That's my name," the other grumbled, with anything but welcome in his look.

"How are you, old boy? I have not see you—let me see—since we left college. It's nearly six years, by George!"

The seedy passenger grunted and looked nonplused.

"Well, how is the world treating you, Ned?" the demonstrative man pursued, more intimately than ever.

"Worse than you anyhow," his classmate snarled, jumping to his feet and abruptly disappearing from the car.

The successful man looked sheepish, and as if by way of setting himself right before the other passengers he proceeded quite audibly:

"I pity him, poor fellow. He was one of the brightest in our class, but he never had system in his work or any tact in his dealings with the other students. He always knew any lesson but the one he was called upon to recite, and he would read a lot, but not the books he wanted for his college work, and he always managed to be out of sorts with some classmate or other, if not with the whole class. Still, he is the most honest and good natured fellow you ever came across. I don't know what he is doing, but I have heard he is in pretty hard luck."—New York Commercial.

WOMEN IN FRENCH FICTION.

Distorted Portraitures of French Wives and Mothers Presented by Novelists.

Miss Anita L. Bicknell, who lived for some years in the Tuileries as a governess in the household of Napoleon III, contributes to The Century an article on "French Wives and Mothers." This is richly illustrated by drawings by Boutet de Monvel. Miss Bicknell says:

Those who have gathered their opinions as to the real character of the average Frenchwoman from the romantic literature of the present century, more especially that of the last few years, would necessarily bear a severe judgment, tinged with a considerable amount of contempt. Such an opinion would, however, be unjust and wholly undeserved, as any impartial observer, having been privileged to share French home life, could truly tell them. The average English woman is very graphically depicted in English novels, and a foreigner can form a fair estimate of her merits and demerits from the descriptions of English domestic life presented by popular writers. But it is not so in France or in French literature. The real French gentlewoman deserves to be better understood, for she is totally unlike the heroines of modern novels, whose writers know about as much of aristocratic life as the author of "The Lady Flabella" in "Nicholas Nickleby." The pictures presented in Octave Feuillet's writings are perhaps the truest to nature as it is seen in some melancholy cases. But he himself certainly would have been ready to admit that the women he met in daily life had nothing in common with his morbid heroines. As he belonged to a good old family of the upper bourgeoisie, he had better opportunities of knowing the society which he depicted so powerfully in his novels of fashionable life than have the upstarts who describe salons of which they have never crossed the threshold.

But even in the works of Feuillet, although the frame is accurate, the portraits are those of exceptionally diseased minds. Women like Mme. de Champallon in "M. de Camors" or the dreadful Julia de Trecœur may exist in France or elsewhere, but those who know French society will certainly recognize more readily women like Mme. de Camors and her charming mother or the Suzanne of "La Clef d'Or," with the home of Sibylle and the dear old people so delightfully described there. Many examples might be quoted equally sweet and pure among the heroines of Feuillet's impassioned narratives, and one is convinced that these have been more faithfully copied from nature than the others.

The fact is that the great majority of French novelists belong to the Bohemia of literature and are not admitted within the precincts either of aristocratic circles or of the less refined but equally strict burgeois homes. They know only the borderland, peopled in general by the wealthy and adventurous foreign set which budded and expanded during the second empire and has now taken its place by the side of French society, but not within its pale.

A Realistic Scene.

"Realism is the thing," insisted the garrulous actor while they were taking their night lunch after the show. "Nothing takes like the real sawmill, the cotton mill, train of cars, fire engine, burning block, genuine horse and all that sort of thing.

"I discovered that when I was a kid getting up amateur performances. That's where I learned human nature before we youngsters knew anything about the ways of the world and had a comb with a piece of paper over it and a jew's harp and a mouth organ for the orchestra. I'll never forget when we gave 'Bad Handled Antonius' in the barn—8 cents for adults, 1 cent for children over 5 and free seats for the balance. Everything was real. I had a corn knife for a sword, and there wasn't a soldier in the squad that didn't have a musket longer than himself. When we fought, the anger of battle flamed from our eyes, and when one fell he went down so hard that it took weeks to remove the bruises. The audience would get on their feet to cheer, and it took half a dozen husky marshals to keep them from going after the villain with pitchforks.

"When it came time to behead Antonius, the excitement was intense. The music of the orchestra was slow and dismal. The children had to be carried out, and they whooped as they went. The people held their breath as I ground the corn knife on a real grindstone and hissed my vow of vengeance. When I removed my coat and rolled up my sleeves, the breathing stopped. Just here my father entered by way of a granary door and carried me kicking off the stage. If he had not, I would have decapitated the youngster who was playing Antonius as sure as I am alive. If the whole thing hadn't been so realistic, we couldn't have held our audience for ten minutes. It's the same way the world over."—Detroit Free Press.

Laughed Himself to Death.

Among the historical incidents connected with the rathhaus is one relating to an old judge who laughed himself to death. One sultry day, reads the record, during a recess of the council the members were leaning from the windows of the rathhaus in the hope to catch any stray wind. It was the period of hoops and voluminous skirts, and maids shared with mistresses the mania for distended attire. On this pulseless summer day a pretty servant girl in a wide hooped skirt and a gay bodice made her way through the loitering groups up to the fountain. She filled her tub and lifted it to her head, but in this movement, lo, the wonderful skirt was wrested from its fastenings and it dropped to the ground. The judge had seen the maid approach the fountain like a ship under full sail, and when he now beheld her, collapsed and abashed, he was filled with such humor that upon the spot he laughed himself to death.—"Stuttgart," by Elsie J. Allen, in Harper's Magazine.

Clerk Worm Turns on Shopper.

She wanted to look at baskets, and for that purpose the clerk took from the shelves a large assortment until all but two were scattered over the counter. The woman did not want to buy, so she turned away, making the excuse, "I only came in to look for one of my friends." The clerk felt rather exasperated and replied, "Madam, if you have the slightest idea that your friends are in either of these two baskets on the shelf, I shall be pleased to take them down for you to examine."—Springfield Republican.

THE EXCITABLE FRENCH.

Scene In the Chamber of Deputies With the Members Enraged.

Upon arriving at the anteroom of the chamber of deputies, says Colonel T. W. Higginson in The Atlantic, I found the hall full of people waiting, each having to send his card to some member, naming on it the precise hour of arrival. The member usually appeared promptly, when an immense usher called in a stentorian voice for "La personne qui a fait demander M. Constant"—or whoever it might be. Then the constituent—for such it usually was—advanced toward the smiling member, who never looked bored, the mask of hospitality being probably the same in this respect throughout the legislative halls of the world. At last M. Talandier appeared and got me a place among the corps diplomatique. The chamber itself was more like our representatives' hall at Washington than like the house of commons. The members had little locked desks, and some were writing letters, like our representatives, though I saw no newspapers.

The ordinary amount of noise was like that in our congress, though there was happily no clapping of hands for pages, but when the members became especially excited, which indeed happened very often, it became like a cage of lions. For instance, I entered just as somebody had questioned the minister of war, General Borel, about an alleged interference with elections, and his defiant reply had enraged the Lefts, or radicals, who constituted the majority of the assembly. They shouted and gesticulated, throwing up their arms and then slapping them on their knees very angrily, until the president rang his great bell, and they quieted down lest he might put on his hat and adjourn the meeting. In each case the member speaking took his stand in the desk or tribune below the president, and the speeches were sometimes read, sometimes given without notes.

The war minister, a stout, red faced man—always, the radicals say, half intoxicated—stood with folded arms and looked ready for a coup d'etat, yet I heard it said about me that he would be compelled either to retreat or resign. One saw at a glance how much profounder political differences must be in France than with us.

Married on Thirty Minutes' Courtship.

"You may talk about your brief courtships and marriages on short notice," said Captain Arm Cardwell once, "but I think I once witnessed the quickest made match on record. I was running as a conductor between Russellville and Owensboro, as I did for many years, and on a trip in the winter of 1881 I got a pretty country girl passenger at a little flag station south of Central City about 9:45 a. m. A few miles farther on at another small station a big strapping looking farmer, dressed in brown jeans, with his trousers tucked in his tall boots, got on my train. The fellow hadn't opened the car door till he spied the rustic lass, and before he took his seat in front of the girl he had smiled at her.

"I punched his ticket, went in the smoking car, and on my return to the regular passenger coach found the Green river tiller of the soil sitting in the same seat with the maiden, chatting with her as if he had known her since birth. In 25 minutes after they had first met the fellow called me to him and said: 'See here, podner, we want to get hitched. I hain't knowed Mirinda Jane here but 30 minutes, but we both like, an she's willin an so'm I. Whur's the nighest parson, podner?' I took them on to Owensboro, and the happy bridegroom and his blushing other half were passengers back on my train that afternoon. For hurry up nuptials it does strike me that these ought to have the cake and other special prizes offered for quick yeast love matches."—Louis-

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

An Incident In Brescia During the Italian Revolution of 1848.

The Count de Hubner tells in his "Memoirs" a thrilling story of an adventure in the Italian city of Brescia during the days of the revolution of 1848. When the trouble began in the streets, he contrived to get into a house, taking with him two or three other persons, including the wife of a minor official who had intrusted the lady for awhile to the count's care, but who was to have certain news of her as soon as possible.

The firing grew heavier, and the rebels soon had possession of almost every house in the street.

On the 19th of March, Count de Hubner decided that he must do something toward bettering his position in case of an assault, and he forced his only remaining servant to make a dash across the street to the palace where the Austrian general, Rath, was quartered, two blocks away and on the other side. The man was merely to let the general know that De Hubner himself was coming, and to ask that the gates be held ready for him.

"Myself, prudence and my honor had a long and heated argument," says Count de Hubner. "Finally I pulled myself together. I had to let Prince Metternich know about myself, to make a last report, and to keep my word at [illegible] poor Mme. M. I undid the door, drew a long breath, and plunged down the street.

"The bullets flew all around me, spattering lea[illegible]en showers from the stone pavement. As I arrived at the gates of the palace, they swung [illegible]d, and in a second I was inside, u[illegible]hed. But only half my journey was done; I had still to go back again.

"A letter—my last report—was soon compl[illegible] for Metternich and my message to the husband of Mme. M. was given. I had to return.

"Again the gates were opened and I bounded forth. A veritable fusillade followed. From every window and house top came the spurts of white smoke, and I tried to dodge 40 bullets at once. In a minute I had reached my own door, and as I did so I turned to look back.

"Another man left the palace gates at full speed, but before he had half crossed the street a puff of smoke shot out of a window, and he fell flat and was instantly lying like a log across the gutter. The fire stopped at once—what use would even an Italian see in shooting a dead man?

"But on the second that all became quiet to my great astonishment I saw this 'dead man' rise to his legs like a cat and dash across the street into the half open door waiting for him. The sharpshooters were taken by surprise and he escaped."

The Good Old Times.

"An increase of salary!" exclaimed the pompous manager of a small omnibus company to a clerk who had just made that request. "I am afraid, sir, that you are too extravagant."

He toyed with his heavy watch chain and looked severely at the young man, who returned his stare boldly. It was the set phrase on such occasions, and the applicant had heard it all before. He meant to have that rise or—go somewhere else.

"Excuse me, sir," he replied respectfully, "I haven't any chance to be extravagant on what I earn."

"Young man," continued the pompous gentleman, "I have risen from the monkey board. How? By being careful. When I was young, I made money by saving bus fares."

"Ah, that was in the old days," said the young man, with a knowing wink. "But with the bell punches and the present system of inspection you would find you couldn't save sixpence without being collared, however careful you were."

The manager nearly fainted, and the young man had to seek other employment. —Pearson's Weekly.

Compressed Flour.

The British admiralty and the war department are testing, under various climatic conditions, the new method for preserving flour. One objection to the establishment of national granaries has been the difficulty of storing grain for any length of time. The grain germinates and is ruined, and to keep large quantities in sound condition has been pronounced impracticable. Experiments are being made with a system of compression into bricks by hydraulic pressure. The trials show that the flour so treated is not affected by damp, even under unfavorable conditions, and is free from mold. The compression destroys all forms of larval life and the flour is thus rendered safe from the attacks of the insects. The saving in storage is enormous, as the cubic space occupied by 100 pounds of loose flour will hold more than 300 pounds of the compressed article.—Scientific American.

High Flown.

Mrs. Minnie E. Lee says: "In a Paris cafe I asked the maid whether she did not think the name on the menu, 'demi tasse cafe au lait frappe a la glace,' was very inflated for such a small cup of cold coffee and milk. 'Yes, madame,' she replied, 'it occupies the mind as well as the stomach.'"

THREE HOURS OF SOLID FUN

The First Night of the C. C. Minstrel Show Was a Great Success

A Grand Cake Walk in Which Eddie Graham and Dick Simons Carried off the Honors—The Large Audience Delighted

The Cricket Club Amateur Minstrel entertainment in the Opera House last night was a success from first to last, and that means a good deal for "the show" lasted for nearly three hours. A splendid audience was there—even standing room was at a premium. First on the program was the minstrel part, which was exceptionally well rendered by the following gentlemen, under the leadership of Mr. C. N. Brown.

Bones.—Messrs. Jim Spence, Walter Phelan, Clarence Bell and E. Hall.

Tambos.—Messrs. Geo. Ames, Bert Jones, Harry Neill and Harold Nelles.

Chorus.—First Tenor.—Messrs. W. J. Tranter, Fred Browne, A. T. LeFevre, E. P. Crossley, W. J. English, W. J. Montgomery, W. Stocker, W. Phelan, J. Conners, A. C. B. Poussette, H. W. Poussette, A. Hollingshead, Stanley Bradd, M. McDonough, G. T. Gerrans, W. H. Collins, Alf. Terrill, R. A. W. Hay and J. G. Spence. Second Tenor.—Messrs. W. Squires, E. Hall, A. Kingscotte, Herb. Morphet, C. Bell, R. Mein, Ed. Dawson, S. Pigeon, H. B. Goldey, H. Nelles, A. W. Spence and A. J. Waddell. First Bass.—Messrs. Bert Dolan, W. Moncrief, A. J. McLellan, E. H. Skill, B. D. Jones, E. Wasson, A. F. Macnee and A. Stathem. Second Bass.—Messrs. F. Hubbs, J. M. Edwards, A. Bell, W. F. Skitch, H. Neill, J. A. Dawson, R. Shelton, D. Gordon, J. Peace, C. Chowen and R. B. Rogers.

Musical Director.—Mr. John Crane.

Stage Manager.—Mr. R. M. Roy.

The Amateur Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. J. Butcher, furnished excellent music.

The program, which was as follows, was divided into three parts.

PART FIRST.

Opening Chorus... ... .The Handicap
The Company.
End Men's March ....
Overture... ... ...The Scorcher
End Men.
Ballad... ... ...Carrissima
Mr. H. Morphet.
Song... ... ...Ma Angeline
Mr. W. Squires.
Coon Song... ... .Kentucky Babe
Mr. Harold Nelles.
Song... ... ...Good Bye
Chas. H. Flood.
Quartette... ... ...Shadow of the Pines
Messrs. Morphet, Mein, Shelton and Skitch.
End Song... ... ...Dat Black Gal
Mr. Jim Spence.
Song (descriptive).........The Real Thing
Mr. Harold Nelles.
Ballad... ...The Banks of the Wabash
Mr. Bert Dolan.
End Song... ... .On the Tapis
Mr. G. S. Ames.
Chorus... ... ...Colored Four Hundred
The Company.

PART SECOND.

Sand Dance...... ....
Ed. Graham and Rich. Simons.
Banjo Fantasia......Cricketer's Return
Bert D. Jones and A. L. Talbot.
Coster Song (costume)...My Old Dutch
Chas. H. Flood.
Pantomime... ....Silence and Fun
J. Connors and M. McDonough.
Mandoline Solo... ....Marguerite
Mr. S. Pigeon.

PART THIRD.

Character Sketch..... ... .
Jim Spence in his latest trouble.
Whistling Solo...... ... ...
Chas. H. Flood.
Mandolin Solo... ... ...Spanish Serenade
Bert D. Jones.
Fancy Drill (costume)... ... ...
Sixteen of the Immortals.
Farce.........Three of a kind for keeps
Geo. Ames, Jim Spence and Bert D. Jones.

There was not a hitch in any part of the proceedings. Harold Nelles made a typical negro swell, and his turn was a feature of the night. W. Squires and G. S. Ames both made hits, while H. Morphet and Jim Spence received gratifying ovations. Chas. H. Flood and Bert Dolan were at their best and were encored to the echo, the former kindly responding.

As for the chorus, it was trained to the hour, being strong in all the parts; the end songs and jokes were new, and frequently of a local significance. Jim Spence's coon song, "Dat Black Gal," stamped the vocalist as a good one. G. S. Ames' musical turn—demonstrated in "On the Tapis" — was quite as good as his work as end man, and that is saying a good deal. Chas. H. Flood's coster song, "My Old Dutch," was a splendid effort, and stamped him as the prima donna of the black four hundred.

Eddie Graham and Rich. Simons' sand dance specialties were up-to-date and put on in a manner which amply justified the rounds of applause with which they were greeted.

The mandolin solos of Messrs. Pigeon and Jones were tastefully rendered and received well-merited encores.

The pantomime, "Silence and Fun," by J. Connors and M. McDonough, showed these gentlemen to be masters of the art of tumbling and contortionists of the first water.

"Three of a kind for Keeps," a farce, concluding with "Ten Minutes with the Darktown Debating Society," introduced international involvements of an embarassing nature and was presented in splendid style by the stars of the evening—Geo. Ames, Jim Spence and Bert D. Jones.

The cake walk, although the entries were not as numerous as they will be to-night, was a grand contest and was applauded at every turn by the very large audience present. There was not a weak combination in the "walk," and if the contest last night had called for a decision it would have been a hard matter to decide who was the winner. However, Eddie Graham and Rich Simons carried off the honors in grand style, and if they do not win the cake to-night better cake-walkers than have yet entered will have to be on hand. The make-up of the favorites was at once striking and refined, being modest to a degree and just as attractive as they well could be made. It is almost impossible to imagine even a real negress any more attractive than was lithe-limbed Simons, and he certainly had a strong partner.

To-night the entertainment will be repeated with a change of program and a bumper house is assured the C. C. A. M.

No. 2.—The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following promotions: D Co., to be Sergt., Corp. Smith; D. Co., to be Corp., Pte. B. Moore. Bugler Stethem is hereby transferred from the Bugle Band to F. Co.

No. 3.—Until further orders the Batt. will parade for drill on Tuesday and Friday nights.

No. 4—A Regimental Board consisting of Major Edwards and Capts. Miller and Hill, is hereby appointed to enquire into and report in reference to the regimental outfit of great coats; the Board to meet at earliest possible time at call of Major Edwards.

No. 5.—Capt. Morrow and Lieut. LeFevre are granted leave of absence from parade.

By order,
H. A. MORROW,
Capt. and Adjutant.

After drill Col. Bell addressed the men, urging on them the importance of attending every drill between now and May 24th, in order that they might be in the best possible state of efficiency for their trip to Ottawa on that date. They would have to compete with the best Toronto and Ottawa regiments and nothing short of faithful attention to drill in the meantime would enable them to make a good showing.

The question of transportation to Ottawa has not yet been arranged.

GO TO BELLEVILLE TO-DAY

To Look Into That City's System of Street Paving, Etc.

Mayor Davis and Councillors McWilliams, Best, Langford and Hamilton, members of the Street and Bridge Committee of the Town Council, leave this morning for Belleville to inspect that city's system of permanent improvements in the line of sidewalks, roadways, etc, together with the cost of same and methods of payment.

This Committee will report the result of its investigations at the next regular meeting of the Council, when it is expected a definite plan of providing Peterborough with permanent sidewalks and roadways will be adopted.

Peterborough is decidedly behind time in respect to her streets, and it is high time that some move in the direction of securing permanent roadways and sidewalks was inaugurated.

It is to be hoped that the Council mean business this time and that this important question will not be given a six months' hoist when it comes before the Council next Monday night. In the past this has invariably been the Council's method of dealing with the subject.

$164 DAMAGES AWARDED

Mr. White, of the National, Wins His Case Against the Street Railway Co.

Some months ago Mr. White, of the National Hotel, had a horse killed through coming in contact with a live wire, the property of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Co. He claimed that the accident was due to carelessness on the part of the Street Railway Co. and instituted a suit for damages.

The case was heard at the County Court sittings, held on the 5th inst., and judgment was reserved.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Weller gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $164.

Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the plaintiff, and A. P. Poussette, Q. C., for the defendant.

THE FIRST NAVAL ENGAGEMENT OF THE WAR

An American Torpedo Boat Destroyer and a Spanish Gunboat in Action

THE AMERICAN VESSEL IS DAMAGED

And Beats a Hasty Retreat—A Spanish Fleet Gathering to Scour the Pacific—Several Vessels Run the Blockade—Spanish Warships on the Lookout for American Vessels—Spanish and Italian Battleships Fraternize at Madrid

ALL SORTS OF WILD RUMORS

Paris, April 27.—The newspapers here are publishing all sorts of wild stories. According to one of them Germany has protested against the blockade of the Philippine Islands and contemplates sending warships from Kiao Chou to uphold her protest. Another story, purporting to come from St. Petersburg, says Great Britain upset Russia's efforts at Washington because Great Britain is working hard to secure an Anglo-American-German understanding, "which Russia will meet by a league comprised of all the other European powers."

TO SCOUR THE PACIFIC

Madrid, April 27.—8 p.m.—There is a report in circulation here that some of the Spanish cruisers now gathering about Manilla will be used later to scour the Pacific and destroy American commerce in those waters.

RUNNING THE BLOCKADE

Havana, April 26 (delayed in transmission).—The Spanish coasting steamer Comme Perrera which ran the blockades on Saturday last, it appears, was not the only vessel to have reached this port since the blockade was established, as the arrival of the steamer Aviles from Nuevitas is also reported. It is announced from Cayo Frances near Catharien that two United States monitors captured two schooners loaded with coal, but discovering that they were German vessels they were released.

AN ACTION BETWEEN A TORPEDO BOAT AND A GUNBOAT

Madrid, April 27.—Despatches from Matanzas say an American torpedo boat destroyer has twice entered the port of Matanzas. The second time, it is added, six shots were fired at her and she retired.

The Italian cruiser Giouvanni Bausan arrived here on Saturday; her band played the Spanish national hymn and the forts and Spanish warships answered, their bands playing the Italian national hymn. The usual salutes were exchanged.

The Spanish gunboat Ligera, it is announced here, encountered at Cayo Piedra not far from Matanzas, an American torpedo boat destroyer, which opened fire on the Spanish warship. The gunboat, it is added, answered with eleven shots. It is claimed the American destroyer was damaged and retreated.

It is officially announced that the insurgent Brigadier-General Mosso has been authorized to form a division of natives to fight against the United States troops. The Spanish officials say that the well known insurgent leader Juan Del Gado with seventeen of his followers has been killed near Cano. The situation here to-day is one of expectation and quiet. Patriotic enthusiasm combined with a desire upon the part of the Spaniards for the opening of real hostilities.

SPANISH WAR VESSELS IN MOTION

London, April 27.—Special despatches from Gibralter filed to-day were received here this evening. They announced that Spanish battleships Pelayo, accompanied by a Spanish torpedo boat, were passing the rock at the time the messages were filed, bound for Cadiz. At the same hour two Spanish torpedo boats were at anchor in the Bay of Algeciras, adjoining Gibraltar and apparently watching the Straits.

MOB OF HAVANA RUNNING RIOT.

Key West, April 27.—The British steamer Rolff has arrived with one hundred and fifty Cuban refugees. The Captain says there was serious riotiong last night in front of the British Embassy, which was threatened by a mob, who carried torches. A Spanish detachment charged the mobs, some of whom took refuge in the Angleterra Hotel, and in the park in front. The place was badly wrecked. Several of the mob were killed and many injured by the troops. The British Consul notified General Blanco that the English Government will hold Spain responsible for insults or attacks on people protected by the British flag. Forest and cane-brake fires are spreading over all the eastern part of the Island and it is supposed many lives were lost. Gomez's force has moved up towards Cardenas to escape being cut off by the by the fire, and an insurgent attack on the place is expected. The blockading ships have closed in to within three miles of the harbor. Lieut.-Col. Madden, who arrived here with staff officers this morning, says there are six thousand troops now in Tampa awaiting orders for transport to Cuba, but it is probable that only Southern regiments will cross until after next season.

NO NEED FOR AN ARMY.

Richmond, Va., April 27.—General Fitzhugh Lee, who is waiting orders from Washington, said to-day: The Spanish army in Cuba will be forced to evacuate without the necessity of the United States sending troops there. The blockade will prevent any provisions or other aid from reaching the Spanish army on the island. The Spanish fleet, General Lee says, is too far from its base of operations to be of any service.

CYPHER MESSAGE STOPPED.

New York, April 27.—Up to ten today eighty-seven thousand men in Greater New York alone had enlisted for service on land and water. Large numbers of letters in New York post office addressed to people in Spain and Cuba have beeen seized by the Government. Some of them contained important information, showing that there are spies here well acquainted with military secrets supposed to be only known to the Government. The Postmatser-General has given orders to seize all latters addressed to Spanish officials in Canada. One posted this morning addressed to J.E. Johnstone, Spanish Consul, Toronto, part in cipher, and the balance referring to the purchase of a block of buildings in Toronto by a New York factory.

CANADIANS OFFER TO ENLIST.

Ottawa, April 27.—Two hundred Ottawans have applied at the United States Consulate office here for enlistment in the United States army. Their applications were refused by Col. Turner, who has no authority to enlist men and also because it is against the neutrality law.

MEETING OF THE PRIZE COURT.

Key West, April 27.—The prize court of inquiry met here this morning in secret session.

The case of the Catalina, which was captured by the Detroit, and valued at $400,000, was the first to be heard. The captured crews and passengers, in all about 230, are not prisoners, although the officers are detained as witnesses before the court. Attorney-General Griggs directed that all possible consideration should be shown to the captured Spaniards.

A SUPPOSED TORPEDO BOAT FIRED ON.

Key West, April 27.—In Matanzas harbor last night the Cincinnati fired on and drove back a supposed torpedo boat.

CAN'T USE THE CANAL.

New York, April 27.—English despatches say that the British Admiralty has announced that Spain will not be allowed to send warships through the Suez canal.

News comes from Havana that the legislature of the island are taking steps to prevent annexation to the United States.

CAN FORCE THE BLOCKADE.

Madrid, April 27.—The Spanish naval authorities are satisfied that Spain can easily force the blockade of Cuba when she desires to do so. But in the meanwhile, it is explained as the Governors of Cuba and Porto Rico have advised the Spanish Government that they do not need the fleet, the Government has decided to "utilize the warships elsewhere."

PURCHASED STEAMERS.

London, April 27.—Spain, according to a despatch from Rome, to a London agency, has bought the Italian Navigation Company's steamers Siric, Orione and Regina Margherita for conversion into auxiliary cruisers.

WILL INJURE ENGLAND.

Berlin, April 27.—A blockade of the Philippine Islands by America it is feared will damage English and German interests more than Spain.

AWAITING THE AMERICAN FLEET

Madrid, April 27.—Admiral Montejo, commanding the fleet at Manilla, is about to take up a position where he will await the coming of the American fleets, supposed to be moving against Manilla and Cavite.

AGAIN POSTPONED.

New York, April 27.—World despatch from St. Vincent says: The departure of the Spanish fleet has again been postponed. It is rumored that part of the squadron will sail for the Canaries. Nothing is known of rumored Portugese interference.

THE SHENANDOAH SAFE.

Cork, April 27.—The American ship Shenandoah was spoken yesterday evening by the steamer Killarney. This is the ship that was reported to have fallen into the hands of the Spanish.

CRUISING IN THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

Southampton, April 27.—Two Spanish torpedo boats and a large armoured ship have been sighted cruising at the entrance of the channel.

SPANIARDS IMPATIENT.

Madird, April 25 (Monday) via Finistiere, Tuesday, April 26. — Spanish press and public are getting very angry and impatient because hostilities do not begin actively. They say the United States indulged in big talk and threats without being ready. Spanish Generals have not much fear of the American army landing in Cuba at the opening of the yellow fever season.

ANOTHER PRIZE.

Key West, April 27.—7.25 a. m.—The United States cruiser Detroit brought in another prize this morning, a small Spanish merchantman.

WAR ENTHUSIASM INCREASING.

Madrid, April 27.—8 a. m.—The war enthusiasm at Porto Rico is said to be increasing.

WATCHING FOR AMERICAN VESSELS.

Southampton, April 27.—A Guernsey pilot reports having sighted two Spanish torpedo boats north-east of the Caskets and a large armoured ship between Douvre's Rock and Ashant. They are evidently on the look-out for American vessels.

AN AMERICAN FORCE LANDS IN CUBA.

Madrid, April 27.—Private despatches from Cuba repeat the story that 250 Americans and the same number of Cubans recently landed in Gurvanbaces under the command of an insurgent leader. It is added that a column of Spanish troops has been sent to attack them.

EUROPE TO INSIST ON PEACE.

Odessa, April 27.—The Russian press thinks that if the United States fails to gain a moral victory soon Spain's honor will be saved and Europe will insist upon the latter capitulating in order to prevent loss to commerce.

ALL QUIET AT HAVANA.

On board the flagship New York, off Havana, April 26, 5 p.m., via Key West, April 26, 1.15 p. m.—Since noon no strange sails have been sighted, and the afternoon has been without incident.

THOUSANDS ENLISTING.

Havana, April 26.— via Cienfuegos.—Spanish troops are concentrated at different points along the coast and thousands are enlisting in volunteer battalions. A call to arms will be indicated by a red flag by day or a red light at night, displayed on the fortresses. Firemen and police will assist in defence of Havana.

TORPEDO BOAT CUSHING DISABLED

Boston Mass, April 27.—Special to Herald from Washington says: Torpedo boat Cushing is disabled. It will take a month or six weeks to repair her.

BOMBARDMENT OF AMERICAN CITIES EXPECTED.

London, April 27.—A report from Madrid says: Spanish fleet has been at sea some days and bombardment of American coast towns is expected.

TO ATTACK HAVANA.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—General Miles and Cuban Representatives held conference to-day and arranged co-operation of American fleet with Insurgent army with a view to attacking Havana.

SPANISH FLEET HAS BEEN AT SEA FOR SOME DAYS.

London, April 27.—Reported here from Madrid that the destination of the Spanish fleet which is said to have been at sea for some days is unknown to anyone but the Minister of Marine, but, it is added, news is expected before long at the Spanish capital of the bombardment of American coast towns.

U. S. MERCHANTMAN CAPTURED.

London, April 27.—4 p.m.—The capture this morning by a Spanish war vessel of a United States merchantman, Newcastle-on-Tyne for New York, laden with coal, is reported.

AWAITING ATTACK.

Madrid, April 27.—The Spanish Government to-day sent a circular to the powers, supplementing its circular of April 18, and expressing regret at the "hard necessity of being compelled to use force in order to repel the scandalous aggression of the United States and defend the national dignity and historical integrity of the fatherland."

Continuing the circular note says: "History presents few instances wherein the reason is so evident on one part and the outrage so undisguised on the other. Spain has on her side right, correct procedure and prudence, while the United States has on her side only disloyalty and the impulse of unbridled ambition."

After a reference to the "execrable conduct' of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the note reproduces the text of the resolutions of Congress, underlining the last words, "As intended to deceive the Cubans."

It is then predicted that the Island of Cuba will not be declared pacified until "it is ready for annexation." Further, the note gives the details of the rupture of the negotiations between Spain and the United States, concluding with the following declaration: "The Spanish people await the attack with tranquil serenity, decided to sell their lives dearly, and to defend energetically their right to remain in America, confident that in this work they will have the assistance of the Cubans who are Spaniards like themselves."

DID SPANIARDS DO IT ?

New York, April 27.—A special to The Journal from Santa Cruz, California, says: The powder mills here blew up this afternoon, the result, it is believed, of a Spanish plot. Ten men were killed and many wounded. A fierce fire is raging and threatening the big magazine.

It has been known for some time that a band of dynamiters and assassins was formed, chiefly of Spanish students, in California to wreck vengeance for the action taken against Spain. The mills were the largest of the kind in the United States and were working on rush orders for the Government.

PASSED ALL THE MINES.

New York, April 27.—(Special to Toronto World.)—Alarm is felt because the big Norwegian vessel Norwood passed all the harbor patrol and escaped the mines, sailing into New York harbor last night, without anyone knowing of her presnce until this morning.

FLEET STILL AT CAPE VERDE

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, April 27.—(Special to the World.)—The fleet still here. Rumored part of squadron will sail back to the Canaries. Nothing is yet known of Portugese interference.

MEN READY TO GO.

Buffalo, April 27.—The local regiments of the National Guard, the 65th and 74th, were summoned to their armouries to-night, and each man asked if he were willing to volunteer for service under the President's call for 125,000 men. In the two regiments there are 1290 men. Of this number 965 offered services and will be drafted into the regular service for two years. Enormous crowds surrounded the armouries and the wildest enthusiasm prevailed.

OVER 4,000 FIGHTERS.

Chicago, April 27.—Over 4000 fighting men marched out of Chicago last evening, bound for the war.

CLIMBING UPWARDS

To be successful one must push "success," and this we are doing with the Morning Times. Our lists are growing as they never grew before, and the paper goes into the homes of our best people. It is read by those who are willing and able to pay for what they get, so that as an advertising medium it has no superior in Eastern Ontario. We have passed the two thousand mark, and now for the next milestone of 3,000!

REGARDING PRIVATEERS

A privateer is by some regarded as little, if any, better than a pirate. A good, general description of a privateer is that it is a private armed vessel commissioned by a State to cruise against the commerce of its enemy. When one State has declared war against another State every subject of the one is, in theory, the enemy of every subject of the other. But the universal practice of nations has been to confine hostilities to the regularly commissioned army and navy. On land this restriction has been carried much farther than on sea. Private property and private persons are exempt from molestation by an invading army. A fleet may, however, bombard a place without any thought of destroying only government property, and may capture any vessels belonging to any subject of its enemy. While one fleet is engaging the attention of the other privateers are very effective in inflicting damage on commerce. All property captured in war belongs to the State, and not to the individuals making the capture; but when privateers are commissioned under letters of marque they are rewarded for their services by being allowed to retain all they may capture. But as a vessel might be seized which did not really belong to a subject of the enemy or some of the cargo might be the property of neutrals, it is necessary that the validity of every capture should be adjudicated by a competent tribunal. These tribunals of prize are regularly established in times of war. It is to the interest of the privateer to report a capture at once to one of these tribunals. If it is judged that the capture is a lawful prize, it becomes at once the property of the privateer. If it is unlawful, the privateer not only loses his labor, but is liable for damages.

"War is Hell," said Gen. Sherman, and 200,000 United States soldiers are preparing to go to—war.

It isn't much of a sinecure that our old and esteemed friend, Senor Sagasta, is holding just now.

The stereotyped question, "Do you think there is going to be war?" has given way to "Any more Spanish ships captured?"

They say that the Spanish navy is not in proper shape for fighting. Well, maybe Uncle Sam's vessels can lick it into shape.—Hamilton Herald.

If the Paris safely steals from the third base home, it will have excelled all the historic exploits of the national game.

There is no truth in the rumor that the United States Government proposes to go into the drug business in making Spanish fly.

THE "GOLD TRAIN"

It Was an Old Lady Who Gave It the Name

It is an old established custom amongst railway companies to give distinct names to their principal trains which are not only peculiarly suggestive to the travelling public, but appropriately characteristic of their peculiar runs. In the old country, for instance, is the "Irish Mail," and the "Flying Scotchman" is the only name by which the fast express between London and Edinburgh has been known for years. In the United States the practice is widespread, and the "Empire State," "Cannon Ball," Black Diamond," and "Fast Mail" are amongst the many train titles which are familiar to travellers. In Canada, Nova Scotia has thy "Flying Bluenose," and New Brunswick its "Flying Yankee," which speeds between St. John and Boston.

The latest train's christening is that of the Canadian Pacific's westbound transcontinental express, which is now known as the "Gold Train"—a peculiarly appropriate name, for since the beginning of the great rush to the Klondike this train is daily crowded with gold-seekers, frequently pulls out in two, three, four, and even as many as five sections. Windsor Street Station presents an unusually animated scene now-a-days in consequence, all sorts and conditions of men, women and children gathering to witness the departure of the "Gold Train," and to bid good-bye and wish good luck to the fortune-hunters who represent pretty nearly every nationality and all walks of life.

It was on one of these occasions that No 1 rceived its auriferous cognomen. An old lady bustled in, evidently in search of some departing friend and eagerly enquired of an official, "Has the Gold Train gone yet?"

"Gold Train."—happy thought—the name stuck. The old adly had unconsciously hit upon a name far more expressive than that which perhaps many a railway magnate would have cudgelled his brains over in vain to evolve; and the "Gold Train" will ever remain a prominent feature of the Canadian Pacific serivce while the powerful magnetism of the illimitable goldfields of the far Canadian West remains undiminished.—Montreal Herald, April 13th., 1898.

Toronto Junction's College of Music

On Friday night a most successful recital was given at the Toronto Junction College of Music, by pupils of Miss Macmillan, F. X. Mercier, and G. H. Ozburn, assisted by Miss Kate Archer, violiniste. Some of the numbers were of an exacting nature, but were performed in a way that showed careful and wise training and thoughtful work. The junior pupils who played excited much admiration by the accuracy of technic and musical taste they displayed. All the numbers showed the most painstaking regard for detail on the part of the teachers. The composers represented were Chopin, Schumann, Moszkowski, Chaminade, Thome, Bohm, Lange, Gounod, Sullivan, Tosti. The pupils who appeared were Mrs. McConnell, the Misses Jennings, Wright, Andrews, McManus, Ryan, Bastedo, Stevens, Higgins, Hass, Rowntree, Trebilcock, Townsend, Greenwood, Campbell, Howell, Mrs. Hilborn and Mr. Homer. Miss Kate Archer's violin solo delighted the large audience. The college has just completed the third and most successful term since its opening last Spetember, nearly one hundred pupils being in attendance. Its phenomenal success has been due to a high standard of musical education and the thoroughness of work exacted from every pupil. The concerts given have created a higher appreciation of music in the Juncton and surrounding towns and it is expected that larger quarters will have to be secured at an early date.

Special enthusiasm was aroused by the singing of Mr. Mercier's pupils. In every case a pure round tone, perfect enunciation and artistic finish delighted the listeners. Many have shown thier appreciation of the advantages to be gained from study with so gifted an artist as Mr. Mercier. This gentleman will leave for Paris in September, but will teach in the Toronto Junction College of Music (only), up to the time of his departure. Many will no doubt take advantage of this chance to study perfect tone production. A special summer session will be conducted during July and August.

Scrofula is Snake-Like in its subtlety. It lies hidden for years in the ambush of the blood, and when it strikes it voids its venom alike on strength and beauty, disfiguring the one and undermining the other.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is a specific for scrofula in its worst and most malignant forms. Scrofula is a blood disease. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifying medicine. Mineral medicines only drive scrofula below the surface. Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a vegetable remedy and it eradicates the disease. There is no remedy for scrofula equal to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"I was cured of a long-standing case of scrofula by Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The disease first manifested itself when I was a child, by breaking out in red blotches all over my body. I was not free from the trouble until I took several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. That effected a permanent cure."—MRS. E. H. SNYDER, Lehighton, Pa.

EDWIN BOOTH.

Story of the Great Actor and Lawrence Barrett's Death.

The sudden death of Lawrence Barrett was a great shock and a great surprise to Booth. His friend had recovered from the serious operation performed a year or two before, and he was seemingly in robust strength, likely long to outlive Booth, who was beginning to become conscious of his own physical decay. They were playing together a successful engagement in New York when Barrett was taken ill and was obliged to leave the theater before the close of the performance. The next night he did not appear, and the third night his name was taken out of the bill. Booth, who had no thought of anything serious, asked Mr. Bromley, the manager, to call at the Windsor hotel and see how "Lawrence was getting on."

An hour later Booth was sitting at his supper of bread and milk in the grillroom of The Players when Mr. Bromley entered and said simply and seriously, "Mr. Barrett has gone." Booth, still suspecting nothing, asked, "Where to?" supposing that Mrs. Barrett had carried her husband off to their home in Boston. He was naturally very much depressed for some time. Indeed he never fully recovered from the blow. He closed his theater at once, although he continued the salaries of his company, and finally he played a short engagement in Brooklyn, which proved, as so many of his friends feared, his last.

During this engagement a copy of the death mask of Barrett was sent to the club. It came in as Booth was starting out for the theater. He saw it in the hall, learned from whom it had come and told the boy in charge to "carry it up stairs." The lad, not understanding the order, took it to Booth's own room, removed the wrappings and placed it on a small table by Booth's bed. And there when he went up stairs and turned on the electric lights, in all the ghastly whiteness of the fresh plaster, he found it. This was, if possible, a greater shock to him than was the death of Barrett itself.—Laurence Hutton in Harper's Magazine.

THINKING ALOUD.

A Ruse Which Roused Lord Dudley and Formed a Friendship.

One of the earls of Dudley, who was addicted to the practice of thinking aloud, found himself in a very awkward predicament on a certain occasion, if a story told of him may be credited. He was to spend the evening at the house of a friend and ordered his carriage early, as he had a long drive back to his own home.

When the hour arrived, the carriage was not forthcoming. Seeing that Lord Dudley was considerably annoyed by the delay, one of the guests, whose way homeward lay past his lordship's house, politely offered him a seat in his carriage. The gentleman was almost a stranger to Lord Dudley, but the offer was accepted.

The drive did not prove a very sociable one. Lord Dudley took his seat and immediately relapsed into silence, his thoughts apparently engrossed by some unpleasant subject. Presently he began to speak in a low, but distinctly audible tone of voice, and his companion, to his astonishment, heard him say:

"I'm very sorry I accepted his offer. I don't know the man. It was civil certainly, but the worst is I suppose I must ask him to dinner."

Silence followed this bit of audible thinking. His lordship was unaware that he had betrayed his thoughts and was probably still meditating upon the same unpleasant subject when the voice of his companion broke the stillness.

Apparently this stranger was afflicted with the same malady from which his lordship suffered, for he exactly imitated Lord Dudley's tone as he said:

"Perhaps he'll think I did it to make his acquaintance. Why, I would have done the same to any farmer on his estate. I hope he won't ask me to dinner, for I shan't accept his invitation."

Lord Dudley's abstraction was all gone. He listened to the other's words, immediately comprehending the joke against himself, and frankly offered his hand to his companion, making many apologies for his involuntary rudeness.

The stranger proved magnanimous, and from that night the two became fast friends.—Youth's Companion.

Hebrew Texts of the Old Testament.

The most ancient Hebrew manuscript of any part of the Bible is in St. Petersburg and dates no earlier than the tenth century. More than 2,000 copies of the Hebrew Old Testament have been compared, and very few variations have been found. This is accounted for by the fact that from the time when the Hebrew canon was formed, and even before that time, very strict rules were laid down for the scribes who copied the Bible. The lines and letters were counted, and each copy had to correspond precisely with the one from which it was taken. They calculated, for instance, that there were 5,245 verses in the Pentateuch, 22,206 in the whole Bible and 78,100 letters in Genesis. All of these rules and calculations were called the Massorah tradition, and about the tenth century the college of rabbis of Tiberias, on the Euphrates, decided upon a standard Bible, or "authorized version."

The Hebrew consonants alone had been written down up to that time, the pronunciation being a matter of tradition. Now a system of vowel signs was devised, fixing the sense in many instances. The vowels are just as important in Hebrew as in English so it is easy to see how necessary this reform was. The English consonants b r d may be read board or bread, or bored or braid, and if they occurred in a sentence without the vowels we should have to guess by the connection which vowels were necessary. It is possible that after a text had been adopted all older manuscripts were destroyed, or more probably were neglected because of their defects, and hence they have altogether disappeared.—Review of Reviews.

BLACKBIRD'S GRAVE.

LAST RESTING PLACE OF THE FAMOUS INDIAN CHIEF.

On a Bluff That Is Now Inside the City of Omaha—On Its Summit the Chief Watched For His White Friends—Romance of the Omaha-Poncas Feud.

Omaha has within her city limits an unknown and uncared for historic spot which in a few decades will be looked upon with far more interest than it has in the past or is now, for the value of historical places grows with the distance in time from the events which made them historical. This spot, which is in Omaha, and yet has been forgotten and neglected by the city, is the grave of the famous Omaha chief and warrior whom even Washington Irving thought worthy of a place in his writings. This chief lived in the latter part of the last century, dying in 1799. In those days, according to Irving, the Omahas looked upon themselves as the most powerful and perfect of human beings, and considered all created things as made for their peculiar use and benefit. The leader of this tribe, Blackbird, or Wash-ing-guh-sah-ba, was a warrior of the highest class. Early in life he had been taken a prisoner by the Sioux, where he had his metal tested. Under his leadership the Omahas attained a reputation among the other tribes that they never had possessed before. The Pawnees having inflicted an insult upon an Omaha brave, Blackbird led his men against their town and slaughtered many of the inhabitants and burned it to the ground. He also waged a fierce war against the Otoes until peace was effected by the interference of the whites.

Yet, notwithstanding his fiery disposition, he fell a victim to Cupid's dart. The Poncas had raided the Omaha tribe and carried off many of their women and horses. Blackbird took the field with the sworn determination of eating up his enemy. So fiercely did the battle rage that the Poncas began to sue for mercy. A herald was sent out with the pipe of peace, but he was shot down by Blackbird. A second herald shared the same fate. As a last hope the Ponca chief then sent out his daughter, arrayed in all her finery and bearing the calumet of peace. Her charms conquered. A treaty was made, and Blackbird married the herald. She became his favorite wife, yet nevertheless in one of his ungovernable fits of rage he killed her with a single blow of his knife.

No sooner did he see her lying dead at his feet than his anger left him, and for three days he sat by her corpse—silent, motionless and tasting no food. On the third day his people began to fear that he intended to starve himself to death and entreated him to be comforted. He paid no attention to their entreaties, and at last a warrior brought a little child into his presence and placed it beneath the chief's foot. This appeal brought him to himself, and, arising, he made a speech to his followers and seemingly threw off his grief as easily as he had taken it on. In 1799 the smallpox swept over Nebraska, and Blackbird was one of its victims. The following description of his death and burial is quoted from Washington Irving's "Astoria:"

"When the general horror and dismay were at their height, Blackbird himself was struck down with the malady. The poor savages gathered around his bed and forgot their own miseries. His dominant spirit and love for the white men were manifested in his latest breath, with which he designated his place of sepulture. It was to be on a hill or promontory upward of 400 feet high, overlooking a great extent of the Missouri river, from whence he had been accustomed to watch for the barks of the white men. The Missouri washes the base of the promontory, and after winding and doubling in many links and mazes in the plain below returns to within 900 yards of its starting point, so that for 30 miles navigating with sail and oar the voyager finds himself continually near to this singular promontory as if spellbound.

"It was the dying command of Blackbird that his tomb should be on the summit of this hill, in which he should be interred, seated on his favorite horse, that he might overlook his ancient domain and behold the barks of the white men as they came up the river to trade with his people.

"His dying orders were faithfully obeyed. His corpse was placed astride of his war steed and a mound raised over them on the summit of the hill. On the top of the mound was erected a staff from which floated the banner of the chieftain and the scalps that he had taken in battle. When the expedition under Mr. Hunt visited that part of the country (1808), the staff still remained, with the fragments of the banner, and the superstitious rite of placing food from time to time upon the mound for the use of the deceased was still observed by the Omahas."

"That promontory is now within the city limits of Omaha," says Dr. Mercer, "and I located the grave 20 years ago. When I came to Omaha 36 years ago, the river wound around in the shape of an 'S,' and this promontory upon which I found the grave exactly answers to the description given by Irving. It is in the south part of the city, and Williams street would run through it if extended to the river. Just east of it and under the bluff is a brickyard, the roofs of which reach nearly up to the top of the hill.

"The Omaha camp was located in the bottom beneath the bluff and a little to the north. This point was Blackbird's favorite place for sitting to watch for the coming of the traders, with whom he was very friendly. No doubt you have heard the story. When the traders came up, he greeted them most friendly, made them open up their goods and selected what he wanted himself. Then he called in his tribe and compelled them to trade. The whites made up for their gifts to him by the extra charge they put upon the goods sold, and not an Indian dared kick. The chief had got his bribe and his people had to pay for it.

"There is another story about the old fellow. He was great on superstition, and when pursuing the enemy would fire into their tracks, claiming that would kill them. He posed as a kind of god, but after awhile some of his people grew skeptical of his superhuman power and refused to obey him. In this difficulty he consulted his friends, the white traders, and they told him to prophesy the death of all who disobeyed him. He did so, announcing according to instructions that all who were disobedient would die a mysterious death upon a certain day. When that day came, he invited the whole tribe in to dine with him, and put a dose of arsenic in the bowl of each man whom he wished to serve as an example of his godlike power. Of course they died. From that time on his power was never questioned, and the traders who put him up to the trick and furnished the arsenic stood higher than ever with him."—Omaha World-Herald.

Tennyson's Praise of Burns.

Mr. Aubrey de Vere contributes to the biography of Lord Tennyson a report of some conversations with the poet, in which was disclosed his singular freedom from the spirit of rivalry.

In these conversations he never uttered a word that was disparaging or tainted with the spirit of rivalship. The only poet I heard him criticise roughly or unfairly was himself. "Compare," he once said to me, "compare the heavy handling of my workmanship with the exquisite lightness of touch in Keats."

Another time he read aloud a song by one of the chivalrous poets of Charles I's time, perhaps Lovelace's "Althea," which Wordsworth also used to croon in the woods, and said, "There, I would give all my poetry to have made one song like that."

Not less ardent was his enthusiasm for Burns. And here an incident with no small significance recurs to me. "Read the exquisite songs of Burns!" he exclaimed. "In shape each of them has the perfection of the berry, in light the radiance of the dewdrop. You forget for its sake those stupid things, his serious pieces."

The same day I met Wordsworth and named Burns to him. Wordsworth praised him even more vehemently than Tennyson had done as the great genius who had brought poetry back to nature, but ended: "Of course I refer to his serious efforts, such as the 'Cotter's Saturday Night.' Those foolish little amatory songs of his one has to forget."

I told the tale to Henry Taylor that evening, and his answer was, "Burns' exquisite songs and Burns' serious efforts are to me alike tedious and disagreeable reading."

So much for the infallibility of poets in their own art.

Toads In Rock.

Stories of toads inclosed in solid rock are not at all uncommon, but of all the reported cases not one has ever been substantiated. When investigated, it is found that they are made up stories or that there was no toad or no rock or that there was a way for him to get in or get out. People who find toads in solid rock must understand that it is an important matter. If ever there is one single case verified beyond dispute of finding a toad or any other living animal in an absolutely solid rock, the science of geology will be swept from the realms of belief. The doctrine of evolution will crumble to airy nothings. Half of the exact sciences will have to be reorganized on an entirely new basis. Accumulated human knowledge will have to be revised from the bottom, and most of what is so called rejected entirely. So the man that finds the toad had better be pretty sure that it is a toad in a solid rock, and while he is about it he had better have witnesses and photographs and everything possible to be had in proof of his assertion, for it will be doubted. If he proves his case, no man ever known will have such enduring fame. Just find the toad, gentlemen.—Milwaukee Journal.

Eugene Sue's Pranks.

The father of Eugene Sue was a physician with exalted patients all over Europe, who sent him the choicest wines. The emperor of Austria, for instance, had contributed tokay, the king of Prussia rare hock, Queen Christina of Spain priceless alicante, Prince Metternich genuine cachet d'or, and so on. The whole was kept in a large iron cupboard in the study of the learned physician, known as the Elzevir library. Eugene was then a college freshman, and, having procured a skeleton key to the closet, with his friends, Adolphe, Adam, Veron and others, proceeded every night to investigate the contents of the bottles. Not wishing to have their explorations prematurely stopped, they took the precaution to fill up the partially exhausted flasks with water and then to reseal them. When, for a long time afterward, the doctor brought forth samples of his precious stock for the delectation of guests worthy of it, and the company tasted it with a due sense of awe, it was privately felt that the celebrity of these great brands was all moonshine, that ordinary table d'hote bordeaux was preferable to them. But nobody dared to say so, and it was only after the death of his dreaded parent that the novelist confessed the sacrilege.

The soil was never in better shape for seeding, and with the late rain and warm weather all nature will dance with the spring tide of youth in a very short time.

—Mr. Alfred McDonald, owner of Point St. Charles saw-mill, Peterborough, has 30,000 pieces of first class pine in Nogey's Creek, all of which was out in Galway and North Harvey during the past winter. —With the advent of the spring season there is usually reported a marked increase in grade-crossing accidents and kindred fatalities on our iron roads. The crossings remain just as they were when railroading was in its infancy; but the number and speed of trains and the density of population have vastly increased. Since these condiitions can be modified but slowly, if at all, by direct legislative enactments or indirect pressure of public opinion, it behooves every citizen to exercise the utmost personal vigilance when compelled to cross steam railroad tracks at grades.

If we wear good clothes we don't pay for 'em. Now what shall we do? Some may say we stole this from an exchange—and we did.

HIS BUSY DAY.

It Is Easier to Forget Some Things Than to Remember Them.

The business man was very much occupied when one of his acquaintances came in.

"I want to ask you"— began the caller, but the other, without looking up, waved one hand back of him and reduced the friend to silence. After waiting half a minute the visitor tried again.

"I won't take much of your time," he said. "This is something too important to be neglected or I'd go away and come again."

"I suppose there's no use of my trying to get through with this before dark anyhow," was the rejoinder, with a sigh.

"I'm sorry it's necessary to interrupt you."

"Oh, it's all right. When I come to think of it, I wouldn't know whether I had the right answer when I got through."

"You could easily have the bookkeeper verify it, couldn't you?"

"No. I tried the bookkeeper on it. He didn't know any more about it than I did."

"Isn't it anything connected with business?"

"No. If it were, I'd be comparatively serene. Business isn't the only thing in life."

"It's a great deal of it, though."

The calculator rang for the office boy, and when he appeared said, "Thomas, you take this $2 bill and buy me as many works on arithmetic as you can for it." Then turning to his friend with the air of a cross questioner he said:

"Why do men engage in business?"

"To make money."

"And what do we want with money? We want independence and respect. We want to feel that we can hold up our heads in the world and not be obliged to face humiliation. The purposes of this calculation, distant from business though they may be, are the same. I have a boy who has done well in his studies and who does me the honor to ask my advice every once in awhile. Most boys don't do that. They think it's impossible for their fathers to know very much owing to the misfortune they labored under in not having the same schoolteachers. This boy of mine remarked yesterday that he was going to take up cube root today. Have you tried to extract any cube roots since you left school?"

The caller answered in the negative.

"Then you don't know how much you have forgotten. It's a heap easier to learn to extract a cube root in the first place than it is to remember it again after you have got out of practice. But I'm going to keep at it. Tonight he'll come home with some examples to do and Napoleon when he started for St. Helena didn't feel a bit worse than I will if I have to lay down my lead pencil and paper and own up that I can't do them."—Detroit Free Press.

POND'S EXTRACT

Philadelphia,
Dec. 29, 1894.

I have used "Pond's Extract" for many years and always insist upon my patients getting "Pond's," not the ordinary Extract, which is often a very poor article. W. K. Brown, M. D.

Philadelphia,

I use Pond's Extract a great deal in my practice. I think it very valuable in all venous enlargements.
J. L. Bradford, M. D.

Santa Barbara, Cal.,
Nov. 27, 1894.

I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known.
F. G. Flournoy, M. D.

I have been a constant user of Pond's Extract since 1852, and do not expect to discontinue it while I live. S. Armor, M. D.

I have made diseases of the skin a specialty for thirty years, and am free to say I know of no remedy that has given me such perfect satisfaction as Pond's Extract in cases for which it is recommended.

Died at Stratford

The many friends of Miss Annie Lockhead, youngest daughter of Rev. Wm. Lockhead, for many years Presbyterian minister at Fenelon Falls, will regret to learn of her death on the 24th. inst., at Stratford. Deceased was a general favorite, and by her untimely demise her family has sustained a great bereavement. Death resulted from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Married at Port Hope

The nuptials of Mr. Robert F. Day, of Port Hope, and Miss Maud Murray, youngest daughter of the late W. S. Tempest, of the same place, were celebrated at St. Mary's church on Tuesday, the Rev. Father Lynch officiating. Mr. Day was formerly in the employ of Gough Bros., of this town, and his many friends here will join with the Times in extending congratulations and best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Accident on the Sewer

Yesterday morning a portion of the sewer caved in on Murray street owing to the fact that boarding along the side only reached down to a depth of about six feet, whilst the excavation was as deep again. When the side gave way the planking above came down with it and Patrick Lavery's leg was caught and crushed to such an extent as to seriously injure it. He was carried into Smith's blacksmith shop, when the injured member grew so badly swollen as to necessitate his being taken home.

FOR THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

The Arrangements That are Being Made at Ottawa for the Entertainment of Visiting Regiments

In view of the 57th Batt. having accepted an invitation to participate in the military tournament to be held at Ottawa on May 24th, the following will be of local interest:—

Ottawa Journal: Everything indicates that the celebration in this city on the 23rd of May will be a grand success.

A meeting of the field officers of the Ottawa brigade and other officers serving on the various committees in connection with the Queen's birthday celebration was held yesterday afternoon at the D.R.A. offices.

Letters from the 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec, and the 57th Batt., Peterboro', were read, accepting the invitation to come to Ottawa. The Queen's Own of Toronto and the 53rd of Sherbrooke have yet to be heard from. The Montreal regiments, in view of a field day being arrangged in their own city, have declined.

The general committee decided to invite, besides those already invited, the following corps: 41st, Brockville; 42nd, Perth; and 45th, Lindsay and Port Hope.

The commanding officers of corps were appointed a sub-committee to meet a committee from the Capital Lacrosse club to arrange matters in connection with a match on the afternoon of the twenty-fourth.

Ottawa Free Press: The Ottawa garrison who have the arrangements in hand for the 24th of May celebration in this city, yesterday rode over the country surrounding the city and selected the site for the maneouvres. The district around the rifle range was decided on and is considered the ideal spot for carrying out of the extensive military maneouvres. The brigades of the Ottawa garrison will be the attacking party and will be stationed on the Janeville side of the river, and back some distance in the country. An effort is being made to bring the Kingston Field Battery here, but if this cannot be done the Ottawa battery will be divided, the attacking force having three guns and the defence composed of the visiting regiments, three guns. The latter force will be composed of visiting regiments, and on account of their not knowing the ground, they will be stationed on the hill above the range. The attacking force will cross the river by the bridges or fords as may to them seem to be the most advantageous and the fight will begin. The sight promises to be a magnificent one and there will no doubt be a large influx of visitors to witness it.

TWO ASSAULT CASES

Neighbors Quarrel Over the Location of a Line Fence and Come to Blows

An assault case came up for hearing yesterday afternoon before P. M. Dumble. R. W. Bell charged J. P. Metherall with assault, and the defendant laid a counter-charge against the plaintiff, alleging a similar offence. The location of a line fence was the cause of the trouble. Neither defendant nor plaintiff bore any visible marks of the fray and as the testimony was conflicting the Magistrate dismissed both cases.

ANOTHER ASSAULT CASE.

At the morning session of the court Thos. Hetherington was acquitted of the charge of assaulting a boy named Wesley Allen. The evidence went to show that Hetherington had ordered the boy off his lot and the latter returned some language, whereupon Hetherington used force.

Allen is the lad who was sent by the Children's Aid Society up to Toronto last year and placed in a home there but who escaped back to Peterborough in a few days.

Right up To Date

Give McQuay & Collins your next cake or pastry order. Their baker is direct from Harry Webb's, Toronto, and of course is right up-to-date. George street, opposite Adam Hall's.

Druggist Lynch's Till Tapped

Mr. J. Lynch, druggist, Hunter street, had his till tapped yesterday afternoon. A young lad slipped in when Mr. Lynch was engaged in the dispensing department and stole two or three dollars from the till. A boy who had been seen in the vicinity, and who has recently been charged with the theft of a purse was suspected. He was taken in charge, but the boy escaped. His brother was found and he acknowledged that his younger brother had bought him his dinner at a restaurant and had some money with him.

Death of Mrs Coben

Mrs. Chas. Coben, widow of the late Chas Coben, an old and respected resident of Peterborough, died on Tuesday after a short illness. Deceased was seventy-three years of age at the time of her death, having come to Galway with her husband forty years ago. She was ill only nine days and was conscious up to the last hour. On Monday morning she got quite well, and it was expected that she would recover, but she got a relapse that afternoon and passed peacefully away on Tuesday morning. All the members of the family were present at her bedside when the end came. Her remains were interred in the Kinmount cemetery.

Missing Again

Some weeks ago the Times chronicled the disappearance of Miss Esther Young, who had been boarding at Mr. H. Newton's, town. She was found later on in the township of Smith and sent to her home in Belmont. Yesterday she was again reported missing. One day last week she accompanied her mother to Havelock, and while Mrs. Young was doing some shopping Esther left the rig and has not since been heard from. Miss Young is a general favorite with all who know her and is much esteemed, and her strange action cannot be accounted for.

Positive Arguments

Besides, we are the cheapest store in town. Call and be convinced.

THE CAKE WALK

Mr. A. A. Hollingshead and Miss Stanley Bradd Take the Cake

A fair audience attended the Cricket Club Amateur Minstrels' entertainment (repeated by request) in the Opera House last night. The program, with the excepiton of a few slight changes, was the same as that of the night previous and as a very full report of the same appeared in yesterday's issue it would simply be an unnecessary repitition to go over the ground again. The coon cake walk at last night's entertainment was the drawing card. The following artists entered:

Mr. Jim Spence and Miss Courthope Pousette.

Mr. Chas. N. Brown and Miss Bob Hay.

Mr. Geo. Ames and Miss Arthur Bell.

Mr. Waldo Pousette and Miss Walter Collins.

Mr. Harry Neill and Miss Walter Phelan.

Mr. A. A. Hollingshead and Miss Stanley Bradd.

Mr. A. J. Waddell and Miss Ernie Wasson.

Mr. Eddie Graham and Miss Dick Simons.

Messrs. Sailsbury, Campbell and Spence acted as judges.

The fight for first place was so close that the judges found it a very difficult matter to agree on the winers. Finally a conclusion was reached and Mr. A. A. Hollingshead and Miss Stanley Bradd were awarded the cake.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Thos. Walters, of Lindsay, was in town yesterday.

Maude West left to-day for Elmvale to visit her sister.

Mrs. (Dr.) Fife is visiting friends in Hastings.

Miss Aggie Hall continues to steadily improve, much to the relief of her friends.

Dr. Hall, Norwood, and Mr. A. Spellman, Hastings, were in town yesterday.

Mr. Mossom Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, was registered at the Snowden House yesterday.

Mr. Harry J. Walker, hardware merchant, and Mr. Frank Clarke, jeweller, Warkworth, attended the minstrel show.

Galt Reporter: Miss Quirk returned to her home in Peterborough this morning after a lengthy visit to her grandfather, Mr. John Scott.

Mr. Babcock, of Lindsay, who underwent an operation for appendicitis last week at the Nicholls Hospital, returned home yesterday morning.

Mr. W. C. Tully, who has been employed for some time with Mason & Co., has accepted a permanent situation with E. Brown & Co.

Mr. "Jack" Parsons, formerly connected with the Bank of Montreal, in Peterborough, and who was transferred to the Moncton, N. B., branch, two years ago, has been visiting in town for the last few days.

Miss Hutchinson, of Toronto, on her return home from Campbellford, where she been the guest of Miss Lawrence, spent a few hours in town yesterday.

Mr. R. W. Philp, who was taken to the hospital yesterday morning suffering from appendicitis, was successfully operated on and to-day is doing favorably.

A BAD MEDICINE MAN

He is a Source of Annoyance to Housekeepers and Should be Looked After

The following communication was handed us for publication last night. We would suggest that the police keep their weather eye open for the individual complained of:

To the Editor of the Times:

Dear Sir,—I wish to direct your attention to a nuisance of large dimensions which exists in our midst There is a quack going around town with pills without a label, which will cure every disease from measles to consumption—to hear him tell it. This bold invader goes to the homes of our citizens when he known the man of the house is away. His first interrogation is: "Did you get my circular?" which by the way never existed. He then goes on to tell the lady all her troubles and that she is on the verge of a serious illness, and suggests a box of his "dough" pills as a positive cure, the price being 35c. per box. When told that she will not purchase he invariably makes some insulting remarks, which send terror to the hearts of the poor weak woman. Such fakirs as these should be given six months in a pie factory with a muzzle on. The police should certainly look this gent. up. Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

In view of the fact that "The Robert Simpson Co., Limited,' of Toronto, have distributed their catalogue throughout the town of Peterborough, the "Spot Cash Grocery Company" wish to say that they have compared the price lists for groceries therein quoted with their own popular low prices, and find that they are on an average equally as low as "The Robert Simpson Co.," and that the Peterborough citizens should feel no need to buy groceries in Toronto. The Spot Cash Grocery Co. further announce that they will meet the Simpson prices on groceries in every way, quality and kind considered. In proof of this, save your price lists and compare with bills of goods purchased from the Spot Cash Grocery Co., 353 George street.

Tried and True

The march of intellect calls for constant evolution in the twentieth century steed—the bicycle. Notably abreast with the intelligent popular demand, as well as the best mechanical ideas of the day, is "The Sun," a wheel which ably demonstrates that G. T. Pendrith & Co. have proved themselves masters in the art of cycle construction. Prompted by another year's study, they have made for their '98 Sun Models many important improvemets. The victory they have achieved in these new features is the steady evolution of all the parts together. Such care and supervision has been faithfully exercised that nothing more symmetrical, stronger or more reliable has ever been offered to the public in the way of bicycles than The Sun.

Mr. Lionel King is the Peterborough agent for these wheels.

TREMENDOUS MILITARY ENTHUSIASM

In New York—Intense Excitement at Porto Rico—W. J. Bryan, the Free Silver Advocate, Offers to Enlist as a Private Soldier—Portugal Stops the Transmission of Telegraphic Information Regarding Movements of Spanish Warships in Their Ports.

(Special Despatches to the Times, 3 a.m.)

WAR PREPARATIONS AT PORTO RICO

St. Thomas, W.I., Apl. 27.—Porto Rico advices received to-day say that four Spanish gunboats are at San Juan De Porto Rico. They are being painted black and possibly dark grey. Martial law has been proclaimed in Porto Rico and it is being enforced in a tyrannical manner. Crowds of people are leaving for the interior dreading the rigors of a seige and dangers of bombardment. The military authorities are most actively engaged in preparing for the defense of the island. Thirty-four torpedoes have been planted in the main channel. They are controlled from Morro Castle. In addition an old steamboat has been sunk across the harbor entrance, the buoys in the channel have been altered and from Monday last after the news of blockade of Havana reached there accompanied by a report that the Cuban capital had been bombarded all the lights were ordered to be extinguished at night. The French residents, when these advices left San Juan De Porto Rico were seeking refuge on board the French cruiser Admiral Regault De Genoully. Danger is apprehended from the incompetent and youthful volunteers of Porto Rico. They are armed with Wauser rifles and are displaying considerable war enthusiasm. Arecibo Bay on the west coast of the island, has been planted with torpedoes. Spanish steamers landed at Wagoguez, seventy miles from San Juan De Porto Rico on Wednesday, with a quantity of arms and ammunition and there was a similar landing of supplies at San Juan De Porto Rico, Tuesday.

Besides this, about 5,000 tons of provisions were landed at San Juan De Porto Rico, on Sunday last. The warehouses of Porto Rico are pronounced to be full of provisions and the Spanish authorities say they can stand a seige of two months. No United States warships are known to be in the vicinity of Porto Rico.

DEPARTURE OF THE ST. LOUIS.

New York, April 27.—One of "the prettiest sights in New York harbor this morning was the departure of the big auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, formerly of the American line, for an unknown port. For two days and nights relays of workmen had been engaged in fitting the magnificent vessel for naval duty, and during the night hours of this time absolute secrecy was observed as to her armmaent. It was known to a few, however, that between midnight and dawn four six-pounders had been placed in position on the lower deck, two forward and two aft, and that quick firing guns had been mounted on the upper works. At daybreak this morning a large crowd had congregated on the American line pier, among others being the parents and relatives of some of the crew, which numbered two hundred and seventy-five men besides fifty marines, but no one was allowed to go on board the departing vessel, marines guarding every gangway. Her lines were not cast off until nearly 9 o'clock, and as she was towed out into mid-stream ten thousand excited people wildly cheered, their voices almost drowning the screeching of the scores of ferry boats, tugs and other small craft in her wake. The progress of the big cruiser down stream was a succession of salutes from every boat she passed, while the ferry boats crossing the river hung in mid-stream to allow her to pass, the passengers joining in the general chorus. Such a waving of hats, newspapers, umbrellas and handkerchiefs I never saw before. By courtesy of Mr. Athwald, of the New York Telegram, I had an excellent view of the cruiser from a Herald steam yacht all the way down stream, following her almost to the warship anchorage off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, where there is a marine patrol that blocks further passage to private vessels. The other American liner New York, to be known as the auxiliary cruiser Harvard, will, I understand, leave her dock to-night or to-morrow and as she has received her offensive armament here she will undoubtedly armament here she will undoubtedly proceed straight to sea. It is believed that both the St. Louis and New York will cruise about the Atlantic for two hundred miles from New York harbor so as to guard against any surprise planned by Spanish fleets.

All New York, in fact all America is waiting with unconcealed anxiety to hear of the result of the meeting of Admiral Dewey's squadron and the Spanish fleet off the Philippine Islands, and, while New Yorkers profess to believe that a naval engagement between these awful monsters of modern mechanism can only end in victory for the Stars and Stripes, there is a feeling that in a first encounter with half-drilled crews, there may be mistakes that may change the tide of battle. It is the general belief that if Dewey proves the victor he will at once proceed to bombard the forts of Manilla and in this he will be seconded by the insurgents, who are massing near the town in thousands. It is believed that in any event the insurgents will make a desperate effort to capture the place, and if they succeed even Admiral Dewey's presence with his prodigious war-machines, would not be sufficient to prevent a general massacre of the Spaniards, advices received this morning showing that they are as bitter, if not more so, as the half-starved Cubans, who are gathering together for a last desperate attempt to sack Havana.

To-night's loyal demonstration on the streets of New York was a sight that one seldom meets with twice in an ordinary life-time. It was caused by the order of the commanding officers calling out the National Guard for active service, and the response was so prompt and general that within an hour the dozen armories in the city were crowded with men, some of them aged and decrepit, but with eyes ablaze and their veins swollen out with the war-fever. "Old Glory" was in evidence everywhere, on banners and bannerettes, on the lapels of dudish coats, in the hands of thousands of the fair sex, on telephone and fire alarm poles, in fact everywhere one looked he was confronted with the Stars and Stripes on sheets that ranged in size from an inch to the largest kind of a circus poster. Scores of bands paraded the streets, followed by battalions and regiments and thousands of citizens, while the whole city was ablaze with light and general rejoicing. Queer, human nature, isn't it, that makes a people rejoice at the prospect of thousands of their kith and kin going out to face the worst kind of hardships and misery, and in a great many cases, death itself? But so it is to-night, and I doubt if one family in all this great city calculate that they will lose a father or a brother by the war.

A SENSATION CAUSED.

London, April 28.—A sensation has been caused by the action of the Portugese Government in stopping the transmission of telegraphic information, so far as the public is concerned, regarding the movements of warships in Portugese ports, as it reveals the hitherto scarcely concealed fact that Portugal is doing everything possible to aid Spain. The decision of the Portugese Government to-day is undoubtedly in response to the pressure brought to bear upon her by Spain and the sole object of the order, it is believed, is to prevent news of the departure of the Spanish fleet from being cabled from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands.

ENLISTING CUBANS.

Key West, April 28.—Castillo Duany, sub-delegate and brigadier of the Cubans, is giving orders to-day in regard to the enlistment of the Cubans now here for service in the coming campaign.

ANXIETY IN HAYTI.

Port au Prince, Hayti, April 28.—The Haytian Government is extremely anxious lest her obligations to the United States should bring an attack on her by Spain. The United States Minister has informed the Haytian Government that the United States will insist upon the full observation of the treaty and under no circumstances must Hayti shelter Spanish privateers.

ENGLAND SUPPLYING MUNITIONS.

London, April 28.—Vessels are loading coal and ammunition at many ports of Great Britain for the Spanish Government. The United States must capture these vessels if she wishes to prevent them getting to Spain.

A PURCHASE OF TORPEDOES.

Vienna, April 28.—The torpedo factory at Fiume has sold to the United States Government sixty torpedoes which had been ordered by Brazil. The sale was made upon the consent of the Brazilian Government.

THE PLAN OF ATTACK.

Washington, April 28.—It is stated on good authority that the American forces are to effect a landing within two days upon the shores of Cuba in order to seize some port to be held as a base of operations. It is believed that the bombardment of Matanzas is closely connected with the plan for a landing. A competent military authority stated this morning that the bombardment is only in the nature of a feint. The object is to give Captain-General Blanco the impression that a landing at that places is to be effected, so that he will mass his troops there for the defence, thus weakening the forces at other places on the coast. This having been done a rapid descent will be made upon some place to the east of Matanzas, probably Cardenas, which will be surprised and taken before assistance can be procured. It is also stated that while the attack is being mad eupon Cardenas, a feinted attack will be made upon Matanzas, so as to keep up the delusion in Blanco's mind that that piece is the objective point of the American forces. News of the engagements may be expected by Saturday.

New York, April 28.—A despatch from Key West to the Commercial Advertiser says: Bombardment of Matanzas leaves the port open for military occupation. While it is not known how many were killed the casualties probably exceeded 100.

A special to the Mail and Express from Key West says: It is reported 60 Spaniards were killed at Matanzas.

Washington, April 28.—At the Navy Department it was said at 11.20 a.m. that Admiral Sampson had simply obeyed orders in bombarding the fort at Matanzas. His instructions were to shell the fort and dismantle it, but not to shell the city or to land.

Nassau, N.P., April 28.—The British steamer Lucilino has arrived here with 60 Cuban refugees aboard. She will be compelled to undergo quarantine.

BRYAN IS A SOLDIER.

Lincoln, Neb., April 28.—W. J. Bryan, the free silver advocate, is thinking of enlisting as a private soldier in the Cuban war. Said he to a friend: "I have not the military education or experience necessary to qualify as an officer, and, thereofre, I am willing to enter the ranks. At such a time as this every man who can get away ought to enlist. I do not think I would make a bad soldier. I am athletic and strong, and am sure I would be amendable to discipline. I am ready to enlist at any time and go wherever the government may see fit to send me."

CHASED THEIR OWN VESSEL.

New York, April 28.—The three masted American schooner Rebecca W. Huddell arrived this morning from New Brunswick and reported being chased by a large black warship when about 25 miles southeast of Portland. The chase was kept up for half an hour without the warship having made any perceptible gain. The warship then turned about and went off in an east southeast direction. This was probably the Minneapolis.

A GENTLE WARNING.

London, April 28.—The Spanish embassy has informed the foreign office that the ports of Cuba, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico are defended by torpedoes and that entry is only possible under the guidance of pilots in waiting outside.

WAR SENT HER INSANE.

Middleton, N.Y., April 28.—Mrs. Mortimer Godfrey, who has relatives in the local militia, worried over the prospects of war until she had become insane. She grabbed her four-year-old child by the arm and started for Shawangunk Mountains, screaming that the world was coming to an end.

CARDINALS SUPPORT THE QUEEN.

Madrid, April 28.—With the view of counteracting the growing popular support of the Carlist cause the Spanish Cardinals are now assembling here to give the Queen Regent an assurance of their loyalty. The Cardinals will issue an address to the people, asking them to rally to the support of the dynasty in th ename of the church.

BATTERIES OF ARTILLERY FOR TAMPA.

Chickamauga National Park, Tenn., April 28.—It is said, upon good authority, that the immediate shipment of the light batteries of artillery now stationed at Chickamauga Park to Tampa, Fla., has been ordered.

ENGLAND SPANISH IN ITS SYMPATHIES.

London, April 28.—The trend of English sentiment towards Spain is becoming so pronounced as to be a generally recognized fact. Even American diplomats are compelled to admit it, although the Government's friendly attitude is unchanged. It is questioned whether a majority in Parliament is not now Spanish in its sympathies.

ANOTHER SPANISH STEAMER CAPTURED.

Key West, April 28.—7.45 a. m.—A large Spanish steamer bound from Corunna for Havana with a large cargo of provisions and money for the Spanish troops was captured yesterday morning by the United States monitor Terror.

A SUGAR ESTATE PLUNDERED.

St. Thomas, West Indies, April 28.—An American sugar estate in Porto Rico was plundered after the declaration of war.

BOMBARDMENT OF MATANZAS DENIED.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Secretary Long says he has no reports whatever of any bombardment of Matanzas.

TORPEDO DEFENCES.

London, April 28.—The Spanish Embassy has informed the Foreign Office that the ports of Cuba, Philippine Islands and Porto Rico are defended by torpedos.

WILL SAIL TO-MORROW.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, Ap. 28.—The Spanish squadron will probably sail to-morrow.

AMERICANS OBLIGED TO RETREAT.

Madrid, Apl. 28.—The verson of the bombardment of Matanzas by the U. S. fleet which has reached here says that, "After half an hour's fight the Americans were obliged to retire."

PRESIDENT NOT BEEN NOTIFIED.

Washington, Ap. 28.—The president says that he has received no official advices of firing at Matanzas, nor any news regarding it other than that sent him by the newspapers.

CAN'T GET COAL.

Plymouth, Ap. 28.—A steamer which arrived here to-day from St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, reports that the Spanish warships there are unable to get half the amount of coal which they require to fill their bunkers.

SPAIN BEWILDERED AT THE ATTITUDE OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Special despatch from Madrid says: The Spanish Government officials are bewildered at the attitude of Great Britain. They believe the Government and the people of Great Britain hold divergent opinions and that the officios of Great Britain are due to a secret compact with the United States.

MATANZAS SHELLED.

On board the flagship New York, off Matanzas, April 27.—(2 p.m.)—The New York, the Puritan and the Cincinnati bombarded the forts at the mouth of Matanzas harbor this afternoon. There were no casualties on the American side. It is believed that the hail of iron which pounded in the forts must have caused loss of life to the Spaniards but nothing is known positively.

The engagement commenced at 12.57 and ceased at 1.15. The object of the attack was to prevent the completion of earthworks at Punta Gorda.

A battery on the eastern arm of the bay opened fire on the flagship and this was also shelled. About 12 eight inch shells were fired from the eastern forts but they all fell short. About five or six light shells were fired from the half completed battery. Two of these whizzed over the New York and one fell short. The ships left the bay for the open sea, the object of discovering the whereabouts of the batteries having been accomplished. In the neighborhood of 300 shots were put on land from the three ships at a range of from 4,000 to 7,000 yards.

Rear Admiral Sampson, when asked if he was satisfied with the result said, "Yes, I am. I expected to be."

The half-completed Spanish earthworks and battery were apparently all ploughed up by the shells.

All the ships engaged showed excellent markmanship throughout the engagement and when they were firing at the shortest range nearly every shell took effect. The forts which were bombarded were on a low lying point and were considered merely earthworks. They did not make a good target, yet when the big guns were fired at the shortest range portions of the forts could be seen flying in the air at every shot.

The flagship returned to Havana, and the Puritan and Cincinnati were left on Matanzas station.

NEW YORK'S HARBOR CLOSED.

New York harbor is now entirely closed at night. Sunset and sunrise guns indicate, respectively, the closing and opening of the port, as well as signifying the raising and lowering of the flag.

WAR PRIZES AT SEA

The prizes captured at sea will be sold, if found by the prize courts to be lawful prey, and the money divided. If the prize taken was of equal strength to its captor, the men get all the prize money. If the condemned vessel be of lesser strength then the captors get half the proceeds and the Government the other half. In the case of privatarrs the captors get everything that can be condemned as a lawful prize.

A privateer is by some regarded as little, if any, better than a private. A good, general description of a privateer is that it is a private armed vessel commissioned by a state to cruise against the commarce of its enemy. When one state has declared war against another state every subject of the one is, in theory, the enemy of every subject of the other. But the universal practice of nations has been to confin ehostilities to the regularly commissioned army and nvay. Kn land this restriction has been carried much farther than on sea. Private property and private persons are exempt from molestation by an invading army. A fleet may, however, bombard a place without any thought of destroying only government property, and may capture any vessels belongingg to any subject of its enemy.

While the fleet is engagging attention elsewhere, privateers are very effective in afflicting damage on commerce. All property captured in war belongs in the state and not to the individuals making the capture; but when privateers are commissioned under letters of marque they are rewarded by their services by being allowed to retain all they may capture. But as a vessel might be seized which did not really belong to a subject of the enemy or some of the cargo might be the property of neutrals, it is necessary that the validity of every capture should be adjuicated by a competent tribunal. These tribunals of prize are regularly established in times of war. It is to the interest of the privateer to report a capture at once to one of these tribunals. If it is judged that the capture is a lawful prize, it becomes at once the property of the privateer. If it is unlawful the privateer not only loses his labor, but is liable for damages.

ANGLO-SAXON UNITY

In considering the question of a closer understanding among Anglo-Saxon peoples for the better fulfullment of Anglo-Saxon methods of popular government, for the extension of commercial freedom and for ifrmer security of the liberty of the individual man not everyone understands how broad a basis there is for such an international undertaking. In a late address before the colonial section of the Society of Arts in London it was shown that "the British Empire is fifty-three times the size of France, fifty-two times that of Germany, three and a half times that of the United States of America, thrice the size of Europe, with treble the population of all the Russias. It extends over 11,000,000 square miles, occupies one-fifth of the globe, contains one-fifth of the human race, or 350,000,000 people, embraces four continents, 10,000 islands, 500 promontories and 2000 rivers. It is estmiated that the Empire possesses one-third of the sheep of the world, one-fourth of the cattle and one-twelfth of the horses. The total shipping under the British flag is 10,452,000 tons.

This is a potential aggregate the like of which the world has never before seen, whether considered with reference to population or territory. But it is so great that it is unwieldy. Though the Anglo-Saxon has conquered this space on the earth's surface and this domination of a large part of mankind, he holds place and power by the force of racial superiority, and not by reason of numerical strength.

Half the English speaking people of the world are in the United States. The territory of the United States is one of the fairest and most fruitful portions of the earth's surface. The United States in point of war power Uare strongest where Great Britain is weakest, and weakest where Great Britain is strongest. Suppose, that, for pupro ses of common defense and of common interest, the United States and the British Empire should stand together; what combination of the Powers could resist them? Anglo-Saxon unity is self-suggestive—not for purposes of aggression; not to make war, but to make future wars impossible by commanding the peace with power to enforce it.

How about the proposed Street Railway deal? What's the use of silence—let us know the worst at once.

There is a medical college in Chicago which grants diplomas to its students after three months' study (!) and its "graduates" practice extensively in the state of Michigan. One of them, according to a statement made to the state board of health, has recently lost sixteen patients from diphtheria in one locality. The Boston Journal says "under these circumstances it is not strange that there is a demand for some restrictive legislature." "And yet it seems illogical to place any restrictions on these "practicioners' and at the same time, remove them from,—or perhaps, more correctly, refrain from imposing them on—faith curers and so called Christian scientists. And this is precisely what has been done in the legislatures of one or two States,—Massachusetts, if we are not in error—among them.

Prevent Pneumonia

Prevention is always better than cure, even when cure is possible. But so many times pneumonia is not cured that prevention becomes the natural act of that instinct of self-preservation which is "the first law of nature." Pneumonia can be prevented and is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Some years ago I had a severe cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I could neither eat nor sleep, and was in a wretched condition. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and took it according to the directions, and at the end of fifteen dayew as as well and sound as before the attack. I have recommended it in many cases of pneumonia since, and have never known it to fail in effecting a cure."
JOHN HENRY, St. Joseph, La.

"I was attacked with a cold that settled on my lungs, and defied the skill of my physicians so that they considered me incurable. At last I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was entirely cured after having taken two bottles."

A Pretty Douro Wedding

Another of those very interesting events took place at St. Joseph's church, Douro, last Tuesday evening, being the marriage of Mr. Thomas O. Burke and Miss E. M. O'Brien. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Tendell. Mr. John O. Burke acted as groom's best man, the bridesmaid being Miss Minnie O'Brien. After the ceremony a sumptous wedding dinner was served at Mount Gouley, the residence of the bride's father. The happy event was of a private nature, only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will reside on their farm near the Killarney plains.

It's the 4-point adjustable, oil-retaining, dust-repelling, live-for-ever Bicycle Bearing

AND IS FOUND ONLY IN

THE E. & D. BICYCLE

Like all E. & D. good features, it's peculiar; the cones have flattened surfaces for the balls to travel on instead of concave, as is the case with all other kinds; the balls travel in double V grooves, and cannot wedge, bind nor break; they require oiling but once a season; every ball bears an equal share of the load; they do not twist, they do not wear.

TESTIMONIALS:

The following are a few from scores as testimonials the Sergt-Major has from people who have used this preparation:

I have used Kenny's Hair Restorer for dandruff and falling out of my hair. It has removen the dandruff, and a few applications prevented my hair falling out. Three bottles of Kennys Hair Restorer has restored the hair on my head to its original state. DAY OF THE CLIPPER PAST.

So the Stunsail Has Disappeared For Good From American Ships.

"Stunsails out of fashion!" said the skipper as he puffed vigorously at his old pipe, which has been around the Horn almost as many times as its owner. "Well, they may be, but it is because false economy has abolished them on American ships. However, an old shipmate of mine who is a bit of a crank and left this port the other day, still carries a topmast tub sail. It may be for sentimental reasons just as a Confederate veteran might display the flag under which he went to battle, but stunsails are just as practical to-day as ever.

"'Studding sail,' you say? Oh, yes. Studding sail may be literally correct, but Jack says 'stunsail.' He objects to mouthing participles and words with long endings. He wants brevity all the time—in everything perhaps except rum. The corruption of language by sailors is proverbial. Stunsail may be a corruption of studding sail. But studding sail itself is a corruption of steadying sail or steering sail, which in my opinion was the original term. The stunsail, although used only in moderate weather, was a driving sail. Our yachts carry stunsails today in the form of the immense side sail that is called the spinnaker.

"It costs to fit a ship with a suit of stunsails. Their use means extra labor for the crew, or a larger crew, and their storage takes valuable cargo room. This means expense for the ship, which her earnings in these days of railroads and ocean tramps do not warrant. The cargoes that sailing vessels carry today do not demand quick transportation, with its high freight rates. The modern sailing ship is little better than a floating warehouse. It is not driven. Spars and canvas are not pressed as they were before the advent of the steamship. Sailing a ship to make a short passage is one of the lost arts. There is no demand for auxiliary canvas such as stunsails. The Yankee clipper is out of it—defunct

"Away back in the middle of the century the stars and stripes floated over ships that were really clippers below and aloft. In competition with one another and with foreign craft our clippers carried valuable cargoes—tea from China, coffee from Rio and fancy merchandise to San Francisco. The steamships do the tea and coffee carrying now. It was not in those days a go as you please run. The clippers were under orders to get there to catch the top of a market. Hours saved on their voyages, long though they were, meant many dollars for all concerned. Ships were driven then with canvas that fairly smothered them in fair weather and foul, and Yankee seamanship, with its characteristic judgment and nerve, was recognized and rewarded.

"But all this is merely a memory now. I can fancy the clipper of the fifties coming head on, rising against the clear sky of the lower latitudes, her sails mounting above the blue horizon, tier upon tier—skyscrapers, moonrakers, cloud cleaners—a snow white pyramid, an angel's footstool, as Jack says. Did they carry stunsails? Aye, up to the royal yards."—New York Sun.

Silly Modern Magic.

It would be quite wrong to conclude that the crystal sphere is discredited among the faithful. Large numbers are sold every year—few, by comparison, with the parchment talismans, of course, and for excellent reasons. In the first place, the parchment worn next the skin requires periodical renewal; in the next, the crystal ball will last forever, and is, moreover, expensive. The genuine article—real crystal—may cost as much as £30, but that is a luxury only accessible to the wealthy and earnest prober into the future; for 10 shillings or a guinea you may possess yourself of a composition or glass ball nicely served up in a morocco case lined with satin like a jeweler's casket, and this will answer the purpose equally well. They are usually made perfect spheres, but if you prefer it egg shaped you can order an "ovoid crystal."

I understand that astrology recognizes no difference in the relative merits of the two forms. The chief essential to success in using the crystal ball is great concentration. A north light is recommended, for reasons I am unable to explain, but is not absolutely necessary. You recline in an easy attitude, hold the ball up to the light, and center your mind upon it until you see something; that which you see is going to happen. My knowledge of this particular matter is so slender that I will say no more about it.

That crystal balls have their sincere believers would seem to be proved by the prices they command. The richest man or woman does not pay 30 sovereigns for a sphere of crystal the size of a lawn tennis ball unless he or she confidently anticipates some return for the money.—Chambers' Magazine.

A Mountain of Basalt.

There is a mountain of dark brown basalt on the Columbia river nearly 2,000 feet in height and stretching along the stream for six or eight miles. When the white settlers first came into the country, the Indians told them this mountain was traveling; that some day it would move across the Columbia and form a lake which would reach from the cascades to The Dalles. What the Indians said has been found true in some respects. The mountain is in motion. Its movement is forward and downward. The railroad builders who constructed their line along the base found the tracks continually forced out of place. In some places the movement has amounted to eight and ten feet in a few years. Geologists attribute the phenomenon to the fact that the mountain rests on a substratum of conglomerate or of soft sandstone, which is steadily being washed away by the current of the big river.—New York Tribune.

Black and White.

The Boston Budget says that a merchant who lives near Boston numbers among his acquaintances and friends an old colored preacher, by whom he was recently invited to make a Sunday morning call at the church over which the latter presides. The merchant, although wishing most heartily to accept the invitation and to bring his wife also, was somewhat in doubt as to the propriety of so doing. "I am afraid," he said in explanation, "that our presence would not be wholly pleasant to your congregation." The shepherd reassured him. "Why, sah," he exclaimed, "dere's so many white folks in dat church some Sundays, mah congregation looks like a han'ful of blueberries in a bowl of milk!"

No Inconsistency.

Advertised and Grew Rich

Sir Thomas Lipton, of "Lipton's teas" and Lipton's stores, is a Scotchman, and but 42 years of age. Despite his hard-working life, he is tall, straight, athletic, always well dressed and well groomed, always unassuming. His father was a wage worker. When the son was 15 years old he sailed to America to seek his fortune. For two years he worked in the rice swamps of South Carolina. At the end of two years he had so little money that he stowed himself away on a steamer sailing from Charleston to New York, and was permitted to shovel coal. He went back to Glasgow and started a grocery store on £100 loaned him by his father. He succeeded by advertising.

A Tired Heart

Dear Lord! if one should some day
come to Thee,
Weary exceedingly, and poor and worn,
With bleeding feet sore peirced of many a thorn,
And lips athirst, and eyes so tired to see,
And, falling down before Thy face should say:
"Lord, my day counts but as an idle day,
My hands have garnered fruit of no
fair tree,
Empty am I of stores of oil and corn,
Broken am I and utterly forlorn,
Yet in Thy vineyard hast Thou room for me!—
Wouldst turn Thy face away?
Nay, Thou wouldst lift Thy lost sheep tenderly.
"Lord, Thou art pale, as one that travaileth,
And Thy wounds bleed where Feet
and Hands were riven;
Thou hast lain all these years in balms of Heaven
Since Thou wert broken in the arms of Death,
And these have healed not!" "Child!
be comforted.
I trod the wine-press where Thy feet had bled;
Yea, on the Cross, I cried with mighty breath,
Thirsting for Thee, whose love was the pain,"
I, God, have followed Thee from dawn to even
With yearning heart, by many a moor and heath,
My sheep have wandered!
Now on my breast, mine arm its head beneath."
Then, if this stricken one cried out to Thee:
"Now mine eyes see that Thou art
passing fair,
And Thy face marred of men beyond compare,"
And so should fall to weeping bitterly,
With "Lord I longed for other love
than Thine,
And my feet followed earthly lov-
ers fine,
Turning from where Thy gaze en-
treated me;
Now these grow cold, and wander
otherwhere,
And I, heart-empty, poor and sick and bare,
Loved of no lover, turn at last to Thee—"
Wouldst stretch Thine hands Divine,
And stroke the bowed head very pityingly?
"Will not my love suffice, through great
"Ah, Lord! all night without a lighted house,
While some within held revel and
carouse,
My lost heart wandered in wind and rain
And moaned unheard amid the tempest's din."
"Peace! peace! if one had op'ed to let Thee in,
Perchance this hour were lost for that hour's gain;
Wouldst thou have sought Me then with thy new vows?
Ah, child! I too, with bleeding feet and brows,
Knocked all the night at heart's door
in vain,
And saw the dawn begin,
On My gold head the dews have left a stain."

AN INQUIRING LAD.

Personal Adornment Which Appeared to Be Unnecessary.

"When I was down in the Tennessee mountains doing my turn in that peculiar and primitive section," observed the special pension agent, "I had at various times such glimpses of life as you pampered children of the luxurious capital never get. I remember one June morning I arose from my simple bed of clapboards on the loft floor of a log cabin and proceeded down a ladder to the earth, thence a hundred yards down to the creek, where I was afforded ample opportunity for my matutinal ablutions, as the stream was big enough to run a sawmill with.

"As I splashed my face in the clear water and spluttered over it after the usual fashion of a man who likes to wash his face I was joined by the 10-year-old son of the family with which I was stopping. He stood on the shore watching me with much interest, which I am glad to say I returned with zest, for he was a picture boy. He was sandy and freckled and didn't look as if he had had a bath in the memory of man. His clothes were simple enough, consisting of a cotton shirt, and there was no hat to hide a head of hair which I am positive never felt the penetrating and persuading influence of a comb. He was too much interested in the mysteries of my toilet to say anything until I took out a comb and began to use it on my tangled locks. After a tug or two at it, looking at him meanwhile, he spoke.

"'Say, mister,' he said curiously, 'have yer got to do that there?'

"'Do what there?' I smiled in reply.

"'That there that yer doin.'

"'You mean combing my hair?'

"'Yes.'

"'Of course it has to be done.'

"'Every mornin this erway?'

"'Certainly.'

"'Well, geewhillerkins, mister,' he said, with much feeling, 'yer must be a heap of trouble to yerself.'"—Washington Star.

A STORY OF NAPOLEON.

He Liberated a Scotchman at Oberkampf's Request.

Napoleon had at one time many admirers in England, especially among the commercial classes, who suffered deeply from the war, but he alienated the sympathies of all such by his cruel arrest of the English who were in France at the time of the rupture of the peace of Amiens, in 1803. Some 12,000 English of both sexes were thus detained in irksome captivity till the close of the war, and hardly a family in the middle and upper classes but had to bewail the absence of some friend or connection.

Yet in individual cases Napoleon showed some magnanimity. A young Scotchman, one Robert Hendry, from Glasgow, a scientific dyer and chemist, had taken advantage of the peace to visit the great manufacturing houses of France, and he was staying at Jouy, where Oberkampf has established a huge cotton printing factory, when war suddenly broke out. Hendry was thereupon constituted a prisoner by the authorities, but allowed to remain on parole at Jouy.

Napoleon one day visited the factory unexpectedly, accompanied by Josephine. He made a rapid progress through the works. Villagers and work people, the latter numbering 1,400, assembled to witness his departure, cheering the cortege, and cheering still louder when the emperor was seen to take the cross from his own breast and affix it to that of the modest Oberkampf. Isabey painted the scene, and the picture is still to be found upon the walls of Versailles. But Oberkampf had still something to ask. Napoleon smiled propitiously, but made a wry face when he heard the petition, which was for the release of the prisoner. "An Englishman!" "No, sire, a Scotchman! His mother—his sisters depend on his labors." "Well, he shall be free, then!" said the emperor.—Household World.

Shaving a Pursued Bandit.

"I shaved Jesse James, the once noted outlaw, down in southern Kentucky a long time ago," said an old gray haired fellow on the train the other day, "when the man's life wasn't worth a penny. Jesse rushed into my little country place, down in the Red river country, one day in the latter part of December and asked me if I wouldn't shave him while he looked after his colt's revolvers and watched the door. I was not a barber by trade, but those persuaders Jesse had induced me to try my hand with a new Wade & Butcher razor I took out of my showcase. As I shaved, the man of iron nerve sat with a cocked pistol in each hand and told me in a few hurried words that a posse was pursuing him, bent on capturing him, dead or alive, on the charge of robbing a bank at Russellville, a crime, he averred, of which he was not guilty. He wanted his beard shaved off that he might fool his pursuers if they should happen to catch up with him. I finished the job of scraping. The much wanted individual thanked me, and, mounting a horse, which had been hitched in the rear of my store, bade me good evening and rode away. I didn't know for certain who my visitor was, although I suspected it, until the next day, when I heard that a man in the neighborhood was telling that he had seen the elder James the afternoon before. I suppose that was the last shave Jesse James got in Kentucky, and I have never seen him after that day."—Louisville Post.

THE ISOLATION OF A CHILD.

I once knew a dear little mother,
With a beautiful blue eyed boy.
She constantly bathed and brushed him,
And when he had tired of a toy
She would take it and scald it and scrape it
And lay it away in the sun,
And that is the way she took care of
His playthings, every one.

Pent up in his own little playhouse
The baby grew peaked and pale,
And there were the neighbors' children,
All dirty and happy and hale.
If the baby went out for an airing,
The nurse was to understand
That none of the neighbors' children
Was ever to touch his hand.

But they did, and the injured mother
Brought the dear baby inside
And shut him up in his playhouse,
Where the little one fretted and died.
Then the torn heart turned to the Virgin,
And this was the weight of her prayer:
"O mother, dear, don't let him play with
The other angels up there!"

MR. JORDAN'S MONEY.

The Former United States Treasurer Once Narrowly Escaped Arrest.

Ex-Treasurer Jordan frequently amuses his friends by telling of an exciting experience he had while treasurer of the United States. Mr. Jordan occasionally indulges in joking remarks uttered with a serious countenance. It was the indulgence of this proclivity while connected with the treasury department that came near resulting in his introduction to a pair of handcuffs and incarceration in a dingy cell. Mr. Jordan had occasion to make a trip to New York just at a time when a new $5 bill was issued by the bureau of engraving and printing. It happened that the treasurer on the day of starting on his trip drew a portion of his salary, and the cashier handed him a bunch of the new $5 bills, which had reached the office within an hour. When he arrived in New York, Mr. Jordan proceeded to purchase some needed articles and handed the clerk one of the new bills. The clerk had never seen money that looked like that bill, which was spotless and uncrumpled by handling. He examined the alleged money and the man who gave it to him with equal care. Mr. Jordan watched him with suppressed amusement and remarked in a matter of fact way:

"It's good money. I made it myself."

That was enough for the clerk, who went to the cashier's desk with the bill. There was a hurried conference and a message was sent to police headquarters over the telephone. In a short time a couple of detectives in citizens' attire were standing on either side of the treasurer of the United States. They waited there to watch developments, fumbling their handcuffs in their pockets. In the meantime the cashier studied the new bill further, looked carefully over his counterfeit detector and rummaged through treasury circulars relating to the issuance of money. Finally he came across a description of the new $5 bill which was to be issued by the treasury department. His message had not yet reached the clerk, who was exchanging significant glances with the detectives and watching Mr. Jordan, when the latter, getting tired of waiting for his change and realizing that his new money was probably puzzling the cashier, produced his card. At the same moment the cashier's message that the money was not counterfeit reached the clerk, the detectives wandered off with crestfallen countenances and the treasurer proceeded to the nearest bank, where he exchanged his new bills for money that had passed through a thousand hands and was far from being sanitary.—Washington Star.

An Unpleasant Rencounter.

A shabby man with morose, intellectual features and a well dressed man whose countenance bespoke refinement coupled with a genial disposition rather than with mental power found themselves side by side in a Columbus avenue car.

"Why, Ned!" shouted the prosperous looking man as his kindly eye fell upon his neighbor.

"That's my name," the other grumbled, with anything but welcome in his look.

"How are you, old boy? I have not see you—let me see—since we left college. It's nearly six years, by George!"

The seedy passenger grunted and looked nonplused.

"Well, how is the world treating you, Ned?" the demonstrative man pursued, more intimately than ever.

"Worse than you anyhow," his classmate snarled, jumping to his feet and abruptly disappearing from the car.

The successful man looked sheepish, and as if by way of setting himself right before the other passengers he proceeded quite audibly:

"I pity him, poor fellow. He was one of the brightest in our class, but he never had system in his work or any tact in his dealings with the other students. He always knew any lesson but the one he was called upon to recite, and he would read a lot, but not the books he wanted for his college work, and he always managed to be out of sorts with some classmate or other, if not with the whole class. Still, he is the most honest and good natured fellow you ever came across. I don't know what he is doing, but I have heard he is in pretty hard luck."—New York

Judging by Appearances.

"Those neighbors of yours seem to be pretty well fixed."

"I don't see it. They do all their riding with horses and carriages. There isn't a wheel in the whole outfit."—Detroit Free Press.

HE STEALS SPECTACLES.

Which Makes Nearsighted Admirers Indulge In Strong Language.

There is a monkey in Lincoln park with a penchant for snatching eyeglasses from the noses of the spectators, bending them double and stuffing them down into his pouch. The startled loser of the auxiliaries to sight then has the pleasure of watching the lump of expensive ground lenses and bent and twisted bows joggle about in the pocket that a monkey wears in the region of his Adam's apple and of occasionally being tantalized with the appearance of them in the paw of the purloiner and of learning that the more fuss he makes the less likely is he to recover his property soon.

If the losers at once begin begging for their glasses and expostulating with the wayward monk, he seems delighted and alternately sits in melancholy abstraction gazing at the faraway "keep off the grass" sign, apparently thinking of his old jungle home and the cocoanuts there, or he is restlessly active in performing an aerial act on the topmost perches. His countenance is fixed in the dolorous expression of recent bereavement, and he hasn't time anyway for minding the talk of the common, everyday sightseer.

"Come here, you naughty monkey! Give me those glasses! What am I going to do? Nice Jocko"—in bewitching, insidious tones—"give me back my glasses."

Mr. Jocko Monk, however, is unmindful until suddenly a great light seems to burst upon his heart and brain. He nervously drags out those shapeless eyeglasses, holds them up and looks through them at the person outside the bars, red faced and stamping, in the serious, quizzical way of the dean of a medical college who believes he is discovering a new disease germ. Suddenly he looks up and begins chattering.

"Hello! You here?" he seems to twitter. "What's the matter? You're looking mad. Can I do anything for you? Say, got a peanut in your pocket? Just push it this way, will you? I'm feeling bad—really I am. I'm feeling tough. I need a light lunch. Oh, what you bothering about those old glasses of yours for? Let up, will you? Poor fellow, poor fellow! Can't you get along without those things? They ain't any good now anyway."

Then he flaunts the stolen property before the owner and puts it immediately back into the seclusion of the cavity at the roots of his tongue.

By the time the keeper has come to the rescue of the ill fated goggles the monkey has produced them and stowed them away again some three or four times, and the nearsighted individual whose nose they formerly graced is in rage and despair and swears that the monk is in collusion with some optician in the interest of the latter.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Married at Pickering

Wednesday morning Mr. Wm. Rainey, of Pickering, and Miss Maggie McGinty, formerly of Peterborough, were married at Pickering by Rev. Father Gallagher, parish priest of that town. Miss McGinty is a daughter of P. C. Charles McGinty, and formerly lived in town, but has lately been living with her uncle at Pickering. Mr. John McGinty, the bride's cousin, supported the groom, while Miss McGinty, also a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Rainey are at present on a visit to the bride's parents in town.

Campbellford Has a New Paper

Campbellford Herald: Notwithstanding that during the past ten years four enterprising newspaper men spent all their energy and money in a vain effort to establish a second printing office in Campbellford, another gentleman has stepped in where the last one left off, and intends to treat the people of this village and the the township of Seymour to a new newspaper to be named "The Plaindealer." The new comer is Mr. H. Chester, late of the village of Clifford, who has announced that he will issue the first copy on the 12th of May.

The New Postage Stamps

The new postage stamps are not liked by the public, the 3c. stamps being particularly unpopular, no doubt because more used. In the case of nearly half the letters the 3c. stamps are on upside down as it is only on close examination one can tell the right way to stick them. This is not only most serious objection. The other day a traveller showed our reporter a letter mailed to him from Hamilton by his wife, and it was stamped with a 2c. Yankee stamp which so closely resembles the Canadian 3c. stamp that the mail clerks at Hamilton did not detect the difference. The traveller considered he had the laugh on the government that time.

POND'S EXTRACT

PHILADELPHIA,
Dec. 29, 1894.

I have used "Pond's Extract" for many years and always insist upon my patients getting "Pond's," not the ordinary Extract, which is often a very poor article. W. K. BROWN, M. D.

PHILADELPHIA,
Jan. 9, 1895.

I use Pond's Extract a great deal in my practice. I think it very valuable in all venous enlargements.

J. L. BRADFORD, M. D.

SANTA BARBARA, CAL.,
Nov. 27, 1894.

I have been using Pond's Extract in my practice for twenty years. I frequently have the experience you mention of druggists insisting they can put up as good as yours. I don't believe it. I use Pond's Extract a great deal as an antiseptic in combination with glycerine and carbolic acid. I think it far superior to any antiseptic known.

F. G. FLOURNOY, M. D.

COLUMBIA, PA.,
Jan. 18, 1895.

I have been a constant user of Pond's Extract since 1852, and do not expect to discontinue it while I live. S. ARMOR, M. D.

CHELSEA, MASS.,
Nov. 8, 1894.

I have made diseases of the skin a specialty for thirty years, and am free to say I know of no remedy that has given me such perfect satisfaction as Pond's Extract in cases for which it is recommended.

G. W. BABCOCK, M. D.

ASTHMATICS' INSTITUTE,
Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 8, 1894.

I know Pond's Extract to be a valuable remedy, and shall continue its use whenever the opportunity offers.

GEO. H. CALKINS, M. D.

NEWARK, N. J.,
Dec. 13, 1894.

I am pleased with the purity and strength of Pond's Extract.

J. L. DURYEE, M. D.

Lost an Eye

Mr. Fred Eastland, an employee of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., lost his right eye yesterday through the optic being struck by a flying chip of iron in the boiler shop. The flesh around the eye was also badly lacerated, and it was some time before the iron sliver could be extracted by Dr. McCullough. The aqueous humor has entirey run out of the eye, thus destroying the eyesight completely of one optic. Mr. Eastland is suffering intense pain. He is greatly sympathized with by his fellow-employees.

BETHUNE STREET WEDDING

A Pleasing Event at the Residence of Mr. George Redding Last Night

There was an exceedingly pretty wedding last night at the residence of Mr. George Redding, 231 Bethune street. The contracting parties were Miss Elizabeth Redding and Mr. James Wharton, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Armitage.

Miss Lillie Jones acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Fred. Browne filled the position of best man.

The bride looked charming, in a cadet blue costume trimmed with lace and cheffon, while the bridesmaid wore a beautiful green costume trimmed with cheffon and pink roses.

Among the many handsome presents, which are too numerous to specify, was a particularly grateful one from the employees of Ackerman's wholesale harness establishment, which took the form of a handsome marble clock. Other friends of the groom presented him with a beautiful rocking chair. The bride received a number of fine presents from her friends.

The happy couple will take up their residence at 635 Water street, and they start forth upon the journey of life with the best wishes of their numerous friends.

Investigating Serpent Mounds

Mr. David Boyle, curator of the Ontario Archaelogical museum, was in town yesterday. He was on his way home from Rice Lake district, where he went to investigate the genuineness of a supposed serpent mound near Hiawatha, but his was a bootless errand, as the assumed mound was only a natural formation. Mr. Boyle took an exploring cruise around Rice Lake by the North Star, upon which he came to town.

WRESTLING BOUT LAST NIGHT.

About a hundred of the friends and supporters of Tom. Doyle, the wrestler, gathered in the hall above the Palace last night, to witness a tussle between Doyle, Geo. Gokue and L. Curtis. The bouts were interesting but Doyle had little difficulty in demonstrating his superiority over his opponents. He will meet Bob Harrison, of Toronto, in the opera house here on May 4th, in a matched tussle for a purse and the gate receipts.

All members of the Y.M.C.A. are requested and urged to meet in the parlors to-night at eight o'clock for the purpose of discussing and laying plans for outdoor sports, baseball, lacrosse and field athletics for the coming season.

LACROSSE.

The Executive of the Canadian Lacrosse Association met at the Rossin House, Toronto, Wednesday, and transacted a lot of important business. Mr. Lionel King represented Peterborough. The old senior series was revived with the following seven clubs in one set: Elms of Toronto; Beavers, of Seaforth; Athletics, of St. Catharines; Etnas, of Georgetown; Dufferins, of Orangeville; Peterboroughs, and Orillias. A time schedule was drawn up embracing the first five clubs named, but as a satisfactory schedule could not be arranged to include Peterborough and Orillia, it was decided that these clubs, in addition to playing in their own district series, should play home and home games, the winner to finally play the winning club in the senior series as scheduled.

INTERMEDIATE AND JUNIORS.

The district committee also reported their arrangement. Among the combinations arranged were the following:

Northeastern.—Peterborough, Beaverton, Orillia, Midland; Secretary, Bolton Kean of Orillia.

Ontario.—Uxbridge, Port Perry, Oshawa, Port Hope, Bowmanville: Secretary, H. B. Clemes, Port Perry. Meet at Whitby.

Quinte district— (Juniors)— Madoc Campbellford, Hastings, Norwood, Millbrook, Peterborough II., Marmora. Secretary, Lional King, Peterborough.

SUSPICION REMOVED.

The cases of a number of players who were suspended by President Craig were taken up. The decisions were to reinstate D. Guthrie, of Georgetown, to take effect June 9th; W. Coppin, of Mitchell, June 15; Phelan, Rubridge, and Dobbin, of Peterborough, and W. J. Hawkshaw, of Seaforth, to take effect June 1.

NOTES

Must Be Taken Out Before Monday

The municipal by-law regulating taxes provides that all dog tags must be taken out by May 1st, after which time extra costs will be imposed. As comparatively few dog owners have yet paid this tax and as the police intend to strictly enforce the by-law all parties concerned would do well to attend to the matter immediately.

Burglary at Orono

Burglars entered the post office at Orono yesterday morning, forcing the door in the rear of the building. They opened the vault in the back office and made an attempt to blow the safe open. In view of the fact that "The Robert Simpson Co., Limited," of Toronto, have distributed their catalogue throughout the town of Peterborough, the "Spot Cash Grocery Company" wish to say that they have compared the price lists for groceries therein quoted with their own popular low prices, and find that they are on an average equally as low as "The Robert Simpson Co.," and that the Peterborough citizens should feel no need to buy groceries in Toronto. The Spot Cash Grocery Co. further announce that they will meet the Simpson prices on groceries in every way, quality and kind considered. In proof of this, save your price lists and compare with bills of goods purchased from the Spot Cash Grocery Co., 353 George street.

Premonitions of One Whose Prophecies Have Generally Come True

Editor Times,—Some rather quaint and startling prophecies made by an old hermit, which were published first in 1857, are now revived. Several of these prophecies, among them the rise of Napoleon III., the Austro-Prussian and Franco-German wars, and the uprising of the commune, the death of Pius IX., which he said would occur in 1876 or 1877; the Turko-Russian war and the three German Emperors in one year, have been verified almost to the letter.

The success of the hermit's prophecies about events in the early part of the present century lend interest to those which he has put forward and which are to materialize at the opening of the twentieth century. On or about that time, according to the hermit, Manhattan Island and the whole of the wicked city of New York will go down into the waters of the Hudson, East River and the bay. Cuba is to break in two, and half of it will be submerged. Florida and Lower California are to break loose from the mainland and go down with all their load of human freight. There will be but one president after Mr. Cleveland, and then will follow a smash-up. The United States will be divided into six republics, the capitals of which are to be San Francisco, Salt Lake City, New Orleans, St. Louis, Washington and Boston. In the Old World Italy and France will be wiped out, Berlin will be destroyed by an earthquake, Ireland will have its freedom and England will be a republic.

PARIS REACHES HALIFAX

Spanish Government on the Point of Expelling all U.S. Citizens from Spain

ONLY VICTIM A MULE

At the Bombardment of Matanzas—The German Government Has Issued a Note Declaring that it Will not Permit the Bombardment of Phillipine Towns—Cardenas Was not Bombarded—Cuban Insurgents Meet With a Defeat

(Special Despatches to the Times, 3 a.m.)

THE CITY OF PARIS AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N.S., April 29.—Large steamer signalled coming into port. Fog too dense to make her out yet. Believed to be the City of Paris.

A MULE THE ONLY VICTIM

Madrid, April 29. 3 p.m.—The Minister of War, General Correa, in the Chamber of Deputies, (Congress), today, replying to inquiries for particulars in regard to the bombardment of the forts at Matanzas said the Government had decided to publish "all the news received, good or bad." General Correa told the deputies that the United States squadron fired sixty projectiles and that the only victim was a mule, a remark which aroused laughter among the Spaniards. The general next informed the House that the American warships were injured by the fire of the Spanish batteries, and, continuing, he asserted that the insurgents were acting in conjunction with the United States forces as they advanced in the direction of Matanzas while the bombardment was proceeding. "But," added the minister for war, "they were completely routed." In conclusion, General Correa remarked: "It was a glorious day for the Spanish arms.' The Marquis Lama asked if telegraphic communication with the Antilles had been assured. He recalled the convention of Paris and said he hoped communications via Halifax, the Bermudas and Jamacia, would not be interrupted. In a later despatch regarding the bombardment of the forts at Matanzas, Captain-General "Blanco says: "One funnel was certainly hit during the bombardment. Colonel Alfobs with a column of troops attacked a rebel band under Betancourt at Wagote, south of Matanzas, capturing their positions and killing twenty men, including two chiefs. A quantity of arms, horses, stores, and the insurgent camps were captured. Five mounted rebels and a chief Agone surrendered.

ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE

Key West, Fla., April 29.—There is absolutely no foundation for the sensational reports cabled from here to the effect that a case of treason has been discovered on board the United States monitor Puritan. The rumors arose from the strange actions of a fireman with a Spanish sounding name now under restraint on the warship because of his recent behaviour. The officers of the Puritan declare there is no thought of trying the man by courtmartial and that all the talk about treason is absurd.

CARDENAS WAS NOT BOMBARDED

Key West, April 29.—3.15 p. m.—Capt. F. Harrington, the commander of the United States monitor Puritan, and the commanding officer of the Cardenas fleet who has just come from there, specifically and emphatically denies the story of the alleged bombardment of that port by the monitor Terror and gunboat Machias. He says there are no Spanish batteries there and that the entire story is untrue.

TO EXPEL U. S. CITIZENS

London, April 29.—A special despatch from Madrid received here this evening says the Spanish Government is upon the point of expelling all citizens of the United States from Spain.

GERMANY WILL NOT PERMIT A BOMBARDMENT OF PHILLIPINE TOWNS

Madrid, April 29.—9 p. m.—A great impression has been produced here by a rumor that the German Government has issued a note declaring that it will not oppose the landing of troops in the Philippines but will not permit a bombarment owing to the important German mercantile interests in all the towns of the Islands. Germany's omission to declare neutrality is held to give color to this rumor.

A DEADLY ENEMY.

Washington, April 29.—The Navy Department yesterday received information that signs of yellow fever are beginning to appear among the crews of the American warships blockading Havana. So great are the fears entertained that the squadron may have to fight an enemy far more deadly and insidious than the Spaniards that the surgeons of the fleet have asked that assistance and expert advice be at once despatched, with the result that it has been determined to send Dr. Eugene Wardin, who has earned a reputation as a specialist in yellow fever, to join the squadron at once.

THREE NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, D. C., April 29.—The Board of Chiefs of Bureau to-day sent out invitations asking for tenders for the construction of three new battleships to be delivered as soon as possibie.

SPANISH SPIES.

Washington, April 29. — Spanish spies and agnets are known to be at work not only in Washington, but in all parts of the United States. The explosion of the powder mill at San Francisco several days ago and the explosion of the powder mill at Dover, N. J., are believed here to have been caused by Spanish agents. When the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius was lying in Potomac, near the navy yard, several weeks ago, a dynamite bomb was found in the coal sheds. Coal from these sheds was being put on board the Vesuvius. This fact and the suspicious actions of some visitors caused an order to be issued forbidding any strangers whatever from going on board without passes. Several days ago a bomb was found in one of the committee-rooms under the Senate chamber. It was a shell from the electric light battery filled with nitro-glycerine and wrapped around with gun cotton. Capt. Baird, Superintendent of Buildings in War, Navy and State Departments, took up all passes issued to newspaper men and requested that fresh applications be made. This was done because Mr. Baird had reason to believe that Spanish spies had secured possession of passes. It would be a great stroke for Spanish spies to wreck this building, or some portion of it, and in that way secure the secret war plans of the country.

THE FIRST OF THE 125,000.

New York, April 29.—The first portion of the 125,000 volunteers called for by President McKinley went on duty this morning in the shape of Company H of the 71st Regiment, who assembled at their armories early this morning and marched to Hempstead Plains in order to make preparations for the regiments which will go into camp there awaiting orders for Cuba.

TERRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 29.—Among the passengers arriving on the steamer Remus yesterday was English Consul Ransom, accompanied by his family. Refugees report a terrible state of affairs at Santiago de Cuba and say that horrible starvation stares the people in the face as provisions have all been confiscated for the army. The insurgents are close to the city and Spanish soldiers are thoroughly disheartened. The condition of the city is desperate. Life and property are not safe owing to the destitute condition of the inhabitants.

INDIGNATION IN ENGLAND.

London, April 29.—The proposal before Congress to increase the tonnage dues of foreign. and especially British shipping is arousing much strong comment in shipping and commercial circles here. This unfriendly action at Washington is contrasted with all the friendly talk with which the United States papers have lately been full. After a meeting of ship owners with the Ministers yesterday, some leading ship owners were heard to declare that if the United States refused to deal fairly with British shipping but insisted on an attempt to practically make British shipping pay for the present war British ship owners would feel inclined to avoid New York and other States ports altogether, sending the great liners to Quebec, Montreal or Halifax. New York, with war risks, not a very inviting trade spot in any event just now.

SEVEN SPIES CAPTURED.

Key West, April 29.—The gunboat Newport has captured the schooner Engracia, which had on board seven Spanish spies who have been working along the coast near Key West. They were attempting to run the blockade when captured. They are the first prisoners of war.

SENTENCED TO BE SHOT.

New York, April 29.—The Journal has an extra to the effect that a sailor on the monitor Puritan has been convicted of treason by courtmartial and sentenced. The sailor is a Spaniard and was caught filing the lock of a magazine.

BOMBARDMENT OF MATANZAS.

On board the flagship New York, off Havana, April 28, 10 a.m., via Key West April 29.—The bombardment of the Matanzas batteries is now a matter of history. The flagship has returned to her station at El Morro. This engagement, the first in which the United States navy has participated for about thirty years, occurred quite unexpectedly. The New York was lying about twenty miles east of Havana at half past ten yesterday morning, when Rear-Admiral Sampson decided to steam to Matanzas. At the entrance to the harbor the monitor Puritan and the cruiser Cincinnati met the flagship. A stiff wind was blowing and the waves poured over the low bow and stern of the monitor. At slow speed the flagship proceeded toward the harbor, the Puritan following half a mile astern and the Cincinnati about two miles to the westward. Rear-Admiral Simpson and Captain Chidwick stood on the high bridge, carefully surveying forts which had had the temerity to fire on the United States torpedo boat Foote. When three miles from Punta Corda, the extreme point of the western arm of the harbor, a long yellow streak was seen on shore. It looked like a newly-erected earthwork. Closer inspection revealed a number of men clustered around the shore. It was ascertained without any doubt that the Spanish troops were busy in erecting what seemed to be a sand battery, and had already placed several guns in position.

CALL TO QUARTERS.

Rear-Admiral Sampson decided that this was detrimental to a pacific blockade. "General quarters" were sounded. The men rushed to their guns. When the New York was about 4,000 yards from Punto Gordo her helm was put to starboard, and "commence firing' the bugler blew. Naval Cadet Boone, in charge of "Waist," the 8-inch gun amidships, on the port side, had the honor of firing the first shot. The flagship shook from stem to stern as the first projectile aimed by the United States at the shore of Cuba flew from the muzzle of the big gun. This was at 12.56 p.m.

Fully fifty pairs of glasses were levelled from the flagship at the shore. It seemed minutes before the yellow smoke cleared away, but in reality it was less than five seconds. Then a little cloud of dust was seen to rise at the right of the earthworks. For the first attempt at 4,000 yards it was by no means a bad shot. With a deafening roar the 8-inch gun in the forward turret let fly its iron missile. It landed high. The after turret came next with the same sized projectile. A shout of delight went up from the flagship as a dense cloud rose from the very centre of the earthworks showing how true had been the aim.

A FEARFUL FUSILADE.

Then from the entire port side a fearful fusilade was poured on the shore, the four turret guns firing almost simultaneously and the four-inch guns adding their smaller hail. When the smoke blew away Punta Gorda was dotted with dust clouds that looked like miniature geysers springing from the earth. Each showed where a shot had struck. At this stage the guns in the Quinta da Recreo battery were observed to be firing on the flagship. This fort is on the eastern arm of the harbor, 7,000 yards from where the flagship was lying. It is provided with four eight-inch guns. The flagship's fire was at once directed upon it. Up to this period the New York had been in the firing alone. Captain Harrington, of the Puritan, and Captain Chester on the Cincinnati, had drawn up and were vigorously signalling for permission to fire. When this was reported to Rear-Admiral Sampson, he said: "All right; tell them to go ahead."

THE FULL BROADSIDE.

So while the New York was commencing fire on Quintas da Recreo, the Puritan took a position to the eastward and opened fire on the same point. The Cincinnati went to the westward and pounded a rapid fire broadside into the earthworks on Punta Gorda. Occasionally shots from Quintas da Recreo could be seen coming in the direction of the New York. All fell very short and at no time threatened the ship. Only about ten shots are believed to have been fired from this battery during the whole engagement. It is possible that its guns may have been disabled as two eight-inch shells were distinctly seen to land square on the fort. For about five minutes Quintas da Recreo got the full benefit of the port broadside of the New York and Puritan. Leaving Quintas da Recreo to the Puritan, which was still banging away, Captain Chadwick put his helm to starboard until the port battery once more bore on the Punta Gorda earthworks. Anoth-shell came from shore whizzing along over the flagship. "Too high, but a better shot than I thought they could make," said an officer. Then the Cincinnati and the New York poured into the yellow earthworks and the surrounding land until the smoke hid everything from view. What became of the soldiers seen on Punta Gorda is not known. Some declare they saw thme running to the brow of the hill, where the field battery was thought to be stationed. But this, as well as the estimate of the enemy's number, which ranged from 400 to 4,000, was purely supposition, distance and smoke preventing accurate knowledge.

CEASE FIRING.

At 1.15 p.m., when the bombardment was at its height and after it had been in progress for 19 minutes, Rear-Admiral Sampson ordered "cease firing' to be sounded.

On shore all was quiet. Not a soul could be seen there, and there was no more firing. The earthworks a quarter of an hour before had presented a fairly regular outline, but now they had a jagged appearance. Big gaps were plainly visible at Quintas da Recreo. There was not a sign of life there. Admiral Sampson had effectually stopped the work on Punta Gorda. It would have been perfectly feasible for the New York, Cincinnati and Puritan unaided to have steamed past the fortifications right into Matanzas and taken it or shelled it at pleasure. The only risk run would have been from mines. After satisfying himself that his object had been accomplished, Admiral Sampson headed back for Havana. The Puritan and Cincinnati were left to look after Matanzas and they will see to it that Matanzas is not the scene of much work on fortifications in the near future. About 300 shots were fired during the bombardment, 104 of which were from the New York. The total cost of the bombardment was about $3,500, expended entirely in ammunition.

Madrid, April 29.—The captains of the steamships of the Campania trans-Atlantic will undertake to carry the Spanish mails to Cuba. They declare that they can force the blockade instituted by the United States fleet.

A MATTER OF HISTORY.

On board the Flagship New York, off Havana, April 28, 10 a. m., via Key West, April 29.—The bombardment of Matanzas batteries is now a matter of history. The Flagship has returned to her station off El Morro. The bombardment, as before stated, accomplished its purpose in full without any loss of life on the American side. It is believed the Spaniards must have sustained some loss of life.

NO NEWS OF THE PARIS.

Queenstown, April 29.—The Campania has arrived. She did not sight the Paris.

PORTUGAL NEUTRAL.

Lisbon, April 29.—Portugal's neutrality decree was published to-day. It forbids the equipment of privateers in Portugese waters.

WILL ATTACK SPAIN AT HOME.

New York, N.Y., April 29.—Washington special to the Journal and Advertiser says:—The Board of Strategy recommended that as soon as it becomes apparent that the Spanish flotilla does not intend to cross the Atlantic the Canary Islands in the Atlantic and one of the Baleric Islands in the Mediterranean. probably the Minorca, will be seized by the United States as a basis of supplies. If the Spanish fleet does not come to us the Board of Strategy has decided that to end of the war the United States warships must attack Spain at home.

STILL UPWARD AND ONWARD

The Times' circulation is ever upwards these days. We have every reason to feel pleased with the results of the past few days as regards circulation building. Mr. Connor, the circulation manager, is making a house to house canvas for subscribers, and is doing a rattling business. He says he will put at least 1,000 new names on our lists before midsummer.

Advertisers in the morning edition are given the benefit of the circulation of the Evening Times without extra charge. It is said that on an average 20 persons read a newspaper. If this is so, the Morning and Evening Times talks to over forty thousand persons daily. Add the weekly edition and we have 90,000 readers.

HUMANE, BUT NOT WAR

McKinley's peaceful war may be humane, but it seems to the ordinary outsider a mistake. If he proposes to starve the Spaniards out of Cuba it is altogether likely it will be the Cuban pacificoes who will be the first to suffer. A prompt bombardment of Havana would have shed blood but it might have hastened the end of the war. A protracted struggle means a hundred deaths from disease where one life might have been lost in an early engagement. When Napoleon in defence of the Directory made the streets of Paris run with blood he remarked that he was taking life to save it. He ended the matter in a day. A bloody engagement is obnoxious to humane sentiment because it concentrates in one brief conspicuous tragedy a small portion of the misery and suffering which goes on, unnoticed and unthought of by the general public, in the military hospitals during a prolonged war. If President McKinley can thrash Spain and free Cuba without killing anybody he will have performed a wonderful undertaking. But if there is no possibility of that it looks as if he made a mistake in so far that Havana is not now a smoking ruin.

GOOD FOR EVIL

A country which permits its Government to accord the free use of Canadian canals to the United States warship Gresham is not a particularly valuable friend to Spain in this crisis.

It is to be hoped that the Americans will come to a realizing sense of their own meanness when they contrast the courtesy of the Government at Ottawa with the churlish policy of the Government at Washington in Canada's every time of trouble.

Canada strains the law to allow an American warship the freedom of a Canadian canal, and the United States strained the law to let the Fenians into Canada, and to close the Sault Canal against our volunteers. At the time of the first Riel rebellion the men and military stores had to be portaged at Sault Ste Marie because the United States authorities would not allow the expeditionary force to pass through the canal. Again in 1885, the volunteers returning from the North-West were told to keep below while the steamers were passing through the United States canal, lest the American locks should be closed against boats bringing back Canadian volunteers from the suppression of an insurrection.

Canada seems to believe in the idea of Anglo-Saxon unity to the extent of straining the law to favor a power which has always strained the law to the injury of Canada.

HE WILL STAY HERE IF HE WANTS TO

Senor Polo will not leave this country until he gets ready to go. Because we Canadians almost all sympathize with the United States that does not blind us to the fact that this is a free country and that any stranger is entitled to and will receive its courteous hospitality as long as he behaves himself and respects its laws. The nightmare that Senor Polo will deeply and darkly plot against the welfare of the United States has no more foundation in fact than that General Woodford in Paris will plot against Spain. If there were any information to be secured here of value to Spain Senor Polo's expulsion from Canada would not prevent Spain from getting it. That country could have a dozen secret agents here who could not be expelled, because they would not be known. But aside from all that, even to drive Senor Polo out by discourtesy, let alone actual force, would be contrary to all British precedent. The Union Jack to-day is the only European flag that shelters indiscriminately and without question the political exiles of all the world. Many of these are of a most undesirable character, who misuse the protection given them to plot secretely against powers friendly to Great Britain. Yet they are not expelled. And when the mother country does this Canada surely cannot do less than treat courteously a gentleman whose only offence is, as far as we can see, that his own country is at war with the United States. Why, that war has not been in progress a week yet and we are alraedy entertaining several hundred Americans without question, and if it lasts we will probably have thousands instead of hundreds come over to see us.

There ought to be a big kick over the capture of those 500 mules by an American cruiser.

Possibly the plans of the Spanish fleet may be very masterly and result in a huge surprise for the Yanks. And then again possibly the Spanish fleet doesn't know what in thunder to do.

The Kingston city council has declined to grant $50,000 to the Dominion cotton mills as a bonus. The D. C. M. company should turn its eyes to Peterborough. Stomach Trouble

Stomach trouble is the common name applied to a derangement of the system which is keenly felt but vaguely understood. It may mean inability to retain food or to digest it. It may mean nausea, pain after eating, fullness, inordinate craving for food, or entire lack of appetite. Whatever it means, there's trouble, and it's with the stomach. If you have stomach trouble, you will be interested in this letter from a man who had it and was cured by

"For nine years I suffered from stomach trouble. I tried the aid of the best doctors of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and spent large sums of money, all in vain. One day while waiting a train in Bellaire, O., I picked up a paper with a notice of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I got one bottle to try it. It did me so much good that I purchased five more bottles. I took four of them and gained in flesh, my appetite improved, and now I can eat anything. My stomach is all right, thanks to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—CALVIN M. STEVENS, Uniontown, Pa.

CANARIES

They Are Subject to Many Diseases—How They Should Be Treated.

To neglect the cleanliness of food, cage or water is a sure means of bringing on disease. The cups should be so arranged as to be easy of access for the bird's head, and the bathing dish should be shallow and large enough to prevent the bird from injuring his plumage in his vigorous plunges.

Perches which are too small are a source of misery to the bird. They should be—when of the same size throughout—about twice the diameter of a common lead pencil.

If a young canary is observed to sleep more than usual or if it has the appearance of a puff ball, it should be taken in hand at once. Probably it is suffering from indigestion, arising from unwholesome or stale food, or from being given too many delicacies. The bird should be caught and a couple of drops of castor oil dropped down his throat, or the drinking water may be removed from the cage for a couple of hours and then put back with a few drops of cod liver oil floating on the top.

Either of these remedies will probably afford relief. The bird should then be removed to a dry, warm place and fed on crushed hemp for a few days.

Diarrhoea is caused by giving too much green food, food which is wet or decayed or stale seeds. Bad drinking water is another frequent cause.

When the first symptoms of moult are observed, give a little magnesia in the drinking water, 10 or 15 grains to a wineglassful, or put in the fountain a senna leaf, changing it every day.

To catch cold when moulting is almost always certain death to the bird. Therefore avoid drafty places for the cage.

At this time an abundance of food is necessary, and must be given by additions of a little hemp seed, white bread soaked in milk and lettuce or endive. The bird should also be kept warm.

Canaries are subject to many diseases. A common complaint is asthma. This generally arises from indigestion and yields to plaintain and rape seed moistened with water as the sole food. In very bad cases leave off hemp seed and use rape only; give abundance of bread soaked in water and pressed; lettuce or watercress, according to season; twice a week give a boiled bread and milk ball about as large as the end of the thumb.

This is made by throwing a piece of the crumb of bread into a cup of milk, boiling and stirring with a wooden spoon till it is of the consistency of pap. It must be given cold and always freshly made. If allowed to sour, it will give indigestion. This paste acts as a purge and its effects must be watched.

For overgrown claws and beak use sharp scissors and take care to avoid drawing blood. The long claws are a source of discomfort and danger, especially when the female is nesting.

A bird which is egg bound needs immediate treatment. Give coarse brown sugar and drop some sweet oil into the duct.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Singular Pet.

In a "Tour Around Hawaii," written in 1825, is this amusing description of an odd pet, the favorite of two native women:

When we reached the house of our host, the head man of Kapapala, we met a cordial reception.

Few of the Hawaiian females are without a pet, usually a dog. Here we observed a species of favorite that we had not seen before. It was a curly tailed hog about a year and a half old, three or four feet long and in tolerable order. He belonged to two sisters of our host and joined the social circle around the evening hearth.

During the evening he closely followed every movement made by his mistresses, and at supper put forth his nose and received his portion at their hands. According to custom, they washed their hands after the meal, and then passed the bowl to the hog.

At the usual time for retiring to rest these two ladies spread their mats and tapas on the ground in one corner, and, as is the usual practice, lay down to sleep with their clothes on. The hog waited very quietly till they had taken their places, when he marched over their tapas and stretched himself between them. The large tapa that covered them all was then drawn up by one of them to his ears, after which she reclined her head on a pillow by his side.

I could not forbear smiling broadly at seeing the three heads in a row. This disconcerted the women a little, and they raised their heads and the hog grunted.

The brother said that his sisters had a great attachment for the hog, having fed it since it was a few days old, and did not like to have it sleep out with the other hogs in the cold, adding that if it were put out it would make such a noise all night at the door that no one in the house would be able to sleep.

Klondike Gold.

He had spent two or three winters in the Klondike country, or said he had, and he was telling his friends about it.

"It isn't so awfully cold up there when one gets used to it, is it?" asked a listener.

"Well," he hesitated, "I don't really suppose it is; anyhow, it isn't to the one that's used to it. He don't know a thing about it. He's been froze to death a month by that time."

"Oh, indeed," stammered the inquirer, who seemed to be disturbed by the sad fate of the person accustomed to it.

"Yes, and I've seen it so cold that a bullet shot up in the air would freeze up there and not come down till the spring thaw. But that isn't as bad as it was last winter. By jingo, I'm a liar if we didn't have a Boston girl up there last winter teaching school and the weather was so cold that that Boston girl actually set the schoolhouse on fire by spontaneous combustion—she was that warm by comparison. Cold? Well, if we could only ship the cold down to this country like we can the gold you would be playing golf on snowshoes all summer long right here in the city of Detroit."—Detroit Free Press.

The Worst Part.

"I hear that burglars got into your house the other night and stole jewelry worth $500," said Collingwood.

"That wasn't the worst of it, either," replied Camperdown.

"What else was there?"

"Well, they lighted the gas all over the house and left it burning until we came home from the theater and extinguished it."—Harper's Bazar.

By using electric lights at night on beds of lettuce, radishes, spinach and similar vegetables they are brought to maturity much faster than when this artificial stimulant is not employed.

It is a popular superstition in Germany that if a young girl buries a drop of her blood under a rosebush she will be sure to

GOOD THINGS TO GET RID OF.

Once in my life, as the result of an injury, I was obliged to hobble about for six months on crutches. I tell you it was hard, slow work. Never before did I realize the noble freedom of walking, the blessedness of two sound legs. I was an abject slave to those sticks. I couldn't go at all without them, and not much with them. Verily I thought they would push my shoulders up as high as my ears. And the lame leg I had to carry, it seemed to weigh a ton. Ever since then I have kept a sharp eye for things that might lame me—icy pavements, fruit skins, &c. No more crutch travel for me—not if I can avoid it.

No doubt the lady who is on the point of speaking to us felt the same way about her bath chair. Yet she had to ride in it, not from lameness, but from weakness, which, in some respects, is still worse. Ah! what a glorious machine the human body is when it is all right, inside and out, and from head to heels. Yes, yes. Then let us be more careful to keep it so.

"From my girlhood," says the lady, "I was always oppressed and hindered by weakness. I was habitually tired, weary and languid. The force and elasticity which mark the more fortunate of my sex were strangers to me. Like all constitutionally weak persons I lived a kind of life to myself. All pleasures or pursuits which called for vitality and energy were necessarily closed to me. It was a poor way of getting along, but what could I do?

"As for gaining strength from food, it was hopeless; because I had only a feeble and fitful appetite, and what I did eat gave me great pain at the chest and back, and a sense of coldness, deadness and weight at the stomach. At times there would also be a gnawing, sinking feeling at the stomach, which can be understood only by those who have experienced it.

"As I grew older I was much troubled with palpitation of the heart and loss of sleep. Year after year I dragged along in this miserable condition, and, being too weak to walk, was drawn from place to place in a bath chair. The weriness of such a life is quite beyond the conception of the active and vigorous. It showed me that chronic invalids do not properly belong to the world, they merely exist in it.

"I need hardly say that every effort was made to obtain a cure. I consulted doctor after doctor and took many varieties of medicine and treatment, but nothing gave me more than temporary relief. One doctor said my heart was diseased.

"In February, 1880, my sister urged me to try that popular remedy, Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. Without resting any serious hopes upon it I nevertheless procured a bottle from the Stores in High Street and began to take it as directed. The effect could not be mistaken. I had a decidedly improved appetite and relished and digested what I ate, without having any pain or distress to follow. As I continued to use the Syrup the heart trouble was less frequent, and finally ceased altogether. My nerves became strong and I could sleep well, and enjoyed the welcome refreshment that it brought. In a few weeks more I was better and stronger than ever before in my life, and have had good health ever since. My friends were as greatly surprised and pleased as I was at this remarkable result of taking Mother Seigel's Syrup, and you may make my statement public if you think it will do good. (Signed) (Mrs.) Mary Ann Welch, 1, Constitution Hill, Luton, Chatham, February 6th, 1895."

This case was one of digestive weakness from birth becoming chronic inflammatory dyspepsia with the passage of time. The poisons from the torpid stomach caused the organic troubles of which Mrs. Welch speaks. Appetite returned with the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup, and power to digest and assimilate food. After that strength come as fruit comes on a good tree. We congratulate this lady on her deliverance from her weakness and the bath chair. What a comfort it is to be your own best servant.

Where He Worked.

The prisoner was making his appearance before the magistrate for the hundredth time.

"Well," said the magistrate, "you here again?"

"Yes, your worship," responded the prisoner.

"What's the charge?"

"Vagrancy—same as before, your worship."

"It seems to me you are here about half your time."

"Rather more than less, your worship."

"Well, what do you do it for? Why don't you work?"

"I do, your worship, more than half my time."

"Ah, now," said the magistrate, surprised, "if you can tell me where you have ever worked I'll let you off."

"In prison, your worship," smiled the prisoner, and the court kept its word.—Rival.

EDWIN BOOTH.

Story of the Great Actor and Lawrence Barrett's Death.

The sudden death of Lawrence Barrett was a great shock and a great surprise to Booth. His friend had recovered from the serious operation performed a year or two before, and he was seemingly in robust strength, likely long to outlive Booth, who was beginning to become conscious of his own physical decay. They were playing together a successful engagement in New York when Barrett was taken ill and was obliged to leave the theater before the close of the performance. The next night he did not appear, and the third night his name was taken out of the bill. Booth, who had no thought of anything serious, asked Mr. Bromley, the manager, to call at the Windsor hotel and see how "Lawrence was getting on."

An hour later Booth was sitting at his supper of bread and milk in the grillroom of The Players when Mr. Bromley entered and said simply and seriously, "Mr. Barrett has gone." Booth, still suspecting nothing, asked, "Where to?" supposing that Mrs. Barrett had carried her husband off to their home in Boston. He was naturally very much depressed for some time. Indeed he never fully recovered from the blow. He closed his theater at once, although he continued the salaries of his company, and finally he played a short engagement in Brooklyn, which proved, as so many of his friends feared, his last.

During this engagement a copy of the death mask of Barrett was sent to the club. It came in as Booth was starting out for the theater. He saw it in the hall, learned from whom it had come and told the boy in charge to "carry it up stairs." The lad, not understanding the order, took it to Booth's own room, removed the wrappings and placed it on a small table by Booth's bed. And there when he went up stairs and turned on the electric lights, in all the ghastly whiteness of the fresh plaster, he found it. This was, if possible, a greater shock to him than was the death of Barrett itself.—Laurence Hutton in Harper's Magazine.

THE EXCITABLE FRENCH.

Scene In the Chamber of Deputies With the Members Enraged.

Upon arriving at the anteroom of the chamber of deputies, says Colonel T. W. Higginson in The Atlantic, I found the hall full of people waiting, each having to send his card to some member, naming on it the precise hour of arrival. The member usually appeared promptly, when an immense usher called in a stentorian voice for "La personne qui a fait demander M. Constant"—or whoever it might be. Then the constituent—for such it usually was—advanced toward the smiling member, who never looked bored, the mask of hospitality being probably the same in this respect throughout the legislative halls of the world. At last M. Talandier appeared and got me a place among the corps diplomatique. The chamber itself was more like our representatives' hall at Washington than like the house of commons. The members had little locked desks, and some were writing letters, like our representatives, though I saw no newspapers.

The ordinary amount of noise was like that in our congress, though there was happily no clapping of hands for pages, but when the members became especially excited, which indeed happened very often, it became like a cage of lions. For instance, I entered just as somebody had questioned the minister of war, General Borel, about an alleged interference with elections, and his defiant reply had enraged the Lefts, or radicals, who constituted the majority of the assembly. They shouted and gesticulated, throwing up their arms and then slapping them on their knees very angrily, until the president rang his great bell, and they quieted down lest he might put on his hat and adjourn the meeting. In each case the member speaking took his stand in the desk or tribune below the president, and the speeches were sometimes read, sometimes given without notes.

The war minister, a stout, red faced man—always, the radicals say, half intoxicated—stood with folded arms and looked ready for a coup d'etat, yet I heard it said about me that he would be compelled either to retreat or resign. One saw at a glance how much profounder political differences must be in France than with us.

Married on Thirty Minutes' Courtship.

"You may talk about your brief courtships and marriages on short notice," said Captain Arm Cardwell once, "but I think I once witnessed the quickest made match on record. I was running as a conductor between Russellville and Owensboro, as I did for many years, and on a trip in the winter of 1881 I got a pretty country girl passenger at a little flag station south of Central City about 9:45 a. m. A few miles farther on at another small station a big strapping looking farmer, dressed in brown jeans, with his trousers tucked in his tall boots, got on my train. The fellow hadn't opened the car door till he spied the rustic lass, and before he took his seat in front of the girl he had smiled at her.

"I punched his ticket, went in the smoking car, and on my return to the regular passenger coach found the Green river tiller of the soil sitting in the same seat with the maiden, chatting with her as if he had known her since birth. In 25 minutes after they had first met the fellow called me to him and said: 'See here, podner, we want to get hitched. I hain't knowed Mirinda Jane here but 30 minutes, but we both like, an she's willin an so'm I. Whur's the nighest parson, podner?' I took them on to Owensboro, and the happy bridegroom and his blushing other half were passengers back on my train that afternoon. For hurry up nuptials it does strike me that these ought to have the cake and other special prizes offered for quick yeast love matches."—Louis-

INVASION OF CUBA.

New York, April 29.—(Special to The Toronto World.)—A Washington special to the Journal says: "Gen Miles will personally lead the invasion of Cuba. Ten thousand troops will accompany him, working in conjunction with the navy and insurgent forces. This was finally decided upon to-day at the conference in the White House between President McKinley, Secretary Alger, Generals Shafter and Miles. The point of invasion and occupation has been selected. Havana is to be attacked from the rear. The Red Cross steamer State of Texas is to be sent ahead with supplies for the Cubans. Paine's Celery Compound

Nature's Spring Medicine

G'ves New Blood, New Energy and new life for a New Season

The Only Remedy that Thoroughly Cleanses the System

BEWARE OF DECEPTIVE IMITATIONS

Ask Your Druggist for "PAINE'S" the Kind the Best Physicians Recommend

This month there are thousands of persons who manage in a way to attend to their work and daily duties, who are, nevertheless, badly "out of health,' and who will soon be confined to sick beds unless they give immediate attention to their complaints.

This month pale and sallow faced men women, boys and girls are seen on every street. Their blood is thin, watery and impure, making the most fertile soil for the nourishment of disease. We see the languid, tired, listless and ambitionless on every hand—people who seem to be positively tired of life. We can easily detect poison and disease by a glance at the thousands of faces we see each day. Pimples, sores, eczema, salt rheum, and skin disease tell that the blood needs cleansing and purifying. All such are truly on the brink of some organic disease.

Paine's Celery Compound will, at this time, regulate the entire nervous system; will cleanse the vitiated blood and give it a proper porportion of red corpuscles, and send it coursing steadily through the whole body. Paine's Celery Compound never fails to increase the appetite; it strengthens the powers of assimilation, increases weight, gives rest and sleep, and bestows a health that every true man and woman should possess in spring time.

If you are one of those unfortunates referred to, why remain in danger of disease and death when you are assured of a speedy and certain cure.

Just a word for your benefit about imitations. When you decide to buy Paine's Celery Compound it will be well for you to see that each package bears the name "PAINE'S," because some dealers for the sake of extra profit sell imitations that are not only worthless but are positively dangerous to life.

Paine's Celery Compound cures disease. This statement is supported by thousands of testimonials.

Case Dismissed

At the interim sitting of the County Court Mr. J. LeFair appeared before Judge Weller for trial in connection with the breaking of one of the large plate glass windows in the Cox block on George street. From the evidence which was adduced, His Honor decided that when the stone was thrown it was possible but not probable that the window would be broken and the case was dismissed. The defendant was bitten by a dog some time ago on George street, and afterwards threw a stone at the animal, which, missing the dog, went through the window. On being summoned before Magistrate Dumble, he was committed for trial. Judge Weller's action gives the prisoner his liberty.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

The Street and Bridge and Finance Committees of the Town Council Met Last Night

The Finance and Street and Bridge Committees met in the town clerk's office last night.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of a number of accounts.

The town has $59,000 of debentures falling due in the near future, and as $29,000 of these will have to be reissued, the committee gave the matter considerable attention.

Messrs. Richard Hall and C. McGill offered to purchase $29,000 worth of these debentures at par—4 p. c.—$10,000 for the Mechanics' Institute and $19,000 for other trusts.

It was decided to recommend the acceptance of this offer.

STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE.

The Street and Bridge Committee made a number of recommendations relating to the streets.

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Co. are to be notified to put their tracks in proper shape or remove them from the streets.

The Chief of Police will be instructed to notify the Auburn Power Co. to have the streets in the immediate vicinity of the poles placed in proper repair within two days from date of notice.

The contract for constructing a sidewalk from Auburn bridge will be awarded Messrs. Finnie & Gordon. These gentlemen offer to build the walk for $245 and this was the lowest tender received.

The bondsmen of Mr. Geo. McLennan, who has the contract for street watering in No. 4 ward, will be notified that the work is not being done to the satisfaction of the committee and that it must be done properly or something will drop.

CHILDREN'S DAY

To-day has been set apart for this purpose, and, accordingly all goods will be sold at greatly reduced prices, in addition to presents which will be given with each purchase of ten cents and over.

The Times Bookstore has a fine stock of Books Stationery, Fancy Goods, Toys Fire-crackers, Fireworks, Croquet Sets, Lawn Tennis Racquets, Base Ball goods Lacrosse Stick &c. These goods are being sold at half the price charged elsewhere.

A call is invited, whether intending to purchase or not.

OFF TO THE WAR

Capt. Snyder of the Durham Field Battery Will Fight for Uncle Sam

Mr. Jas. Snyder went to Port Hope yesterday for the purpose of tendering his resignation as an officer of the Durham Field Battery to Col. McLean, who will forward the same to the proper authorities.

Mr. Snyder, who has had several tempting offers from United States military authorities, is contemplating taking a commission in the American army, and will probably enroll for active service as an artillery officer.

"Jim" is a good officer and should make his mark in the war now in progress.

It is also reported that Lieut.-Col. McLean, of Port Hope, commander of the Durham Field Battery, is asking for his discharge at once, so that he may go to Cuba as commander of an American horse artillery battery.

Canadian artillery officers and men are in great demand at present. It is said that $10 per week and rations will be paid ordinary gunners by the American Government for service in the Spanish-American war.

May Save the Eye

Miss Melville has the latest things in Tea Cos at a special line this week. 168 Hunter street.

Police Court

An adjourned assault case came up for hearing at the police court yesterday morning. Mrs. Mary Irwin charged Mark Black with assault and the case occupied the attention of the court for nearly two hours. The people live on Parnell street. The defendant accused two boys of the plaintiff of taking goods from his premises and went to the house of the Irwin family to complain. Compliments passed and a quarrel arose, the result of which was a charge of assault. There were a lot of witnesses at the trial. The prisoner argued his own case and cross-examined every witness in a florid and wordy style, drawing distinctions as closely as the professional lawyer. But he could not change them and after going into the box and giving evidence himself the Magistrate found him guilty and sentenced him to two months in jail at hard labor.

Positive Arguments

Those who are open to reason can easily be convinced that the Times Bookstore is the popular place to purchase Croquet Sets, Lawn Tennis Racquets, Baseball Goods, Lacrosse Sticks, Chinese and Japanese Lanterns, etc. Our stock is most complete, and our goods are new and well selected. Besides, we are the cheapest store in town. Call and be convinced.

Laroque, Bert Brown and Jos. Armstrong, Bodega.

Four were held over until May 10th for consideration. They are Ellen Halpin, American House; M. A. Jamieson, A. Rountree and S. Holland. As two licenses are to be cut off by statute this year it is from these four that the two will be chosen. Next year three more are to be cut off.

In the country and villages the same licenses were granted as last year. These are: P. Hogan, Geo. Lipsett, jr., and Ann Swanston., Ashburnham; R. S. Munroe, Wm. Leahy and J. Craig, Lakefield; L. G. Robert, Chemong; J. E. Kernby and Wm. Macfarlane, Young's Point; T. Eastwood, Buckhorn.

Granolithic Walks

In view of the fact that Peterborough proposes to put down granolithic walks this year, it might not be out of place to state what similar work is costing elsewhere. In Ottawa, the Canadian Granite Co. and Mr. John Foley were the tenderers for the granolithic walks and crossings, and their prices were as follows: Sidewalk pavement on stone foundation, without curb, Granite Co., 16 cents per square foot; Foley 17 cents. Sidewalk pavement, any width, including artificial stone curb, complete, Granite Co., 17 cents; Foley, 17 3-4 cents. Crossings, scoria block, or pavement, on concrete foundation, including stone curb per plan, Granite Co., 42 cents; Foley, 45 cents; crossings Nepean or similar sandstone, block pavement on concrete foundation, including stone curbing, per plan, Granite Co., 42 cents; Foley, 47 cents. The Canadian Granite Company's tender being the lowest, was accepted, and it was decided that all artificial sidewalks this year have a curb on the outside edge, and that all street intersections there be limestone curbs. Nepean sandstone will be used in the crossings.

Y. M. C. A. OUTDOOR SPORTS

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night for the Purpose of Organization

The members of the Y.M.C.A. Outing Club met last night to arrange for the organization of clubs representing the different branches of outdoor sport

Considerable enthusiasm was manifested and it will be but a short time until the association will have in the field first class base ball, foot ball, basket ball and lacrosse clubs.

The Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association grounds in Ashburnham will be secured for three nights a week—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—and practice will commence as soon as the preliminaries are arranged.

As soon as the members raise $75 the Board will be asked for a grant of $50, and with these two amounts the Outing Club expects to be able to finance the different clubs with ease.

Basket ball will probably be the game most played.

A committee comprised of Messrs. R. Glover, W. Wilson, Chas. Mathias, Harry Halpin and R. Irwin, were appointed to meet the committee representing the Physical Department, and arrange the details.

Navigation Notes

The steamer City of Peterborough has been pulled out of the water at the Ashburnham dock yard, preparatory to being overhauled.

The steamer Eclipse left yesterday at 2 p.m. for the lower ports. She will return on her regular trip tomorrow.

The City of Peterborough is to be entirely overhauled, cleaned and repainted, and is, we are informed, to have an electric light plant placed on board with fifty electric lights including a strong search-light.

Mr. Dan. Foley, late of the Clunan House, has been appointed by the Peterborough Navigation Company, manager of Jubilee Point. Mr. Foley is very popular, understands his duties thoroughly, and will no doubt add to the trade heretofore enjoyed by this popular summer resort. He went down yesterday and is now engaged in repainting and fixing up the hotel and park. There is no reason why this beautiful place should not be crowded with tourist during the entire season.

The Peterborough Navigation Company has purchased the steamer Eclipse and it will henceforth run in connection with the City of Peterborough. With these two fine steamers working together travel on the lower waters should be greatly increased.

Captain Maurice Rane, of the City of Peterborough, arrived yesterday from Bobcaygeon, and is engaged in refitting the City of Peterborough.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, Solicitor, intends visiting British Columbia during May and June and would be pleased to look after legal business for interested persons

Spring Humors

During the colder season impure humors accumulate in the blood.

The surface of the body being chilled, the pores are closed and clogged, and impurities which might pass off in perspiration are forced back into the blood. Besides this, winter's hearty food, fats and sweets, contribute more impurities.

This briefly explains the existence of Spring Humors—those unsightly eruptions, painful boils, annoying pimples and other affections, which make the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely necessary at this season.

But with some people, impurities in the blood cause very different symptoms. The kidneys, liver and bowels are overmatched in their efforts to relieve the clogged system. Dizzy headaches, bilious attacks, failure of appetite, coated tongue, lame back, indigestion or that tired feeling are some of the results.

From the same cause may also come scrofula, neuralgia sciatica or rheumatism.

All these troubles and more may properly be called "Spring Humors," and just as there is one cause, a cure is found in just one remedy, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the impure blood.
Hood's Sarsaparilla enriches that which is weak and thin.
Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes that which lacks vitality.
Hood's Sarsaparilla leads in Merit, Sales and Cures.

To say that we've started to be busy in Millinery hardly expresses the idea of the big rush of past days—so far trade is doubling up on last year, and though our staff of trimmers and saleswomen has been increased, we think it necessary to warn those who intend to order an Easter Hat or Bonnet here, that it will be the part of wisdom to see to the matter at once—this week if possible.

One Spanish Ship Blown Up, Two Destroyed by Fire and Others Sunk

AWFUL LOSS OF LIFE

Spanish Cabinet Ministers Speak of "Serious but Honorable Losses"—The Commander of the Spanish Cruiser Don Juan de Austria was Killed and His Vessel Blown Up—The Battle was Fought Sunday Morning at Daybreak

(Special Despatches to the Times, 3 a.m.)

A despatch from Manilla says the United States fleet arrived in sight of Subic, Philippine Islands, at 4 o'clock yesterday evening, scouted those waters and immediately sailed in the direction of Manilla.

Madrid, via Paris, May 1.—The French Minister at Madrid is in receipt of a despatch to the effect that the American fleet was obliged to retreat after a terrible engagement. The Spanish losses were heavy and the American ships were severely damaged.

Madrid, May 1.—6.20 p. m.—Advices from Manilla say that the American squadron under Commodore Dewey appeared off the Bay of Manilla at 5 o'clock this morning and opened a strong cannonade against the Spanish squadron and forts protecting the harbor. The Spanish second-class cruiser Don Juan De Austria was severely damaged and her commander was killed. Another Spanish vessel was burned. The American squadron retired, having also sustained severe damage. A second naval engagement followed, in which the American squadron again suffered considerable loss and the Spanish warships Min anco and Ullba were slightly damaged.

London, May 1.—midnight.—The second section of the Madrid despatch reporting the engagement off Manilla Bay has just reached here. It shows that there was severe fighting off Canite.

Admiral Bermejo, according to despatch, has wired congratulations to the Spanish navy on the behaviour of warships against superior forces.

Madrid, May 1.—Official despatches from the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands say that the United States squadron, having forced a passage under cover of darkness Saturday night, opened fire against Fort Canite this morning at daybreak.

Madrid, May 1.—The Governor-General of the Philippines says that the Spanish fleet obliged the enemy with heavy loss to manouevre repeatedly.

Madrid, May 1.—midnight.—The second engagement was apparently begun by the Americans after landing their wounded on the west side of the bay.

Madrid, May 1.—8 p.m.—The following is the text of the official despatch from the Governor-General of the Philippines to the Minister of War—Lieut.-General Correa—as to the engagement off Manilla: "Last night, (April 30) the batteries at the entrance to the Port announced the arrival of the enemy's squadron forcing a passage under the obscurity of the night. At daybreak the enemy took up positions, opening with a strong fire against Fort Cavite and the Arsenal. Our fleet engaged the enemy in a brilliant combat, protected by the Cavite and the Manila forts. They obliged the enemy, with heavy loss, to manoeuvre repeatedly. At 9 o'clock the American squadron took refuge behind the foreign merchant shipping on the east side of the Bay. Our fleet, considering the enemy's superiority, naturally suffered a severe loss. The Maria Christina is on fire, and another ship, believed to be the Don Juan De Austria, was blownup. There was considerable loss of life. Captain Cadarso, commanding the Maria Christina is among the killed. I cannot now give further details. The spirit of the navy and volunteers is excellent."

Lisbon, May 1.—11 p.m.—Reliable despatches received here state that the Spanish fleet was completely defeated off Cavite.

Hong Kong, May 1.—Advices from Manila say a massacre there is feared. The British consul has cabled for a warship Madrid, May 1.—Midnight.—Later official telegrams say Montogo has transferred his flag to the cruiser Isla De Cuba from the cruiser Reina Maria Christina, which is completely burnt. The Spanish cruiser Castilla was also burnt. The other ships retired from the combat, some being sunk to avoid their falling into the enemy's hands.

Spanish Cabinet Ministers speak of "serious but honorable losses."

MATANZAS AND HAVANA TO BE SHELLED TO-MORROW

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—The Journal's correspondent with the fleet telegraphs that an officer of the Puritan says Matanzas is to be attacked again Tuesday and it is also stated from another source that Havana will be shelled at same time.

KILLING MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Shanghai, May 1.—Despatches received from Manilla by the Shanghai Gazette say the capital of the Philippine Islands is short of food and ammunition. It is said that natives are already looting and killing in the provinces—Spanish women and children being among the victims; but the priests are the special objects of the native people's vengeance, about a dozen priests having been killed during the past week.

A SCHEME FOR INDEPENDENCE

London, May 1.—A Hong Kong despatch to the Evening News says the Philippine insurgents have submitted a scheme for independence to Commodore Dewey.

FAMINE PRICES FOR FOOD

Shanghai, May 1.—Famine prices for food are said to prevail at Manila and it is claimed the Spanish authorities are maintaining order with difficulty. People are burying their valuables to prevent their seizure by the insurgents or Americans. No discrimination will be made between Spaniards and other foreigners by military authorities who are endeavoring to put a bold front on the situation.

A BRITISH FLEET FOR THE CANARIES

Madrid, May 1.—2.30 p.m.—It is reported that the British Channel squadron is going to the Canaries.

SPANISH SQUADRON ON THE MOVE

Madrid, May 1.—2 p.m.—The Spanish squadron is said to have left Lubic Bay.

INFESTED WITH SPANISH SPIES.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—A report says that officials have received information which leads them to believe that Washington is, during the war, to be infested with Spanish spies. The imortance of this information if true, is due not so much to the fear of what the spies may learn, as there is but little, if any, likelihood of their learning anything relating to the preparations and intentions of the Government than the public learn through the newspapers. But the possibility that the spies may have recourse to the tricks of unscrupulous anarchists is what imparts real value to this information. "It would probably seem incredible to the great majority of Americans that Spaniards would resort to such despicable methods of warfare," said a Secret Service official this morning, "but there is no reason for their incredulity when one thinks of the Maine. The blowing up of the White House or the Treasury or the Army and Navy Building is on the same plane as the Maine outrage."

This official said that information received had resulted in an increase of the Secret Service force and the adoption of the greatest possible preventative measures against the success of any such plot. The secret officials are loth to speak of the matter and most of them either deny knowledge of it or make light of it on account of the bureau's disinclination to give out anything either to put the spies on their guard or to excite the nervous citizens of the district.

In consequence service officials have been stationed in and around the White House grounds, as well as at the different public buildings, as well as a large number of Secret Service men in citizens' clothes, with instructions to scrutinize every unknown person who comes near and to make suspicious looking ones give an account of themselves.

FOR SCOUTING DUTY.

New York, May 1.—The United States auxiliary cruisers St. Louis and Harvard, which have been anchored off Thompkinsville for the past few days, ready for sailing, raised their anchors at an early hour this morning and passed on to sea. That they have been directed to leave before taking on their main batteries' guns indicates that they will not go out on an expedition to capture merchant ships of the enemy off the coast of Spain. They will do the same work as that assigned to the regular naval cruisers Columbia and Minneapolis. All these flyers will make trips far out to sea, watching for the appearance of Spanish warships. They are capable of such great speed that no vessel owned by Spain could overtake them, except the torpedo-boat destroyers attacted to the squadron which left St. Vincent to-day, and as the destroyers cannot do effective work with their explosives in a seaway they are not feared by the big cruisers, except close inland. Besides, the rapid-fire guns of the five vessels detailed for scout duty could make short work of the destroyers, which are not well earned.

WILL BE PUT ON SCOUT DUTY.

New York, May 1.—The American Line steamer Paris had a rough winter passage of seven days, seventeen hours and forty-five minutes; nine saloon, forty-two second cabin and ninety steerage passengers. The Paris left Southampton at 2.05 . m., April 22. After clearing the land Captain Watkins shaped his course about north, and after a run of thirty miles headed for home, keeping a distance of about thirty miles from the usual course taken in previous trips. Capt. Watkins had no fear that a Spanish war vessel would catch the fleet Paris after she got sea room, but it was thought possible that some craft of the enemy might be lurking in the vicinity of the channel, or the neighborhood of the Irish Coast, to waylay the American craft. At night every light on board the Paris was extinguished, and dead lights were covered. Strict watch was maintained to detect the approach of vessels. The Paris brought sixteen cases of munitions of war and a small quantity of miscellaneous merchandise. It is expected that the Paris will discharge her cargo to-day and will be received by the naval authorities to-morrow when her name will be changed to "Yale."

After discharging her cargo the Paris will be taken to the navy yard. The commandant has been instructed to place six-pounder guns on her at once and to make use of his entire working force to get her ready for sea [illegible] possible. When the guns are in position she will join the [illegible] and begin scout duty.

BURNING PLANTATIONS.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 1.—The German steamer Remus, from Hamburg for Baltimore, touched at Port Antonio yesterday and landed 441 German, Cuban, British and American refugees from Santiago de Cuba. The refugees are largely women and children and many of them are persons of refinement. The refugees confirm the report that the Spaniards are abandoning the small cities and the plantations which they have been guarding, burning the latter before leaving them. The insurgents' activity has greatly increased recently, evidently owing to the news they have received from the United States, and they are raiding up to the very outworks of Santiago de Cuba and Guantanamo. The city of Santiago de Cuba, when the refugees left, was in a state of semi-panic, fearing the blockade of the port by the United States fleet. There were about 15,000 Spanish troops in the vicinity. But food, excepting army supplies, was running low. The agents of the insurgents communicated immediately with the city of Santiago de Cuba.

SPANISH SPY MAY BE SHOT.

New Orleans, May 1.—John Walts was arrested by the members of the New Orleans naval battalion and imprisoned on suspicion of being a Spanish spy. Upon him were found a book containing minutely written descriptions of the fortifications at Forts St. Philip and Jackson. A commission will be named to try him and it is probable he will be shot.

RUSSIANS ARE BITTER.

London, May 1.—The Moscow correspondent of The Standard says: "Public opinion in Russia, so far as it is expressed, sympathizes with Spain. Apart from admiration of the courage that ventures upon a conflict with an overwhelmingly superior antagonist, Russia has received a severe blow in the supposed friendly agreement between the United States and England. The Russians do not forget placing their fleet at the disposal of the North in the war secession in 1861, and they are bitterly aggrieved that the United States is not equally mindful of their service now."

NAVAL BATTLE MAY HAVE BEEN FOUGHT.

New York, April 30.—A special despatch to the World from Singapore, Straits Settlement, says: "The naval battle between the United States and Spanish fleets on the Pacific has already been fought off the Philippine Islands. This is the report current here."

WILL AVERT DEFEAT DEFEAT AS LONG AS POSSIBLE.

New York, April 30.—The World's Madrid special says: Spain will bend her every energy to postpone as long as possible the defeat she knows is inevitable. Her only hope is European interference.

REPORTED SPANISH SUCCESS.

London, April 30.—It is officially announced in Madrid that a Spanish gunboat has again been engaged successfully with an American torpedo boat off Cardenas.

TO MAKE A DESCENT NEAR MANILLA.

London, April 30.—A Hong Kong despatch says: 'Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, and his colleagues are elaborating a plan to make a descent in force near Manilla."

AN OPOINION FROM BISMARCK.

The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: Prince Bismarck thinks Germany ought not to bind her hands by a neutral declaration. Germany must interfere instantly and energetically the moment her interests demand it.

PARIS ARRIVES AT NEW YORK.

New York, N.Y., April 30.—The City of Paris arrived safely; saw no Spanish vessels.

SPANISH FLEET SAILS.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, April 30.—The transports and torpedo boats sailed at 8.45 this morning.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 30.—Advices from Santiago de Cuba state that a proclamation has been issued that every man between 15 and 50 must volunteer in Spanish service under penalty of arrest, trial and death. Reign of Terror exists; thousands leave nightly.

IMPORTANT NEWS.

London, April 30.—Hong Kong despatch.—Nothing has been heard from the American fleet or from Manilla. The departure of the Spanish fleet from the Cape Verde Islands is regarded as the first really important news of the war.

PARIS HAD A ROUGH PASSAGE.

New York, April 30.—The Paris had a rough winter passage. She had on board 141 passengers. The captain kept 30 miles out of his usual course. He had no fear that Spanish war vessels would catch the Paris after she got sea room.

WARSHIP TO PROTECT BRITONS.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 30.—The British Consul at Santiago de Cuba has asked the colonial authorities that a warship should be sent there to protect British interests.

QUICK RESPONSE

An advertisement in The Times always brings quick response. Yesterday Mr. W. H. Anthony, of 323 Union Street, lost a dog, and a small ad in this paper not only recovered the canine, but brought two other finders of lost dogs to the office. Mr. Anthony's dog was returned by Mrs. English, 576 Aylmer Street. Mrs. Braithwaite, of the White House, Gore's Landing, and James Kearns, of Otonobee, also brought dogs to the office in answer to the advertisement. The fact is that everybody reads The Times. As a business puller it has few equals.

IMPORTANCE OF VICTORY AT THE START

Some one started the idea that Spain owing to its supposed naval superiority over the United States, would be enabled to gain the advantage of the fight in the present campaign, but that in the end the United States, possessing such unlimited resources, would be able to recover her losses and finally overcome the Spaniards. Once started, this idea has gone the rounds, and now almost everyone is repeating it as his own opinion, based of course, on a careful calculation of all the possibilities.

It would be especially interesting to the general public, and doubtless the information would be of inestimable value to the United States Government, if the wiseacres would enlighten us as to just how the States would recover their lost ground and finally whip the Spaniard.

It is generally admitted that the issue must be decided one way or the other by a naval campaign or campaigns. There is no likelihood of the struggle being relegated to the land forces.

Assuming that at the outset Spain were to defeat the naval forces of the Republic, how is the United States to utilize its resources to reconstruct its navy? With all its money, the United States could buy no ships, and it is difficult to see how a navy could be built. It would require several years at the least, and in the meantime Spanish ships would be free to sail up and down the coast banging away at the cities and towns. They might even be able to prevent operations at the navy yards

The only hope, then, that the States could recover from defeat at the outset would lie in Spain's inability to stand the expense of patrol along the coasts. Should Spain be able to keep it up, the Republic, with all its men and money would have trouble rebuilding a navy.

ADVANTAGES OF THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL

The advantages of the Trent Valley Canal, when completed, over the Erie, or any other route, for the shipment of grain from the west to the seaboard, is rendered more apparent by the following from an Ottawa paper:

"One of the notable incidents in the history of the Canadian grain carrying trade was the arrival of the steamer Lynn at Depot Harbor, the terminus of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway. The Lynn is a steel monster, built at Chicago last winter, and attached to the Parry Sound system. She is 450 feet long and 50 feet beam. She has a capacity of 6,500 tons, and her maiden cargo, which she brought to Parry Sound on Saturday night, was 215,000 bushels of corn, mainly for export via Montreal. This is the biggest load ever brought in a single vessel to any Canadian port, and it will take 350 cars, or two trains to haul it to Montreal. But the Parry Sound people are not looking after east-bound freight alone. Seventy car-loads of freight have been already rushed through from Montreal to furnish vessels for the West with return cargoes. Mr. Booth expects that the Parry Sound route will not only divert to Canadian ports a substantial portion of the grain carrying trade that has hitherto gone to the Erie Canal, but will also enable Montreal to cut into Toronto's trade in supplies for the west. But, for the present, and during the war, popular attention will be doubtless directed mainly to the capacity of the road to absorb the carrying trade from Chicago to the seaboard."

If it would pay to "railroad" the grain from Depot Harbour to Montreal, as compared with the Erie route, how much cheaper will be the Trent route. The cost of 350 cars is very much more than the cost of a couple of tugs and a dozen barges required to take that quantity of grain through the canal.

Lindsay is to have a new electric light company, the water power to be supplied from the village of Fenelon Falls, 16 miles north of the town. Messrs. White, Fraser, and Culverwell have been interviewing manufacturers with a view of using electricity for power, and have met with a hearty response. They met the Town Council, and it was decided to give the new company the town lighting, providing they can form their company by August 1st next, and the plant to be in running order by October 1. For a ten-year contract the company promise to furnish a first-class all-night service.

The United States Government is depending upon Canada for a supply of horses in case of need. An agent of the United States has been in Ontario and Quebec making arrangements for horses, and he is said to have made contracts for fully 5,000 animals. He was at Montreal, Toronto, and other poinst between here and Windsor, and arranged with dealers at the places where he stopped to ship horses across the line if they were required. No contracts were made for immediate delivery, for the United States Government is fully supplied at the present time. Mr. Walter Harland Smith, of Toronto, was called on by the American agent, and agreed to supply 1,000 horses when called upon. A uniform price was arranged for all animals.

Literary Notes

The Engineering Magazine in its leader for May on "The Development of the Torpedo-Boat Destroyer," by John Platt, recognizes the predominant interest in naval matters which springs immediately from the critical situation in Eastern and Western international politics.

It has, however, far more than a mere military basis. Naval construction is almost unique in the wide range of engineering and industrial interests, which it assembles, and Mr. Platt develops strikingly the extremely difficult problems in marine, mechanical, and steam engineering which are successfully solved in the 30 knot destroyer. His paper is splendidly illustrated. A related phase of work is discussed by Asst. Engineer Shepard, U. S. N., in an article on "The applications of Electricity on a Modern Warship."

A paper of extreme interest, in illustrations as well as text, is by Messrs. Webb and Yeatman on "Mining the Gold Ores of the Rand," dealing particularly with the peculiar conditions of labor and environment. Another illustrated article more than ordinarily effective is Mr. George Palmer's exposition of "Tank Irrigation in Central India."

Mr Allen Hazen explains the important methods of "Purification of River Water Supplies," with many photo-engravings of British, Continental and American plants. Illustrations aid also in Mr. C. V. Child's comparison of "American and British Architectural Steel Construction," and Mr. Corthell's description of "Sea-Going Dredges."

Col. Prout, the distinguished editor of the Railroad Gazette, discusses "Railway Fares and Passenger Travel," and Mr. Stanwood traces progress in "The Economical Use of Steam in Non-Condensing Engines."

Finally, the Review and Index of the Engineering Press affords a condensed summary of the entire technical literature of the month, and makes the Magazine indispensable to the busy man who would keep abreast of industrial progress. The Engineering Magazine, 120-122 Liberty St., N. Y., 30 cents a number.

TRAINMAN'S TOOTH ACHED

So He Decided to Get a Freight Train to Pull It.

"Say, did you hear about my friend Bill?" said a trainman. "Well, that fellow has made me laugh more times than once. Not long ago Bill gets a jumping toothache. He wants to have that tooth out, but he don't want to pay the money, nor he ain't got the nerve to have the thing done. All the same that tooth is keeping him up at night, and Bill he almost goes wild. 'Either me or that tooth,' says Bill; 'one or the other. I ain't going to stand this sort of life.'

"All the same, when Bill starts to go to the dentist his knees begin to bend, and he is so scared that the tooth stops hurting. But when he turns back and reaches the house the tooth is plugging him again. Now, Bill thinks of a great scheme. What does he do but buy a piece of strong string (say, you know this kind of silk thread?), and he waxes that and ties it to his tooth so tight that it cannot come off. Then Bill walks down to the railroad station. You see, it was his idea to tie the string to a freight car, and then when the train started it would jerk the measly tooth out.

"He finds a freight and ties the string to the coupler of the last car and stands around to wait until the train starts. Well, sir, he begins to feel chilly about the gills. The more he thinks of the time when the train is going to move the worse he feels. Every time a whistle blows he jumps. 'Well, I guess I'd better untie,' thinks Bill, 'and come again another day,' but when he goes to loosen the string he finds that it's no go, and he can't jerk the thing loose because the other end is on the tooth.

"Well, sir, that train begins to start, and Bill he doesn't have the nerve to stand back, so he just trots on behind like a little pup on the end of a chain. 'Where are you going, Bill?' hollers out a feller. 'You seem to be in a hurry.' Well, sir, Bill starts to swear like mad, but the train is beginning to go a little fast, and he has to commence to lope like a jack rabbit. You see, the train had been going through the city, but now it started to get outside. Bill didn't have the nerve to stand still, so he just humped himself after the train like it was something that he wanted bad.

"'Say, mister, why are you running that way?' asked a brakeman who got on to the thing. Of course that sort of guy made Bill madder than ever, but he had to lope on. Lucky for Bill the train had to slow up for a crossing, and while it stopped he borrowed a knife and cut the string. But, say, it was funny to see Bill chasing the freight."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Catching Thieves by Code.

"Most folks think an elevator starter has a very easy job, but they're wrong," said the man who has charge of the elevators in a La Salle street skyscraper.

"It seems to keep you busy. but the work looks easy," remarked a bystander.

"You think just what the others do—that we have nothing to do but tell the conductor of each elevator when to start up," replied the starter. "Seeing that the elevators are not overloaded and that they are not all either at the top or bottom of the building at once is the easiest part of our work. The hardest is stopping thieves. Pickpockets and overcoat lifters work the skyscrapers regularly. I've spoiled their game in this building, though."

"How?"

"I have arranged a code of signals by which I can, without attracting the attention of anybody else, warn the elevator conductor to keep his eye on certain persons while in the car, see them if they do any pocketpicking and notice at which floor they leave the car. For instance, if on a cold day like this two men well dressed, but without overcoats, come in here, as soon as they step into an elevator I say, 'That's all right, No. 7.' All you see is that the elevator starts up at once. The elevator man, however, knows that I suspect the last persons entering his car may be overcoat thieves, and it is his duty to notice at what floor they leave the car and, if possible, which room they enter. If instead of saying, 'That's all right, No. 7,' I had said. 'Go ahead, 7,' the elevator conductor would have known I suspected the last two men—for pickpockets work in pairs—in his car were pickpockets, and he would keep a constant watch on them."

"How does your system work?"

"Well, we've caught four pickpockets and seven overcoat thieves already this winter, and the season isn't half ended. The public doesn't realize how much it owes to the elevator starters, who are generally considered a lazy lot of fellows with an easy job."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Rats In Siam.

The writer was astonished on visiting the house of the inhabitants of Siam (says a traveler) to see a huge rat walking quietly around the room and crawling up the master's legs in a cool, familiar manner. Instead of repulsing it or giving an alarm he took it up in his hand and caressed it and then we learned for the first time, to our utter astonishment, that it was a custom in Bangkok to keep pet rats. These are taken very young and carefully reared until they attain a monstrous size from good and plentiful feeding.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

An Incident In Brescia During the Italian Revolution of 1848.

The Count de Hubner tells in his "Memoirs" a thrilling story of an adventure in the Italian city of Brescia during the days of the revolution of 1848. When the trouble began in the streets, he contrived to get into a house, taking with him two or three other persons, including the wife of a minor official who had intrusted the lady for awhile to the count's care, but who was to have certain news of her as soon as possible.

The firing grew heavier, and the rebels soon had possession of almost every house in the street.

On the 19th of March, Count de Hubner decided that he must do something toward bettering his position in case of an assault, and he forced his only remaining servant to make a dash across the street to the palace where the Austrian general, Rath, was quartered, two blocks away and on the other side. The man was merely to let the general know that De Hubner himself was coming, and to ask that the gates be held ready for him.

"Myself, prudence and my honor had a long and heated argument," says Count de Hubner. "Finally I pulled myself together. I had to let Prince Metternich know about myself, to make a last report, and to keep my word about poor Mme. M. I undid the door, drew a long breath, and plunged down the street.

"The bullets flew all around me, spattering leaden showers from the stone pavement. As I arrived at the gates of the palace, they swung [illegible]d, and in a second I was inside, u[illegible]hed. But only half my journey was done; I had still to go back again.

"A letter—my last report—was soon completed for Metternich and my message to the husband of Mme. M. was given. I had to return.

"Again the gates were opened and I bounded forth. A veritable fusillade followed. From every window and house top came the spurts of white smoke, and I tried to dodge 40 bullets at once. In a minute I had reached my own door, and as I did so I turned to look back.

"Another man left the palace gates at full speed, but before he had half crossed the street a puff of smoke shot out of a window, and he fell flat and was instantly lying like a log across the gutter. The fire stopped at once—what use would even an Italian see in shooting a dead man?

"But on the second that all became quiet to my great astonishment I saw this 'dead man' rise to his legs like a cat and dash across the street into the half open door waiting for him. The sharpshooters were taken by surprise and he escaped."

The Good Old Times.

"An increase of salary!" exclaimed the pompous manager of a small omnibus company to a clerk who had just made that request. "I am afraid, sir, that you are too extravagant."

He toyed with his heavy watch chain and looked severely at the young man, who returned his stare boldly. It was the set phrase on such occasions, and the applicant had heard it all before. He meant to have that rise or—go somewhere else.

"Excuse me, sir," he replied respectfully, "I haven't any chance to be extravagant on what I earn."

"Young man," continued the pompous gentleman, "I have risen from the monkey board. How? By being careful. When I was young, I made money by saving bus fares."

"Ah, that was in the old days," said the young man, with a knowing wink. "But with the bell punches and the present system of inspection you would find you couldn't save sixpence without being collared, however careful you were."

The manager nearly fainted, and the young man had to seek other employment. —Pearson's Weekly.

Shaving a Pursued Bandit.

"I shaved Jesse James, the once noted outlaw, down in southern Kentucky a long time ago," said an old gray haired fellow on the train the other day, "when the man's life wasn't worth a penny. Jesse rushed into my little country place, down in the Red river country, one day in the latter part of December and asked me if I wouldn't shave him while he looked after his colt's revolvers and watched the door. I was not a barber by trade, but those persuaders Jesse had induced me to try my hand with a new Wade & Butcher razor I took out of my showcase. As I shaved, the man of iron nerve sat with a cocked pistol in each hand and told me in a few hurried words that a posse was pursuing him, bent on capturing him, dead or alive, on the charge of robbing a bank at Russellville, a crime, he averred, of which he was not guilty. He wanted his beard shaved off that he might fool his pursuers if they should happen to catch up with him. I finished the job of scraping. The much wanted individual thanked me, and, mounting a horse, which had been hitched in the rear of my store, bade me good evening and rode away. I didn't know for certain who my visitor was, although I suspected it, until the next day, when I heard that a man in the neighborhood was telling that he had seen the elder James the afternoon before. I suppose that was the last shave Jesse James got in Kentucky, and I have never seen him after that day."—Louisville Post.

FRENCH SUSPICION.

IT HAS PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART IN THE COUNTRY'S HISTORY.

In France the Element of Suspicion Has Reached the Preternatural and Is No New Thing—How It Influenced the Actions of Robespierre.

At all the great crises of French life the element of preternatural suspicion has played an important part. Like some mischievous Puck it hovers over the land, whispering doubts here, misgivings there, converting the whole nation into mouchards, whose business it is to set a watch on their neighbors day and night. We have such a profound admiration for many qualities of the French people, such a sincere belief in the necessity of a powerful French factor in the complex mesh of modern civilization, that we can afford to bring this charge of undue suspicion against France as a whole. No student of French history can fail to see the confusion it has wrought. It is not the growth of yesterday, but it is almost as evident in the memoirs of the France of the seventeenth century as on the Paris boulevards at the present moment.

It pervaded the court and the official classes in the time of Richelieu, it was constantly present in the mind of Mazarin when negotiating with Cromwell, and it is visible all through the pages of the memoirs of De Retz. This spirit of preternatural suspicion naturally attained its climax in the French revolution, when, for the first time, the monarchy was involved in its infinite entanglements.

From the moment when the national assembly met at Versailles to the day when Napoleon was banished to Elba universal suspicion filled the air and dictated the cruel aspect of French policy. The queen was, of course, suspected, and justly, in political matters, and perhaps it was not altogether unreasonable that the suspicion in which she was enveloped should have attached to her weak but perfectly honest husband, who was assumed to be absolutely under her fatal influence.

The attack on the Bastille was animated not merely by memories of the past, not in the least because of actual cruelties at the time, for there was none, but mainly because it was suspected that the Bastille was to be utilized as an armed fortress to overawe Paris. The day of the "black cockades" and the march of the Maenads (to use Carlyle's graphic phraseology) were due to excited suspicion. The assembly had scarcely organized itself before the demon of suspicion spread its dusky wings over that body, and Mirabeau and Barnave, at first popular idols, became suspected of intrigue with the court. The vigorous personalities who came to the front all suspected one another. To them the famous warning which Benjamin Franklin addressed to the founders of the American republic, "Gentlemen, we must hang together or we shall hang separately," would have been useless. They could not hang together, and they did hang, or were guillotined, separately. It was Danton's suspicion of an aristocratic plot which caused the September massacres. It was pure suspicion that created the most revolting and unjust of all the revolutionary excesses, the tribunal of Fouquier-Tinville. Danton in his turn was suspected and fell.

We may, of course, justify the suspicion of Dumouriez, but what possible explanation can be given of the suspicion of the harmless astronomer Bailly, with his precisian virtues, who paid with his head for the dangerous folly of meddling with things he did not understand? It was obviously a question of war to the knife between Jacobin and Girondin, for each took an absolutely different view of both foreign and internal politics; but why could not the struggle have been confined to party warfare within the walls of the convention? Why was it necessary to decimate the Girondin chiefs? The only answer that can be made is that suspicion had grown to such a pitch that the very existence of Girondism was considered incompatible with the security of the republic. Men had become frenzied, insane, through constant spying on one another's actions and perpetual attempts to fathom one another's inward thoughts, and the "law of suspects" was simply a formal expression of national craziness. That way madness lies. In the person of Robespierre preternatural suspicion attained its most complete incarnation. His feline nature was ever on the dart for its prey. He could not bear a good word said of any man but he instantly began to revolve in his mind the question as to whether there were not some concealed motive in the praise. The shout of triumphant relief which reverberated over France when Robespierre's head fell into the basket marked the break of the straining point of that suspicion which had created and sustained the terror. When we remember that but for an accident Carnot would have fallen a victim to Robespierre's suspicions and that this suspicious disposition had led a man of sentimental virtue to become a wholesale murderer, we can understand that feeling of relief.—London Spectator.

Nothing to Work On.

"Fellows, I tried to get that blooming mind readah, don't you know, to come up to the club some evening and give us one of his deuced queeah entertainments. By Jove, he said he couldn't come."

"Did he give any reason, deah boy?"

"Why, he said he couldn't make a success of his efforts where there wasn't any material to work on."

"I wonder what the deuce he meant by that?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WALRUS LEATHER.

Used For Making Wheels For Polishing. Other Polishing Leathers.

Walrus leather is used for making buffer wheels for polishing brass, steel and silver. It has a peculiar, coarse grain that holds the emery or polishing powder well. It takes about five years to tan a walrus hide. Some walrus leather is made in this country, but the bulk of it is imported from England. Leather made from the hide of a cub walrus would be about half an inch thick. The hide of an old bull might be two inches thick. The value of the leather depends upon its thickness. Half inch would sell for about 50 cents a pound; 1¼ inches would be worth $1.40 a pound, and walrus leather from 1½ to 1¾ inches thick, smooth and well trimmed, would be worth $2 a pound, and a side of such leather would cost about $300.

Walrus wheels are made in a variety of shapes, depending upon the work on which they are used. They are made with a flat face, grooved, cone shaped or of any shape that may be desired, and by cementing layers of leather together wheels of any desired thickness are made. Walrus leather is also used for valve packings.

Bull necks are used also for polishing purposes. Three-quarter inch bull necks sell at about 50 cents a pound. Leather made from the hide of the sea lion is used for polishing purposes. This is a smoother and softer leather used for softer metals. Sea lion leather of an average thickness costs about 50 cents a pound. Built up wheels of any thickness are also made of sea lion and of bull neck leather.—New York Sun.

The Lost Purse.

"I have had my pocket picked!" exclaimed a middle aged woman as she hurriedly entered a suburban police station a day or two ago.

"Where did it occur?"

"In a shop in the High street, and I know it was a man who stood near me took it."

"How much was in it?"

"I can't say, sir. You see, it was this way: I came out to do some shopping. I put my purse in my pocket when I left home. When I went to pay for the goods, it was gone. I think I had about 30 shillings."

"Did any one have an opportunity to pick your pocket?"

"I suppose they did."

"Sure you brought the money with you?"

"Yes."

"Are you certain you did not lose it?"

"Do you think I'm a fool, sir?" she indignantly exclaimed. "When I say I had my pocket picked, I know what I'm talking about."

"I hope you do, ma'am, but"—

At this moment a boy entered the room with the purse in his hand and said:

"Here's your money, ma. We found it on the piano after you left the house, and Sarah sent me down to the shop after you."

The woman and the sergeant looked at each other for a few seconds. Then he smiled. Then she got red. Then he said he was glad she had found her money, and she retorted:

"I don't believe it! You wish I had lost it! I'll never come here for help again, never!"—Pearson's Weekly.

De Lesseps Statue.

M. Fremiet has finished the head of the enormous statue of the late Comte Ferdinand de Lesseps which is to be placed at the entry of the Suez canal. The canal projector is to be represented standing, covered with an Arab burnoose, and pointing toward the new waterway opened up to navigation. On one of the sides of the pedestal—which is to have a granite foundation—will be a medallion containing the portraits of the khedives who patronized the canal.—Boston Transcript.

Seeing Oneself.

Next to the power of standing outside oneself and looking at me as other folks see me the most remarkable is this of (by the insight of genius and imagination) becoming you. The first makes one sometimes only too reasonable, too humble; the second warms the heart and enriches the soul, for it gives the charm of selfhood to beings not ourselves.—Jean Ingelow.

250,000 CURES

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by early habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases. W. C. Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak; pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; memory poor; varicocele and weak parts; irritable; sinking spells; specks before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy; and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the new Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and sexually. It is a wonderful treatment."

Blood Disease—with the worst symptoms: Ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, blotches, eruptions, hair falling out, bone pains, eyes red, stomach troubles, sore throat, etc., positively cured forever. You dare not marry until cured. Cures guaranteed or no pay.

LATEST WAR NEWS

SPAIN GROWING CONFIDENT.

London, April 30.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: Every day that passes increases the confidence of the Spaniards and their hopes of prolonged resistance. The despatches announcing the mishaps to the American preparations with the confusion and lack of organization in the army and navy of the United States have simply delighted everybody. The public feeling of satisfaction and mockery breaks out in every piquant caricature in the whole Madrid press.

SPANISH WAR VESSELS AT GIBRALTAR.

Gibraltar, April 30.—Spanish torpedo boats are still cruising in these waters.

SAILED FOR THE CANARIES.

Washington, April 30.—Information received here that the three Spanish torpedo boats left St. Vincent this morning for the Canaries.

RUSSIA SYMPATHIZES WITH SPAIN

London, April 30.—Public opinion in Russia sympathizes with Spain. Russia has received a severe blow in the supposed friendly agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

RUSSIA TO SEND NAVAL EXPERTS

Russia will send naval experts to the Spanish and American warships to be eye witnesses of the battle, if permission is obtainable.

AUSTRIA UNDECIDED.

The Standard's Berlin correspondent says that the Austrian Government is not disposed to sign a special declaration of neutrality in the war between United States and Spain.

AN AMERICAN YACHT FORCED TO SEEK SHELTER.

Toulon, France, April 30.—American yacht Namoana was driven into Saint Tropez by Spanish warships.

FIRED ON BY A SPANISH BATTERY.

Key West, April 30.—Last night, while the torpedo boats Porter and Ericcson were scouting close to the coast they were fired on by a Spanish battery, which was returned by 12 shots from the New York.

GERMAN CRUISER FOR MANILLA.

Bulletin.—Nagasaki, Japan, April 30.—A second class German cruiser has started for Manilla to protect German interests.

PRESIDENT GRATEFUL OVER SAFE ARRIVAL OF THE PARIS.

Washington, April 30.—The president expressed relief when he heard that the Paris was safe in port. Another source of gratification to the president was the tone of the English press as shown in the London despatches. Up to 11 a.m. the president had received no official despatches.

ANOTHER PRIZE.

Bulletin.—New York, April 30.—A Key West special says that the Dolphin has captured another prize.

A BATTLE IN SIGHT.

Madrid, April 30.—Despatches received here to-day from Manila, capital of the Philippine Islands, say the United States fleet is expected to arrive at Manila on Sunday. The Spanish fleet has been divided into two squadrons. Two cruisers, the Castilla and other vessels, remain near the front of Manila; the remaining Spanish warships, under Admiral Montejo, are patrolling the western coasts awaiting the arrival of the American warships.

The Spanish fleet, it appears, has been reinforced by a large auxiliary cruiser, said to be capable of steaming 20 knots, and armed as a warship. She is known as the Montevideo, but an examination of the maritime registers fails to establish her identity. It is claimed, however, that she is a very large vessel.

FAMINE AND SMALLPOX.

New York, April 30.—A St. Thomas special to the World says: Famine and smallpox are raging at Porto Rico. Men, women and children are dying on the island and the panic-stricken people in the cities and towns are fleeing into the interior. American and British interests are in grave danger. Consul Hanna has asked the State Department to send the Texas and Iowa with troops to end the frightful situation.

A London special to the World says: Admiral Dewey's fleet carries 2,000 officers and men.

A Key West special to the World says: Admiral Sampson is obeying the blockading orders with energy and sorrow. He feels, however, that the Administration will soon see the futility of the plan which starves our allies before it touches the enemy, and will not allow him to act.

WAS IT A BATTLE?

New York, April 30.—Midnight extras have despatches from Eastport, Me., that over thirty-five reports of cannon shots were heard off Quoddy Head, and it is supposed that the Minneapolis, which left Provincetown, Mass., yesterday, bound north, encountered a Spanish war vessel and an engagement is going on.

WEYLER ON THE WAR.

Madrid, April 30.—In the Senate, after Senor Moret, the Minister of the Colonies, had defended the policy of Cuban autonomy, a bill was adopted granting the Government immunity for conferring autonomy on Cuba.

Lieut-General Weyler spoke at some length, justifying his administration in Cuba, and urged the Government to take the offensive against America. General Weyler, in a clear voice and amid marked attention from the whole house and the galleries, apologized for prolonging the debate, stating that he could not allow the opportunity to pass of defending himself against criticism. With much warmth and sternness he defended his political and military acts of severity in Cuba, showing that he deemed them vitally necessary, and they were justified by the results they produced. So much was this the case he declared, that had he been allowed six months longer he would have entirely crushed the insurrection, and would have realized the promise he made to Senor Canovas Del Castillo, that by April, 1898, he would be in a position to offer his 50,000 veterans to attack the United States.

General Weyler severely criticized the Home Rule policy in Cuba, and the time selected for decreeing it; and he concluded a passionate appeal for a display of energy, urging the Government to take the offensive vigorously on both land and sea, as remaining on the defensive was "the worst possible policy with such an enemy."

WORLD-WIDE HAPPENINGS AS TELEGRAPHED THE TIMES

SHIP FOR UNCLE SAM.

Montreal, May 1.—In accordance with the report of the United States Naval Commissioners, who inspected the Beaver Line Steamship Lake Ontario on her trip from Quebec to Montreal yesterday, the Government has made an offer to the Beaver Line Co., for the purchase of the ship.

Mr. Campbell, the general manager of the company for Canada, when interviewed this morning, stated that the offer would be accepted, and the ship turned over to the United States Government as soon as she discharges her cargo, unless the British Government should protest against the transfer as a violation of the neutrality laws.

PAID 5 PER CENT.

Birmingham, Eng., May 1.—The annual meeting of the City of Birmingham tramways was held here yesterday, James Ross, the chairman, presiding.

A five per cent. divident was declared, and £33,000 carried to the reserve.

The shareholders unanimously endorsed the negotiations carried on with the city, and condemned the action of the city authorities in their policy of delaying the granting of new leases.

BODY IN A MANGER.

Kingston, May 1.—Early yesterday morning, Mr. Pringle, a Camden farmer, entered the American hotel stables to stall his horses. He turned over the hay in a manger, and was horrified to turn up the decomposing body of a man crushed into the box.

The remains proved to be those of John Eaton, pensioner, aged 60, who, while intoxicated, had evidently fallen into the manger, while sitting on it, and had been smothered, being unable to regain his balance.

He had copies of Chicago papers in his pockets of April 3 and 6. The coroner thinks the body had been in the manger for three weeks. He will hold an inquest.

The stall was unused, save when business was brisk, and this accounts for the find only this morning.

TROUBLE FOR PORTUGAL.

London, May 1.—A special despatch from Berne, Switzerland, says the report of the engineers appointed by the Delagoa Bay arbitration court finds that the value of the work done by the Delagoa Bay railroad company up to the time of the seizure of the line by Portugal was £225,000, and that the amount subsequently spent by Portugal was £120,000.

In reply to questions, the reports find that if Portugal were to exercise the right of expropriation given by the concession, she must pay £2,435,000 and the value of the concession, which in December, 1896, was £1,820,000.

GRAIN IN WAR TIME.

London, May 1.—Col. Sir Howard Vincent (Con.) will ask the Government next week what course it is proposed to adopt to "guard against the excessive rise in the price of wheat, in the event of England becoming involved in a war with a naval power, aiming to cut off foreign breadstuffs from Great Britain."

CONTRABAND OF WAR.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 1.—Mr. Evans, the Colonial Secretary, refused yesterday to allow an American dealer in metals here to ship 20 tons of lead to New Orleans, defining it as contraband of war. The Cubans who have just arrived here by the steamer Remus, assert that a strong anti-British feeling prevails in Santiago de Cuba. The street crowds a few nights ago cried: "Death to the English," in front of the British consulate, and threw stones at the consul, who has charge of the American relief work. He has been threatened with personal violence; and the authorities have placed a guard over the consulate.

A HEARTRENDING SCENE.

Kingston, May 1.—A very affecting scene occurred at the Roman Catholic church, Centerville. Mrs. Philip Martin muffled up her infant to take it to the sacred edifice to be christened, as the wind was very high. The wrappings, however, were too tight, with the result that the babe was smothered. It breathed its last as the parents entered the church. The anguish of the mother was heartrending.

PAYING THE PENALTY.

Fort William, May 1.—This spring the laborers' union here demanded of the Canadian Pacific Railway higher wages than the men have been usually getting, or the same as the Canadian Pacific Railway granted last fall after the strike.

The consequence was that the company and the men could not come to terms, and two hundred men were brought here from the west by No. 2 this morning to take the place of those heretofore employed in the sheds.

As yet quietness prevails. The men are still hopeful of a settlement.

PUNCHED T. W. SELF.

Toornto, May 1.—Thomas W. Self, a Board of Works inspector, employed at the Queen street subway yesterday morning swore out a summons against Robt. Grant, one of the contractors, charging him with assault. Self says that when he reprimanded a teamster for driving over a stake set out by a engineer, Grant punched him. Grant will appear before Magistrate Denison to-day.

BIG SEIZURE

CUSTOMS OFFICERS FIND 192 CASES OF WHISKEY IN A YUKON SHIP AT VICTORIA, B. C.

Victoria, B. C., April 29.—Customs officers here have seized 192 cases of whiskey, which were in process of being landed at the outer wharf from the steamer Centennial, but were not on the manifest.

The officers of the ship disclaim knowledge that it was on board and a peculiar story is told concerning the whiskey. This is, that by private arrangement with members of the crew it was smuggled into the hold of the Centennial from a small craft while she lay at the wharf here prior to her last trip to Alaska, the intention being to smuggle it into that territory at Wrangel. At that point, however, the Customs officers were found, for once, on the alert, to prevent the landing of whiskey, and the stuff was taken on to Skagway, with no better result, for Collector Ivey himself was found there. The whiskey, therefore, had to be brought back to Victoria.

SATURDAY'S HORSE SHOW

A Great Success—Full List of the Entries and Prize Winners

The second annual Spring Stallion Show, under the auspices of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, was held on the Market Square on Saturday and attracted an immense crowd.

The entry list showed a large number of names and the horses on exhibition included some exceptionally fine animals.

President G. W. Fitzgerald and Vice-President G. W. Bennett and Secretary W. J. Green were present and were greatly pleased at the success of the show.

The following entries were made in the classes specified:—

Canadian Heavy Draught: "Mack," O. O'Brien; "Good Enough,"—Maurice O'Brien.

Coach Horses: "Fearnaught"—Jas. Mannaly: "Ludwig"—Geo. Cockburn; "Lapadist Chief"—J. Clancey.

Standard Bred: "Almonte Champion"—Jas Baptie; "Elm City"—Jas. Elmhurst; "Boston Wilkes"—Frank Birch.

Heavy Draught: "Erskine McGregor;"—Lewis Bowles; "MacNairn"—Jos. Elmhurst.

Hackney: "Warley Toff"—B. R. Poole; "Holderness"—Bowles & Nesbitt.

The following is a list of the prize winners:—

Hackneys: 1, Warley Toff; 2, Holderness.

(The first prize was given under protest, which will be decided when certificate of entry and pedigree are produced.)

Canadian Heavy Draught: 1, Good Enough; 2. Mack.

Standard Bred: 1. Boston Wilkes; 2. Almonte Champion; 3. Elm City.

(In this class the first prize was given under protest, and will be definitely settled when a proper certificate of pedigree is produced.)

Heavy Draught: 1, Erskine McGregor; 2. MacNairn.

Coach Horses: 1. Ludwig; 2, Fearnaught; 3. Lapadist Chief.

A special prize for colts under three years of age was awarded Mr. J. W. Lowes who had a very fine animal on exhibition.

In the "Standard Bred" class, the horse "Boston Wilkes," easily carried off first. This horse is a very fine animal, showing numerous good points. The other two entries were also fine specimens and their owners deserve credit for the splendid appearance of the animals.

Horsemen should be very particular to have all papers, such as certificates, etc., with them at the time of showing as it saves a great deal of trouble.

The show was very creditable and should prove beneficial to the farming community as it shows the kind of horses raised in the country and gives farmers a chance to secure the best.

This evening the anniversary social gathering will be held. Tea will be served from 5 to 7.30 p.m. Musical programme begins at 8 o'clock.

Drew a Knife

A fracas occurred on Hunter street Saturday evening between a couple of men under the influence of liquor. One of the combatants drew a knife and attempted to use it on his opponent. When the police appeared on the scene the parties had succeeded in making their escape. Although diligent search and strict enquiry was made, it was found impossible to locate the pugilists.

A Runaway

Saturday morning as Mr. Albert Waterman, of Otonobee, was driving into town the reach of his carriage broke as he was going over the railway crossing in Ashburnham. The hind wheels were left there and the team, becoming frightened, ran forward, escaping from the front part of the buggy as well. Mr. Waterman, however, pluckily held onto the lines and after being dragged some distance brought his horses to a standstill and recovered the parts of his property.

The Independent War Correspondent

Bobcaygeon Independent: The way the big dailies are blowing about their war correspondents, is really very ridiculous. This journal has had its special war Commissioner awaiting developments at the mouth of Nogey's Creek for the last two weeks, but it has not announced the fact in a double column scare head.

A Disputed Point Settled

The Provincial Board of Health was in session at Toronto last week when a point which has often been disputed came up and was settled by the Board. The Act says that in case a house is quarantined, the quarnatine may be removed by the Medical Health Officer or by the resident physician. These authorities have often been in dispute. It was decided, however, that in all cases the Medical Health Officer was supreme, and only where no such officers existed should the ordinary doctor have authority.

Light Weight Butter

Saturday's market developed some light weight butter. The discovery was made by the Chief of Police. Two lots were confiscated and the owners summoned to appear before the magistrate at two o'clock. At the trial one lot of 24 lbs. was found 21 1-2 ounces underweight, the other of 9 lbs. being 6 1-2 ounces short. The magistrate decided not to impose any fine as there was evidently no intention on the part of the owners to defraud, the fault lying entirely in the defective moulds. The seizures, however, will serve as a timely warning, and all butter makers will hereafter weigh their dairy produce before offering it for sale. Mr. Reeve Crough, J. P., of Ennismore, occupied a seat on the bench with Magistrate Dumble.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

Ninth Anniversary of the Consecration of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor

At St. Peter's cathedral yesterday the ninth anniversary of the consecration of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, as bishop of the diocese of Peterborough, was commemorated by the holding of special services.

The services were very largely attended.

Pontificial High Mass was sung at 10.30 a. m. His Lordship being the celebrant.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Teefy, President of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and was a splendid effort.

The music, which had been specially prepared, was of a very high order and its excellent rendition called forth much favorable comment.

Miss L. Hurley sang "Haec Dies" as a solo, in a faultless manner, and Lambillote's Magnificat, given by the full choir—Miss M. Dunn taking the solos in splendid voice—approached perfection as nearly as possible. Regina Coeli, also by the full choir, was superbly executed. Mr. Geo. Ball took the solos in "O Salutaris" in capital style, and Mrs. Ball excelled herself in "Tantum Ergo."

Both services were highly appreciated by the immense congregations present.

An Eagle Shot at Balsam Lake

Fenelon Falls Gazette:—A few days ago we met Mr. E. W. Glaspell, caretaker of Grand Island, in Balsam Lake, who comes to the Falls occasionally and he told us that on the 18th inst. he shot one of a pair of bald eagles that have lived on the island about ten years and have their nest between two forked limbs at the top of a tremendously high pine that towers above the neighboring trees like a giant in a crowd of ordinary men. Seeing one of the birds settle down in the nest, he took a steady aim at it with his 44-calibre rifle, the cartridge in which contained a very heavy charge of powder; and, though the distance could not have been much less than five hundred yards, the bullet went clean through the nest and its occupant, and the latter came fluttering to the ground nearly, but not quite, dead. The bird, which proved to be the female, measured 5 feet 10 1-2 inches from tip to tip of its wings, and must have been a specimen worth preserving; but Mr. Glaspell possibly because he was alone on the island and could not leave for nearly a week, cut off his victim's head and feet and threw its body away."

Easter Millinery Booming

To say that we've started to be busy in Millinery hardly expresses the idea of the big rush of past days—so far trade is doubling up on last year, and though our staff of trimmers and saleswomen has been increased, we think it necessary to warn those who intend to order an Easter Hat or Bonnet here, that it will be the part of wisdom to see to the matter at once—this week if possible.

Manila Destroyed

AND THE TOWN OF CAVITE BURNED TO THE GROUND.

The Americans Fired Petroleum Bombs—Deweys Fleet Well Supplied With Coal and other Necessary Supplies—The Don Juan De Austria Was Blown Up by a Shell Bursting in Her Forward Magazine

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

MANILA BURNED

London, May 2.—A Madrid despatch through a news agency says that Premier Sagasta has just gone to the Palace. It is understood that he will communicate to the Queen Regent despatches announcing that the town of Cavite has been razed and the unfortified portion of Manila burned. The despatch adds that the Americans fired petroleum bombs. An extraordinary Cabinet council has been convoked for 7 o'clock this evening.

AN ABUNDANCE OF SUPPLIES

Washington, May 2.—Naval Bureau chiefs who have charge of equipping the fleets with ammunition and coal say that Commodore Dewey's engagement of yesterday does not deplete his stock of projectiles, powder, coal and other necessary supplies to any serious extent, and that he has ample supplies of this vital character to carry on such further operations as may be necessary.

CUBANS MAY SERVE IN THE U. S. ARMY

Washington, May 2.—Senator Proctor to-day introduced a bill permitting Cubans to enlist in the American army during the Spanish war. The bill also permits the President to accept the services of Cuban Independent volunteer troops and muster them into the military service of the United States for a period of not less than one month nor more than two years. There is also a provision depriving these serving under this law from the benefits of the pension laws of the United States.

AMERICANS REJOICING

London, May 2.—In the House of Parliament, at the hotels—which are beginning to be full of American tourists—at all the Government offices and particularly at the Admiralty, the brilliant defeat of the Spanish fleet by the Asiatic fleet of the United States at the battle of Manila, was the one great subject talked of throughout the day. The United States Embassy was the centre of interest for all London. There was a continuous stream of callers requesting information—the majority being Americans. U. S. Ambassador Hay is overjoyed at this demonstration of the prowess of the American navy. Remarking, concerning Commodore Dewey, who is a personal friend of the ambassador: "It is hard to imagine so quiet and amiable a gentleman controlling a fierce naval battle."

THE BEGINNING OF THE END

Washington, May 2.—The general opinion among prominent members of the administration is that the naval victory at Manila is not only highly important of itself but that it will have a very decided influence among the nations of Europe, which may ultimately result in their united action in forcing Spain to an early relinquishment of the impossible task of compelling the United States to change its course with respect to it. The Attorney-General, when questioned to-day, said that in his judgment the Manila victory was the beginning of the end. A few such defeats must convince the Spanish Government that their case was a hopeless one and it was his opinion that it would be a matter of only a few weeks or months as most, before Spain would be anxious to re-open negotiations with the United States with a view to a complete surrender of her sovereignty over Cuba.

BRITISH-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

London, May 2.—The Hon. Cecil Rhodes, in an interview, states. In my opinion nothing is so vital to the future of the British and American peoples as a cordial understanding and a deeply rooted conviction of mutual good will. From this time, if future events should render it necessary, a formal alliance may be born. It is obvious that if the Americans crush Spain from the outset there will be an unthinking tendency in this country to sympathize with the little boy who has been thrashed by the big boy, but what we must not forget is the fact of atrocities perpetrated by Spain in Cuba. America has done, in that island, precisely what Great Britain would have done if they had occurred in an island close to her own coasts. In fact, we should probably not have been as patient as America has been. At any rate the two people would meet the same circumstances with the same action. It is not for us to run after America with offers to alliance. It must result from a meeting half way, but it seems perfectly obvious that in any division of the world the interests of the British Empire and America will be found united. England and America need each other and this need will grow rapidly in the future.

NEGOTIATING A SURRENDER.

Washington, May 2.—It is rumored that the Governor-General of the Philippines is trying to negotiate through the British Consul the surrender of the islands without the bombardment of Manila. The President and the Cabinet about 11 o'elcok received information that the Governor-General of the Philippines had sent a flag of truce to Commodore Dewey. It is understood that the British Consul carried the prosition to Commodore Dewey, which was to surrender Manila and avoid bombardment.

TO CAPTURE THE OREGON.

Washington, May 2.—The Navy Department announces that the Spanish fleet which left Cape Verde Islands has gone to capture the Oregon and the Marietta. An American flying squadron will be despatched at once to intercept them.

RESULT OF WAR.

Constantinople, May 2.—Owing to war between Spain and the United States there is a great scarity of Russian wheat here. Price of bread is rising rapidly and a number of bread riots have occurred.

VICTORY AT BAYAMO.

Madrid, May 2.—Captain-General General Blanco reports a victory over the rebels at Bayamo. He says that thirty insurgents and one Spaniard were illed. k

Washington, May 2.—The Senate Committee on Finance pratically decided to-day to eliminate the tonnage tax feature of the war revenue bill to avoid irritating European countries.

BLOWN UP BY A SHELL.

Hong Kong, May 2.—Despatchs received from Manila by prominent merchants state that the Spanish cruiser Don Juan de Austria was blown up by a shell bursting in her forward magazine, and that out of her crew of 130 men only some 20 or 30 escaped. The destruction of the Don Juan was quite unexpected, and was caused by a missile from one of the 5-inch rapid fire guns in the main battery of the Olympia. The Don Juan was an iron clad vessel of 14 knots speed, 1,130 tons displacement, 1,600 horse-power, length 110 feet, coal capacity 210 tons, built at Carthagnea in 1887, main battery of four 4.7 inch guns, and three torpedo tubes; secondary battery, three 2.2 inch rapid fire, two 1.5 inch guns and five machine guns.

THEY WON'T INVADE CUBA.

Washington, May 2.—It is reported that President McKinley has replied to all the arguments in favor of an invasion of Cuba by the United States land forces by saying that he does not deem it necessary to employ either the army or the naval forces at his command to reinforce the insurgent army, which he has been assured is quite capable of whipping the Spanish forces if properly equipped. The naval blockade will be maintained at Havana, and a similar embargo against communication between the Spaniards in the Philippine Islands and the rest of the world will be established upon precisely the same lines. Relief will be afforded the Cuban insurgnet army and the reconcentrados—food, clothing, guns and ammunition, which is all that is needed according to the assurance of the insurgent leaders themselves. Every possible facility will be employed and backed up with all the force, both land and naval, that is deemed or is rendered necessary to equip the insurgents. The protection of two or three United States warships and one thousand United States regulars to force a way from the coast to the headquarters of the Cuban army will be afforded. Both will be ready to render such service as soon as it is demanded. It will only be upon the failure of the rebels to drive the Spaniards that Cuba will be invaded.

London, May 2.—The Spanish Cabinet, according to a special despatch from Madrid to The Evening News sat for four hours and only discussed the Manila disaster. The discussion, it is added, showed the Spanish Ministers "are now awfully aroused and determined to exhaust their resources in the defence of the national honor."

TO REMAIN AT GIBRALTAR.

Portamouth, Eng., May 2.—In consequence of the Spanish-American war, the British Channel squadron will not execute the remainder of the program for its cruise, which included visits to various Spanish ports. The ships for the present will remain at Gibraltar.

NO CAPITULATION YET.

London, May 2.—A despatch from Madrid to the Daily Mail, dated this morning, says: The Americans are now moving on Wamia, but there has, as yet, been no capitulation.

AN UTTER ROUT.

London, May 1.—A Madrid despatch to the Daily Mail, dated this morning, says: The Ministry admit that the naval battle off Cavite ended in utter rout.

MORNING REPORT OF THE BATTLE CONFIRMED.

Madrid, May 2.—A Cabinet member stated this morning that the account of yesterday's naval battle had been completely borne out by the later despatches. The last shot was fired at 11.30.

—On Friday afternoon Mr. John Craig, Ashburnham, had a dangerous fall. He was driving a team on the canal back of Armour's hill, near the former bed of the Norwood road. The teams were travelling a road around the side of the hill and the place had become worn and steep. As Mr. Craig was going around with his horses and waggon the whole outfit upset. The horses went tumbling one over the other, down the side, the waggon was thrown to the bottom and Mr. Craig also fell to the bed of the canal. He was picked up for dead, but it was found that he was only unconscious. Mr. Craig was able to sit up in bed yesterday.

A LIVELY ROW

A Pastor of a Jersey Church Upholds Spain's Cause

Burlington, N.J., May 2.—Rev. Jesse Thompson, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, created a sensation at his prayer meeting last night, and the services broke up in disorder. Pastor Thompson announced that on Sunday he would preach a sermon on the war. He followed the announcement by saying that "war is a bad business and as a christian nation one should not go to war. The United States has no right whatever to interfere with Spain in her dealings with Cuba. Spain is fighting for her honor, and the United States insists that she is fighting for honor."

Captain Mark Hulings, an old sailor, excitedly exclaimed: "But Spain's honor is growing very threadbare." Another voice in the congregation echoed: "That's so."

Pastor Thompson became very excited at this juncture and exclaimed: "Yes, and so is Uncle Sam."

"Spaniard," came from all parts of the church, and members hastily withdrew from the meeting, leaving the pastor attempting to pronounce the benediction."

He was married to Miss Isabella Ford, who survives him to mourn the loss of an affectionate and faithful life partner. Six children also survive. They are Mrs. John Bick, of Bobcaygeon; Mrs. John Junkin, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. John Boates, of Fowler's Corners; Mr. R. E. Tully, of the Northwest, and Messrs. Wm. and Jas. A. Tully, of town. Deceased was a man of unassuming citizenship and a staunch Presbyterian.

THE KEY OF THE SITUATION

The massing of British ships and British troops at Jamaica seems to have been conducted with a typically British precision and celerity and has been certainly performed with a typically British eschewment of display. But the presence at Jamaica of British ships and British men in considerable force might have, very easily, a determining effect on the Cuban question. A glance at the map shows that Jamaica lies next door to Cuba; and a shred of strategical information is sufficient to engender the conviction that the British island is a better base of supply and attack than any key on the Floridan coast.

The consequence might be that the Cuban questions would be settled eventually by British arms. Consider the peculiar characteristics of these Cuban rebels. As Mr. Ewan describes them in one of his very entertaining letters to the Globe, they are bushwhackers, one and all, from Gomez down. They might prove as little amenable to the laws of the stable government which the United States has pledged itself to set up as they have shown themselves in respect of government by Spain. The insurgents wish to see Cuba free, and it would be a poetic retribution if the United States were to be placarded as an oppressor by the very people whom she has set out to enfranchise. It is pretty certain that Gomez and his little gang will have nothing to do with anything but an absolutely independent government, in which they themselves shall be supreme. It is quite as certain that without some form of protectorate by an outside power, stable government in Cuba would be impossible. Then, assuming that the United States is in possession of Cuba, she would find it, for obvious reasons, even a harder task than Spain has found it, to defeat the rebels, pacify the island, and restore its industries and prosperity. For Spain knows Cuba and the United States does not.

If the rebels, therefore, the Cuban Republic, the Junta, or whatever the insurgent organization may be properly called, were to quarrel with the United States, stable government in Cuba would be impossible, except upon one condition, and that condition—odd as it may seem to us—would be British intervention, the establishment of peace and order in the island by force of British arms.

It would seem that in massing troops and ships at Jamaica Britain has some such outcome in view; that if the United States has trouble in bringing Cuba into the fraternity of civilized communities, Britain will be at her side. Moreover, the Cubans have for fifty years been nursing a desire for revenge upon the Spaniards. Should the United States be victorious over Spain what more natural than that the cruel Cubans, who slew various peace messengers, sent them to negotiate for a peaceful settlement of the trouble, should turn loose to massacre the Spaniards on the island? Then, too, British troops would be needed to help the United States forces prevent the carnival of horrors.

The Spanish fleet may yet boom the seaside resorts.

Speaking of the privileges of a member of parliament recalls an incident the writer once heard poor dead and gone Joe Rymal tell of his debut in parliament. He was going home after a late sitting of the House, in the early hours of the morning, and began to laugh boisterously at a story a companion was telling. A fresh policeman stepped up and commanded him to make less noise. The next morning he met the late Sir John Macdonald and said to him, after relating the circumstances, "See here, Mac, what should I do in a case like that?" "Well, I'll tell you," replied the premier, "if a policeman ever attempts to interfere with you in the parliament grounds, pick him up and throw him over the fence. If you do not get him all the way over, but leave him stuck on the iron pickets, so much the better." Old Joe was one of the staunchest of Grits, but he was from that moment a warm personal friend of Sir John.

In Dry Dock

The steamer City of Peterborough has been pulled out of the water at Ashburnham dockyard. She looks twice as large, when on land, as she does in the water. Her bottom is as good and sound as the day she was built, but it was thought advisable to look at it and overhaul it just the same. The work is progressing under the superintendence of Mr. Hickey. Powerful machines were necessary to pull the boat out of the water, as may be imagined. The steamer will be launched as soon as painting her hull is completed. Alterations in the interior will also be made, so that she will be in good shape to handle the large excursion business which is sure to come this season. The City of Peterborough and the tidy little steamer Eclipse will be run in consort; and the outlook for a brisk season is good.

GREENS IN DEMAND

THE RUSH FOR DIAMOND DYE GREENS IS MARVELLOUS

Greens in all shades have come to stay for a considerable time. This fact is fully established by statements in the most reliable fashion journals, and the present marvellous rush for the Diamond Dye Fast Greens confirms the belief that greens will be in favor for months to come.

Economical women and girls may now dye over their soiled, dingy and faded dresses that they have laid aside, at a cost of from ten to twenty cents.

The Diamond Dye Fast Greens for wool, silk or cotton give magnificent results in lovely, rich and full colors, equalling the colors produced by the best professional dyers in Europe.

Owing to the fact that there are poor and deceptive package dyes on the market, sold by some dealers who prize large profits above the grand purpose of giving their customers satisfaction and value, ladies are warned to beware of all imitation and soap grease dyes that only cause dissatisfaction and destruction of goods. Ask for the Diamond Dyes and take no others; every package is warranted.

Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, P. Q., for book of directions and sample card of 48 colors; sent free to any address.

Fined for Taking Town Sod

A citizen was up before P. M. Dumble yesterday morning charged with taking sod from a town lot on Rink-st. The accused defended his action on the ground that a Councillor had given him permission to do so and proved his words by producing a letter from the Councillor. This was filed as evidence, the Magistrate remarking that the permission of any individual councillor gave him no right to commit the act. He fined the transgressor five dollars.

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

Tries a New Remedy for Rheumatism

We read in the New York Herald.

Polynice Oil, the new remedy for rheumatism and similar diseases, which, as already related in the Herald, was applied at Bellevue Hospital by Dr. Alexandre, who represents Dr. Mabille, of Paris, the discoverer of the remedy, has already in many of the cases experimented upon at the Bellevue hospital dispensary achieved all and more than was claimed for it. The physicians have been as much astonished as pleased with the results of the experiments, and an authoritative acknowledgement of the indebtedness of the medical works of Dr. Mabille may soon be looked for.

The most obstinate cases, it is understood, have yielded readily to the treatment. Patients who have been afflicted with lumbago for 20 years have exhibited improvement after a single application.

The most remarkable results, however, were achieved in a case where the patient treated had been a sufferer from aggravated rheumatism, which affected the tendons of the legs so that he was unable to touch the ground with his heels. One application relieved him to such an extent that he is now able to use his limbs in a natural manner.

THANKFUL FOR HIS CURE.

In this connection the following letter may be of interest to the physicians who are experimenting with Dr. Mabille's remedy:

To the Editor of the Herald:

I read in your last Sunday's number about the Polynice Oil. Having previously heard of the virtues of said oil from friends I was one of the first to be treated last Wednesday at Bellevue Hospital. I had been suffering from rheumatism for several years and after using all kinds of medicines without results Polynice Oil has done it for me, and I am altogether rid of the painful sickness after a first treatmnet. Wishing to thank the specialist for the burden of pain he has lifted from my shoulders, I have called at the hospital, but the authorities could not give me his address, and I therefore beg to be allowed the liberty of your hospitable columns to convey to him my most sincere thanks.

Very truly yours,
E. L. Pavillard.

Martinsville, Somerset County, N.J.

We read in the New York World:

A new treatment for rheumatism and kindred troubles is being experimented with by three physicians at Bellevue.

It is a discovery of a Dr. Mabille of Paris. There, it is said, it was practiced with remarkably successful results.

Wednesday they began experiments. Fifteen persons were treated.

The first patient bared his back. The oil was applied. The man returned yesterday.

"I've had forty years of lumbago," he said, "and this is my first relief."

Other patients were treated. Some came back yesterday to see the others treated and to receive a final treatmnet. One was a woman who has had neuralgia of the tongue for six months so bad that her mouth had to be sprayed with cocaine before she could take her liquid food. Her jaw had been treated by the new method.

"Yesterday," she said, "was the first time I have eaten solid food for six months. The pain is nearly gone."

A man whose knee was stiff from rheumatism said he could move it. Not one of those treated failed to experience relief.

Polynice Oil is the only remedy that has been experimented with with so remarkable success in the hospitals of Paris, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Civic hospital, Montreal, etc., etc. Sent upon the receipt of the price, 50 cents, in a money-order, by Dr. A. Alexandre, specialist, from Paris, 1216 G. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. U.S.

of Paris arrived safely; saw no Spanish vessels.

SPANISH FLEET SAILS.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, April 30.—The transports and torpedo boats sailed at 8.45 this morning.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 30.—Advices from Santiago de Cuba state that a proclamation has been issued that every man between 15 and 50 must volunteer in Spanish service under penalty of arrest, trial and death. Reign of Terror exists; thousands leave nightly.

IMPORTANT NEWS.

London, April 30.—Hong Kong despatch.—Nothing has been heard from the American fleet or from Manilla. The departure of the Spanish fleet from the Cape Verde Islands is regarded as the first really important news of the war.

PARIS HAD A ROUGH PASSAGE.

New York, April 30.—The Paris had a rough winter passage. She had on board 141 passengers. The captain kept 30 miles out of his usual course. He had no fear that Spanish war vessels would catch the Paris after she got sea room.

WARSHIP TO PROTECT BRITONS.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 30.—The British Consul at Santiago de Cuba has cabled the colonial authorities that a warship should be sent there to protect British interests.

SPAIN GROWING CONFIDENT.

London, April 30.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: Every day that passes increases the confidence of the Spaniards and their hopes of prolonged resistance. The despatches announcing the mishaps to the American preparations with the confusion and lack of organization in the army and navy of the United States have simply delighted everybody. The public feeling of satisfaction and mockery breaks out in every piquant caricature in the whole Madrid press.

SPANISH WAR VESSELS AT GIBRALTAR.

Gibraltar, April 30.—Spanish torpedo boats are still cruising in those waters.

SAILED FOR THE CANARIES.

Washington, April 30.—Information received here that the three Spanish torpedo boats left St. Vincent this morning for the Canaries.

RUSSIA SYMPATHIZES WITH SPAIN

London, April 30.—Public opinion in Russia sympathizes with Spain. Russia has received a severe blow in the supposed friendly agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

RUSSIA TO SEND NAVAL EXPERTS

Russia will send naval experts to the Spanish and American warships to be eye witnesses of the battle, if permission is obtainable.

AUSTRIA UNDECIDED.

The Standard's Berlin correspondent says that the Austrian Government is not disposed to sign a special declaration of neturality in the war between United States and Spain.

AN AMERICAN YACHT FORCED TO SEEK SHELTER.

Toulon, France, April 30.—American yacht Namoana was driven into Saint Tropez by Spanish warships.

FIRED ON BY A SPANISH BATTERY.

Key West, April 30.—Last night, while the torpedo boats Porter and Ericcson were scouting close to the coast they were fired on by a Spanish battery, which was returned by 12 shots from the New York.

GERMAN CRUISER FOR MANILLA.

Bulletin.—Nagaski, Japan, April 30.—A second class German cruiser has statred for Manilla to protect German interests.

PRESIDENT GRATEFUL OVER SAFE ARRIVAL OF THE PARIS.

Washington, April 30.—The president expressed relief when he heard that the Paris was safe in port. Another source of gratification to the president was the tone of the English press as shown in the London despatches. Up to 11 a.m. the president had received no official despatches.

ANOTHER PRIZE.

Bulletin.—New York, April 30.—A Key West special says that the Dolphin has captured another prize.

A BATTLE IN SIGHT.

Madrid, April 30.—Despatches received here to-day from Manila, capital of the Philippine Islands, say the United States fleet is expected to arrive at Manila on Sunday. The Spanish fleet has been divided into two squadrons. Two cruisers, the Castilla and other vessels, remain near the front of Manila; the remaining Spanish warships, under Admiral Montejo, are patrolling the western coasts awaiting the arrival of the American warships.

The Spanish fleet, it appears, has been reinforced by a large auxiliary cruiser, said to be capable of steaming 20 knots, and armed as a warship. She is known as the Montevideo, but an examination of the maritime registers fails to establish her identity. It is claimed, however, that she is a very large vessel.

FAMINE AND SMALLPOX.

New York, April 30.—A St. Thomas special to the World says: Famine and smallpox are raging at Porto Rico. Men, women and children are dying on the island and the panic-stricken people in the cities and towns are fleeing into the interior. American and British interests are in grave danger. Consul Hanna has asked the State Department to send the Texas and Iowa with troops to end the frightful situation.

A London special to the World says: Admiral Dewey's fleet carries 2,000 officers and men.

A Key West special to the World says: Admiral Sampson is obeying the blockading orders with energy and sorrow. He feels, however, that the Administration will soon see the futility of the plan which starves our allies before it touches the enemy, and will not allow him to see.

WAS IT A BATTLE?

New York, April 30.—Midnight extras have despatches from Eastport, Me., that over thirty-five reports of cannon shots were heard off Quoddy Head, and it is supposed that the Minneapolis, which left Provincetown, Mass., yesterday, bound north, encountered a Spanish war vessel and an engagement is going on.

WEYLER ON THE WAR.

Madrid, April 30.—In the Senate, after Senor Moret, the Minister of the Colonies, had defended the policy of Cuban autonomy, a bill was adopted granting the Government immunity for conferring autonomy on Cuba.

Lieut-General Weyler spoke at some length, justifying his administration in Cuba, and urged the Government to take the offensive against America. General Weyler, in a clear voice and amid marked attention from the whole house and the galleries, apologized for prolonging the debate, stating that he could not allow the opportunity to pass of defending himself against criticism. With much warmth and sternness he defended his political and military acts of severity in Cuba, showing that he deemed them vitally necessary, and they were justified by the results they produced. So much was this the case he declared, that had he been allowed six months longer he would have entirely crushed the insurrection, and would have realized the promise he made to Senor Canovas Del Castillo, that by April, 1898, he would be in a position to offer his 50,000 veterans to attack the United States.

General Weyler severely criticized the Home Rule policy in Cuba, and the time selected for decreeing it; and he concluded a passionate appeal for a display of energy, urging the Government to take the offensive vigorously on both land and sea, as remaining on the defensive was "the worst possible policy with such an enemy."

WORLD-WIDE HAPPENINGS AS TELEGRAPHED THE TIMES

SHIP FOR UNCLE SAM.

Montreal, May 1.—In accordance with the report of the United States Naval Commissioners, who inspected the Beaver Line Steamship Lake Ontario on her trip from Quebec to Montreal yesterday, the Government has made an offer to the Beaver Line Co., for the purchase of the ship.

Mr. Campbell, the general manager of the company for Canada, when interviewed this morning, stated that the offer would be accepted, and the ship turned over to the United States Government as soon as she discharges her cargo, unless the British Government should protest against the transfer as a violation of the neutrality laws.

PAID 5 PER CENT.

Birmingham, Eng., May 1.—The annual meeting of the City of Birmingham tramways was held here yesterday, James Ross, the chairman, presiding.

A five per cent. divident was declared, and £33,000 carried to the reserve.

The shareholders unanimously endorsed the negotiations carried on with the city, and condemned the action of the city authorities in their policy of delaying the granting of new leases.

BODY IN A MANGER.

Kingston, May 1.—Early yesterday morning, Mr. Pringle, a Camden farmer, entered the American hotel stables to stall his horses. He turned over the hay in a manger, and was horrified to turn up the decomposing body of a man crushed into the box.

The remains proved to be those of John Eaton, pensioner, aged 60, who, while intoxicated, had evidently fallen into the manger, while sitting on it, and had been smothered, being unable to regain his balance.

He had copies of Chicago papers in his pockets of April 3 and 6. The coroner thinks the body had been in the manger for three weeks. He will hold an inquest.

The stall was unused, save when business was brisk, and this accounts for the find only this morning.

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

MORROW.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—The Journal's correspondent with the fleet telegraphs that an officer of the Puritan says Matanzas is to be attacked again Tuesday and it is also stated from another source that Havana will be shelled at same time.

KILLING MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

Shanghai, May 1.—Despatches received from Manilla by the Shanghai Gazette say the capital of the Philippine Islands is short of food and ammunition. It is said that natives are already looting and killing in the provinces—Spanish women and children being among the victims; but the priests are the special objects of the native people's vengeance, about a dozen priests having been killed during the past week.

A SCHEME FOR INDEPENDENCE.

London, May 1.—A Hong Kong despatch to the Evening News says the Philippine insurgents have submitted a scheme for independence to Commodore Dewey.

FAMINE PRICES FOR FOOD.

Shanghai, May 1.—Famine prices for food are said to prevail at Manila and it is claimed the Spanish authorities are maintaining order with difficulty. People are burying their valuables to prevent their seizure by the insurgents or Americans.

No discrimination will be made between Spaniards and other foreigners by the military authorities who are endeavoring to put a bold front on the situation.

Madrid, May 1.—2.30 p.m.—It is reported that the British Channel squadron is going to the Canaries.

SPANISH SQUADRON ON THE MOVE

Madrid, May 1.—2 p.m.—The Spanish squadron is said to have left Lubic Bay.

INFESTED WITH SPANISH SPIES.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—A report says that officials have received information which leads them to believe that Washington is, during the war, to be infested with Spanish spies. The importance of this information if true, is due not so much to the fear of what the spies may learn, as there is but little, if any, likelihood of their learning anything relating to the preparations and intentions of the Government than the public learn through the newspapers. But the possibility that the spies may have recourse to the tricks of unscrupulous anarchists is what imparts real value to this information. "It would probably seem incredible to the great majority of Americans that Spaniards would resort to such despicable methods of warfare," said a Secret Service official this morning, "but there is no reason for their incredulity when one thinks of the Maine. The blowing up of the White House or the Treasury or the Army and Navy Building is on the same plane as the Maine outrage."

This official said that information received had resulted in an increase of the Secret Service force and the adoption of the greatest possible preventative measures against the success of any such plot. The secret officials are loth to speak of the matter and most of them either deny knowledge of it or make light of it on account of the bureau's disinclination to give out anything either to put the spies on their guard or to excite the nervous citizens of the district.

In consequence service officials have been stationed in and around the White House grounds, as well as at the different public buildings, as well as a large number of Secret Service men in citizens' clothes, with instructions to scrutinize every unknown person who comes near and to make suspicious looking ones give an account of themselves.

FOR SCOUTING DUTY.

New York, May 1.—The United States auxiliary cruisers St. Louis and Harvard, which have been anchored off Thompkinsville for the past few days, ready for sailing, raised their anchors at an early hour this morning and passed on to sea. That they have been directed to leave before taking on their main batteries' guns indicates that they will not go out on an expedition to capture merchant ships of the enemy off the coast of Spain. They will do the same work as that assigned to the regular naval cruisers Columbia and Minneapolis. All these flyers will make trips far out to sea, watching for the appearance of Spanish warships. They are capable of such great speed that no vessel owned by Spain could overtake them, except the torpedo-boat destroyers attacted to the squadron which left St. Vincent to-day, and as the destroyers cannot do effective work with their explosives in a seaway they are not feared by the big cruisers, except close inland. Besides, the rapid-fire guns of the five vessels detailed for scout duty could make short work of the destroyers, which are not well earned.

WILL BE PUT ON SCOUT DUTY.

New York, May 1.—The American Line steamer Paris had a rough winter passage of seven days, seventeen hours and forty-five minutes; nine saloon, forty-two second cabin and ninety steerage passengers. The Paris left Southampton at 2.05 . m., April 22. After clearing the land Captain Watkins shaped his course about north, and after a run of thirty miles headed for home, keeping a distance of about thirty miles from the usual course taken in previous trips. Capt. Watkins had no fear that a Spanish war vessel would catch the fleet Paris after she got sea room, but it was thought possible that some craft of the enemy might be lurking in the vicinity of the channel, or the neighborhood of the Irish Coast, to waylay the American craft. At night every light on board the Paris was extinguished, and dead lights were covered. Strict watch was maintained to detect the approach of vessels. The Paris brought sixteen cases of munitions of war and a small quantity of miscellaneous merchandise. It is expected that the Paris will discharge her cargo to-day and will be received by the naval authorities to-morrow when her name will be changed to "Yale."

After discharging her cargo the Paris will be taken to the navy yard. The commandant has been instructed to place six-pounder guns on her at once and to make use of his entire working force to get her ready for sea as soon as possible. When the guns are in position she will join the cruiser Harvard and begin scout duty.

BURNING PLANTATIONS.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 1.—The German steamer Remus, from Hamburg for Baltimore, touched at Port Antonio yesterday and landed 441 German, Cuban, British and American refugees from Santiago de Cuba. The refugees are largely women and children and many of them are persons of refinement. The refugees confirm the report that the Spaniards are abandoning the small cities and the plantations which they have been guarding, burning the latter before leaving them. The insurgents' activity has greatly increased recently, evidently owing to the news they have received from the United States, and they are raiding up to the very outworks of Santiago de Cuba and Guantanamo. The city of Santiago de Cuba, when the refugees left, was in a state of semi-panic, fearing the blockade of the port by the United States fleet. There were about 15,000 Spanish troops in the vicinity. But food, excepting army supplies, was running low. The agents of the insurgents communicated immediately with the city of Santiago de Cuba.

SPANISH SPY MAY BE SHOT.

New Orleans, May 1.—John Waltz was arrested by the members of the New Orleans naval battalion and imprisoned on suspicion of being a Spanish spy. Upon him were found a book containing minutely written descriptions of the fortifications at Forts St. Philip and Jackson. A commission will be named to try him and it is probable he will be shot.

RUSSIANS ARE BITTER.

London, May 1.—The Moscow correspondent of The Standard says: "Public opinion in Russia, so far as it is expressed, sympathizes with Spain. Apart from admiration of the courage that ventures upon a conflict with an overwhelmingly superior antagonist, Russia has received a severe blow in the supposed friendly agreement between the United States and England. The Russians do not forget placing their fleet at the disposal of the North in the war secession in 1861, and they are bitterly aggrieved that the United States is not equally mindful of their service now."

NAVAL BATTLE MAY HAVE BEEN FOUGHT.

New York, April 30.—A special despatch to the World from Singapore, Straits Settlement, says: "The naval battle between the United States and Spanish fleets on the Pacific has already been fought off the Philippine Islands. This is the report current here."

WILL AVERT DEFEAT DEFEAT AS LONG AS POSSIBLE.

New York, April 30.—The World's Madrid special says: Spain will bend her every energy to postpone as long as possible the defeat she knows is inevitable. Her only hope is European interference.

REPORTED SPANISH SUCCESS.

London, April 30.—It is officially announced in Madrid that a Spanish gunboat has again been engaged successfully with an American torpedo boat off Cardenas.

TO MAKE A DESCENT NEAR MANILLA.

London, April 30.—A Hong Kong despatch says: "Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, and his colleagues are elaborating a plan to make a descent in force near Manilla."

AN OPOINION FROM BISMARCK.

The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: Prince Bismarck thinks Germany ought not to bind her hands by a neutral declaration. Germany must interfere instantly and energetically the moment her interests demand it.

ASHBURNHAM'S HEALTH

Medical Health Officer, Dr. Clarke, Presents the Annual Report of the Board of Health

Ashburnham Board of Health met last night. There were present J. H. Smith presiding, and Messrs. Frank Adams, J. F. Wright and A. McCarthy.

Medical Health Officers Report

Dr. Olark, Medical Health Officer, presented the following report:

To the Chairman and Members of the Ashburnham Board of Health:

Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in recording that the sanitary condition of the village during the year 1897 has been satisfactory, the death rate being a slight fraction above 14 per thousand. This does not include deaths occurring at St. Joseph's Hospital in cases where patients are removed there from outside municipalities, although such deaths have to be registered here. The ratio of infectious diseases has been very small, with the exception of measles, of which a large number of cases occurred but with no fatal results. Two cases of diphtheria occurred with one death, and two of typhoid fever, both comparatively mild. There was no scarlet fever, but three deaths occurred from consumption, which is now classed by all medical authorities as an infectious disease. Isolation and disinfection have been carried out as thoroughly as possible in accordance with the requirements of the statute with the same good results as have always been found to follow such measures.

The removal of garbage and excreta has been very well attended to. The clause of the act relating to the cleaning of privy vaults is better looked after each year and instructions have been given to use disinfectants where necessary. Manure heaps are sometimes allowed to attain too large proportions and consequently pollute the air in certain kinds of weather. We have had to be particular about places where refuse matter is dealt in as a business, and considerable improvements have been made. Slaughter houses have been inspected from time to time and have very seldom been a cause of complaint. A few hog pens were found in outlying parts of the village and these were ordered to be kept in accordance with the clauses of the Public Health Act relating thereto.

In our inspections we came across places, sometimes, too, in the centre of thickly habited parts where people did not appear to understand the first principles of sanitation, and where dirt prevailed both inside and outside. Wells were in the worst possible condition, admitting of contamination hourly. This state of affairs is enough to give typhoid fever or diphtheria to a whole community. The end and aim of health work is to teach and have carried out in practice proper ideas as to purity of air, water, food, cleanliness of the person and of the dwelling, etc., thus making the individual and the nation healthier, wealthier and happier. Much of the charity dispensed by municipalities is for the relief of suffering caused by preventable illness.

Inspections have been made several times of St. Joseph's Hospital and the Public School buildings. Every effort is made to keep these places in good sanitary condition. Samples of drinking water have been brought to me frequently for analysis, and when too impure to be safe for use the proper remedy has been pointed out.

Regarding consumption, a disease which is occupying the attention of Boards of health all over the world. Three deaths, as I mentioned, occurred during the year from that cause, and therefore it should be considered in sanitary measures. It appears in families who never had it before. It has been proved beyond doubt that "it can be caught." Being infectious, it is therefore preventable. I do not know that there is much to recommend to you except increased general sanitary vigilance along the lines already indicated. Judicious street watering to keep down dust is important. Dust in town is far more dangerous than dust on country roads. One eminent investigator found in a cubic yard of air from the top of mountains but one microbe, but in the centre of Paris he found 79,000 in the same space. Of course, many of these are quite harmless, but the figures indicate the difference between town and country air.

I consider the sanitary condition of the village very satisfactory and hope it will be continued during the present year. The chairman and members of the Board and Council have taken a good deal of interest in the work and repeatedly given valuable suggestions.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,

J. CLARKE, M. D.,
Medical Health Officer.

The report was adopted as read.

Easter Millinery Booming

To say that we've started to be busy in Millinery hardly expresses the idea of the big rush of past days—so far trade is doubling up on last year, and though our staff of trimmers and saleswomen has been increased, we think it necessary to warn those who intend to order an Easter Hat or Bonnet here, that it will be the part of wisdom to see to the matter at once—this week if possible.

SPANIARDS IN A TRAP

The U. S. Navy Department Sending Out Orders and Otherwise Preparing for Another Great Naval Battle—Next Engagement will Probably be Fought at Porto Rico—Why the Spaniards Lost the Battle of Manila.

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL LANDING

New York, May 3.—A Key West despatch to the Evening Post says: Another successful landing has been made in Cuba, Lieut. Morin, engineer, having been able to join the army of Gomez and assist it in work connected with the preparations for the invasion and advance on Havana to-day. It appears that within a short time a large force of American regulars will have followed him, and the intention of the Government to wage a brisk and businesslike campaign in Cuba is made plain. For a week the blockading squadron has been examining the coast and making maps and memoranda of the fortifications, new and old, and drawing new charts of the adjacent waters.

HEAVY FIRING OFF CAPE RACE

St. Johns, N'f'l., May 3.—The telegraph operators at Cape Race and Trepassey, on the south coast of this island report having heard heavy firing of guns in the offing on Saturday night. The firing lasted 15 minutes, and, to the operators conveyed the impression that the ships were engaged in a sea fight. The telegraph wires have since been interrupted and no further news has been obtainable. The firing is described as having been heavy enough to shake houses in the vicinities mentioned. All possible steps have been taken to obtain, if possible, confirmation of these reports.

TERRIBLE CONDITION OF SPANISH TROOPS

Mobile, May 3.—The American bark, John R Stanhope, is in port from Honduras. Since she left Mobile last time the vessel has been in Manzanilla on the southeast coast of Cuba, which port Captain P. V. Marshall left on March 26th, and the master tells a surprising story to the Associated Press representative, of the military conditions existing there, being verified by the mate, Thomas Coburn. A cavalryman, who could converse in good English, told them that there were 40,000 Spanish soldiers in the city, and that eight hundred had died during the week the Stanhope was there, of neglect and want. From the same source Captain Marshall learned that the troops were so discontented with their treatment that they would willingly go over to the insurgents, but the insurgents distrusted them and refused all overtures for such a union. The troops were quartered in the streets, and at night slept under verandas and in doorways. They demanded accomodation from the citizens, but it was refused them and they were powerless to enforce it. The rations for a day consisted of barley water, a small portion of bread and a small piece of pork. This was dished out by officers and carried away, all in the same dish, and the soldiers devoured it like ravenous dogs. They were ragged and dirty in appearance, unsoldierly in bearing and discipline and their courage had been killed by viscissitudes and ill-treatment. One night, on the outskirts of the city, Mate Coburn saw soldiers huddled together like animals on the floor of an old stable. The mortality among the soldiery is the result of their condition and not of the climate. "American troops need have no fear" said the mate, "While the terrible mortality is not exaggerated in the despatches to this counrty there are more deaths from starvation and its concommitant diseases than from any climate maladies." From the best information obtainable Captain Marshall is of the opinion that the whole of the 40,000 troops driven into Manzanilla from the province of Santiago De Cuba by the insurgents are only waiting a favorable opportunity to openly revolt.

TURKEY NEUTRAL

Constantinople, May 3.—The Porte has notified United States Minister Angell that Turkey will maintain strict neutrality in the war between Spain and the United States. The American legation has received more than 2,000 offers of volunteers for the American navy—chiefly Greeks—some of whom declare themselves ready to pay their fare to the United States in grateful remembrance of America's aid in the Greek War of Independence

A BRUSH OFF CINEFUEGOS

Atlanta, Ga., May 3.—A special from Key West to the Journal says: "The Marblehead has arrived with the Argonata, the Nashville's prize. While the Nashville was away trying to capture a mail steamer two Spanish gunboats came out and attacked the Marblehead. The Hornet returned the fire, the Marblehead coming into the action soon after. After firing broadside the Spaniards turned about. Captain McCalla thinks he sank one of the Spaniards and probably both. The firing occurred off Cienfuegos.

CRITICIZING THE GOVERNMENT

Madrid, May 3.—noon.—An article written by General Weyler has appeared in a newspaper at Palma, capital of the Island of Majorica, where the General was born and where his home is situated. The General says that if the Government had been prepared Spain would now be covered with glory. Continuing, General Weyler asserts that "the Spanish army and navy are superior in discipline to the Yankees, whose lack of discipline was manifested in the loss of the Maine." General Weyler then accused the Spanish Government of weakness and concluded with making pessimistic predictions regarding the future.

SPANIARDS ARE IN A TRAP.

Washington, May 3.—The Navy Department is sending out orders and otherwise preparing for another great naval battle. The next engagement of the war will probably be fought off Porto Rico within a week. The Navy Department has received a cipher cablegram from St. Vincent, Cape de Verde Islands, which leaves no doubt in the minds of naval officials that the Spanish fleet sailed for Porto Rico, which was cunningly left open in the hope that its seeming safety would entice the Spanish fleet across the Atlantic. As soon as scouting vessels bring news to the Atlantic coast of the approach of the Spanish vessels Commodore Schley's squadron and the best of the fighting ships in Admiral Samson's fleet at Havana will be despatched to Porto Rico to engage the enemy.

WITHIN THE LION'S JAWS.

Key West, May 3.—The British cruiser Talbot, from Bermuda, arrived off Havana yesterday afternoon and sent a boat alongside the Montgomery, the acting flagship, with a message that she intended visiting Havana unless the blockading squadron considered that their interests would be adversely affected by her so doing. Commander Converse, of the Montgomery, replied that there was no objection on his part, and the British warship steamed into the harbor, her crew cheering the American sailors as they parted. The commander of the Talbot declared that he did not expect to remain at the Cuban capital, but meant to send a launch to see the British consul and would afterwards proceed to Key West. He will probably bring away British subjects who desire to leave Havana.

WILL NEVER SURRENDER.

London, May 3.—It is announced in a special despatch from Madrid that there is no idea of surrender there, either in Ministerial circles, or among the populace. On the contrary, it is added, the war is to be pushed with greater vigor. The Spanish authorities intend to throw the whole naval strength into one united supreme effort against the United States.

WHY THE SPANIARDS LOST.

London, May 3.—It appears that Admiral Montejo was taken altogether by surprise, and that the Spanish authorities generally were in a state of utter unreadiness. The forts were not completed, the harbors were not mined, there were no searchlights, and the American squadron was only sighted after it had already passed the outer and principal forts. On every side is heard praise of the skill and daring displayed by Commodore Dewey in a situation where, if anything had miscarried, he would have been caught in a most desperate position. At the same time credit is given Admiral Montejo who had a wretched fleet and stood no chance except from the assistance he might receive from the forts. The American vessels, however, by moving to and fro, were easily able to avoid the badly directed fire from the forts, and looking to all the circumstances, it is apparent that the American fleet could have received but slight damage.

WON'T HAND OVER WEST INDIES.

London May 3.—Naval and military experts of the first rank are very chary about expressing opinions on the capture of Manila. Lord Charles Beresford, when asked as to the newspaper suggestions for an Anglo-American deal over the Philippines, replied: "We have quite enough on our hands without the Philippines and as for the suggested exchange for Jamaica, Bermudas or other West Indian Islands, we would not hear of it, besides Manila would be no good to us as a naval base, being too far removed from the scene of action in the far East. Chusan would be far more to our purpose. There can be little doubt that any proposal to haul down the British flag in the West Indies, however valuable the suggested quid pro quo, would be hotly resented in many quarters here.

Hon. James Bryce, when interviewed, expressed strongly the view that the United States would make a great mistake in retaining any transmarine possessions. He could give no opinion on Manila, but was surprised that anyone should talk seriously of Britain taking over the Philippines.

STOPPED BY THE WARSHIP.

Nassau, N.P., May 3.—The British steamship Ironapolis, from Cardiff for Havana with 3,000 tons of coal, was not allowed to enter the harbor at Havana and has returned here for orders.

A BRUSH IN CUBAN WATERS.

New York, May 3.—(Special to The World, Toronto.)—A Key West special to the press from the despatch boat with the blockading squadron off Cuba says: The gunboat Nashville, while cruising off the southern coast, sighted the Spanish mail steamer Argonata at 2.30 last Friday, making for Cienfuegos. The Argonata made a desperate effort to reach the harbor, but the Nashville headed her off, and sent a solid shot over her bow, so close that her engines were at once reversed. A number of Spanish gunboats watched the chase from behind the guns of Fort Angeles. A torpedo boat and eight gun boats steamed boldly to the rescue, heading for the Nashville. The cruiser Marblehead, and the Eagle, one of the Mosquito fleet, went to the Nashville's assistance, the Marblehead opening fire on the advancing Spanish boats at long range just as they had begun to fire on the Nashville. The Marblehead and Eagle did effective work, and so damaged three boats in the first line that they fell back to their consorts. Then all nine showed their sterns and scurried back into the narrow harbor under the guns of the forts. Twenty-nine prisoners of war were taken on the Argonata, including Colonel Vincenzo de Curtyo, of the third cavalry of Principe and his staff. The Spanish mails, believed to contain many important military despatches, were also seized. The men on the Nashville are jubilant over the good luck. The first shot of the war was fired from her deck at the Buena Ventura, and now she has captured the most important prize of the blockade.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

London, May 3.—Admiral Montigo was taken by surprise. The Spanish authorities were in a state of unreadiness. The American squadron was not sighted until it had passed the outer and principal forts. On every side, in England is heard praise of the skill and daring displayed by Commodore Dewey. It is apparent that the American fleet could have received but little damage. The sending of three German men of war to the Philippines is much criticised.

MARTIAL LAW.

Madrid, May 3.—2 a.m.—The mob tried to break into the Apollo Theatre last night and hold a manifestation. The police interfered. All the windows in the building were broken before the crowd was dispersed. Martial Law has been proclaimed and the streets are occupied by police and civil guards.

END OF THE WAR IN SIGHT.

New York, N.Y., May 3.—The steamship Yale, formerly the American liner Paris, has sailed under sealed orders. A special cable to the World from Rome says: Admiral Berin, Minister of Marine, said: "The Spaniards have thus effectively proved their unpreparedness. The conclusion of the war is now within sight.

MANILA CAPITULATES.

New York, N.Y., May 3.—World special from London says: An unconfirmde cable has been received that a report was current in the House of Commons at midnight that an official telegram has been received by the foreign office from the British Consul-General at Manila announcing the capitulation of Manilla.

AN IMPOSSIBILITY.

London, May 3.—The Eastern Telegraph Company announces that it is impossible for any word to have come from Manila since 10 o'clock yesterday morning, London time.

CABLE CUT.

London, May 3.—Tests from Hong Kong show the cable was cut fifty miles from Manila. Two weeks may elapse before it is repaired.

AMERICANS DID THE CUTTING.

Paris, May 3.—It is reported here that an American war ship cut the Manila cable and took an end on board for the purpose of communication.

WAR WILL NOT LAST LONG.

London, May 3.—The stock exchange interprets the news as meaning the war will not last long. Consols show improvement and money is plentiful.

SPAIN EVACUATES BAYAMO.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 3. — The Spaniards have evacuated Bayamo, an important town of Santiago de Cuba. It is occupied by Insurgent forces.

FEAR SPANISH REPRISALS.

New York, May 3.—The Herald's Washington special says: Secretary Long has taken measures to relieve the United States fleet in the Pacific of any embarrassment it might feel for want of coal. Fearing an attack upon the sea-ports of the North Atlantic coast by the Spanish men-of-war now on their way to western waters steps have been taken to further improve the sea coast defence. It is stated upon excellent authority that the Administration believes the Spanish men-of-war will appear at some port on the coast and attempt to retaliate for the loss of the Philippine Islands.

GERMAN DREAMS OF AGGRANDISEMENT.

New York, May 3.—World's special from London says: England has been surprised by Commodore Dewey's victory. The splendid seamanship and valor of Commodore Dewey in forcing an entrance into Manila harbor excite intense admiration. Lord Charles Beresford said to-night: "It was a brilliant stroke. Everything, as I said to you before, depends upon the man in modern naval warfare."

Sir Charles Dilke said: "The United States possession of the Philippines raises numerous important and delicate points for the consideration of the powers and I should not be surprised if eventually the United States secured the valuable good-will of Japan by handing over the Philippines to them."

Sir John Colomb on the point said: "It is an event of enormous international importance. I should not be surprised if the German Emperor was spurred to some startling action by the prospect of his dream of possession of the Philippines being shattered by the American triumph. He has a big squadron in China seas, with his brother in command, and we may hear of some significant move on the part of that squadron within a day or two."

MADRID CELEBRATES.

Madrid, May 2.—(4 p.m.)—The celebrations in honor of the Spanish officers Ruiz, Daoiz, and Velardos, the victims of Murat's massacre, have proceeded to-day as usual, in spite of the bad news from the Philippines. The streets were packed, but there was no outward display of sorrow.

The procession passed off amid glorious sunshine, but there were no patriotic speeches. The minds of the people are too full of the disaster to think of anything but avenging the surprise at Manila Bay.

Senor Aguilera, the Civil Governor of Madrid, did not take part in the procession. All his energies were required to watch closely popular feeling, which is certain to explode and to require a propitiatory scapegoat.

In political circles, however, important developments are hourly expected. Senor Romero Robledo, leader of the Weylerite party, will interpolate the Government in Congress to-morrow on the events at Manila, and the Carlists and Republicans will participate in the debate, which is expected to have important results.

It is asserted that the burning of the Reina Maria Christina was due to American petroleum bombs, and that a number of thatched huts belonging to natives were set on fire in the same way.

After the bull fight to-night sensational news may be expected.

El Imparcial says it believes the formation of a national Ministry is possible.

The greatest importance is attached to to-night's Cabinet Council, at which, it is expected, a decision will be reached as to the reply to be made to the request of Captain-General Augusti for instructions.

WAR FOR CONQUEST

It is pretty generally admitted that the United States was forced into the war by the jingo and yellow journal elements and now it will be interesting to watch how far these elements so powerful in the Republic, will prevail to keep the United States embroiled before it finally subsides into its original exclusiveness.

As has already been pointed out, the United States went into this war despite the warnings of the Powers, asserting its humanitarian purpose and disclaiming all intentions of conquest or annexation. Under these circumstances it can certainly not consistently annex Cuba; the retention of the Philippines would be a violation of the spirit of the Monroe doctrine, while the Powers would scarcely be likely to permit it as a menace to their interests in the East.

But already the jingoes and yellow journals are discussing the disposition of the Philippines. Washington officials are represennted as saying that:

> It is possible, when a treaty of peace is signed the Philippines will be an excellent thing to trade for some other concession. Insurgents in the islands would naturally object to again being governed by Spain. The withdrawal by the United States from the Philippines would mean their immediate seizure by Japan or one of the great European powers, and it is possible the insurgents may prefer to live under the Stars and Stripes. Final disposition of the Philippines, however, has not been determined on.

Clearly, the jingoes have already forgotten their humanitarian declarations. They forced the United States into a war for humanity; will they be able to also make it a war for conquest?

THE PLEBISCITE BILL

The government has done the honest thing, says the Ottawa Citizen, in not burdening the ballot to be used in the plebiscite on prohibition with any other questions than the one, viz: "Are you in favor of the passage of an act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wines, ales, beer, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages?" It is true that the question of how to make up for the deficit consequent upon prohibition is one that ought to be considered along with the direct question of prohibition. So also is it desirable to obtain the verdict of the people as to their views regarding the wisdom and justice of granting compensation to those whose vested rights are to be injured by the passage of a prohibitory law. But the government could not place these questions on the ballot without laying themselves open to the charge of dishonesty towards their temperance friends. The Liberal party pledged itself to have a plebiscite, so as to ascertain the wishes of the people on the question of prohibition. It did not pledge itself to have a plebiscite to ascertain the wishes of the people as to the best means of meeting the deficit which would be caused by prohibition. If a plebiscite on the former question were to be linked with a plebiscite on the latter, the Liberals would rightly be charged by their temperance friends with placing on the prohibition ballot an argument against prohibition. Some members of the government favored it, nevertheless, but the Liberal caucus was against it.

We do not believe that the Liberal party as represented in parliament is enamored of prohibition. The plebiscite was placed in their platform by a few temperance Liberals like Mr. F. S. Spence. It was allowed to go on because it was thought that it might have a drawing effect on the temperance vote, and no doubt the hope was indulged that in some way the Liberal government might be able to evade it. But the temperance people have been insistent, and, although they have had to wait longer than they expected, they have lived to see the bill introduced. They probably will have to wait still longer because the date has not yet been fixed. Then again, the vote is to be taken under the Franchise Act of 1898, [illegible] does not yet exist. If the Franchise Bill now before the House should be withdrawn or defeated, how about the plebiscite? Besides, the government has not yet stated whether it will insist on a majority of the recorded or the total vote of the Dominion, nor does it expressly state what degree of prohibition it will enact should a sufficient majority be recorded in favor of a prohibitory law. Hence we say that, although the temperance friends of the Liberal party have lived to see a plebiscite bill introduced, they are still far distant from the passage and enforcement of a prohibitory law.

Future presidents of the United States are being manufactured in this war.

Russia it appears, thinks the United States "ungrateful" because that country is not showing a friendly feeling towards Great Britain. But what has Russia ever done for the United States? As a leading American journal said the other day the alleged "traditional friendship" between Russia and the States never existed outside of official documents." And an alliance between a half-civilized despotism and the republic would be more unnatural than unfriendliness between Britain and her great offspring.

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

Tries a New Remedy for Rheumatism

We read in the New York Herald.

Polynice Oil, the new remedy for rheumatism and similar diseases, which, as already related in the Herald, was applied at Bellevue Hospital by Dr. Alexandre, who represents Dr. Mabille, of Paris, the discoverer of the remedy, has already in many of the cases experimented upon at the Bellevue hospital dispensary achieved all and more than was claimed for it. The physicians have been as much astonished as pleased with the results of the experiments and an authoritative acknowledgement of the indebtedness of the medical works of Dr. Mabille may soon be looked for.

The most obstinate cases, it is understood, have yielded readily to the treatment. Patients who have been afflicted with lumbago for 20 years have exhibited improvement after a single application.

The most remarkable results, however, were achieved in a case where the patient treated had been a sufferer from aggravated rheumatism, which affected the tendons of the legs so that he was unable to touch the ground with his heels. One application relieved him to such an extent that he is now able to use his limbs in a natural manner.

THANKFUL FOR HIS CURE.

In this connection the following letter may be of interest to the physicians who are experimenting with Dr. Mabille's remedy:

To the Editor of the Herald:

I read in your last Sunday's number about the Polynice Oil. Having previously heard of the virtues of said oil from friends, I was one of the first to be treated last Wednesday at Bellevue Hospital. I had been suffering from rheumatism for several years and after using all kinds of medicines without results Polynice Oil has done it for me, and I am altogether rid of the painful sickness after a first treatmnet. Wishing to thank the specialist for the burden of pain he has lifted from my shoulders, I have called at the hospital, but the authorities could not give me his address, and I therefore beg to be allowed the liberty of your hospitable columns to convey to him my most sincere thanks.

Very truly yours,
E. L. Pavillard.
Martinsville, Somerset County, N.J.

We read in the New York World:

A new treatment for rheumatism and kindred troubles is being experimented with by three physicians at Bellevue.

It is a discovery of a Dr. Mabille of Paris. There, it is said, it was practiced with remarkably successful results.

Wednesday they began experiments. Fifteen persons were treated.

The first patient bared his back. The oil was applied. The man returned yesterday.

"I've had forty years of lumbago," he said, "and this is my first relief."

Other patients were treated. Some came back yesterday to see the others treated and to receive a final treatment. One was a woman who has had neuralgia of the tongue for six months so bad that her mouth had to be sprayed with cocaine before she could take her liquid food. Her jaw had been treated by the new method.

"Yesterday," she said, "was the first time I have eaten solid food for six months. The pain is nearly gone."

A man whose knee was stiff from rheumatism said he could move it. Not one of those treated failed to experience relief.

Polynice-Oil is the only remedy that has been experimented with with so remarkable success in the hospitals of Paris New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Civic hospital, Montreal, etc., etc. Sent upon the receipt of the price, 50 cents, in a money-order, by Dr. A. Alexandre, specialist, from Paris, 1218 G. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. U.S.

Will it cure you? It has cured thousands like you. Why not you?

DAY OF THE CLIPPER PAST.

So the Stunsail Has Disappeared For Good From Most American Ships

"Stunsails out of fashion?" said the skipper as he puffed vigorously at his pipe, which has been around the Horn almost as many times as its owner. "Well, they may be, but it is because false economy has abolished them on American ships. However, an old shipmate of mine who is a bit of a crank and left the sea the other day, still carries a topmast studding sail. It may be for sentimental reasons, just as a Confederate veteran might display the flag under which he went to battle, but stunsails are just as practical today as ever.

"'Studding sail,' you say? Oh, yes. Studding sail may be literally correct, but Jack says 'stunsail.' He objects to multiplying participles and words with long endings. He wants brevity all the time—in everything perhaps except rum. The corruption of language by sailors is proverbial. Stunsail may be a corruption of studding sail. But studding sail itself is a corruption of steadying sail or steering sail, which in my opinion was the original term. The stunsail, although used only in moderate weather, was a driving sail. Our yachts carry stunsails today in the form of the immense side sail that is called the spinnaker.

"It costs to fit a ship with a suit of stunsails. Their use means extra labor for the crew, or a larger crew, and their storage takes valuable cargo room. This means expense for the ship, which her earnings in these days of railroads and ocean tramps do not warrant. The cargoes that sailing vessels carry today do not demand quick transportation, with its high freight rates. The modern sailing ship is little better than a floating warehouse. It is not driven. Spars and canvas are not pressed as they were before the advent of the steamship. Sailing a ship to make a short passage is one of the lost arts. There is no demand for auxiliary canvas such as stunsails. The Yankee clipper is out of it—defunct.

"Away back in the middle of the century the stars and stripes floated over ships that were really clippers below and aloft. In competition with one another and with foreign craft our clippers carried valuable cargoes—tea from China, coffee from Rio and fancy merchandise to San Francisco. The steamships do the tea and coffee carrying now. It was not in those days a go as you please run. The clippers were under orders to get there to catch the top of a market. Hours saved on their voyages, long though they were, meant many dollars for all concerned. Ships were driven then with canvas that fairly smothered them in fair weather and foul, and Yankee seamanship, with its characteristic judgment and nerve, was recognized and rewarded.

"But all this is merely a memory now. I can fancy the clipper of the fifties coming head on, rising against the clear sky of the lower latitudes, her sails mounting above the blue horizon, tier upon tier—skyscrapers, moonrakers, cloud cleaners—a snow white pyramid, an angel's footstool, as Jack says. Did they carry stunsails? Aye, up to the royal yards."—New York Sun.

Silly Modern Magic.

I understand that astrology recognizes no difference in the relative merits of the two forms. The chief essential to success in using the crystal ball is great concentration. A north light is recommended, for reasons I am unable to explain, but is not absolutely necessary. You recline in an easy attitude, hold the ball up to the light, and center your mind upon it until you see something; that which you see is going to happen. My knowledge of this particular matter is so slender that I will say no more about it.

That crystal balls have their sincere believers would seem to be proved by the prices they command. The richest man or woman does not pay 30 sovereigns for a sphere of crystal the size of a lawn tennis ball unless he or she confidently anticipates some return for the money.—Chambers' Magazine.

A Mountain of Basalt.

There is a mountain of dark brown basalt on the Columbia river nearly 2,000 feet in height and stretching along the stream for six or eight miles. When the white settlers first came into the country, the Indians told them this mountain was traveling; that some day it would move across the Columbia and form a lake which would reach from the cascades to The Dalles. What the Indians said has been found true in some respects. The mountain is in motion. Its movement is forward and downward. The railroad builders who constructed their line along the base found the tracks continually forced out of place. In some places the movement has amounted to eight and ten feet in a few years. Geologists attribute the phenomenon to the fact that the mountain rests on a substratum of conglomerate or of soft sandstone, which is steadily being washed away by the current of the big river.—New York Tribune.

Black and White.

The Boston Budget says that a merchant who lives near Boston numbers among his acquaintances and friends an old colored preacher, by whom he was recently invited to make a Sunday morning call at the church over which the latter presides. The merchant, although wishing most heartily to accept the invitation and to bring his wife also, was somewhat in doubt as to the propriety of so doing. "I am afraid," he said in explanation, "that our presence would not be wholly pleasant to your congregation." The shepherd reassured him. 'Why, sah," he exclaimed, "dere's so many white folks in dat church some Sundays, mah congregashun looks like a han'ful of blueberries in a bowl of milk!"

No Inconsistency.

Hicks—Come, now, you profess to be a great lover of art, and yet you refuse to give anything toward the erection of this public statue.

Wicks—As you say, I am a great lover of art.—Boston Transcript.

His Wife Won.

A Georgia man, who was unpopular in his community, insured his life for $2,000. He took the policy home to his wife and said:

"Maria, here's a life insurance document for $2,000."

"Thank you, dear," said his wife. "How are you feeling today?"

"Not well," he replied, "and I don't think I am long for this world, and I want to say to you that when I die it is my wish that you devote $1,000 of the money to defraying my funeral expenses."

"Mercy on me," exclaimed the wife, "why do you want such an expensive funeral?"

"I'll explain. I'm perfectly satisfied that nobody will attend my funeral, and I want to hire people to go at so much a head. I'm going out today and see what arrangements I can make for attendants on that forthcoming melancholy occasion. If they won't come gratis, why—I'll just hire 'em an give 'em an order on you for the money."

He went forth and at nightfall returned with a dejected look.

"Maria," he said, "it's no use. You can have the whole $2,000. Just go to my funeral yourself."—Atlanta Constitution.

In His Line.

Miles—I see your friend Hawkins has another "selling out at cost" sign tacked up on the front of his store.

Giles—Yes. Do you know, I think Hawkins missed his vocation. He should have been a political campaign manager.

Miles—Why so?

Giles—He is continually nailing lies.—Chicago News.

250,000 CURED.

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by evil habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases. W. C. Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; memory poor; varicocele and weak parts; irritable; sinking spells; specks before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy; and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and sexually. It is a wonderful treatment."

SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

RESULTS OF THE BATTLE.

London, May 2.—Daily Mail correspondent at Madrid says: The Reina Maria Christina and the Castilla were totally burned and one vessel was purposely sunk, and the rest of the fleet badly damaged. The American fleet is believed to be much damaged.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF THE BATTLE

Madrid, May 2, via Paris.—The naval bureau at Manila sent the following account, signed by Montigo, Admiral: "In the middle of the night the American fleet forced the forts, and before daylight appeared off Cavite. The night was dark. At half past seven the Reina Maria Christina took fire. At 8 o'clock, with my staff, I went on board the Isla De Cuba. The Reina Maria Christina and the Castilla were then entirely enveloped in flames. The other ships having been damaged, retired. Some had to be sunk to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy. The losses are numerous—notably Captain Cadosso, a priest, and nine other persons."

COMPLETELY DEMOLISHED.

Madrid, May 2.—A Manila despatch says: Admiral Montego acknowledges that the Spanish fleet has been completely demolished. The British Consul at Manila has conferred with Commodore Dewey. The object of the conference is not known.

SPANIARDS FOUGHT SPLENDIDLY

London, May 2.—Madrid special says: that the Spaniards fought splendidly. Sailors refused to leave the burning and sinking ships. The captain of the Reina Christina went down with his ship.

FLEEING TO SAVE THEIR LIVES.

Madrid, May 2.—A Manilla despatch says: The population of Manilla is fleeing from the city.

EXTREME MILITARY PRECAUTIONS.

Madrid, May 2.—2.15 a. m.—Most extreme military precautions have been adopted to check the increasing public indignation at the disaster of the Spanish fleet off Manilla. The public blame the Government for lack of foresight.

NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION.

Washington, May 2.—Secretary Long up to 9.15 o'clock had not received a line from the Asiatic station. It is believed that the first news not from Spanish sources will be received by the British Foreign Office.

WILL AVENGE THE DEFEAT.

Madrid, May 2.—2.30 a. m.—The newspapers express a determination to avenge the defeat of the Spanish fleet.

BLOCKADE OF HAVANA CONTINUES.

On board the flagship New York, off Havana, May 1.—4. p. m., via Key West, May 2.—The blockade of Havana continues. The United States fleet are ten miles off Morro Castle.

BOMBARDMENT OF AMERICAN PORTS THREATENED.

London, May 2.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: Senor Costa Y Rossello, a Cuban deputy, passing through en route to Madrid said he believed that the bombardment of "an American port more important than Matanzas" would be untaken by the Spanish fleet.

COMPLETE DEFEAT ACKNOWLEDGED.

Madrid, May 2.—8.30 a. m.—The organ of the Spanish Premier admits the complete defeat of the Spanish.

DEMONSTRATION HOURLY EXPECTED.

Key West, May 2.—A demonstration by the fleet off the coast of Cuba is hourly expected.

NATIONAL GUARD GO INTO CAMP.

New York, May 2.—The National Guard volunteers left for Hampstead plains, L. I., and were given a great ovation.

SPANISH CUT CABLE AT MANILA.

London, May 2.—It is feared that the Spaniards have cut the cable at Manila.

INHABITANTS FLEEING.

New York, May 2.—A Hong Kong despatch says: "The bombardment of Manila has begun. The operators in the cable stations have fled to save their lives.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE BIG NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

New York, May 2.—(Special to The World.)—A Madrid special says: Fuller details are coming about the battle at Manilla. So far as can now be learned Commander Dewey passed the forts at the entrance of the bay just before dawn, under fire from the forts, to which he did not reply. At daybreak Fort Cavite opened fire with her heaviest guns and at once the Olympia fired her 8-inch forward cannon in reply.

The firing now became general. Admiral Montejo in the Renia Christina went boldly to meet the foe, engaging with the Olympia. He inflicted much injury, but his ship was set on fire and began to sink, when Admiral Montjoe left the flagship for the Isle De Cuba.

As the Admiral was leaving the captain was shot dead by his side and devoted men were falling all around him. The transfer of the flag was a deed of desperate daring, as all the ships of the Spanish fleet were under a terrible fire.

Meantime the fire of the forts forced the American ships, including the Olympia and Baltimore, to withdraw to the west of the bay, where the wounded men were sent ashore out of range of the Spanish fire. Then the Americans returned to the attack, making straight for the crippled Spanish ships. The Spanish gunners stood bravely by their guns and answered shot for shot. The large wooden cruiser Castilla caught fire. The Americans continued to pour shot into her, and to prevent the magazine from exploding the Spaniards scuttled her and the crew made for shore in boats and on pieces of shattered spars. Suddenly the Don Juan of Austria's magazine exploded, under a shot from the Americans, in a great burst of flame, and the ship sank. The Spanish gunboat Mendinao and the cruiser Don Antonio Ullo sustained heavy fire for an hour and then withdrew under the forts, seriously injured.

The crews of the Spanish gunboats showed great heroism. Seeing they were to fall into the hands of the enemy they sunk or set fire to their vessels and jumped into the sea. All this time the forts were firing at the American warships. The marksmanship was bad.

The American squadron remain in the harbor of Manilla, but it is believed they are not in condition to renew the attack to-morrow and must retire.

The Spanish fleet has been practically wiped out of existence. The vessels that have not been sunk or burned have either been captured, or driven to seek shelter close under the Krupp guns of the Manila batteries, where they will be taken later.

From all accounts two battles were fought, the first near the mouth of the bay and the second inside. It is probable that Commodore Dewey attacked the Spanish fleet in column formation and that they prepared to meet him in line of battle. Dewey cut the enemy's line in the middle and then turned all his attention to the wings. The Spanish wing not cut off in the first encounter, seeing the destruction wrought upon their consorts, made off up the bay under a fire from the Americans, who, by this time, were ready to deal with them. In the second encounter the Cavite forts maintained a steadier and stronger fire on the Americans than in the first engagement. Our vessels then had come closer to them in order to destroy the remnants of the Spanish squadron.

The Spanish ships not captured are either sunk or aground.

SALEM TO BE ATTACKED.

New York, May 1.—A Washington special says: The Government has reason to believe that if the Spanish fleet crosses the Atlantic one of the first places attacked will be Salem, Mass., where nearly 70,000 tons of coal is stored. Salem harbor is practically unprotected, having no shore batteries. This is believed to be one reason why the Columbia and Minneapolis were ordered to the New England coast. The coal would be badly needed by the Spaniards after the run across. Senor De Lome spent a great deal of time examining the coal pockets and wharves last summer while visiting Manchester.

New York, May 1.—A Key West special to the Journal says: Jose Yglesias, the Spanish spy who plotted to blow up the Puritan, was condemned to death by a drumhead court marshal and shot yesterday at sunset. Twelve bullets were fired into his body.

GERAT ENTHUSIASM.

Washington, May 1.—Washington is rejoiced to-night. Not since the dark days of the great civil conflict of a third of a century ago have the people of this city been so profoundly moved by war news as they were this evening.

The first battle of the Hispano-American war has been fought, and victory lies with Commodore Dewey's squadron.

That was enough to set the people of Washington almost in a frenzy of enthusiastic rejoicing. For days they in common with the people throughout the country, have been awaiting news from the Philippine Islands, as everything pointed to a battle at Manila that might be a decisive conflict of the war. When the news came indicating a victory for the American squadron the enthusiasm of the people was let loose, and the streets of the city have rung with cheers throughout the night.

The first news of the battle received in Washington came in a brief cablegram to the Associated Press from Madrid about 8 o'clock this evening. As the night wore on the cable continued to sing the news of victory for the squadron of Commodore Dewey, and the interest grew into tremendous excitement.

The evidence in the case proves Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, boils, humors and all eruptions.

NEARLY ALL MEN

experience a sexual weakness sooner or later in life. That kind of weakness comes both from abuses and from overwork. It is an affliction that may well be dreaded. It destroys ambition, and life becomes a burden. These weak men can be cured—no question about that. The flight of years can not be stopped, but healthful, natural feelings and powers can be restored. If those powers have been lost, our treatment and appliances will restore them beyond a doubt.

OUR FREE OFFER

In order to show our implicit faith in our treatment, we will send our medicines and appliances for a free trial of ten days to all men whose sexual vigor is gone and whose organs are small. Not a dollar is to be paid for the trial. If it is satisfactory, then we are to be paid. If unsatisfactory, send the outfit back to us.

KEENE NEWS NOTES

The members of the Lime Juice Club have for the past month been rather careless in their attendance, but on Saturday night last our streets were crowded with them. At 7 o'clock all were assembled in their hall and appeared to be dressed neater than usual. President Decackey looked very dudish in his Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. He had his pet of a whisker nicely combed, but it presented a very dilapidated appearnace on account of being so badly winter-killed. As he is noted for punctuality he called the meeting in order at the appointed hour. He, of course, helped himself to a chew of tobacco, after which he asked Positive Legget and Swing-Bridge Smith to favor the club by singing the opening ode. The ode was well sung by Swingbridge, but Positive made a bad discord, and was at once fined five dollars by the President.

Decackey now rose to his feet and gave expression to his feelings as follows: Brethren, it is needless for me to remind you that I am boss of this club. I am sorry that I am compelled to reprimand the members of this club for non-attendance during the past month, but judging from the good attendance to-night I cannot but feel convinced that each one of you will endeavor in the future to be more faithful to your obligation and be present at the meetings. This is all I have to say to-night, brethren, and I now will call on Poney Moore for a speech.

Poney needed no second invitation but at once rose to his feet, but before he had time to utter a word cries of "platform" could be heard all through the hall. It took Poney but short time to mount the platform. After taking a survey of the crowd and surroundings he at once commenced his address, as follows: Brethren, at the commencement of my address allow me to intimate to you that I do not profess to be an orator, for I am a sensible person and fully aware of the fact that I am possessed of neither the talent or qualifications of an orator. But, nevertheless, although deficient in those respects, I am proud to state to you that I am endowed with wit and pluck. I am not very big, but I detest a mean trick, and I have my opinion of a man who will sack me after plowing his garden for no other than a selfish motive. Say, here, I will tell you what it is—I could pull the hair out of any old gum-chewer that would be guilty of such a crime! Boys, be a man or a mouse! I know a person who is neither, but positively is a long-tailed rat who has feasted on chop for the past six months! Brethren, I feel loose or rather I should say I am of the opinion that I can lick any man, woman or child in either Keene or Cat Hollow!

Shut Taylor shouted out: "Who cut your hair? Choke him off!"

Poney could not stand such slang and without any difficulty put Shut on his head. Bruin Spiers and Hosier Roach now made a charge on Poney and just as they were about to overcome him Fighting Archy appeared on the scene, stripped off to the shirt and pants, and informed Bruin and Hosier that he was the champion fighter of Keene and could knock the tar out of half a dozen such characters. This put an end to the scene, and Fighting Archy was declared cock of the roost.

Decackey looked at his Waterbury watch and found that the night was half gone. He at once closed the meeting and all dispersed to their respective homes.

DOCTOR'S ACCUSED

Gave Their Aid to a Patent Medical Agency and Must Go on the Carpet Therefor

Toronto, May 3.—The medical council has decided to take action aginst certain well-known local doctors, charging them with unprofessional conduct. With the exception of one, those doctors have, it is alleged, been lending their services to a patent medicine agency, the latter having advertised the fact as an advertisement. The investigation will be conducted by Crown Attorney Curry and Mr. B. B. Osler, and it is understood that prominent counsel has been retained to defend the doctors.

Bismarck of Jewish Descent.

Few people are aware that Prince Bismarck is of Hebrew descent. He derives his Jewish blood from his mother, whose father—Anastasius Menken, one of the favorite bureaucrats of Frederick the Great—was of Hebrew parentage. Although of late it has evidently appeared politic to the prince to countenance the anti-Semitic movement both in Germany and Austria, yet while in office he invariably showed himself a good friend to the Jewish nation and chose the Hebrew banker at Berlin, Baron von Bleichroeder, as his most trusted confidant. Indeed, in those days he was so well disposed toward the Jews that he even discussed the advisability of marrying his sons to Jewesses on the ground that it would bring money into the family again and likewise "improve both morally and physically the Bismarck breed."—International Review.

Three bottles of Kennys Hair Restorer has restored the hair on my head to its original state. SCHOOL TRUSTEES' CONVENTION.

Mr. Stevenson presented the following report:—

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education:

Your delegates, who attended the convention of School Trustees, in Toronto, beg to submit the following report:—

The meeting was held at the Normal School. Mr. Deacon, of Lindsay, President of the Association, acted as chairman.

The proceedings were of a highly interesting characcter. The general management of schools, the engagement of teachers, modes of discovering their qualifications, and the duties of trustees generally, formed the basis of discussion.

Mrs. Hoodlass, of Hamilton, delivered a practical address on the subject of domestic science, and asked the trustees to take into their consideration the question of instructing girls in the new duties appertaining to the home. This system, it appears, now forms a part of the school curriculum in England and Germany and is being rapidly adopted throughout the United States. Mrs. Hoodlass explained that the present system of education is adopted solely to mental requirements so that girls on leaving school as a rule have no knowledge or experience whatever of the management of a household.

It was suggested that Mrs. Hoodlass should be given an opportunity of placing her views before several of the School Boards throughout the province.

It was noticeable, that, except in a few instances, none of the Boards had adopted the system of yearly engagement of teachers in force in Peterborough. This subject was discussed at considerable length and the rule adopted by the Peterborough Board of Education seemed to meet with considerable favor and approval, and it is likely will be generally adopted by other Boards of Education.

The attendannce of delegates was good and great interest was manifested.

The Hon., the Minister of Education was present a portion of the time and heard the debates. We think it would be well if delegates from this board would annually attend the convention, as no doubt a great deal of the suggestions made will be very useful and probably will to some extent enter into Provincial Legislation.

J. STEVENSON,
LOUIS M. HAYES.

On motion the report was received.

RESOLUTIONS.

Moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Hayes, that the request of Miss Spence for leave of absence until Sept. 1st, on account of ill health, be granted and that she be paid one month's salary.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Hill, that Mr. Fife be appointed to preside at the departmental examinations.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. McBain, that the Inspector's report be referred to Committee on Appointments.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

"Bob" Harrison Confident

Yesterday's Toronto News has the following to say of to-night's wrestling match:

Stalwart "Bob" Harrison, the affable gate keeper at the Union Station, is a much observed man just now through the notoriety his wrestling match at Peterborough to-morrow night with the ex-Boston athlete, Doyle, is affording him. To the News Mr. Harrison expressed himself as being in superb condition and confident of winning. Although he celebrated his 48th birthday on Sunday, he never yet has felt so strong and agile in entering a contest. His training is confided to the weights and hammers and occasional running. The match is to be decided in Peterborough on Wednesday (May 4th.

A Wonderful Dog

The Peterborough gentleman who saw in The Times a clipping from the Campbellford Herald regarding the rescue from drowning of a dog by another dog, has received from the Editor of the Herald a document setting forth the facts of the rescue, which are really wonderful. The rescued dog fell into the Trent river off the ice, and as the informant says, would certainly have been drowned as the ice kept breaking under him. The rescuer, a collie named "Snap," belonging to a newsboy named Collins approached the edge cautiously and after a moment reached out and grabbed the drowning dog by the back of the neck and pulled him gently out on the ice. One of the prettiest parts of the whole scene was the exhibition of gratitude. It is a wonderful and a thoroughly authenticated case. Application is being made to the Royal Canadian Humane Association for its sanction in regarding a clear case of canine courage in the shape of a collar. It is the intention also to memoralize the Campbellford Council to grant the dog a perpetual tag.

For the Pacific Coast

Mr. C. W. Sawers, accompanied by his son, Master Norman, will leave to-day on a visit to British Columbia, where he may remain permanently should circumstances favor it. Master Norman takes a responsible position in the office of R. G. Dun & Co., Vancouver, where he will remain. Mr. Sawers intends, if the outlook is favorbale, to enter a law firm, in which case he will remain, and will be joined by Mrs. Sawers and family later on. Mr. Sawers has many friends in Peterborough who will wish him the best of good luck. There is one thing certain—if Mr. Sawer remains and has his health he is sure to make his mark. He is a "born politician," and should he bring his abilities into play in the political field, there can be no doubt of the result. He will probably come back to Ontario as an M. P. or a Senator. The Times joins in wishing him every success.

To say that we've started to be busy in Millinery hardly expresses the idea of the big rush of past days—so far trade is doubling up on last year, and though our staff of trimmers and saleswomen has been increased, we think it necessary to warn those who intend to order an Easter Hat or Bonnet here, that it will be the part of wisdom to see to the matter at once—this week if possible.

A REVOLUTION IN SPAIN

The Outbreaks in the Provinces are Assuming Alarming Proportions

RIOTS FROM HUNGER

General Weyler Says the Victory at Manila was Won Over a Squadron of Wooden Vessels, Dried up by the Heat—Spain Sees, in the Defence Offered, Nothing but Heroism on the Part of Her Navy

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

NEW YORK SUBMARINE MINES

New York, May 4.—The work of laying the submarine mines in the harbor of New York is being pushed. The work is under the charge of Major John G. D. Knight of the Engineer Corps at Willett's Point and Lieut. Robert McGregor at Sandy Hook. They have a large force of men at work, but owing to the heavy navigation the work is progressing slowly. The Engineer Corps have for use at Sandy Hook alone eight tons of dynamite. Admiral Erben will forward to the Navy Department to-morrow a list of 11 boats that he has selected as suitable for the Mosquito fleet to patrol the harbor. He will recommend the immediate detail of boats to protect the mine fields and to enforce the harbor regulations.

NOT VERIFIED

Hong Kong, May 4.—The report of the arrival of the despatch boat McColloch at Mier's Bay has not ben verified.

ASSUMING LARGE PROPORTIONS

Madrid, May 4.—Noonday.—The outbreaks in the Provinces are assuming alarming proportions. This is especially the case in the province of Gijou on the Bay of Biscay, where the troops have been compelled to fire on the rioters "in self defence." The latest news from Gijon is that the artillery have been ordered out.

At Talavera de la Royna one of the Jesuit religious houses has been burned.

It is asserted here that the riots arise from hunger rather than from political motives.

FOREIGN OBSERVATIONS

Washington, May 4.—The staffs of the various embassies and legations at Washington are being rapidly recruited by military and naval officers who have been assigned to make observations of the military and naval operations in the present war with Spain. Lieut. J. Rodler, of the Austrian Imperial Navy arrived here to-day, and after securing authorization from the naval authorities he will go forward to inspect the operations of the United States fleet in Cuban waters. Capt. Lee, of the British Royal Artillery and formerly stationed at Halifax arrived three days ago and after securing credentials from the authorities, proceeded to Chickamanga and thence to Tampa, Fla. He is an expert authority on explosives. Major De Grantprey, the military attache of the French Embassy will start for Cuba as soon as a military movement of any proportions is begun there. Count Von Goetzen, former military attache of the German Embassy has been ordered to return here and he too will proceed to Cuba. He left here about two months ago, after his marriage to Mrs. Gay, of Baltimore, to join his regiment at Berlin, which is a part of the Imperial Guards near Emperor William. The war and navy departments are desirous of affording every fair title of foreign military and naval attaches and they have been furnished credentials which will aid them in observing war operations. Captain Lee, the British officer will go forward with the first military expediiotn even if this be of a preliminary character.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

London, May 4.—One of the deep mysteries of the past few weeks in connection with the Spanish-American war has been solved if a despatch received here from Madrid is to be relied upon. About three weeks ago, the Spanish Government purchased nearly 20,000 tons of coal in various European ports; but nobody ever knew what had become of the fuel, or whether it had been delivered or otherwise. The despatch referred to throws light upon the subject.

The statement goes that the coal was quietly, and with the greatest secrecy, conveyed to Corunna, a port on the north coast of Spain. While this was being done the Spanish squadron lay at Cape Verde, and naturally attracted the attention of American naval men in that direction more than in any other. As soon as the coal had been duly delivered it was rapidly placed on board four fast transports, which were held in readiness to start at a moment's notice. Three days before the Spanish squadron sailed from Cape Verde these vessels put out of Corunna for the same destination, the object of the Spanish Government being that the transports and the fleet should meet at some port considerably to the east of Porto Rico; that the warships should convoy the colliers into port, and that a coaling station should there be established as a basis for naval operations in Cuban waters. The reason why the two fleets did not sail together is supposed to be the apprehension of the Spanish Government that if it were known that so large a supply of fuel were being sent to Porto Rico an attempt in force might be made by the American fleet to intercept it. It is stated that the coal vessels are pursuing a course out of the ordinary track of South Atlantic traffic and that the three days' start given them will enable them to reach the point of rendezvous about the same time as the Spanish squadron.

WON'T GIVE A CLEARANCE.

Ottawa, May 4.—The Beaver Line steamer Lake Ontario has been sold to the United States Government for use as a troopship, but the collector at Montreal, upon the advice of the Minister of Customs, has refused to trant her a clearance from that port, pending communication with the Imperial Government as to whether her departure would be a breach of the neutrality laws.

THE SAILORS WERE BETRAYED.

Madid, May 4.—El Nacional, the organ of General Weyler, says: "Yesterday, when the first intelligence arriver, nothing better occurred to Admiral Berbejo, Minister of Marine, than to send to all the newspapers comparative statistics of the two contending squadrons. By this comparison be sought to direct public attention to the immense superiority of a squadron of iron-clads over a squadron of wooden vessels dried up by heat in those latitudes. But in this document Spain can see nothing kind. Spain undoubtedly sees therein the heroism of our marine; but she sees also, and above all the nefarious crime of the Government. It is unfair to blame the enemy for possessing forces superior to ours; but what is worty of being blamed with all possible vehemence is this infamous Government, which allowed our inferiority without neutralizing it by means of preparations. In Corregidor there were only a few wretched guns taken from the warships a few days before. This is the truth. Our sailors have been basely delivered over to the grape shot of the Yankees, a fate nobler and more worthy of respect than those baneful Ministers who brought about the first victory and its first victims."

A SARCASTIC NEWSPAPER.

London, May 4.—The Westminster Gazette, in speaking of the assumption of American newspapers "that the United States can do precisely what she chooses with Manila or the Philippine Islands,' says it much fears that "this view will entail disagreeable surprises," adding: "In entering European politics, the United States will probably discover that these simple ideas of doing what you will with your own have become obsolete in Europe. The first symptoms are likely to be marked by an increase of the anti-American pressure, which, if Great Britain could be counted to join in it, would speedily lead to intervention in behalf of Spain."

After pointing out the futility of expecting Great Britain to join in such a movement and the probability of attempts upon the part of the continental powers at the close of the from holding the Philippine Islands, war, to prevent the United States the Westminster Gazette says: "The natural tendency of all this is to bring the United States and Graet Britain together, and we hope it will be fostered by the statesmen and by a revival of the arbitration treaty at the first opportunity."

SQUADRON RETURNS TO CUBA.

Key West, May 4.—The new York, Iowa, Indiana, Cincinnati, Detroit, Marblehead, Puritan and Mayflower have sailed. The destination is unknown. All have extra quantity of coal.

The troops at Tampa are suffering from the heat.

AN OFFER FROM GERMANY.

New York, May 4.—It is given out here on Good authority that Germany has offered the United States a coaling station in the Pacific.

It is reported that a Spanish spy was captured on the St. Paul this morning.

SPANISH JEWELS TO BE PAWNED.

London, May 4.—A sensational rumor is current in financial circles that, owing to the hard straits to which the Spanish Government is reduced, the greatest difficulty is being experienced in equipping the Spanish squadron at Cadiz, and that with the permission of the Cabinet, the Queen Regent is negotiating with the Rothschilds for the purpose of raising a loan of £5,000,000 on the crown jewels the money to be applied in hastening the fitting out of the fleet. It is reported that the Rothschilds have practically decided to make the loan upon terms which give them the right to realize upon their pledge within a certain defined period after the close of the present war. Those conversed with history are reminding their friends that upon a certain occasion in English history an English king took precisely the same step as that now credited to the Queen Regent in order to carry on war like operations. Financiers, when speaking of the reported transaction, smile cynically, while observing that the Spanish crown jewels if they once leave Madrid are not likely to return here judging from the present state of Spanish fortunes. It is known, however, that the Queen Regent, who is above all a mother maintaining her son's possessions, is prepared to make any sacrifice to spare Spain the humiliation of having territory torn away from her by the United States, and that it is she more than any other person who is responsible for the firm, though inert, attitude which Spain has taken.

TO OCCUPY PORTO RICO.

Key West, May 4.—Later intelligence regarding the movements of the fleet show that it is the intention of Admiral Sampson to destroy or occupy Porto Rico before the Spanish fleet arrives. After establishing or destroying a base of supplies there, the American fleet will put to sea in search of the Spanish vessels.

WAS THERE AN ENGAGEMENT.

Halifax, May 4.—About five o'clock last evening a sailing vessel which put into this harbor reported having seen what appeared to be a gunboat flying the United States flag making slowly for the south in an evidently crippled condition. It is believed here that the vessel may have been connected with the heavy cannonading which was heard off Newfoundland on Saturday night. The assumption is that she is an American boat which attacked some Spanish armed merchantman or cruiser, being beaten off with damage. This theory is borne out by the fact that the boat did not make for this port, but kept on for the south, presumably for an American port. The matter is all the more mysterious because no American or Spanish warships are known to be in the neighborhood.

The remaining members of the Legation take their departure next Friday. The party will go to Montreal, where passage on the first outgoing steamer will be engaged. Senor Du Bose will himself remain in London for an indefinite period, the others continuing on to Madrid.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

Key West, May 4.—It is stated that the despatches found upon the captured Spanish stemaer Argonata were from the Madrid Government to Capt.-General Blanco, and contained information of the greatest importance to the American fleet. The assertion is made that they informed the chief of the Spanish army in Cuba that a fleet of fast transports had secretly been sent to Porto Rico bearing a large supply of coal for the establishment of a coaling station there for the use of the Spanish fleets; that the fleet at Cadiz would, as soon as it could be got ready for sea, sail for that place to reinforce the squadron which has already left Cape Verde, which would endeavor to hold Porto Rico until reinforced, when a combined movement would be made for the relief of Havana. The despatch also informed Blanco that the Government were in great difficulties owing to the rapidly growing Carlos party, and that cries of, "Vive el rey Carlos!" were becoming so common in the streets of Madrid as to fill those in authority with grave fear that they may be hampered still further with a home revolution.

VALENCIA IN A STATE OF SEIGE.

Madrid, May 4.—Senor Gullon, Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared in Cortes yesterday that the enemy would not set foot in Manila, as the garrison there was strong enough to repel them. Senor Canlejas expressed regret that De Lome had not been thanked for his services in a hostile country, where he could not appear in public without being insulted.

A state of seige has been declared at Valencia, and riots have occurred at Gijon.

Bombs have been exploded in front of the Mayor's house at Carraminal. The whole country is perturbed.

A GARRISON OF 80,000.

Madrid, May 4.—Premier Sagasta today declared that the Americans would find Manila a hard place to capture. It was defended with modern guns and had a garrison of 80,000 men. The absence of news indicated that the Americans were not having everything their own way.

AN ABSURD REPORT.

Toronto, May 4.—Senor Du Bose told the News this morning that the New York report in a morning paper to the effect that Senor Manuel Rafael Angulo, lately the official representative of the Cuban autonomists at Washington is acting as Spain's secret agent is utter rot. "The gentleman came from Havana two weeks before the departure of the Spanish Legation from the American Capital and had no official business whatever with Spain's representatives. He was simply a special commissioner delegated from the autonomist Cabinet in Cuba to negotiate a commercial treaty between the Spanish West Indies and the United States."

THE ERICSSON MISSING.

New York, May 4.—A special to the Evening Journal from Miami, Fla., says: The torpedo boat Ericsson has been missing since Saturday, and it is feared she was sunk in a terrific gale which prevailed. She was short of coal. Ericsson was commanded by Lieut. N. R. Usher.

PRISONS FULL OF SUSPECTS.

St. Thomas May 4.—Refugees from Porto Rico report that the garrison at Ponce has been depleted to defend other ports on the Spanish coast, and it is said that a small body of insurgents could take the town. The rebels expect the arrival of Colonel Lieret hourly to inaugurate a revolt. The prisons are filled with political suspects. Three women wives of suspected insurgents, are in jail.

TO PAVE THE WAY.

Key West, May 4.—The Government despatch boat Leyden left here on Monday with General Nunez, J. E. Cartaya and Captain Dorsto, of the American army, who will be landed near Matanzas to pave the way for an invasion of American troops.

RIOTING AT MADRID.

London, May 4.—A Madrid special says: Many officers in Mufti were in the mob Monday night, and were foremost in inciting the people to attack the Ministers' residences, and were loudest in calling for cheers for Weyler.

THE SITUATION GRAVE.

Paris May 4.—Advices received at Gibraltar from Madrid represents the situation as of the gravest character.

BRITISH CONSUL ATTACKED

Kingston, Jamaica, May 4.—Trouble of a most serious nature to British interests is said to have occurred at Santiago De Cuba. Three British warships will be there soon. The British consul is said to have been attacked by a mob; to have killed a Spaniard and to have been imprisoned.

ASSASINATION OF MARET DENIED

London, May 4.—No truth in the report from Gibraltar that Senor Maret the Spanish Minister for the Colonies, and Marshall Martinez De Campas, former Capt.-General of Cuba, had been assassinated.

NARROWLY ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

New York, May 4.—The American consul at Baracon, Cuba, has reached here. He narrowly escaped with his life. He found that the British consul, on account of his friendliness to American and Cuban refugees, had been subjected to a great deal of abuse. He is in fear of being assassinated.

TORPEDO BOAT FIRED UPON.

Key West, May 4.—The United States torpedo boat Ericsson was fired upon Monday off Havana. The fire was returned by the gunboat Willmington.

JAPAN INTERESTED.

Yokohoma, May 4.—The situation created by the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Manila is regarded as being deeply interesting to Japan.

MORE FORTS DESTROYED.

New York, May 4.—A World despatch from Key West, May 3, says: The gunboat Willmington early this morning destroyed a Spanish fort 4 miles east of Cotima, and also fired upon a troop of cavaly passing Joruca Beach. Two men were seen to drop. Later the Willmington reduced several forts in course of erection.

CABLE COMMUNICATION STILL INTERRUPTED.

London, May 4.—The Hong Kong-Manila cable is still interrupted. The reported surrender of Manila is therefore a matter of conjecture.

INSURGENTS TO ASSIST U. S. FORCES AT MANILA.

New York, May 4.—A Hong Kong despatch to the world says: Chief Aqumaldo has arrived and conferred with Consul Wildman. He has agreed to submit to Commodore Dewey's orders and he will conduct the land forces.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 5, 1898

STILL THEY COME

The Times received another club of 130 paid up subscribers yesterday, and with the club came a letter in which the writer, who is a young lady, says: "I had no difficulty in getting the club. True, very many of my acquaintances already take the Times, and this was the most serious obstacle. I consider the Times by long odds the best paper published in this part of Canada." Everybody reads the Times.

A MILK INSPECTOR

The Times some time ago suggested to the council the advisability of appointing an inspector of milk for the town, but our advice was unheeded. We now return to the subject. Our idea is to secure the services of the inspector of cheese, who thoroughly understands the duties, and who would do this extra work for a merely nominal salary. In fact, the fines accruing, which we understand would be divided between the municipality and the inspector or prosecutor, would, without a doubt, more than pay the salary, so that the town would be nothing out. Even if this were not so, it would be worth our while to be assured of unadulterated milk. There is nothing that we know of for domestic use than pure, clean milk. We hope the Council will deal with the matter as soon as possible.

AFTER THE WAR

The question that is being asked, perhaps more persistently than any other, as the war goes on, is that seeking knowledge of the probable fate of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands in the event of a smashing American victory. The Americans have declared that they do not want to annex Cuba, which statement points to the establishment of a Cuban republic at the close of the war under American protection. But even this arrangement will leave the United States in a measure responsible for the good government of the island. Having driven Spain out, it will be impossible for it to escape the consequences of the act so far as Cuba is concerned; nor is there any indication that the Americans will draw back from their duty in this respect. A population so oppressed and harried as that of Cuba has been for years, may easily be in need of a little leading in setting out for themselves on the national highway.

The cases of Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands are not so clear, however. The United States could have avoided responsibility here by simply leaving these islands alone; but the victory at Manila has involved it in the latter case at all events. Now it will hardly to to simply upset the rule of Spain in the Philippines and then sail away. The rule of Spain may not have been a good rule; but it is hardly likely that the Philippines will be left for long unappropriated in the China seas. Some of the nations of the world will certainly want to eat that Philippine. If the Americans endeavor to hold these islands themselves, we shall see two things—what skill the Americans have as rulers of colonies, and what effect the responsibility of possessing colonies will have upon American diplomacy. The acceptance of the Philippines would almost certainly be followed by the annexation of Hawaii, which would provide the Americans with the doubtful advantage of two vulnerable points in the Pacific ocean.

The strength of the United States in the past has been its safety from effective attack. It has given no hostages to the other nations of the world outside of its own territory. It never was under any necessity to concern itself with the trend of events in foreign seas. But the news from Manila leads the New York papers to declare exultingly that they too are to now be reckoned in this China business. This is all very gratifying to national aspirations, but such a status will brin grave responsibilities. The holding of the possessions abroad implies the maintenance of a navy to protect them, and a general launching forth upon the uncertain seas of international politics. It may also delay, if not put in peril, the working out of the experiment in democracy to which the Americans are committed; though of course, it will show us what a democracy can do in the fields of diplomacy and colonization. Take it all in all, an American victory in this war is very likely to be followed by peaceful developments quite as interesting as the manoeuvring of teh fleets.

The Spaniards have always been noted as discoverers, but if this war continues long, it will tax all their ability in that direction to find what has heretofore been called the Spanish fleet.

As there seems to have been a battle, it is time the powers intervened. If this keeps on somebody is sure to get hurt.

• • •

You can get papers that give more news about the war than the Times, but you cannot get papers that give more war news.

If that unfortunate mule which was killed in the bombardment of Matanzas had been of American origin, his heirs and assigns would have had an application in for a pension by this time.

• • •

When a man joins the United States ary it is for parade purposes only, and he needn't go up against the enemy unless he volunteers to do so. Not a few of Uncle Sam's soldiers in times of peace have declined to take chances with the Spaniards, and are being called uncomplimentary names in consequence. It's more than 16 to 1 that if the United States Senators and the Spanish law-makers had been compelled to board the first ship or march in the front of the army, there would have been no war.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

London, May 3.—Admiral Montigo was taken by surprise. The Spanish authorities were in a state of unreadiness. The American squadron was not sighted until it had passed the outer and principal forts. On every side, in England is heard praise of the skill and daring displayed by Commodore Dewey. It is apparent that the American fleet could have received but little damage. The sending of three German men of war to the Philippines is much criticised.

MARTIAL LAW.

Madrid, May 3.—2 a.m.—The mob tried to break into the Apollo Theatre last night and hold a manifestation. The police interfered. All the windows in the building were broken before the crowd was dispersed. Martial Law has been proclaimed and the streets are occupied by police and civil guards.

END OF THE WAR IN SIGHT.

New York, N.Y., May 3.—The steamship Yale, formerly the American liner Paris, has sailed under sealed orders. A special cable to the World from Rome says: Admiral Berin, Minister of Marine, said: "The Spaniards have thus effectively proved their unpreparedness. The conclusion of the war is now within sight.

MANILA CAPITULATES.

New York, N.Y., May 3.—World special from London says: An unconfirmde cable has been received that a report was current in the House of Commons at midnight that an official telegram has been received by the foreign office from the British Consul-General at Manila announcing the capitulation of Manila.

AN IMPOSSIBILITY.

London, May 3.—The Eastern Telegraph Company announces that it is impossible for any word to have come from Manila since 10 o'clock yesterday morning, London time.

CABLE CUT.

London, May 3.—Tests from Hong Kong show the cable was cut fifty miles from Manila. Two weeks may elapse before it is repaired.

GERMAN DREAMS OF AGGRANDISEMENT.

New York, May 3.—World's special from London says: England has been surprised by Commodore Dewey's victory. The splendid seamanship and valor of Commodore Dewey in forcing an entrance into Manila harbor excite intense admiration. Lord Charles Beresford said to-night: "It was a brilliant stroke. Everything, as I said to you before, depends upon the man in modern naval warfare."

Sir Charles Dilke said: 'The United States possession of the Philippines raises numerous important and delicate points for the consideration of the powers and I should not be surprised if eventually the United States secured the valuable good-will of Japan by handing over the Philippines to them."

Sir John Colomb on the point said: "It is an event of enormous international importance. I should not be surprised if the German Emperor was spurred to some startling action by the prospect of his dream of possession of the Philippines being shattered by the American triumph. He has a big squadron in China seas, with his brother in command, and we may hear of some significant move on the part of that squadron within a day or two."

MADRID CELEBRATES.

Madrid, May 2.—(4 p.m.)—The celebrations in honor of the Spanish officers, Ruiz, Daoiz, and Velardos, the victims of Murat's massacre, have proceeded to-day as usual, in spite of the bad news from the Philippines. The streets were packed, but there was no outward display of sorrow.

The procession passed off amid glorious sunshine, but there were no patriotic speeches. The minds of the people are too full of the disaster to think of anything but avenging the surprise at Manila Bay.

Senor Aguilera, the Civil Governor of Madrid, did not take part in the procession. All his energies were required to watch closely popular feeling, which is certain to explode and to require a propitiatory scapegoat.

In political circles, however, important developments are hourly expected. Senor Romero Robledo, leader of the Weylerite party, will interpolate the Government in Congress to-morrow on the events at Manila, and the Carlists and Republicans will participate in the debate, which is expected to have important results.

It is asserted that the burning of the Reina Maria Christina was due to American petroleum bombs, and that a number of thatched huts belonging to natives were set on fire in the same way.

After the bull fight to-night sensational news may be expected.

El Imparcial says it believes the formation of a national Ministry is possible.

The greatest importance is attached to to-night's Cabinet Council, at which, it is expected, a decision will be reached as to the reply to be made tothe request of Captain-General Augusti for instructions.

WITHIN THE LION'S JAWS.

Key West, May 3.—The British cruiser Talbot, from Bermuda, arrived off Havana yesterday afternoon and sent a boat alongside the Montgomery, the acting flagship, with a message that she intended visiting Havana unless the blockading squadron considered that their interests would be adversely affected by her so doing. Commander Converse, of the Montgomery, replied that there was no objection on his part, and the British warship steamed into the harbor, her crew cheering the American sailors as they parted. The commander of the Talbot declared that he did not expect to remain at the Cuban capital, but meant to send a launch to see the British consul and would afterwards proceed to Key West. He will probably bring away British subjects who desire to leave Havana.

WILL NEVER SURRENDER.

London, May 3.—It is announced in a special despatch from Madrid that there is no idea of surrender there, either in Ministerial circles, or among the populace. On the contrary, it is added, the war is to be pushed with greater vigor. The Spanish authorities intend to throw the whole naval strength into one united supreme effort against the United States.

STOPPED BY THE WARSHIP.

Nassau, N.P., May 3.—The British steamship Ironapolis, from Cardiff for Havana with 3,000 tons of coal, was not allowed to enter the harbor at Havana and has returned here for orders.

WON'T HAND OVER WEST INDIES.

London, May 3.—Naval and military experts of the first rank are very chary about expressing opinions on the capture of Manila. Lord Charles Beresford, when asked as to the newspaper suggestions for an Anglo-American deal over the Philippines, replied: "We have quite enough on our hands without the Philippines and as for the suggested exchange for Jamaica, Bermudas or other West Indian Islands, we would not hear of it, besides Manila would be no good to us as a naval base, being too far removed from the scene of action in the far East. Chusan would be far more to our purpose. There can be little doubt that any proposal to haul down the British flag in the West Indies, however valuable the suggested quid pro quo, would be hotly resented in many quarters here.

Hon. James Bryce, when interviewed, expressed strongly the view that the United States would make a great mistake in retaining any transmarine possessions. He could give no opinion on Manila, but was surprised that anyone should talk seriously of Britain taking over the Philippines.

Spring humors, boils, pimples, eruptions, sores, may be completely cured by purifying the blood with Hood-s Sarsaparilla.

250,000 CURED.

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by evil habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases." W. C. Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak, pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; memory poor; varicocele and weak parts; irritable; sinking spells; specks before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy; and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and sexually. It is a wonderful treatment."

SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

MANILA BURNED

London, May 2.—A Madrid despatch through a news agency says that Premier Sagasta has just gone to the Palace. It is understood that he will communicate to the Queen Regent despatches announcing that the town of Cavite has been razed and the unfortified portion of Manila burned. The despatch adds that the Americans fired petroleum bombs. An extraordinary Cabinet council has been convoked for 7 o'clock this evening.

AN ABUNDANCE OF SUPPLIES

Washington, May 2.—Naval Bureau chiefs who have charge of equipping the fleets with ammunition and coal say that Commodore Dewey's engagement of yesterday does not deplete his stock of projectiles, powder, coal and other necessary supplies to any serious extent, and that he has ample supplies of this vital character to carry on such further operations as may be necessary.

SPANIARDS ARE IN A TRAP.

Washington, May 3.—The Navy Department is sending out orders and otherwise preparing for another great naval battle. The next engagement of the war will probably be fought off Porto Rico within a week. The Navy Department has received a cipher cablegram from St. Vincent, Cape de Verde Islands, which leaves no doubt in the minds of naval officials that the Spanish fleet sailed for Porto Rico, which was cunningly left open in the hope that its seeming safety would entice the Spanish fleet across the Atlantic. As soon as scouting vessels bring news to the Atlantic coast of the approach of the Spanish vessels Commodore Schley's squadron and the best of the fighting ships in Admiral Samson's fleet at Havana will be despatched to Porto Rico to engage the enemy.

WHY THE SPANIARDS LOST.

London, May 3.—It appears that Admiral Montejo was taken altogether by surprise, and that the Spanish authorities generally were in a state of utter unreadiness. The forts were not completed, the harbors were not mined, there were no searchlights, and the American squadron was only sighted after it had already passed the outer and principal forts. On every side is heard praise of the skill and daring displayed by Commodore Dewey in a situation where, if anything had miscarried, he would have been caught in a most desperate position. At the same time credit is given Admiral Montejo who had a wretched fleet and stood no chance except from the assistance he might receive from the forts. The American vessels, however, by moving to and fro, were easily able to avoid the badly directed fire from the forts, and looking to all the circumstances, it is apparent that the American fleet could have received but slight damage.

BRITISH-AMERICAN ALLIANCE.

London, May 2.—The Hon. Cecil Rhodes, in an interview, states. In my opinion nothing is so vital to the future of the British and American peoples as a cordial understanding and a deeply rooted conviction of mutual good will. From this time, if future events should render it necessary, a formal alliance may be born. It is obvious that if the Americans crush Spain from the outset there will be an unthinking tendency in this country to sympathize with the little boy who has been thrashed by the big boy, but what we must not forget is the fact of atrocities perpetrated by Spain in Cuba. America has done, in that island, precisely what Great Britain would have done if they had occurred in an island close to her own coasts. In fact, we should probably not have been as patient as America has been. At any rate the two people would meet the same circumstances with the same action. It is not for us to run after America with offers to alliance. It must result from a meeting half way, but it seems perfectly obvious that in any division of the world the interests of the British Empire and America will be found united. England and America need each other and this need will grow rapidly in the future.

NEGOTIATING A SURRENDER.

Washington, May 2.—It is rumored that the Governor-General of the Philippines is trying to negotiate through the British Consul the surrender of the islands without the bombardment of Manila. The President and the Cabinet about 11 o'clock received information that the Governor-General of the Philippines had sent a flag of truce to Commodore Dewey. It is understood that the British Consul carried the prosition to Commodore Dewey, which was to surrender Manila and avoid bombardment.

TO CAPTURE THE OREGON.

Washington, May 2.—The Navy Department announces that the Spanish fleet which left Cape Verde Islands has gone to capture the Oregon and the Marietta. An American flying squadron will be despatched at once to intercept them.

RESULT OF WAR.

Constantinople, May 2.—Owing to war between Spain and the United States there is a great scarity of Russian wheat here. Price of bread is rising rapidly and a number of bread riots have occurred.

VICTORY AT BAYAMO.

Madrid, May 2.—Captain-General General Blanco reports a victory over the rebels at Bayamo. He says that thirty insurgents and one Spaniard were illed.

Washington, May 2.—The Senate Committee on Finance pratically decided to-day to eliminate the tonnage tax feature of the war revenue bill to avoid irritating European countries.

THEY WON'T INVADE CUBA.

Washington, May 2.—It is reported that President McKinley has replied to all the arguments in favor of an invasion of Cuba by the United States land forces by saying that he does not deem it necessary to employ either the army or the naval forces at his command to reinforce the insurgent army, which he has been assured is quite capable of whipping the Spanish forces if properly equipped. The naval blockade will be maintained at Havana, and a similar embargo against communication between the Spaniards in the Philippine Islands and the rest of the world will be established upon precisely the same lines. Relief will be afforded the Cuban insurgnet army and the reconcentrados—food, clothing, guns and ammunition, which is all that is needed according to the assurance of the insurgent leaders themselves. Every possible facility will be employed and backed up with all the force, both land and naval, that is deemed or is rendered necessary to equip the insurgents. The protection of two or three United States warships and one thousand United States regulars to force a way from the coast to the headquarters of the Cuban army will be afforded. Both will be ready to render such service as soon as it is demanded. It will only be upon the failure of the rebels to drive the Spaniards that Cuba will be invaded.

TO REMAIN AT GIBRALTAR.

Portsmouth, Eng., May 2.—In consequence of the Spanish-American war, the British Channel squadron will not execute the remainder of the program for its cruise, which included visits to various Spanish ports. The ships for the present will remain at Gibraltar.

FEAR SPANISH REPRISALS.

New York, May 3.—The Herald's Washington special says: Secretary Long has taken measures to relieve the United States fleet in the Pacific of any embarassment it might feel for want of coal. Fearing an attack upon the sea-ports of the North Atlantic coast by the Spanish men-of-war now on their way to western waters steps have been taken to further improve the sea coast defence. It is stated upon excellent authority that the Administration believes the Spanish men-of-war will appear at some port on the coast and attempt to retaliate for the loss of the Philippine Islands.

A BRUSH IN CUBAN WATERS.

New York, May 3.—(Special to The World, Toronto.)—A Key West special to the press from the despatch boat with the blockading squadron off Cuba says: The gunboat Nashville, while cruising off the southern coast, sighted the Spanish mail steamer Argonata at 2.30 last Friday, making for Cienfuegos. The Argonata made a desperate effort to reach the harbor, but the Nashville headed her off, and sent a solid shot over her bow, so close that her engines were at once reversed. A number of Spanish gunboats watched the chase from behind the guns of Fort Angeles. A torpedo boat and eight gun boats steamed boldly to the rescue, heading for the Nashville. The cruiser Marblehead, and the Eagle, one of the Mosquito fleet, went to the Nashville's assistance, the Marblehead opening fire on the advancing Spanish boats at long range just as they had begun to fire on the Nashville. The Marblehead and Eagle did effective work, and so damaged three boats in the first line that they fell back to their consorts. Then all nine showed their sterns and scurried back into the narrow harbor under the guns of the forts. Twenty-nine prisoners of war were taken on the Argonata, including Colonel Vincenzo de Curtyo, of the third cavalry of Principe and his staff. The Spanish mails, believed to contain many important military despatches, were also seized. The men on the Nashville are jubilant over the good luck. The first shot of the war was fired from her deck at the Buena Ventura, and now she has captured the most important prize of the blockade.

AMERICANS DID THE CUTTING.

Paris, May 3.—It is reported here that an American war ship cut the Manila cable and took an end on board for the purpose of communication.

WAR WILL NOT LAST LONG.

London, May 3.—The stock exchange interprets the news as meaning the war will not last long. Consols show improvement and money is plentiful.

SPAIN EVACUATES BAYAMO.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 3. — The Spaniards have evacuated Bayamo, an important town of Santiago de Cuba. It is occupied by Insurgent forces.

ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE

The Sternaman Case Opened—Some Evidence Objected to

Cayuga, Ont., May 4.—The second trial of Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman on the charge of having murdered her husband, George H. Sternaman, in the summer of 1896, was begun this morning before Chancellor Boyd.

The court room was crowded, and quite a number failed to obtain entrance. The prisoner does not appear to have suffered from her long confinement in jail, and the worry. She took her seat in the prisoners' dock without embarrassment, and looked calmly about on the staring crowd. When she recognized an acquaintance she nodded and smiled.

The selection of the jury was at once begun, and after twenty-four challenges had been made by the Crown and twenty by the defence, the list was agreed upon. The jurors are all farmers, and drawn from every township in the county except Rainham, in which the alleged murder occurred.

Mr. Johnston then stated that he proposed to object to the admissibility of the evidence taken before the extradition commission in Buffalo as evidence in this court, and he asked that the crown prosecutor should not touch on this evidence in addressing the jury until the Judge had given his decision. Mr. Osler said he would not touch on this evidence, and immediately began his opening address to the jury.

BLAZE AT TRURO

The Truro Condensed Milk and Canning Company's Buildings Destroyed

Truro, N. S., May 4.—The Truro Condensed Milk and Canning Company's premises were totally destroyed by fire at five o'clock this morning. The buildings were extensive, and the output of the factory large. Manager Thomas, who discovered the the fire, which apparently started near the chimney on the top floor, inspected the buildings at 10.30 last night, and says everything was then all right, and is at a loss to know how the fire started.

The fire was so fierce that the firemen were compelled to carry barricades in front of them to get near enough to the buildings to use their hose.

The residence of Mr. Thomas, fifty yards away, was also destroyed.

A large quantity of goods ready for shipment were destroyed. Loss about $50,000; insurance, $27,000. It is the intention of the company to rebuild at once.

SYMPATHY FOR SPAIN

Archbishop Lafleche's Organ Compares the United States to the Devil

Three Rivers, Que., May 4. — Le Trifluvien, the organ of Archbishop Lefleche, in an editorial, says:

"The Spaniards have sustained a disaster at Manila. We will weep with them at the lessening of the influence which will result from defeat, especially as it attaches to the arms of a Catholic power. God appears to have not yet finished giving the devil free play. Let us hope, however, that the last word has not yet been said."

Elton Harris, the bright Prince Edward Island writer, is author of a charming English love story. Professor Adam Shortt, of Kingston, contributes the leading article of the month, and in it criticises the social life of Canada, showing wherein we fail to attain the culture, courtesy and breadth of view attained by Educated Europeans. Reginald Gourlay, the well-known hunter, tells a good bear story, which Simonski has profusely illustrated. There are many other things in the number, including book reviews and national sport. The war has not been overlooked. John A. Ewan, of the Toronto Globe, writes about it under "Current Events Abroad," and the editor writes of "War and Finance," with special reference to the present struggle. One of the prettiest illustrations in the issue is a full page portrait of Julia Arthur, the well-known Canadian actress.

WRESTLING CONTEST

Doyle vs. Harrison—A Close and Exciting Contest in the Opera House Last Night

Last night at the Opera House, "Tom" Doyle, challenger of the world at 150 pounds, and R. N. Harrison, champion heavyweight wrestler of Canada, met for a purse of $200 and gate receipts, the winner to take all, after expenses were paid.

A fair sized audience was in attendance.

To kill time "Pete" and the "Glomer," both local characters, went on in a four-round boxing bout, in which things generally were badly mixed. The "Glomer" was aggressive, but 'Pete' was gritty and the "Glomer's" random swings were wasted on the air much more freuently than on "Pete's" anatomy. Probibly the "Glomer" was the best man, but "Pete" allowed him to do all the wind-jamming—in fact "Pete" stayed strictly out of the windmill business and what punching he did do was pretty much on the "Glomer's" mug. The bout, however, was appreciated—fully as much as the big event which followed—and the announcement that the contest was a draw was well received.

WRESTLING CONTEST.

For a purse of $200 and gate receipts, winner to take all after expenses are paid, R. N. Harrison, champion heavy-weight wrestler of Canada, and Tom Doyle, of Peterborough, challenger of the world at 150 pounds, wrestled for the supremacy.

The conditions of the match were, best two out of three falls, catch-as-catch-can and Greco-Roman; man winning fall in shortest time to have choice of deciding fall if necessary; match to be wrestled under Police Gazette rules; neither locks nor holds barred.

Mr "Lem" Felcher acted as referee and introduced the contestants in a speech which showed that he was quite equal to the occasion. The rules governing the contest were plainly stated and the necessary cautions were explicitly announced.

The contestants then took their places in the arena. Harrison, a gray-headed veteran closley approaching fifty, looked rather "prosperous" for a trained athlete and, so far as the audience was concerned, the feeling was considerably in favor of Doyle.

Doyle was one mass of well-developed muscle and although much smaller than his opponent, he looked decidedly a winner.

Mr. Doyle's representative won—on the toss of a coin—choice of the style of the first bout.

He chose "catch-as-catch-can," and the bout proceeded with Doyle the aggressor. Harrison acted throughout strictly on the defensive and avoided successfully all Doyle's attempts to floor him for twenty-five minutes, when, by a clever piece or work, Doyle secured the referee's decision.

A fifteen minute rest ensued, after which the contestants proceeded to try conclusions in Greco-Roman fashion. Harrison appeared to be "at home" in this style and Doyle's aggressiveness was noticeable for its absence. Harrison won this bout—hands down—in eighteen minutes.

Harrison's winning of this round gave him a choice of style for the next bout, and, of course, he chose Greco-Roman. Doyle worked hard for a victory, but Harrison, calm and collected, baffled his every attempt to secure a fall. Finally, Doyle's fouls could be passed over no longer and the referee awarded the bout and the match to Harrison.

The decision was on its merits and was received with tremendous applause.

Mr. "Lem" Felcher acted as referee and we will venture to say that a more impartial referee never appeared before a Peterborough audience. His decisions, from start to finish, were just, manly and conscientious.

Mr. Harrison, who is on the wrong side of fifty, certainly did himself proud, and announces that notwithstanding his gray hairs he is open for engagements.

FAIR WALL FLOWERS

Advice Which Will Not be Amiss to Peterborough Society

Lady Aberdeen has been giving society in Ottawa some good advice—advice which it is to be hoped, some of Peterborough's society people will mark, learn and inwardly digest.

At an entertainment Saturday afternoon at the Government House, previous to the appearance of the May Queen and her staff, her Excellency Lady Aberdeen addressed the young ladies in the Racquet court.

Her Excellency, among other things, dwelt at some length upon society in the capital. She referred to the manner in which strange ladies at dances are treated. Instead of ladies introducing the strangers to men, they monopolize the sterner sex and allow the strangers to stand around and adorn the room as wall flowers.

In England, Lady Aberdeen said, such a thing would never happen, but in every case strange ladies were introduced to men and never allowed to sit out a dance without having a partner.

Her Excellency also remarked that she would not probably have another chance to address the ladies. She was most earnest in her remarks, which were given in a most kindly manner, and it is trusted will have the effect of doing much needed good among Ottawa's "400."

A WELL-MERITED CASTIGATION

Rev. Father McGuire, of Hastings Makes Some Very Terse and Pointed Remarks

At the close of the morning service in St. Mary's church last Sunday, says the Hastings Star, the Rev. Father McGuire administered a well-merited castigation to those curses of communities, namely, gossip-mongers, scandal-pedlars and tale-bearers.

Popular opinion credits the female sex, notably old maids, with being the chief culprits but while the ancient maidens are prone to give full rein to their vocal powers, their younger sisters, widows and matrons are offenders, the latter, indeed—whom age, married life, and family ties, ought to have taught sense—are really the worse. They constitute themselves the guardians and moral preceptors of all who are not of their kith and kin. Every word and action of their younger sisters are commented upon, misconstrued, and exaggerated until the slightest indiscretion, to their diseased mind, assumes the "grossest" breach of morals.

But it is not the gossip shops and scandal factories of the Mrs. Gamps, the Mrs. Grundys, and the Poll Prys who alone merit a castigation, it is the squaw-men, the Uriah Heaps, those peering, prying, sneaking creatures, (of which there are a few in our midst) the lepers of a community, whom the public should brand as "unclean." No household is sacred; no character, however defenceless; no reputation, however unsoiled; not even the cloth of the ministry, is safe from the venom of those human vampires, and a dressing-down' occasionally from every pulpit, if it would not cure, it would have a decided salutary effect by holding the vipers up to public execration.

Light at the Wharf

Mr R. B. Rogers, Superintendent of the Trent waters, should see to it that an electric light is placed at the wharf early this year. There is every prospect of a good season's business for the boats, and it is scandalous that no light is placed at the wharf. We know Mr. Rogers will only have to be reminded of this to order the light at once.

APSLEY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Lawson took place last Sunday afternoon from the family residence, Lot 33, Con. 5, Anstruther. Services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Harding at the English curch, Apsley. Deceased had resided in Anstruther for nearly 20 years, coming from Montreal here, and had reached the advanced age of 79 years. Though ailing for the past two years, she bore her ills with a true Christian meekness, and her end was peace.

Seeding is pretty well advanced. The spring has been unusually favorable for the farmers.

The drive has long since passed through here, and the Rathbun Company's pay-day is expected this week.

The members of the Presbyterian Church of Apsley are making great preparations for their annual entertainment on the 24th. The different committees were appointed last week and all are working with a good will to make it a success. Posters will be out in a few days.

Rev. Mr. Gould, of Chandos, who had a horse stolen some time ago as was noticed in your paper, has recovered the same. He followed the track, and after a trip of about 25 miles found the young men who took it. He at first denied all knowledge of the horse, but on Mr. Gould promising not to prosecute if he gave it up, finally told him where it was. Mr. Gould found it near where the young fellow had left it, and came home satisfied to get the horse without further trouble.

Sucker fishing is the rage just now. Nearly everyone who can get a spear or net is out, and generally have good success.

The baseball club is lining up for the summer campaign. They have a strong club in Apsley and will make it interesting for visitors this season.

U. S. TORPEDO BOAT DAMAGED.

Key West, May 5.—Reports have been received here that the torpedo boat Winslow now negaged in the blockade was fire dupon from shore and seriously damaged yesterday by a Spanish field battery about eight miles to the east of Sagua la Grande. Acting Admiral Converse, of the Montgomery, states that the field gun was placed in position on a high promontory, and that the shot struck the Winslow on the larboard side above the water line, opening a large gap ten feet from the bow. The first intimation that the crew had of the catastrophe was the heavy listing of the vessel to port. She is totally disabled for action, but is in no danger, unless a heavy sea should rise before she reaches port, for which she is making slowly, the concussion of th eshot having deranged her machinery somewhat. Lieut. Bernadow states that for some houirs previous to the infliction of the damage, shots were heard and that he has no has no doubt the crew of the field gun were practicing for this range of his vessel, which had been daily passing the promontory at the regular distance of a mile, for a week or more. Upon being struck the Winslow turned and steamed out of range, her stern-chaser replying to the field-battery, which, after one or two more ineffectual shots limbered up and withdrew at a gallop.

HOW THE SPANIARDS MAY COAL.

New York, May 5.—In an interview cable dto the World, from London, H. W. Wilson, a noted British naval expert, says: "The destroyers with the Spanish fleet are very dangerous in smooth water, but in a heavy sea are not so formidable. Therefore Sampson should attack as far east as may be, as the coal burned in their boilers leaves the bunkers empty for coal protection. This is serious in the destroyers where the engines and boilers are protected by the coal. The destroyers have been coaled in a seaway by a large ship but merely British sympathy prevents British colliers from going to help the Spaniards. The torpedo boats could cross with some difficulty under sail and an anchorage that might b eused by Spain is the Gulf of Ocoa on the Hayti coast. There is a very good unfrequented harbor at Martinique or many on the South American coast. Spain might temporarily seize an open bay in the United States coast, but this would be very risky and would mean her probable destruction. I see nothing in the neutrality declarations to prevent the Spanish from coaling from colliers in a neutral port, provided they do not make a prolonged stay."

THE SPANISH BOULANGER.

London, May 5.—Special desppatches from Madrid indicate that the question of the future Government of the country is beginning to be discussed as if the figures of the Queen Regent and King Alfonso had already disappeared from the stage of Spanish politics. General Weyler is doubed "the Spanish Boulanger," and in some quarters, military dictatorship in his hands is regarded as probable. But the wider opinion is that he will not succeed any better than Boulanger did.

WHAT DEPEW THINKS.

Cleveland, O., May 5.—Hon Chauncey M. Depew expresses the opinion that if President McKinley had been left to himself there would have been no war. In Congress, Mr. Depew continued, there are certain elements always clamoring for a fight, because war talk sometimes is excellent political capital. Mr. Depew thinks the present crisis makes for an Anglo-Saxon alliance.

CONTRABAND GOODS.

New York, May 5.—With regard to the effect of the neutrality laws on trade between Canada and the United States it may be said that there is no apparent reason why there should be any serious restriction on purely commercial trade in any articles destined for ordinary public use. Authorities on international law make three classes of goods in time of war: 1. Those which are always contraband, such as munitions of war. 2 Those which are never contraband, such as articles not used in military or naval operations. 3. Commodities which may or may not be contraband, the question depending upon their destination and use.

In the last named class are coal, provisions, clothing and other articles. Coal destined for naval use is clearly contraband; intended for pacific use, it is not contraband. The same is true of breadstuffs. They would be contraband as army or navy supplies, but not when intended for ordinary consumption by the people. Coal shipped from Canada to Key West or Porto Rico, and obviously sent for naval use, would be clearly contraband, but shipped to Boston in the usual course of trade and as a commercial commodity it would not be contraband.

U. S. TROOPS A POOR LOT.

Camp U. S. army, Chichamauga, May 5.—A correspondent writes: The Tennesse State militia, which has been quartered about three miles from here, has been mustered, and left to-day for Nashville, where they will go into camp for about three weeks. They will be well drilled, and, it is understood, will then go to Tampa and join the regulars quartered there.

The State Guard, the infantry of which is mostly composed of clerks, bookkeepers, etc., are generally very young men, who do not look as if they will be able to stand even a slightly hard campaign. I spoke to several of them. They have evidently been gathered from every State in the Union. One young man whom I met is a reporter on the Boston Herald. He joined the Tennessee Guard about six years ago, at a time when he was temporarily in Chattanooga, and since then has not handled a musket. Another was a boy with a very rabid appetite for cigarettes, who came fresh from the variety stage in Chicago, and boasted loudly of being able to do a better contortion act than any man alive.

I witnessed there parade this morning and can safely say that neither in appearance or drill do they approach our Toronto volunteers. Only about half of them have uniforms. They are equipped with the old-fashioned one shot muskets and a long bayonet. The cavalry brigade of the National Guard are, however, a great improvement on the infantry in point of appearance; but are likewise behind in equipment being armed with old-time carbines.

It was an ideal day in the park today for the native regulars, who are quartered there, but the men from the cold Northwest complain very much of the heat. It will, however be a good training for the Cuban climate. They all hailed with delight the news of the important victory of the American navy at Manila, claiming it brings them nearer the end of the war—nearer Cuba. The New York Times has a bulletin in the camp, which is surrounded all day by a cheering crowd of militia. Despatch riders gallop here and there to the distant regiments with the latest news.

There are seven thousand soldiers now at Tampa—fifteen regiments of infantry, one of cavalry, and ten batteries and light artillery—mostly just arrived from Mobile and New Orleans. It is stated to-day here on good authority that the second and tenth cavalry will leave Chattanooga in the course of a couple of days.

Arrangements for transportation of the troops to Cuba are being rushed along. Two boats of the Plant Line two of the Mallory Line, two of the Morgan Line and two of the Merchants' and Mariners Line, all capable of carrying 6,000 troops each, are in the harbor under orders. It is said, however, that the railroads are proving themselves incapable of handling the immense supplies that are being rushed there from the north.

Men are working night and day, laying new sidings, and the railroad people are securing more locomotives and cars at Tampa and here to handle army goods.

A big shipmnet of guns passed through this State yesterday for Gomez's army—mostly Springfield pattern.

U. S. LOSS SAID TO EXCEED 2000.

New York, May 5.—The New York Sun publishes the following exclusive despatch from San Francisco: Admiral Kirkland, of the Mare Island navy yard California, is said to have received definite information as to the American losses in the battle of Manila. The information was in the form of a cipher telegram, from which it appeared that the American losses were simply enormous the cruiser Baltimore, which stood the shock of the battle, having alone lost two hundred men out of her full complement of three hundred, and the flagship Olympia having her crew decimated. The loss on the Baltimore cannot b eexplained, except on the ground that that ship was regarded as unlucky by sailors, who deserted in large numbers. She is known as a "storm ship" since her last cruise to San Francisco, and many would not ship on her.

Admiral Kirkland has been ordered to prepare a hospital ship and stores for 2,000 men for three months as quickly as possible, and certain merchant vessels at San Francisco have been chartered to carry coal and ammunition under the convoy of the Charleston. Admiral Kirkland admitted that the nation will be taxed heavily to meet exigencies of the occasion. "Without doubt," said Admiral Kirkland, "there has been serious loss in Dewey's fleet. He went into a foreign harbor, doubtless mined and heavily fortified, with vessels not pretending to be armoured, and the result was a victory for him over the Spanish fleet, but how about his damage from the forts?" A lieutenant who was seen to-night said he had reason to believe that on the Baltimore alone two hundred men were killed, and that this was a criterion of the effect of the battle on the rest of the fleet. He furthermore was of the opinion that this constituted the bulk of the crew of the Baltimore, and it is known here privately that she sailed from Hong Kong short-handed.

Admiral Kirkland, speculating on the engagement, could only see the general result of the battle. He outlined Dewey's course, showing how he rushed matters, taking the Spanish fleet unawares and hammering them unmercifully. "But," said the admiral, "people lose sight of the fact that meantime Manila forts manned by skilful gunners, were pouring a rain of shot into Dewey's fleet, particularly the Olympia and Baltimore and that is what caused destruction on these ships, particularly the latter." Another officer of experience pointed out that Admiral Kirkland's reticence was owing to the department's endeavors to secure the services of merchant and mail service officers for auxiliary cruisers. Said he: "When the true situation of things resulting from the fire on the ships and forts at Manila has become known it will, in plain words, frighten nine men out of ten from enlisting." It is believed that the use of grape and shrapnel by the Spaniards is responsible for the heavy American losses.

Hebrew Texts of the Old Testament.

The most ancient Hebrew manuscript of any part of the Bible is in St. Petersburg and dates no earlier than the tenth century. More than 2,000 copies of the Hebrew Old Testament have been compared, and very few variations have been found. This is accounted for by the fact that from the time when the Hebrew canon was formed, and even before that time, very strict rules were laid down for the scribes who copied the Bible. The lines and letters were counted, and each copy had to correspond precisely with the one from which it was taken. They calculated, for instance, that there were 5,245 verses in the Pentateuch, 22,206 in the whole Bible and 78,100 letters in Genesis. All of these rules and calculations were called the Massorah tradition, and about the tenth century the college of rabbis of Tiberias, on the Euphrates, decided upon a standard Bible, or "authorized version."

The Hebrew consonants alone had been written down up to that time, the pronunciation being a matter of tradition. Now a system of vowel signs was devised, fixing the sense in many instances. The vowels are just as important in Hebrew as in English: so it is easy to see how necessary this reform was. The English consonants b r d may be read board or bread, or bored or braid, and if they occurred in a sentence without the vowels we should have to guess by the connection which vowels were necessary. It is possible that after a text had been adopted all older manuscripts were destroyed, or more probably were neglected because of their defects, and hence they have altogether disappeared.—Review of Reviews.

OUR MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES

Since the Times began its midnight telegraph service, its circulation has been rapidly forging ahead. We have entered into a permanent contract with the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company for the Associated press despatches, similar to the Toronto morning papers. We are now in a position therefore to record the events transpiring up until midnight in our issue next morning.

We want to add at least 2,000 additional subscribers to our list before the first of July next and we mean to succeed, too.

Our lists are open to inspection by intending advertisers.

THE ACT OF A MAN

To all who have paid sufficient attention to secure a fair idea of the situation, the offer of the Hon. Mr. Mulock to give two hundred thousand dollars to the fund of the collapsed Farmers' Loan Company, was the act of a big hearted man and a gentleman. It is true he carries some responsibility but there is not one chance in a hundred that he would have been obliged to pay that amount legally, and he could have fought all claims for years. Notwithstanding this, several small-souled writers have sneered at his offer. The Mail and Empire, in "The Flaneur" column, gives a well deserved rebuke to these unscrupulous journalists. It says: "Mr. Mulock's settlement with the Farmers Loan Company, is, in my opinion, as satisfactory to the shareholders of that unfortunate concern as it is honorable to the Postmaster-General. Whatever any one may think of his moral responsibility, the legal responsibility is quite an unknown quantity, and there are few men who, in the circumstances, would voluntarily hand over two hundred thousand dollars to a bankrupted and discredited concern. To a man of Mr. Mulock's means such a claim could have been fought in the courts for years and years with long odds in his favor. While Mr. Mulock's remissness has cost him dear, his example is one which, while it may not be often imitated, is highly worthy of liberal recognition and praise.

WHAT IS WAR?

What, speaking in a quiet, unofficial language, is the net purport and upshot of War? To my own knowledge for example there dwell and toil in the British village of Dumdrudge usually some five hundred souls. From these, by certain "natural enemies" of the French there are successively selected, during the French war say thirty able-bodied men. Dumdrudge at her own expense, has suckled and nursed them; she has not without difficulty and sorrow, fed them up to manhood, and even trained them to crafts so that one can weave, another build, another hammer, etc. Nevertheless, amid much weeping and swearing, they are selected, all dressed in uniform, and shipped away at the public charge, some thousand miles away, and fed there until wanted. And now, to that same spot are thirty similar French artisans from a French Dumdrudge, in like manner wending on until at length, after infinite effort, the two come into actual juxtaposition, and thirty stand fronting thirty, each, with a gun in his hands. Straightway the word "fire" is given and they blow the soul out of each other, and in place of sixty brisk, useful craftsmen, of the world has sixty dead carcasses which it must bury, and anon shed tears for. Had these men any quarrel? Busy, as the devil is, not the smallest! They lived far enough apart; were total strangers each one to the other. How then? Simpleton? Their governors had fallen out, and instead of shooting each other, had cunning to make these poor blockheads shoot.—Thomas Carlyle in Sartor Resartus.

Where is that vast influx of "American" population? Where is that immense increase in traffic, which the Canadian transportation companies were to enjoy in the event of war? It is strange that the parents of the half grown boys in the town cannot see that these same boys are being defrauded out of what is really their right, by being allowed to give up school. Some day the men of the coming generation will discover the truth of this, but it will be too late then. One father declares that his boy has already more education than he got when he was a boy, and that there is no use of his wasting any more time at school. The boy might make a better and wiser man than his father, and the world be none the wiser.

SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

TERRIBLE CONDITION OF SPANISH TROOPS

Mobile, May 3.—The American bark, John R Stanhope, is in port from Honduras. Since she left Mobile last time the vessel has been in Manzanilla on the southeast coast of Cuba, which port Captain P. V. Marshall left on March 26th, and the master tells a surprising story to the Associated Press representative, of the military conditions existing there, being verified by the mate, Thomas Coburn. A cavalryman, who could converse in good English, told them that there were 40 000 Spanish soldiers in the city, and that eight hundred had died during the week the Stanhope was there, of neglect and want. From the same source Captain Marshall learned that the troops were so discontented with their treatment that they would willingly go over to the insurgents, but the insurgents distrusted them and refused all overtures for such a union. "The troops were quartered in the streets and at night slept under verandas and in doorways. They demanded accomodation from the citizens but it was refused them and they were powerless to enforce it. The rations for a day consisted of barley water, a small portion of bread and a small piece of pork. This was dished out by officers and carried away, all in the same dish, and the soldiers devoured it like ravenous dogs. They were ragged and dirty in appearance, unsoldierly in bearing and discipline and their courage had been killed by vicissitudes and ill-treatment. One night on the outskirts of the city, Mate Coburn saw soldiers huddled together like animals on the floor of an old stable. The mortality among the soldiery is the result of their condition and not of the climate. "American troops need have no fear' said the mate. "While the terrible mortality is not exaggerated in the despatches to this country there are more deaths from starvation and its concommitant diseases than from any climate maladies." From the best information obtainable Captain Marshall is of the opinion that the whole of the 40 000 troops driven into Manzanilla from the province of Santiago De Cuba by the insurgents are only waiting a favorable opportunity to openly revolt.

TURKEY NEUTRAL

Constantinople, May 3.—The Porte has notified United States Minister Angell that Turkey will maintain strict neutrality in the war between Spain and the United States. The American legation has received more than 2,000 offers of volunteers for the American navy—chiefly Greeks—some of whom declare themselves ready to pay their fare to the United States in grateful remembrance of America's aid in the Greek War of Independence

A BRUSH OFF CIENFUEGOS

Atlanta, Ga., May 3.—A special from Key West to the Journal says: "The Marblehead has arrived with the Argonata, the Nashville's prize. While the Nashville was away trying to capture a mail steamer two Spanish gunboats came out and attacked the Marblehead. The Hornet returned the fire, the Marblehead coming into the action soon after. After firing broadside the Spaniards turned about. Captain McCalla thinks he sank one of the Spaniards and probably both. The firing occurred off Cienfuegos.

CRITICIZING THE GOVERNMENT

Madrid, May 3.—noon.—An article written by General Weyler has appeared in a newspaper at Palma, capital of the Island of Majorica, where the General was born and where his home is situated. The General says that if the Government had been prepared Spain would now be covered with glory. Continuing, General Weyler asserts that "the Spanish army and navy are superior in discipline to the Yankees, whose lack of discipline was manifested in the loss of the Maine." General Weyler then accused the Spanish Government of weakness and concluded with making pessimistic predictions regarding the future.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL LANDING

New York, May 3.—A Key West despatch to the Evening Post says: Another successful landing has been made in Cuba, Lieut. Morin, engineer, having been able to join the army of Gomez and assist it in work connected with the preparations for the invasion and advance on Havana to-day. It appears that within a short time a large force of American regulars will have followed him, and the intention of the Government to wage a brisk and businesslike campaign in Cuba is made plain. For a week the blockading squadron has been examining the coast and making maps and memoranda of the fortifications new and old, and drawing new charts of the adjacent waters.

HEAVY FIRING OFF CAPE RACE

St. Johns, N'f'l., May 3.—The telegraph operators at Cape Race and Trepassey, on the south coast of this island report having heard heavy firing of guns in the offing on Saturday night. The firing lasted 15 minutes, and, to the operators conveyed the impression that the ships were engaged in a sea fight. The telegraph wires have since been interrupted and no further news has been obtainable. The firing is described as having been heavy enough to shake houses in the vicinities mentioned. All possible steps have been taken to obtain, if possible, confirmation of these reports.

ENTIRE U. S. SQUADRON SAILS.

Madrid, May 3.—An official despatch from Havana says the entire American squadron has sailed in the direction of Key West.

BRITAIN MAKES A CHANGE.

London, May 3.—It is reported that Sir Julian Pauncefote will be succeeded by Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, the permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

London, May 4.—One of the deep mysteries of the past few weeks in connection with the Spanish-American war has been solved if a despatch received here from Madrid is to be relied upon. About three weeks ago, the Spanish Government purchased nearly 20,000 tons of coal in various European ports, but nobody ever knew what had become of the fuel, or whether it had been delivered or otherwise. The despatch referred to throws light upon the subject.

The statement goes that the coal was quietly, and with the greatest secrecy, conveyed to Corunna, a port on the north coast of Spain. While this was being done the Spanish squadron lay at Cape Verde, and naturally attracted the attention of American naval men in that direction more than in any other. As soon as the coal had been duly delivered it was rapidly placed on board four fast transports, which were held in readiness to start at a moment's notice. Three days before the Spanish squadron sailed from Cape Verde these vessels put out of Corunna for the same destination, the object of the Spanish Government being that the transports and the fleet should meet at some port considerably to the east of Porto Rico: that the warships should convoy the colliers into port, and that a coaling station should there be established as a basis for naval operations in Cuabn waters. The reason why the two fleets did not sail together is supposed to be the apprehension of the Spanish Government that if it were known that so large a supply of fuel were being sent to Porto Rico an attempt in force might be made by the American fleet to intercept it. It is stated that the coal vessels are pursuing a course out of the ordinary track of South Atlantic traffic and that the three days' start given them will enable them to reach the point of rendezvous about the same time as the Spanish squadron.

WON'T GIVE A CLEARANCE.

Ottawa, May 4.—The Beaver Line steamer Lake Ontario has been sold to the United States Government for use as a troopship, but the collector at Montreal, upon the advice of the Minister of Customs, has refused to trant her a clearance from that port, pending communication with the Imperial Government as to whether her departure would be a breach of the neutrality laws.

THE SAILORS WERE BETRAYED.

Madid, May 4.—El Nacional, the organ of General Weyler, says: "Yesterday, when the first intelligence arriver, nothing better occurred to Admiral Berbejo, Minister of Marine, than to send to all the newspapers comparative statistics of the two contending squadrons. By this comparison be sought to direct public attention to the immense superiority of a squadron of iron-clads over a squadron of wooden vessels dried up by heat in those latitudes. But in this document Spain can see nothing kind. Spain undoubtedly sees therein the heroism of our marine; but she sees also, and above all the nefarious crime of the Government. It is unfair to blame the enemy for possessing forces superior to ours; but what is worty of being blamed with all possible vehemence is this infamous Government, which allowed our inferiority without neutralizing it by means of preparations. In Corregidor there were only a few wretched guns taken from the warships a few days before. This is the truth. Our sailors have been basely delivered over to the grape shot of the Yankees, a fate nobler and more worthy of respect than those baneful Ministers who brought about the first victory and its first victims."

A SARCASTIC NEWSPAPER.

London, May 4.—The Westminster Gazette, in speaking of the assumption of American newspapers "that the United States can do precisely what she chooses with Manila or the Philippine Islands," says it much fears that "this view will entail disagreeable surprises," adding: "In entering European politics, the United States will probably discover that these simple ideas of doing what you will with your own have become obsolete in Europe. The first symptoms are likely to be marked by an increase of the anti-American pressure, which, if Great Britain could be counted to join in it, would speedily lead to inter-

AN OFFER FROM GERMANY.

New York, May 4.—It is given out here on Good authority that Germany has offered the United States a coaling station in the Pacific.

It is reported that a Spanish spy was captured on the St. Paul this morning.

SPANISH JEWELS TO BE PAWNED.

London, May 4.—A sensational rumor is current in financial circles that, owing to the hard straits to which the Spanish Government is reduced, the greatest difficulty is being experienced in equipping the Spanish squadron at Cadiz, and that with the permission of the Cabinet, the Queen Regent is negotiating with the Rothschilds for the purpose of raising a loan of £5,000,000 on the crown jewels, the money to be applied in hastening the fitting out of the fleet. It is reported that the Rothschilds have practically decided to make the loan upon terms which give them the right to realize upon their pledge within a certain defined period after the close of the present war. Those conversed with history are reminding their friends that upon a certain occasion in English history an English king took precisely the same step as that now credited to the Queen Regent in order to carry on warlike operations. Financiers, when speaking of the reported transaction, smile cynically, while observing that the Spanish crown jewels if they once leave Madrid are not likely to return there, judging from the present state of Spanish fortunes. It is known, however, that the Queen Regent, who is above all a mother maintaining her son's possessions, is prepared to make any sacrifice to spare Spain the humiliation of having territory torn away from her by the United States, and that it is she more than any other person who is responsible for the firm, though inert, attitude which Spain has taken.

TO OCCUPY PORTO RICO.

Key West, May 4.—Later intelligence regarding the movements of the fleet show that it is the intention of Admiral Sampson to destroy or occupy Porto Rico before the Spanish fleet arrives. After establishing or destroying a base of supplies there, the American fleet will put to sea in search of the Spanish vessels.

A GARRISON OF 80,000.

Madrid, May 4.—Premier Sagasta today declared that the Americans would find Manila a hard place to capture. It was defended with modern guns and had a garrison of 80,000 men. The absence of news indicated that the Americans were not having everything their own way.

AN ABSURD REPORT.

Toronto, May 4.—Senor Du Bosc told the News this morning that the New York report in a morning paper to the effect that Senor Manuel Rafael Angulo, lately the official representative of the Cuban autonomists at Washington is acting as Spain's secret agent is utter rot. "The gentleman came from Havana two weeks before the departure of the Spanish Legation from the American Capital and had no official business whatever with Spain's representatives. He was simply a special commissioner delegated from the autonomist Cabinet in Cuba to negotiate a commercial treaty between the Spanish West Indies and the United States."

THE ERICSSON MISSING.

New York, May 4.—A special to the Evening Journal from Miami, Fla., says: The torpedo boat Ericsson has been missing since Saturday, and it is feared she was sunk in a terrific gale which prevailed. She was short of coal. Ericsson was commanded by Lieut. N. R. Usher.

PRISONS FULL OF SUSPECTS.

St. Thomas, May 4.—Refugees from Porto Rico report that the garrison at Ponce has been depleted to defend other ports on the Spanish coast, and it is said that a small body of insurgents could take the town. The rebels expect the arrival of Colonel Lacret hourly to inaugurate a revolt. The prisons are filled with political suspects. Three women, wives of suspected insurgents, are in jail.

TO PAVE THE WAY.

Key West, May 4.—The Government despatch boat Leyden left here on Monday with General Nunez, J. E. Cartaya and Captain Dorst, of the American army, who will be landed near Matanzas to pave the way for an invasion of American troops.

RIOTING AT MADRID.

London, May 4.—A Madrid special says: Many officers in Mufti were in the mob Monday night, and were foremost in inciting the people to attack the Ministers' residences, and were loudest in calling for cheers for Weyler.

BRITISH CONSUL ATTACKED

Kingston, Jamaica, May 4.—Trouble of a most serious nature to British interests is said to have occurred at San-

NARROWLY ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE

New York, May 4.—The American consul at Baracoa, Cuba, has reached here. He narrowly escaped with his life. He found that the British consul, on account of his friendliness to American and Cuban refugees, had been subjected to a great deal of abuse. He is in fear of being assassinated.

TORPEDO BOAT FIRED UPON.

Key West, May 4.—The United States torpedo boat Ericsson was fired upon Monday off Havana. The fire was returned by the gunboat Willmington.

JAPAN INTERESTED.

Yokohoma, May 4.—The situation created by the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Manila is regarded as being deeply interesting to Japan.

MORE FORTS DESTROYED.

New York, May 4.—A World despatch from Key West, May 3, says: The gunboat Willmington early this morning destroyed a Spanish fort 4 miles east of Cotima, and also fired upon a troop of cavaly passing Joruca Beach. Two men were seen to drop. Later the Willmington reduced several forts in course of erection.

CABLE COMMUNICATION STILL INTERRUPTED.

London, May 4.—The Hong Kong-Manila cable is still interrupted. The reported surrender of Manila is therefore a matter of conjecture.

INSURGENTS TO ASSIST U. S.

FORCES AT MANILA.

New York, May 4.—A Hong Kong despatch to the world says: Chief Aquinaldo has arrived and conferred with Consul Wildman. He has agreed to submit to Commodore Dewey's orders and he will conduct the land forces.

NEW YORK SUBMARINE MINES

New York, May 4.—The work of laying the submarine mines in the harbor of New York is being pushed. The work is under the charge of Major John G. D. Knight of the Engineer Corps at Willett's Point and Lieut. Robert McGregor at Sandy Hook. They have a large force of men at work, but owing to the heavy navigation the work is progressing slowly. The Engineer Corps have for use at Sandy Hook alone eight tons of dynamite. Admiral Erben will forward to the Navy Department to-morrow a list of 14 boats that he has selected as suitable for the Mosquito fleet to patrol the harbor. He will recommend the immediate detail of boats to protect the mine fields and to enforce the harbor regulations.

NOT VERIFIED

Hong Kong, May 4.—The report of the arrival of the despatch boat McColloch at Mier's Bay has not been verified.

250,000 CURED.

Thousands of young men are made nervous wrecks, unfit for business, social pleasures or home duties by evil habits in youth, later excesses, or private diseases. W. C. Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I was weak and nervous; no ambition; back weak; pimples on the face; thin and haggard; eyes sunken and cheeks hollow; dreams and drains at night; memory poor; varicocele and weak parts; irritable; sinking spells; specks before the eyes; lack of confidence; no energy; and many other complaints. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. I am a Man Again. I have gained twenty-six pounds and am strong mentally, physically and sexually. It is a wonderful treatment."

TRAINMAN'S TOOTH ACHED

So He Decided to Get a Freight Train to Pull It.

"Say, did you hear about my friend Bill?" said a trainman. "Well, that fellow has made me laugh more times than once. Not long ago Bill gets a jumping toothache. He wants to have that tooth out, but he don't want to pay the money, nor he ain't got the nerve to have the thing done. All the same that tooth is keeping him up at night, and Bill he almost goes wild. 'Either me or that tooth,' says Bill; 'one or the other. I ain't going to stand this sort of life.'

"All the same, when Bill starts to go to the dentist his knees begin to bend, and he is so scared that the tooth stops hurting. But when he turns back and reaches the house the tooth is plugging him again. Now, Bill thinks of a great scheme. What does he do but buy a piece of strong string (say, you know this kind of silk thread?), and he waxes that and ties it to his tooth so tight that it cannot come off. Then Bill walks down to the railroad station. You see, it was his idea to tie the string to a freight car, and then when the train started it would jerk the measly tooth out.

"He finds a freight and ties the string to the coupler of the last car and stands around to wait until the train starts. Well, sir, he begins to feel chilly about the gills. The more he thinks of the time when the train is going to move the worse he feels. Every time a whistle blows he jumps. 'Well, I guess I'd better untie,' thinks Bill, 'and come again another day,' but when he goes to loosen the string he finds that it's no go, and he can't jerk the thing loose because the other end is on the tooth.

"Well, sir, that train begins to start, and Bill he doesn't have the nerve to stand back, so he just trots on behind like a little pup on the end of a chain. 'Where are you going, Bill?' hollers out a feller. 'You seem to be in a hurry.' Well, sir, Bill starts to swear like mad, but the train is beginning to go a little fast, and he has to commence to lope like a jack rabbit. You see the train had been going through the city, but now it started to get outside. Bill didn't have the nerve to stand still, so he just humped himself after the train like it was something that he wanted bad.

"'Say, mister, why are you running that way?' asked a brakeman who got on to the thing. Of course that sort of guy made Bill madder than ever, but he had to lope on. Lucky for Bill the train had to slow up for a crossing, and while it stopped he borrowed a knife and cut the string. But, say, it was funny to see Bill chasing the freight."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Catching Thieves by Code.

"Most folks think an elevator starter has a very easy job, but they're wrong," said the man who has charge of the elevators in a La Salle street skyscraper.

"It seems to keep you busy, but the work looks easy," remarked a bystander.

"You think just what the others do—that we have nothing to do but tell the conductor of each elevator when to start up," replied the starter. "Seeing that the elevators are not overloaded and that they are not all either at the top or bottom of the building at once is the easiest part of our work. The hardest is stopping thieves. Pickpockets and overcoat lifters work the skyscrapers regularly. I've spoiled their game in this building, though."

"How?"

"I have arranged a code of signals by which I can, without attracting the attention of anybody else, warn the elevator conductor to keep his eye on certain persons while in the car, see them if they do any pocketpicking and notice at which floor they leave the car. For instance, if on a cold day like this two men well dressed, but without overcoats, come in here, as soon as they step into an elevator I say, 'That's all right, No. 7.' All you see is that the elevator starts up at once. The elevator man, however, knows that I suspect the last persons entering his car may be overcoat thieves, and it is his duty to notice at what floor they leave the car and, if possible, which room they enter. If instead of saying, 'That's all right, No. 7,' I had said, 'Go ahead, 7,' the elevator conductor would have known I suspected the last two men—for pickpockets work in pairs—in his car were pickpockets, and he would keep a constant watch on them."

"How does your system work?"

"Well, we've caught four pickpockets and seven overcoat thieves already this winter, and the season isn't half ended. The public doesn't realize how much it owes to the elevator starters, who are generally considered a lazy lot of fellows with an easy job."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Bismarck of Jewish Descent.

Few people are aware that Prince Bismarck is of Hebrew descent. He derives his Jewish blood from his mother, whose father—Anastasius Menken, one of the favorite bureaucrats of Frederick the Great—was of Hebrew parentage. Although of late it has evidently appeared politic to the prince to countenance the anti-Semitic movement both in Germany and Austria, yet while in office he invariably showed himself a good friend to the Jewish nation and chose the Hebrew banker at Berlin, Baron von Bleichroeder, as his most trusted confidant. Indeed, in those days he was so well disposed toward the Jews that he even discussed the advisability of marrying his sons to Jewesses on the ground that it would bring money into the family again and likewise "improve both morally and physically the Bismarck breed."—International Review.

LITTLE SISTER.

Little sister's prim and sly,
With a keen and knowing eye,
With a bright and roguish glance,
Sharper than a soldier's lance.
At that glance my faint heart goes
Down and hobnobs with my toes.
Can she know the boon I seek—
Why I call three times a week?
How she watches all my moves—
Ah, I hope she quite approves!
And she treats me to such airs,
While my darling is up stairs.

She's discovered why I call!
Little sister knows it all!

—Harry Romaine in Ladies' Home Journal.

SHE THOUGHT IT STRANGE.

Naggley Went Out For His Little Walk Anyway.

Naggley threw down the evening paper he had been reading, yawned and stretched and said he guessed he'd go out for a little while, whereupon Mrs. Naggley said:

"Where are you going?"

"Oh, no place in particular."

"No, I s'pose not. It's anything or any place to get away from home with you. It's mighty strange that you can't content yourself for any length of time in your own home—mighty strange. I was reading this from Goethe today, 'He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home.' I said to myself when I read it, 'I wish to the Lord Joe Naggley felt more like that.'

"Mrs. Goethe must have been a happy woman to have a husband who could say that. I'll bet a dime she did not have to sit alone evening after evening while Mr. Goethe ripped and paced around anywhere and everywhere, just so he needn't have to be at home with the wife he'd promised to love and honor and cherish, and who had done all she could to make home pleasant for him, and I'll bet Mr. Goethe didn't belong to three or four lodges and clubs that ought to be wiped out of existence, so the members of them would stay at home with their wives, where they belong.

"It's mighty strange that a man can talk so sweet and nice about a home of his own when he's trying to delude some girl into marrying him, and then when he gets her and a home he wants to be on the gad all the time. I say it's mighty strange.

"How many times before we were married did you make me sing 'Home, Sweet Home,' for you, and now if I try to sing it you look as if you'd taken a dose of ipecac. And look at that motto, 'There's no place like home,' that you made me work before we were married so as to have it all ready for our own home. It doesn't appeal to you any more than it appeals to that lamppost out there across the street. I'd like to know why.

"The land knows I do all I can to make home peaceful and pleasant for you. You couldn't scrape up a tablespoonful of dirt in this whole house, and I'll put my cooking against that of any other woman I know of—yes, I'd put it against Mrs. Goethe's even.

"I'll bet that her husband appreciated her a good deal more than you appreciate me, and I'll bet her home wasn't a bit cleaner than mine, nor her— What's that? What did you say about her tongue? I pity the poor woman if she didn't have a tongue.

"There never was a married woman yet who didn't need all the tongue the Lord gave her, and I don't know what I'd do if it wasn't for my tongue, and—Oh, yes; rush off as usual right when your wife is speaking! It shows just how much you respect her. It's mighty strange how soon men change after they are married—mighty strange!"—St.

The Chrysanthemum.

When the plant was introduced, about 1840, it was only the small daisylike flower, now only seen as a rule in cottage gardens, which was highly prized as a novelty. The taste for growing and showing it began early, and before 1860 there were many chrysanthemum societies in existence, among them the Stoke Newington, which formed the nucleus of the National society. Yet it was not until 1859, when the plants suffered severly from early frosts, that there was any idea of growing it under glass. The Japanese variety was noticed in 1864 as a novelty, "very curious and interesting, but scarcely ornamental." How little did the author of these remarks suspect what a future was before the plant he so summarily set aside! Three years later, however, we find Japanese varieties recommended with pompom and incurved, and since then they have ever increased in favor.

The gorgeously colored, moplike blooms now exhibited every autumn would certainly astonish that writer of 30 years ago. The golden and bronze shades of the chrysanthemum suited the taste of the promoters of the "high art" æsthetic movement of a few years ago, which, if it had no other merit, helped to bring this flower more forward and revived the culture of sunflowers, which were fast becoming extinct in our gardens.—Longman's Magazine.

A Kindergarten for Ashburnham

At the regular meeting of the Ashburnham School Board, besides the action of the regular business the matter of establishing a kindergarten in connection with the school was discussed. Most of the trustees seemed to be in favor of the step as they believed the organization of such a branch would be of material benefit to the school. The trustees and Mr. Matchett are looking up information on the subject, and it is altogether probable this branch will be added to the school work.

A MONAGHAN MYSTERY

Discovery of a Newly Made Grave on Mr. William Fry's Farm.

From the Dimensions of the Grave it is Judged to Have Been That of an Infant—Intense Excitement

Monaghan has a mystery—deep, dark and full of possibilities—one that forms the sole topic of every conversation and which grows more mysterious as time passes on and no solution is forthcoming.

The entire population of the township is stirred to the very core and developments are anxiously awaited.

It appears that William Fry, while taking a walk over his farm last Sunday morning made a startling discovery. In the centre of a large field of fall wheat he came suddenly on a newly made grave. The soil bore every evidence of having been disturbed only a few hours previously and from the dimensions of the grave Mr Fry judged it to have been that of an infant.

The discovery naturally horrified Mr. Fry and after marking the position of the grave he hurried home and lost no time in notifying the neighbors.

By two o'clock in the afternoon a large crowd of neighbors had assembled at Mr. Fry's and headed by Mr. T. A. Lillico visited the fall wheat field and the solitary grave. The grave was opened without delay but, strange to relate, was found to be empty and a promising sensation would there and then have been flattened out had not Mr. Fry suddenly recollected that the grave of the morning bore no resemblance to that of the afternoon.

The grave instead of being nicely rounded out and carefully padded, as it appeared when first discovered, was nearly on a level with the soil of the field and bore in addition footprints and numerous signs of nervous haste. These recollections of Mr. Fry added to the mystery and intensified the feeling that some dark tragedy was connected with the solitary grave.

None of the explanations advanced would bear close criticism but the unanimous opinion of all who are acquainted with the details of the affair is that Mr. Fry's visit to the field of fall wheat and his discovery of the grave was witnessed by some one in the adjacent woods, and that on Mr. Fry's departure the grave was hurriedly opened and the corpse removed.

There are numerous stories afloat, but as they lack confirmation we refrain from giving them publicity at present.

Within the next day or so, however, fresh developments are confidently expected and Times' readers may rely on being kept posted.

OTTAWA DEMONSTRATION

Called off Owing to Outside Regiments Being Unable to Secure Transportation

The Ottawa Queen's Birthday military demonstration has been called off owing, it is said, to outside regiments being unable to receive transportation.

The 57th voted almost unanimously for Ottawa when a choice was offered between that city and Kingston. The regiment, now that the Ottawa trip is off, will likely go to Kingston.

The Ottawa Free Press of yesterday says: The military demonstration for May 24th has been called off. This decision was arrived at yesterday afternoon by the committee, who postponed the arrangements until May 24th, 1899. The change was necessitated by the fact that none of the regiments invited could come on that date, and gave as an excuse that transportation could not be secured.

Otter and Beaver Skins

Chief Game Warden Tinsley was busy in Peterborough among fur dealers in neighboring towns last week, says the Campbellford Herald. He found a number of raw beaver and otter skins, and as the close season for these animals extends to 1900, to replenish, the dealers were given their choice of prosecution or confiscation and settlement. They all settled and as the settlement was quite heavy, and the dealers promised not to offend again, the game warden made their names a close season matter and did not divulge them.

ORATORIO

"The Holy City" Presented at the Opera House Last Night

The Oratorio, "The Holy City," was presented at the Opera House last night to a very large audience.

Mr. Percy W. Owens had charge of its presentation and certainly deserves much credit for the splendid showing made, especially when it is taken into consideration that all those engaged in its production are amateurs and that the period of training was short.

The choruses were all fairly well rendered.

Some of the solos are deserving of special mention. "My Soul is Athirst for God,' by Mrs. Parker, was a grand effort and one that held the audience spell-bound.

The duet, "They shall hunger for More," by Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Miss K. Phillips, was exceedingly well rendered and elicited much favorable comment.

Taken all in all "The Holy City" was fairly well put on and the promoters have every reason to be satisfied, both as to the manner of its production and the financial result.

No Truth in the Rumor

A rumor was current that the G. T. R. had decided to dismiss all firemen, conductors and engineers over fifty years of age as well as employees at the shops. It was stated, too, that some of the men had already been given notice to quit. Enquiry, however, failed to confirm the report. No one has as yet been discharged on account of his age, though the officials say that there is a possibility that there may be dismissals later on.

Leaving for Peterborough

Mr. James Palmer, who for some years past has been assistant operator at the G. T. R. depot here, says the Uxbridge Times, has been removed to Peterborough, for which place he left Tuesday morning. On Monday about fifteen of his intimate friends of both sexes drove to his home, just south of town, and spent a most pleasant evening in the roomy old farm house, where the genial "Jimmy" spent his boyhood days. Toasts were drank and speeches made—even the young ladies contributing their quota to the latter. While we all regret to lose Mr. Palmer, we join heartily in congratulating him on the deserved promotion he has received.

From the Sandwich Islands

Mr. H. B. Boswell, an old Peterborough boy, is home from the Hawaiian Islands, and is staying at the Grand Central for a few days. Harry, as he is known by old boys, gave the Times a call, and told us all about his adopted country. He left Peterborough in 1876, and eight years ago he went with his family to reside permanently in Hawaii. Mr. Boswell is engaged in the sugar industry, and controls a large mill of refinery. He speaks in the highest terms of the country—of its climate and its people. He left his home three weeks ago, on a business trip to New York and other points and took advantage of it to spend a few days with his old friends in Peterborough, the scene of his boyhood's days. He would like to meet as many of his old friends as possible while here.

A Large City

"Peterborough morning paper!" shouted a newsboy at the early C.P. R. train the other morning, and a general rush of passengers towards the boy immediately took place. In a few moments he had disposed of his large armful of papers, and yet there was not enough to go around. A Times reporter happened to be going to Toronto by this train, and he took his seat in front of a couple of elderly gentlemen of very distinguished appearance. One of them asked the other if Peterborough was a city, and he received a reply to the effect that it must be a large and prosperous city, as it had a particularly bright and newsy morning paper. He said this as he was scanning the columns of the Times. Out of curiosity our representative passed through the entire train, and counted 56 copies of the Times in the hands of the passengers. The same thing happens on all other outgoing trains. This is one of the many evidences that the Times does more to advertise Peterborough abroad than any other paper, or, for the matter of that, than all other papers and methods combined. Surely, then, a morning paper should be liberally patronized and encouraged. Everybody reads the Times.

VICTORIOUS INSURGENTS

They Beat the Spanish Forces In Several Hard Fought Engagements

THE LOSSES SEVERE

Commodore Watson has Received Orders from Washington to Instantly Release the French Steamer Lafayette and Send Her to Havana Under Escort —Admiral Dewey's Fleet in a Trap

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

RIOTING AT MURICA

Madrid, May 6.—2 p. m.—Further disorders are reported from different parts of the provinces, especially from Murcia, capital of the province of that name, thirty miles from Cartagena, where a mob comprised mainly of striking miners, has cut the telegraph lines, set fire to the town hall and to the law courts, burning the archives. The rioters aslo made an attack upon the local jail, beat in the doors and released the prisoners. Finally, the rioting strikers have interrupted railway communication with Murcia and have destroyed a store by the use of dynamite, distributing the provisions which it contained. The situation is regarded as being very serious. Quite recently six thousand striking miners of Murcia attempted to march upon Cartagena and were only prevented from so doing by a strong force of troops.

OPPOSED TO INEXPERIENCED GENERAL

Washington, May 6.—At the Cabinet meeting to-day besides the war situation in its general aspect there was some discussion of the relative merits of persons seeking brigadier generalships and other commissions in the army. The President expressed himself very pronouncedly as opposed to the appointment to such responsible positions of those who had no previous military experience.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON GIVEN A ROVING COMMISSION

Washington, May 6.—There was considerable gratification evident at the session of the general war outlook. There was a strong belief that the Spanish fleet instead of sailing across the sea to intercept the Oregon or to come over into the waters nearer home to begin operations would be found eventually to be now progressing for some point closer its own possessions on the other side of the ocean. While there is great reticence on the part of all members of the Administration on the subject there is excellent authority for the statement that the instructions of Admiral Sampson gave him great latitude.

CUBAN SUCCESSES

New York, May 6.—General Thomas Estroda Palma at the Cuban headquarters in this city to-day received a communication from General Pedro Dias, commanding the sixth army corps of army of liberation, dated Campana, April 16. The communication says in part: "We have just received news of suspension of hostilities on part of Spaniards, but we continue to assume the same position as always and will continue fighting until we receive definite orders from our government to the contrary. In the past few days we have had several successful battles—one of them was the attack and capture of Fort Vega Piedras by Col. Perez, capturing arms and ammunition, destroying fort and the tobacco warehouses it guarded. Col. Perez was afterward attacked by a Spanish general named Herinandez de Velasco with the regiment, batteries and other forces and the Spanish were not only driven back, but were charged with part of our regiment of pilots with the machete—killing a Spanish major, two lieutenants, two sub-lieutenants, and a number of soldiers and capturing arms and ammunition. This charge was by our infantry and resulted in the utter rout of the Spaniards. Lieut.-Col. Carrillo, with a regiment of caragieraras attacked and destroyed Fort Basilce Alvarez, capturing arms and ammunition, the garrison fleeing and abandoning the fort. Tobacco houses guarded by this fort were also destroyed. In both these places we captured a large quantity of tobacco leaf for our personal use, and also a number of horses. Everywhere we have continued operations with activity. We have seen several columns and fired on them, but they all fled precipitately. As to the sugar cane it is all destroyed.

FRENCH VESSEL RELEASED

Key West, Fla., May 6.—6.50 p.m.—Commodore Watson this afternoon received orders from Washington to instantly release French mail steamer Lafayette, and to send her to Havana under escort. Capture of Frenchman by the gunboat Annapolis turns out to have been an unfortunate incident resutling from mistake, but no protest has been made to the representative of the French Government in the United States. The officials here declare that this will close the affair. It appears that before the Lafayette sailed for Havana the French legation in Washington was instructed to communicate with the State Department. This was do and permission granted to the steamer to enter and discharge her passengers and cargo with the understanding that she would take on nothing there. Instructions for fulfilment of this agreement were sent from Washington to Admiral Sampson's squadron and it was only learnto-day after the capture was made that they were never delivered.

EVADING THE BLOCKADE.

Key West, May 6.—The inefficacy of the blockade now being enforced by the American fleet off the Cuban coast is becoming a byword among the Spaniards in Cuba, judging from a recent rpeort received here. The Americans are only guarding about 100 miles of the coast line and that on the north of the island. The ports on the whole southern coast of Cuba are free and open to all comers. The result is that all ocean traffic is now being diverted to them, so that the effect of the blockade is by no means to prevent supplies and munitions of war from reaching the Spaniards.

As a matter of fact, vessel after vessel has put into Trinidada, Santa Cruz, Cienfuegos and other small ports on the coast and unloaded supplies which are sent partly by rail and partly by pack mules to Havana and other cities in need of them. The latest instance occurred yesterday, when the Boadil, a Spanish merchantman of 9,000 tons, entered Trinidada and unloaded a vast quantity of military stores for Blanco's men in Havana, together with two pieces of heavy modern breech-loading ordinance to be mounted on the sea wall of El Morro and which, when placed in position, will cause Sampson's vessels to keep still further out to sea. It is stated that in this manner the Spanish government are unostentatiously sending enough provisions and munitions of war to enable Havana to hold out against a seige for almost a year.

SUSPECTED SPIES.

New York, May 6.—Four Spaniards who were taken to the immigration station at Barge office arrived here by rail from Quebec yesterday, having travelled from Buenos Ayres by way of England to reach Vera Cruz, Mexico. They explained that they took this roundabout route because it was cheaper. The men are Jose Brai, Manuel Gonzales Sanfez, Jose Bodi, and Antonio Tokairo. Each is about 28 year sold. They say they are working men. The arrest was the result of a visit paid to Assistant Commissioner of Immigration McSweeney, by a woman who told him that the Spaniards were coming to this city by way of Canada to evade deportation. Chief Registry Clerk Laderhiter found the four men at 55 Greenwich street. They declared they were Austrians, but could not speak that tongue, then they said they were French, but their knowledge of that language was limited. At the barge office the prisoners were searched. In the possession of one was found receipts of dues for last January in "Association Patriotica Espanola," of Mercedes, Argentina. Another had a passport issued at Corunna, Spain, November 20, 1896, in his name as a resident of the province of Lugo, Spain, despite the man's assertion that he had been out of the country for six years. They are all believed to be spies.

LOST SIX MEN.

Key West, May 6.—It is reported here that the expedition which landed upon Cuban soil under the guns of the Wilmington near Mariel, commanded by General Baldomero Acosta, did not fare so well after all. So long as the guns of the Wilmington kept up a fire upon the Spanish cavalry which attempted to interfere with the landing, the Spaniards continued in retreat. The cavalry, apparently having disappeared, the insurgents directed their footsteps to the interior. They had proceeded about two miles from the shore when the cavalry, which had been reinforced by some 200 men, came after them at the gallop. The Cubans immediately took to the bush, but not before several of their number had been ridden down and pistoled by their pursuers. Once in the bush, where the Spanish horse could not penetrate, they opened up a rifle fire which emptied ten or a dozen saddles, whereupon the horsemen, finding it impossible to approach their enemies, emptied their pistols in the direction of the forest and galloped towards Havana. The insurgents lost at least six men in this second encounter and afterwards reached their destination safely.

MAY SEIZE THE CANARIES.

London, May 6.—A story is published here to the effect that the British Admiralty has been advised by the Washington Naval Strategy Board to remove British subjects from the Canary Islands, and it is added that this accounts for the British second-class cruiser Charlybdis being ordered to Las Palmas, and leads to the conclusion that Rear Admiral Simpson may attack the Canary Islands, which would either draw the Spanish fleet out of Cadiz, or give the United States a naval base from which to attack Spain.

MOSQUITO FLEET SETS SAIL.

Norfolk, Virginia, May 6.—The mosquito fleet has sailed for Havana, where it will take the place of Admiral Sampson's ships which have gone to meet the Spanish Cape Verde squadron. The mosquito fleet consists of seven cruisers, seven torpedo gunboats, a scout boat, and two auxiliary vessels. Commodore Howell is the commander and his flagship is the San Francisco cruiser.

ENGLAND STANDS FIRM.

London, May 6.—Certain powers, it has been learned by the Associated Press, have again made overtures to Great Britain, looking to intervention in the war between Spain and the United States; but Great Britain has again refused to take part in any such movement, and it is a significant fact that the British naval authorities have decided to immediately commission two new battleships just completed.

THE DEADLY CUBAN CLIMATE.

New York, May 6.—The deadly nature of the climate which the troops of the United States will have to face when they make their descent upon Cuba, is shown in a report recently issued by Dr. W. F. Brunner, Sanitary Inspector of the United States Marine Hospital Service. During the year 1897 there were 32,534 deaths in the military hospitals of Cuba. Of these 6,047 were from yellow fever; 2,500 from enteric fever; 12,000 from enteritis and dysentery; 7,000 from malaria fever; 5,000 from other diseases. During the year 30,000 sick men were sent home to Spain, and fully ten per cent. of them were destined to death. The Spanish troops when sick are not properly cared for. If they had been the death rate would have been reduced 50 per cent., even from yellow fever.

RIOTING STILL CONTINUES.

New York, May 6.—A special from Madrid says: Riot still ramps and raves through Spain, and continually threatens to break into revolutionary war.

More and more it is apparent that the Sagasta Ministry is afraid to act heroically. The mobs are temporized with where it is feared that shooting will lead to more serious disturbances.

In Gijon, Province of Oviedo, the killing of women by the troops during the rioting of the fisherwomen and tobacco girls has caused a tremendous demonstration. The Guerda Civil has joined the rioters, many of the guards having sweethearts among the disaffected women.

The octroi duties were merely an excuse for the outburst. The price of bread and the interference with the tobacco work was enough to start from below by agitators who were working for the downfall of the Government. And the Gijon massacre, instead of putting down the riot, has increased its violence. Cries against the throne are open. Mutterings of revenge against the soldiery are on all lips.

One party of rioters has attacked the Casa Blanca, and almost demolished it. The infantry fears to venture from the barracks. The artillery made an attempt to capture the gun carried off by deserters the day before, but their effort was half-hearted, and they retired under a shower of hot water, stones, dead animals and addled eggs. The gun has been taken into the back country, and desperate men are collecting around it, and a band of cutthroat bandits who are ripe for spoil. Weyler's secret emissaries are whispering that he is the friend of the poor, that he will make bread cheap, reduce taxes, and humble the hated Americans. In Barcelona "the Yankees of Spain" are expressing their disapproval of the Government by a run on the bank, demanding silver for notes. In the harbor there have been heard mutterings of mutiny in the navy and of a plot to capture a torpedo destroyer.

Cartagenas bubbles and seethes with revolution. Thirty miles away in Murcia a great army of miners and their sympathizers, estimated at from 7,000 to 10,000 men and women, has been tumultously shouting, "Death to the thieves,' "Down with Sagasta," "Who stole our tax money?" This great throng fired the railroad depot and dynamite into the quartel. Then they started for Cartagena, the war port. Troops were hurried to meet them. The angry rioters refused to disperse and withstood two volleys before they ran. Reports place the dead and wounded at more than fifty, including many women.

The ringleaders rallied the mob and began shouting "Give us Weyler or Don Carlos." They gathered on the heights and gave battle to the soldiers. At last accounts the troops were on the defensive and reinforcements were hurried to their support.

TWO COMMANDERS APPOINTED.

Key West, May 6.—Commodore Watson will take command of the second division of Admiral Sampson's squadron.

Commodore John C. Watson has been appointed to command the cruiser Cincinnati.

UNCERTAINTY AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., May 6.—There is much uncertainty here as to army plans. Commanding officers here, as well as the rank and file, have now reluctantly settled down to await news from Sampson's fleet before speculating further as to the date of the departure of the invading expedition. Opinion prevails now that no soldiers will be landed in Cuba until the Spanish fleet has either run away or been engaged by the American ships.

IS IT SAMPSON'S FLEET?

New York, May 6.—A Kingston Jamaica, desaptch says four warships have been sighted off Porto de Banes, Cuba. Supposed to be part of Sampson's fleet. Porto de Banes is on the north coast of Cuba and near the most easterly part.

COURT MARTIAL IN CAMP.

Chattanooga, May 6.—John Henson, a private of Troop H, third cavalry, was before the court martial yesterday, charged with striking Sergeant Shropshire. The prisoner was brought forth with much pomp, guarded by a sentinel, who stood over him with gun in hand. The proceedings were dignified and the scene decidedly picturesque. The evidence against Henson was conclusive, and he will probably be dismissed from the service.

THEY HOLD MANILA.

Singapore, May 6.—It is reported that the Americans now hold and govern Manila and that Aquinaldo, the insurgent leader, has landed on the island.

THE REVOLT IN PORTO RICO.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 6.—Thousands are flocking to the standard of revolt in Porto Rico. The strength of the resolution is such that the leaders may be able to render considerable aid to the United States forces if landed.

RIVERA'S DEFIANT MESSAGE.

Madrid, May 6.—General Primo De Rivera, late Captain-General of the Philippines, who has arrived at Port Said on the way to Madrid, has telegraphed the following message here: "Americans may destroy undefended towns and villages along the coast of the Philippines, but capture Manila, never. Oh! that for the glory of Spain they may attempt it."

KILLED HIS CATTLE.

New York, May 6.—W. Borda, an American citizen and his family arrived from Porto Rico to-day. Borda owned a stock farm two miles from St. John and had a sugar grinding plant there. When the present trouble began the Spanish authorities quartered a large number of soldiers on his farm, who killed his cattle and took everything they required without reimbursing him.

DEWEY IN A TRAP.

Victoria, B. C., May 6.—Capt. J. G. Cox, one of the most prominent shipping men on the Coast, has an astounding theory in regard to the failure of Commodore Dewey to report the news of his victory at Manila. The American fleet arrived in the harbor in the darkness, getting past the formidable batteries on the Islands of Mariveles and Caballo, at the mouth of the harbor, the fortress at Telago and Sanjose points, on the north side, and Limbon's Point on the south side, without damage. They encountered no submarine mines, for it would be most difficult to lay them, the channel being 2,400 feet deep and the tide very swift.. After entering the harbor, which, save for about three miles of shoal in front of the city proper, is free from menaces, Dewey undoubtedly steamed toward the Spanish fleet, which would, Cox said, either engage the American squadron, or run for shelter beneath the guns in the smaller harbor of Cavite. To judge from the reports received, they must have adopted the former plan, with the disastrous results to the Spanish already chronicled. Captain Cox is of the opinion that Dewey and his fleet will be obliged to reduce the forts at the mouth of the harbor before he can get out, for until the guns there are silenced they would make frightful havoc should the fleet attempt to leave the harbor. This is the reason the news of the victory has not yet reached Hong Kong, none of the vessels being able to get out. Manila Harbor is very unsafe at this time, as the monsoon season is beginning. Captain Cox does not think the Americans will meet with disaster, as they will reduce the forts before they attempt to leave.

SHERMAN WAS KIND.

A SOUTHERN POET'S RECOLLECTIONS OF THE GENERAL.

Frank L. Stanton Recalls Some Incidents of the Closing Days of the War—General Sherman's Goodness to the Elder Stanton, Who Was Very Ill In Savannah.

Frank L. Stanton, the popular Georgia poet, always speaks up for General Sherman when he hears any severe criticism of that famous commander's methods.

The story told by Stanton has never found its way into print, but it deserves a place among the minor incidents and reminiscences of the war period.

"When Savannah fell," said Stanton, "I was a little chap about 8 years old. The confusion and tumult in the streets frightened me, and I was afraid to go very far from the house.

"Young as I was, I understood that something very serious had occurred. Instead of seeing Confederate soldiers parading the streets with a few Federal prisoners I saw thousands of Federals swarming through the town, and they had a great many Confederates under guard.

"The situation had been reversed. That was plain, even to a child.

"My father was very ill, in the last stages of consumption, and my mother was worn out with anxiety and the cares of the household. Our neighbors were panic stricken, and everybody seemed to be expecting some awful calamity.

"Penned up there as we had been for a long time, without supplies and without any money except worthless Confederate currency, the outlook was gloomy enough. How was my sick father to get the things he needed? That was the problem with my mother.

"Somebody told General Sherman about my father and mentioned the fact that he was a kinsman of a very distinguished and powerful officer on the Union side.

"One day when I entered my father's room I found three Federal officers sitting there in pleasant conversation with the invalid and my mother.

"I was scared and started to run, but one of the strangers, a middle aged man with a roughly trimmed brown beard, called me back. He asked my name, and before I knew it had me on his knee, and he said so many nice things to me that I took quite a fancy to him.

"He was General Sherman, and he had called with two of his staff officers to see my father. When the visitors left, the general told my mother at the door that he knew all about the inconveniences of a siege and insisted upon sending from the army stores something that would suit a sick man.

"Under the circumstances such an offer could not be declined. It was a picnic for the children of the family, I can tell you.

"After that, while the general was in the city, something was sent to the house every day. Brandy, wine, loaf sugar, lemons, beef, chickens, coffee, vegetables and I don't know what else came in generous quantities. We had plenty for the family and for our nearest nighbors.

"Nor was that all. The general sent one of the best physicians in the hospital service, and the last days of my father were made far more comfortable than we had hoped for under the adverse conditions of those dark days.

"General Sherman came to the house once more before he left Savannah. I cannot remember what he said, but he was sympathetic and he said something about the pleasure it gave him to aid a relative of his distinguished friend at Washington.

"At that time I was very fond of a showy uniform, and it vexed my childish mind to see my friend the general always dressed so shabbily. His staff officers presented a better appearance, and some of them were really gorgeous in their spectacular rig.

"The other boys and the negroes agreed with me that the commander must be in very hard luck or he would certainly dress better. Still, I was then convinced that he was a wonderfully wise man. With my pockets full of his loaf sugar, which I had surreptitiously abstracted from the pantry, I would have been ungrateful if I had formed any other opinion.

"Sherman left the city and marched onward through the Carolinas, and that ended the war.

"No, I never saw him again. My father died, and I lived in different places, my work keeping me so busy that I had no time to think of the general or anybody else not connected with my immediate business. I wish now that I had seen him before he passed away. As it is, I can only recall him as he appeared to my boyish and wondering eyes, under circumstances which did not give me an opportunity to study him. No matter what may be said of his conduct in war, I cannot help liking him. He was a good friend just when we most needed one."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Doubtful Compliments.

The compliments paid by the poor are often put in an amusing way. One old woman who was very fond of the rector said to Mr. Bernays: "You know, sir, us likes the rector; 'is ears are so clean." Surely an odd reason for parochial affection. Another admirer once declared with regard to the whole staff of clergy, "You are all so plain" (a word of high commendation), "but as for the vicar, 'e's beautiful." The greatest compliment, though at the same time the most curious Mr. Bernays ever heard, was paid by a workingman to a certain bishop, famous for his simple kindliness, "What I likes 'bout the bishop is 'e's not a gentleman."—Westminster Gazette.

Ethnologists, apropos of the statement that the original inhabitants of America were Asiatics, tell of a Chinook Indian woman found in the last century by Father Huk wandering in the far interior of Asia.

Catarrh, that dread menace to humanity, attacks the high, the low, the rich, the poor, the learned and the illiterate, but Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is the sovereign cure and needs no more reliable testimony of its efficacy to cope with and cure this disease than that such eminent divines as Rev. W. H. Withrow, Methodist; Rev. Mungo Fraser, Presbyterian; Bishop Sweatman, and other prominent leaders in the Church courts who have over their own signatures testified of its virtues. What better evidence for you that it will cure you.

De Lesseps Statue.

M. Fremiet has finished the head of the enormous statue of the late Comte Ferdinand de Lesseps which is to be placed at the entry of the Suez canal. The canal projector is to be represented standing, covered with an Arab burnoose, and pointing toward the new waterway opened up to navigation. On one of the sides of the pedestal—which is to have a granite foundation—will be a medallion containing the portraits of the khedives who patronized the canal.—Boston Transcript.

Seeing Oneself.

Next to the power of standing outside oneself and looking at me as other folks see me the most remarkable is this of (by the insight of genius and imagination) becoming you. The first makes one sometimes only too reasonable, too humble; the second warms the heart and enriches the soul, for it gives the charm of selfhood to beings not ourselves.—Jean Ingelow.

What the distinguished pastor the Rev. S. J. Shorey, of George St. Methodist Church, Peterboro', says of the Newcombe Piano:

"I have been more then satisfied with the piano purchased nearly fifteen years ago from Messrs. Newcombe & Co. After all these years of constant use. The piano is still in first class condition."

The Rev. M. T. Campbell, Ex-President of the Bay of Quinte Conference says. "I had a Newcombe Piano in my home for ten years—and when my daughter was married and wanted a piano it was the Newcombe I purchased for her.

CHARACTER SEEN IN FACES

How the Dispositions of Strangers May be Read

According to This Authority the Dishonest Man Will Throw Out a Warning What the Nose, Eyes, Lips and Other Features Serve to Indicate.

However dishonest a person may be and however clever in concealing his character, his face will throw out a warning for those who know how to interpret it. "Either his round, smooth features or his oblique glance, eyebrows, eyes, nose and mouth and pointed chin will reveal him in his true colors." This sweeping statement may be called in question, but Mr. Richard Dimsdale Stocker is very positive that it is well founded, and in The Humanitarian he tells how the facial indexes to character may be read. If the face be divided by two imaginary horizontal lines, that division including the forehead and eyes indicates the extent of intellectual capacity, that including the nose and cheek bones indicates will power, that including cheeks, lips, jaws and chin indicates the feelings. So much for the general indications. Mr. Stocker then proceeds to more specific information. First, as to the forehead, the seat of the intellect:

"If the lower part of the forehead be the fullest, so that it advances over the eyes, it indicates that the observing powers and practical faculties are in the ascendency. Should the upper section be prominent or bulge forward, it shows that the reasoning powers and theoretical side of the individual are strongly represented, while if it be filled out in the middle, the fullest in the centre, it then denotes that the comparative faculties are in evidence and that the person possessed of it has the ability to classify, to arrange his ideas, to criticise and reason by analogy and recollect what has taken place.

"Viewed full face: A wide forehead shows a broader mind than does a narrow one, and a high forehead indicates more intuition and altogether loftier characteristics than a low one.

"A forehead greatly developed above, which sinks in near the eyes, indicates an infantile, crude personality."

Next to the eyebrows, the contour position and extent of which show the development of the perceptive organs:

"Straight eyebrows show orderly habits, a methodical turn of mind; arched or pointed ones, perception of color, taste in the arrangement of tints and the ability to match shades and hues, while such as are set far apart from each other show the capacity for judging of sizes and proportions with a greater or less amount of accuracy.

"If the eyebrows bend down in the middle toward the eyes, so that they appear indented, as it were, they show [illegible] that is disposed neither to forgive nor forget and that is resentful or apt to give "tit for tat.'

"According to the greater amount of space between the ridge of the eyebrow at its outer terminus and the corner of the eye can be accurately determined the calculative powers of a person.

"When the outline of the eyebrows is straight, it indicates sincerity and frankness. If, however, it should be oblique and the hairs spring from the root of the nose, it shows elusive and deceptive tendencies."

The eye, we are told, shows by its fullness and convexity the power of speech. The size of the eye shows the degree of sentiment, fancy, regard for the opposite sex. The distance between the eyes indicates power of remembering forms and outlines. The color indicates the temperament, but on this point we get no particulars.

No other feature is so pregnant with meaning as the nose. The mere size counts for little, but its height above the cheeks unerringly indicates mental capacity and elevation of character. A pug or snub nose indicates either immaturity or arrested development; a Roman arch, love of power; a Grecian straight nose, refinement, artistic taste, love of peace; the turn up means vivacity and cheerfulness; the drooping down nose, prudence, reflection and usually melancholy; the hooked or beaklike nose, love of gain.

The lips are the true signs of passion and appetite. The upper lip, according to its fulness and redness, shows the extent of the social attributes and the lower the domestic traits.

"Thick lips denote sensuality and love of the good things of life; thin ones, oppositively, indicate a want of vitality and but little capacity either for enjoyment or affording pleasure to others. The 'happy medium'—'the proper mean'—is the best, such lips indicating a full share of the milk of human kindness and a loving, sympathetic, feeling nature.

"Upturned lips indicate a witty, mirthful nature, but such as descend at the angles of the mouth denote a gloomy, unhopeful temperament.

"When the space from the nose to the opening of the mouth—i. e., that part of the face which is often spoken of as the 'upper lip'—is long, stiff and full, it shows self reliance and confidence in one's own opinions and ideas—pride.

"If this portion of the face is short and concave when looked at in profile so that the upper lip rises and exposes the teeth to view, the exact opposite state of affairs exists—viz, love of commendation and the desire to be well thought of by others—vanity."

A chin projecting downward and forward indicates firmness, a short and retreating chin shows instability, a narrow chin shows an unscrupulous, cunning nature, a wide chin a well developed sense of honor and duty.

A Prominent School Teacher's Experience

Paine's Celery Compound Does a Marvellous Work for Him.

HIS LONG YEARS OF SUFFERING ARE ENDED

Neuralgia is Banished, and a Shattered Nervous System Made Strong and Vigorous

All who have made use of Paine's Celery Compound have experienced its wondrous strengthening effects upon the nervous system. This disease-curing medicine acts directly and promptly, on the blood, taking away every trace of poison from the clogged and vitiated life stream. Thus, when the blood is pure and flowing freshly and freely, and the nerves braced and in good condition, neuralgia and all kindred diseases take their flight never to return.

This is the month to banish nervousness, headache, insomnia, kidney and liver troubles. This is the time when the neuralgic and rheumatic should get rid of their misery and pains, so that they may fit themselves for work and enjoyment during the summer season. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can effectually rid the system of all unhealthy conditions; it is beyond all question the surest and best medicine that ailing people can use. Mr. Leverett A. Belyea, Hamstead, N. B., writes as follows:

Wells & Richardson Co.,

Gentlemen:—In the winter of 1881 I was taken with a severe attack of neuralgia in the head and shoulders. Since then it became seated, and I gave up the idea of ever being cured. Have taken medicine prescribed by different physicians, but all to no avail.

Some three months ago I was induced to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. Before I had taken half of it I began to feel better. Sleep, which in my early days appeared so refreshing, has in these years of affliction been made up of frightful dreams; but not so now, as the medicine began to have a telling effect on my nerves.

I have taken three bottles of this glorious medicine, and to-day I can say that it is the first time in eleven years that I have felt none of those piercing pains to which I had once been a victim. Let me say to any person who may read this testimonial, in this province or elsewhere, that if you discredit this statement, just write me and I will only be too glad to inform you of what has cured me of neuralgia and a shattered nervous system.

Yours respectfully,
LEVERETT A. BELYEA,
Hamstead, N. B.

A BILLION IN FORTY YEARS

Represents the Amount Uncle Sam Has Spent in Fighting Indians

In These Forty Odd Years 19,000 Whites and 30,000 Indians Have Been Killed Cost of the Various Wars

New York Press.

America has spent $1,000,000,000 in fighting the Indians since 1776. In these forty odd years 19,000 whites and 30,000 Indians have been killed.

Here is what some of these wars have cost:

Seminole	$30,000,000
Sioux, 1852	20,000,000
Sioux, 1876	2,500,000
Navajo	13,000,000
Comanche	1,000,000
Nez Perces	1,000,000
Pannock	500,000

War has cost the United States nearly $10,000,000,000 and over [illegible] lives, to say nothing of 30,000 lives lost in colonial wars before the revolution. Here are the details.

Revolution cost $135,000,000, and 30,000 lives.

War of 1812 cost $107,159,003, and 2,000 lives.

Mexican war cost $74,000,000, and 2,000 lives.

Civil war cost $3,500,000,000, and 600,000 lives.

Indian wars cost $1,000,000,000 and 49,000 lives.

The two Napoleons cost France in war nearly $3,500,000,000. For the Napoleonic wars France paid $1,275,000,000. Over 5,000,000 men were killed in these wars.

Louis Napoleon's war with Germany cost France $2,210,000,000 and 290,000 lives.

Eight of the largest wars which England has waged in the last 300 years have cost her over $10,000,000,000.

Revolution, 1688	$ 180,000,000
Spanish Succession	310,000,000
Spanish war	270,000,000
Seven years' war	560,000,000
American revolution	710,000,000
Wars of French revolution	2,320,000,000
Napoleonic wars	5,795,000,000
Crimean war	350,000,000

It would surprise the Spanish people could they be made to realize that a generation ago two-thirds of the United States waged a war against the remaining third which cost eight and a half billion dollars. No other war in the world's history cost anywhere near that sum. The United States emerged in safety from that mightiest of wars and is now more prosperous, happy and contented than any other nation on the globe. If the United States could put up this kind of a fight in a war which closed thirty-three years ago, what could it do to-day? Yet so dense is the ignorance of the mass of the Spanish people that they are eager to rush in when other nations pause.

In computing the cost of war in money and in lives the United States makes a pretty big showing. We say that we are not a warlike people and that 3,000 miles of water on either side of us cuts us off from foreign entanglements But to put the Stars and Stripes where they are to-day has cost us ten billion dollars and [illegible] lives. Over four-fifths of this sum and 600,000 of the lives were expended in the war for the Union.

OUR INDIAN WARS.

Even Americans generally do not know that our Indian wars have cost us another billion dollars, and nearly 50,000 lives. This sum is three times as much as the revolution, the war of 1812 and the Mexican war cost us.

While in 120 years the United States has spent ten billion dollars. England in eight of her largest wars in the last 300 years has expended the same amount. Over half of it went to fight Napoleon, and more than two billions more were expended in the war which followed the French revolution. She spent more than twice as much as we did in the American revolution, and then had to lose her colonies. But in not one of the great wars in which England has been engaged has she expended as much as did the United States in the war of the rebellion.

COST OF TWO NAPOLEONS.

The wars which Napoleon I. and Napoleon III. brought upon France cost that nation nearly three and a half billion dollars. Louis Napoleon's war with Germany cost France twice as much money as all the wars of the great Napoleon, to say nothing of the loss of two fertile provinces. That short-lived conflict of 1870-71 cost France nearly a billion and a half dollars besides the billion dollar indemnity which she was forced to pay. In lives France lost 290,000 men. While the loss of money was greater in the second war, the mortality among the soldiers was not nearly as heavy as in the earlier wars The battles of Napoleon I. widowed more than a million French women, and made 3,000,000 orphans in France alone. All told, these wars took the lives of 5,000,000 men.

In the six campaigns of the peninsula war, in which Wellington drove France out of Spain 600,000 French men perished, and the loss of the Spanish and their allies was about the same.

TOTAL WAR LOSSES.

In losses to both sides in war the figures are still more astounding. The total cost of the Crimean war has been placed at two billion dollars and the loss of 1859 required $300,000,000 and 45,000 lives In the short war of Prussia and Austria, in 1866, $333,000,000 was expended and 15,000 more men. The Russo-Turkish war of 1877 claimed 250,000 men and $125,000,000.

It is stated that in seventy years Russia has spent in wars $435,000,000 and in men 664,000.

COMPENSATIONS OF WAR.

Dreadful as war is, it is not entirely without its compensations. What would England be now were it not for the wars she has waged in all parts of the globe? By war it was decided that the English and not the French were to dominate the North American continent. We wrested a vast territory from Mexico, and no one, except perhaps a few regulars who have had to put in their time in the Southern deserts, has ever regretted the acquisition of the country, whatever the nation's views may be now on the justice of the war. Phil. Sheridan, as we all know, once made the remark: "If I owned Texas and Hell, I would rent out Texas and live in Hell."

Japan got enough out of her war with China to pay the cost, and Turkey made Greece foot the bills in that scrimmage of last year. We might get enough eventually out of Spain should we fight and beat her, to pay for a large part of the cost in money, though there could be no compensation for the Americans who would fall except the successful upholding of the principle of national labor.

Shaving a Pursued Bandit.

"I shaved Jesse James, the once noted outlaw, down in southern Kentucky a long time ago," said an old gray haired fellow on the train the other day, "when the man's life wasn't worth a penny. Jesse rushed into my little country place, down in the Red river country, one day in the latter part of December and asked me if I wouldn't shave him while he looked after his colt's revolvers and watched the door. I was not a barber by trade, but those persuaders Jesse had induced me to try my hand with a new Wade & Butcher razor I took out of my showcase. As I shaved, the man of iron nerve sat with a cocked pistol in each hand and told me in a few hurried words that a posse was pursuing him, bent on capturing him, dead or alive, on the charge of robbing a bank at Russellville, a crime, he averred, of which he was not guilty. He wanted his beard shaved off that he might fool his pursuers if they should happen to catch up with him. I finished the job of scraping. The much wanted individual thanked me, and, mounting a horse, which had been hitched in the rear of my store, bade me good evening and rode away. I didn't know for certain who my visitor was, although I suspected it, until the next day, when I heard that a man in the neighborhood was telling that he had seen the elder James the afternoon before. I suppose that was the last shave Jesse James got in Kentucky, and I have never seen him after that day."—Louisville Post.

BLOW TO GERMANY

The Philippine Islands, in number 1,200, in area 150,000 square miles, with a populaption of 4,219,364 seem to have been lost to Spain and gained by the United States.

These islands, being at their central port, 600 miles distant from Hong Kong, would be a vantage point to any power which aspires to naval greatness in the far Pacific. Even under Spanish rule, the Islands have had great commercial value, their imports and exports aggregating as far back as 1871 to $30,000,000. Spain was true to its ideal of colonial government, and the Philippine Islands were taxed to supply a revenue to the home government. Thirty years ago the Islands produced a surplus of $11,000 per annum, for the benefit of the governemnt at Madrid. The history of every Spanish colony was repeated in the Philippines, and it is poetic justice that in the loss of these Islands Spain should pay the first penalty for the tyranny and corruption which has been the curse of her colonial system.

United States ascendency in the Philippines will be a sore blow to Emperor William. He has had his august eye fixed on these Islands, and now that Germany is enjoying the dream of promoting commerce by founding colonies, the acquisition of the Philippines would be popular in the fatherland. Great Britain would not object to the retention of the Philippines by the United States, and, failing that, it is altogether likely that the attempt will be made to found some sort of a free government in the islands under the exclusive control of the United States, or under the joint control of the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The United States and Great Britain once monopolized the non-Spanish trade with the Philippines, but Germany has been developing her commerce with the islands, and the fact that there are so many German warehouses at Manila will embitter the Emperor's natural disappointment at the loss of the islands which he longed for.

SPAIN'S FAILURE AS A COLONIZER

As a founder of colonies Spain has had a phneomenal career; but as a retainer of them she is conspicuous for failures. There was a time when pSain claimed, and the Pope recognized her claim to half the world outside of Europe and Western Asia. Within the century her territory was more extensive than that of any contemporary nation, Russia perhaps excepted. Her flag waved over portions of all the continents except Australia. In America her dominions began at the Atlantic coast of Florida and swept across the continent to the Pacific, reaching northward an undifined distance on the latter ocean and southward to Cape Horn. They extended up the Atlantic coast of South America to the southern border of Brazil. About the year 1820 her empire began to go to pieces until at present its dominions is as follows:—

	Square miles.
Spain, including a small area in Northwestern Africa	197,670
Cuba	41,665
Porto Rico	3,550
Philippine Islands	114,320
Zulu Islands	950
Caroline Islands and Palaos	560
Marianna Islands	429
Rio de Oro and Adrar	243,000
Ifue	27
Fernando Po and other African ports	850
Total	603,021

The population of the Spanish dominion is as follows:—

Spain, including the Canaries, and a small part of Northwestern Africa	17,565,632
American colonies	2,433,395
Asiatic colonies	7,121,172
African possession	136,000
Total	27,261,199

The great region described as Rio de Oro and Adrar forms the western portion of the Sahara and borders on the Atlantic. It is not of very great value and its occupation by Spain is subject to a claim by France. The outlying parts of the Spanish dominions which would be worth attack by a hostile power are Cuba, Porto Rico, the Phillippine Islands and the Canaries, with possibly Fernando Po. The Philippines under a strong and progressive government are capable of being converted into one of the most prosperous regions of the world. Japan is said to look upon them with envious eyes. They would be a very nice addition to the British empire in the event of a general partition of Spanish territory taking place after the war.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE

The attitude of Great Britain toward the United States in this war is discussed at some length by the editor of the American Review of Reviews.

The British press and public were a little slow in getting throughly waked up about the Cuban question and the impending conflict between the United States and Spain. But nothing could have been more clear-sighted, fair-minded, and, in general, also, well-informed, than the views that had been adopted by almost the entire United Kingdom as the situation grew in April. The firm friendship of the British Government has been highly appreciated by our authorities at Washington and by American public opinion at large. This friendship—which has not involved any failure on the part of Great Britain to treat Spain with all the courtesy that has been due to her as also a friendly nation—which has not involved any failure on the part of Great Britain to treat Spain with all the courtesy that has been due to her as also a friendly nation—has in point of fact been of more real use and satisfaction to us in America than a treaty of alliance could have been. For if the reapproachment between England and America had been too marked we might have been embarrassed in our frinedly relations with some of the continental powers, and thus a coalition might have been provoked for the benefit of Spain. All that we wanted from England was courtesy, fair-play, and an open-minded readiness "to believe that we were not acting without ample reason or proper motives. It is precisely this treatment that we have in fact received; and it will not be forgotten. Our traditional friendship between England and the United States should be accompanied by a similar growth of friendly relations between the British Empire and Russia. Although in another paragraph we have frankly deprecated the joint action of the power sin addressing the United States Government on the Cuban question, it is certainly to be admitted that Sir Julian Pauncefote's consent to accompany the other ambassadors was very tactful, inasmuch as Spain was thus left without any excuse or reason for complaining that England was openly siding with the United States.

A

What does A stand for? When some friend suggests that your blood needs A sarsaparilla treatment, remember that A stands for AYER'S. The first letter in the alphabet stands for the first of sarsaparillas; first in origin, first in record, first in the favor of the family. For nearly half a century has been curing all forms of blood diseases—scrofula, eczema, tetter, rheumatism, erysipelas, blood poisoning, etc. There's a book about these cures—"Ayer's Curebook, a story of cures told by the cured," —which is sent free on request, by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass. The book will interest you if you are sick or weak, because it tells not what it is claimed the remedy will do, but what your neighbors and fellows testify that it has done. Will it cure you? It has cured thousands like you. Why not you?

THE LIME JUICE CLUB

By Nicklby Finn

THE interior of the Hall of Wisdom last night presented an animated picture, it being the first meeting since the Parliamentary election on March 1st. The Hall was tastefully decorated with bunting in honor of the Liberal victory in East and West Peterborough and the partial triumph of Mr. Whitney. It was thought to be in good form to combine the demonstration in this way and prevent any hard feelings or jealousies amongst the members. The visitors' gallery was occupied by many distingusihed strangers, amongst whom were Messrs. Wm. O'Brien, township clerk, Douro; Wm. Gallon, reeve, and T. G. Eastland, county councillor, Apsley; B. James, clerk, Warsaw; Dr. Shaw and R. English, Keene; J. Baptie and Tom. Donaldson, Springville; Bob Monroe and Billy Leahy, Lakefield; L. Fobert and Harvey Thompson, Bobcaygeon, besides many others.

PLEASE ARREST HIM.

The Secretary announced a letter from the Hon. Occupation Buckworthy, of Norwood, stating that a man calling himself Col. Waterman, and claiming to be an active member of the Keene Lime Juice Club, was in the village disposing of photographs supposed to represent Hon. Richard McBride, the President. He sold the photos at 20 cents each, and claimed that the funds were to be sent to Ottawa to help to build the Yukon Railway. The photograph represented a person with a broken nose, a squint eye, front teeth gone, and ears large enough to throw a shadow over a wall eighteen feet high. Was it right or was the man an imposter?

The Hon. Richard was jumping two feet high before the secretary had finished, and it took him only four minutes to write and send out a telegram asking the Norwood police to arrest the imposter, if it cost $10,,000. In this connection it may be well to state:

1. The Lime Juice Club employs no travelling agents.
2. It offers no chromos.
3. None of its members are allowed to attach their names to new patent medicines.
4. It favors no schemes to build railways to the North Pole or orphan asylums in Cuba.
5. It publishes no dime novels, sends out no hair dyes and has no stock in the Peterborough Eeelctric Railway.

AGRICULTURE.

Basswood Whibbs, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture reported:

1. That the spring tramp had come forth and was in a condition to make a summer tour of 1,000 miles.
2. Farmers are recommended to plant a larger area of melons, and to locate the patch at least half a mile from the house.
3. Seed corn, which has been kept in Saratoga trunks behind the cook stove all winter has escaped the frost and promises well.
4. Any farmer who hangs a bell on his harvest apple tree, or sets a bear trap in front of his hen house, is a silent enemy of British liberty.

A FAILURE.

Nutmeg Cunningham swallowed a brass button he was holding in his mouth to cure the earache in his hasten to get his mouth open to move that the Janitor be allowed to address the meeting.

This individual then took the floor, endeavored to justify a bill of extras amounting to 37 cents and attempted to make a speech defending the Spanish policy, but his bill was cut down to 18 cents, his speech sat on, and he fell over three dogs on his way out.

THE HARMONY CLUB.

The Harmony Club secured the floor and sang the following beautiful "Ode to Spring,' from the fluent pen of Bro Insktand Tyrell, the Club's regular poet:

O! that was the place when the springtime she is coming,
When the snow goes away, and the sky is all blue—
When the ice left the water, and the sun is getting hotter,
And back on the meadow is sung the glou, glou—

When small sheep is first coming out on the pasture
Their nice little tails sticking up on on their back,
They run with mother and play with each other,
And jump all the time just the same as if crack.
And old cow also, she's glad winter's over,
So she kick herself up, and start off on the race,
With two-year-old heifer, that's pretty soon left her,
Why, everything's crazy all over the place.

And down on the river the wild duck is quacking,
Along by the shore little sand pipers run,
The bullfrog he's gr-romping and the fish they're jumping;
They all got their own way for making the fun.

But spring's in big hurry, and don't stay long with us,
The first thing we know she goes off till next year;
The bees commence humming, and summer is coming,
And pretty soon corn's getting ripe on the ear.

It's very nice time for to wake up in the morning
And listen to the blue bird sing every place,
Feel south wind a-blowing—see clover a-growing,
And all the world laughing itself on the face.

For fully two minutes the stillness of death prevailed, the only sound being the ticking of Bro. Gumboil Fair's watch. Then Bro. Anvil McCoun gave a whoop that tore along the ceiling and ripped off several inches of loose plaster, after which the President obtained silence and instructed the Secretary to write a letter and present it to Bro. Tyrell, introducing the poet into the best society of Harwood and Gore's Landing.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Pains and Anxieties reported that the Town Council be communicated with with a view to having a system of overhead sewers constructed. As it is, there is only sewers on three sides of most of the houses of town, and this might not be sufficient to carry off the surplus dishwater.

The Committee on Fixtures reported that little or nothing had yet been done towards introducing whales and sharks into inland waters and that their communication to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa had met with no answers. They were perfectly satisfied that both whales and sharks would thrive and do well in Rice and Stoney Lakes, and that their introduction would greatly enhance the fun of taking a dive off a springboard or going out for a sail in an old boat.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Minister to the effect that he was only a servant of the public, and that Mr. Laurier would not be the next premier if the business of the country was conducted in this way much longer.

THEY BEAUTIFY.

Some time since the Committee on Preservation of Natural Scenery were asked to investigate the subject of barber-poles, and report as to whether they beautify a street or were a source of annoyance to the artistic eye. The Committee now submitted the following:

"This Committee buckled right down to business, and didn't lay off and eat oysters on the half shell, or take a trip to Ottawa or to Belleville, as some other committees that we know of. We found that of all the signs in the city the barber-poles are the freshest, cleanest and brightest. The eye that is looking up the street for a saloon or down the street for a pea-nut stand, lights on a barber-pole and is rested and relieved. A barber-pole will beautify an old shanty or adorn a marble front. It looks well wherever you put it. They lie right over signs of soda water and knock the spots of signs of ice cream. They don't show off in the night as well as a drug store, but there is no smell about them. They don't quite come up to the 12th of July parade, but they contain nothing harmful in the least. This Committee decides that barber-poles are useful, ornamental and healthy, and recommend that they be protected by the laws which govern the high seas."

RED PEPPER.

The report was no sooner ended than Bro. Sodawater McFarlane, President of the Young's Point Liver Complaint Society, arose and demanded to know if members could be insulted in open meeting with impunity.

"Who's been insulted?" asked the President.

"I have, sir, and so has all the other members of the Committee on the Preservation of Natural Scenery! The report just read speaks of a committee eating oysters on the half shell. That was my committee, sir!"

"Well, didn't the oysters taste good?" innocently inquired the President.

"They did, sir, but this report seems to reflect on us—seems to cast a slur on the reputation of the committee. I demand an apology, sir!"

"Brother McFarlane," said the President, "don't never ram a bullet down before you get the powder in. Please sit down."

THE CLOSE.

The Keeper of the Sacred Relics reported that the bear trap and other articles of reverence were in good order, the Janitor was ordered to give the stove pipe two coats of paint during the week, and the meeting softly adjourned.

FANTASTIC VAGARY.

A PUBLIC MAN WHO CONSULTED THE OUIJA BOARDS.

This is One of the Grounds on Which it is Sought to Show That He Was Incapable of Making a Proper Will—The Estate Involved is a Large One.

The Ouija board, that curious little device which attracted so much attention and furnishd so much amusement to many people a few years ago, has got into the courts. It is cited as evidence of a man's mental weakness and his incapacity to make a proper will. This man was Charles M. Pond, once State Treasurer of Connecticut, a Senator in the same State and a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. A suit is now under way in New York to break his will. It was instituted by his brother, Anson Phelps Pond.

Among the property which Charles M. inherited from his father was the Prospect Hill farm, on the outskirts of the city of Hartford, and this, with about $450,000 worth of other realty, he willed to Hartford. The disputed farm or homestead which Hartford proposes to turn into a public park, is now valued at about $250,000.

The claim is made by the contestant that his brother had no right to devise away this tract, and counsel bring forward his father's will in substantiation of this position, and quote that part of it which reads: "And it is my express desire that my said son, Charles M. Pond, will not alienate or sell my farm known as the 'Prospect Hill Farm,' but that the same may descend and be from time to time devised to my lineal descendants."

Among the testimony already introduced is that of Mrs. Frank A. Porter, a sister of the Ponds, which it is said showed the deceased brother to be an extraordinary and eccentric person.

In his public career Charles M. was known only as a man of rare judgment and brilliant parts, but it seems that for some time previous to his death his mind was clouded or weakened by dissipation, and he displayed oddities of intellect that were entirely at variance with his character as the public and all but his intimates know it.

According to Mrs. Porter's statement, some of the evidence that would be important and valuable as corroborative proof has been deliberately destroyed. The destroyed evidence consisted of works on Spiritism and the several Ouija boards that were the property of Charles M. Pond, and were used by him. It is said that the dead man was a firm believer in Spiritism and was an easy dupe of mediums. Luther R. Marsh was not more thoroughly fooled by Miss De Bar than he was by the men and women who pretended to be able to rematerialize those who had passed to the shining shores.

After the death of his wife, it is said, he was almost constantly under the influence of mediums. He had implicit confidence in the oracular qualities of the Ouija board which is a rudimentary sort of planchete. In the latter case the spirits are supposed to communicate with their friends in the flesh by means of writing; in the former the spirits have not got so far in the three R's, and they spell out their communications.

A panchotte is a small heart-shaped bit of wood, mounted on two tiny legs with casters, and having for the third leg a pencil. When the little table is placed on a sheet of paper and the hands are permitted to rest lightly upon it, the pencil moves, and some people pretend that the lead-marks made by the pencil are legible messages, and they go through the solemn formality of reading them.

Ouija has a three-legged, heart-shaped little table, too, which the hands rest upon, but it travels not over writing paper but over a smooth rectangular board, on which the alphabet and the numerals are stenciled so that they make the segment of a circle, and the words "yes" and "no" are stenciled in two of the corners. Messages are read by following the movements of the leg at the apex of the heart. It travels from letter to letter and spells out words, the nerves and muscles of the manipulators having much to do with the direction of its movements.

Chalres M. Pond had several of these Ouija boards and he consulted them dozens of times a day. Through them he communicated with his dead wife. The story is told that often he would arise in the midst of a group of friends, excuse himself and hurry off to another room to ask Ouija certain questions.

These Ouija boards with all of her brother's Spiritistic books, Mrs. Porter says, she burned. Her statement is that she went to the office of one of the executors of the will and in his absence obtained from his father, who drew up the will, permission to remove the books and boards from the house, which she did and made a bonfire of them.

This is only one of the strange proceedings of the executors, it is claimed.

There is a great deal of secrecy about the proceedings and a whole lot of mystery, but the plaintiff feels confident that he will be able to show the mental insufficiency of his brother to make a will as well as to clinch his own right to the disputed part by the restricting clause in his father's will, which insists that the property shall not be devised away from the family.

The dissipated habits of Pond's brother have been pretty well established. He seems to have had a wild and terrible mania for morphine and administered it to everybody and everything on his place, even the dogs. The Ouija board weakness, though, appears to be the most fantastic of all his vagaries

Tactics in the Band.

A colonel in the French army, who had a great eye for neatness, but not much of an ear for music, took occasion one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men. Their uniforms are neat, said the colonel, and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement that I must insist upon.

What is it, colonel?

You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two! one, two!

The Military College.

The Kingston Military College is a very expensive luxury to the people of Canada, and some of the items we have to pay for are very peculiar. An opera glass, $9.25; Prince of Wales hunting belt $3.52; emigrant's knife, $7.48; trout rod, twelve feet long with three joints, $5.96; a lawn tennis bat, $3.71. The college cost us $70,000. No wonder there is a deficit.—Brockville Recorder.

A DELUGE OF BLOOD

What a Big War Will Mean When It Comes

THE WORLD'S GREAT ARMIES

A Second Deluge of Blood Prompted by Comparing the Standing Armies of the World

The Next Great War Will be a Corker—Kingdoms would Topple Over, Vast Cities be in Ruins and the World's Map be Changed

London, May 6.

THE present only idicates one war, but there are indications that the international sky is by no means clear. War mutterings have been heard of late East, West North and South, and it has been considered a not unlikely thing that some day may see the nations of the earth engaged in a life and death struggle, in which the terriible weapons in use at the present day will cause damage that will drench the universe in blood.

A war with Spain may be short, and peace may reign again in a few weeks. It may be prolonged, and in the latter event the nations that are at this time neutral will find their interests more or less interfered with. It will be to Great Britain's interests to see the war brought to a sudden close, for war means a stoppage of commercial relations with one of her best customers. Should Great Britain undertake to interfere in the fight between the United States and Spain it will require slight provocation for her watchful enemy, Russia, to take advantage of the fact that the attention of Englishmen is temporarily distracted from the Eastern situation to commit some act that will set a match to the train of gunpowder laid to the magazine in the Orient.

Under such circumstances it will be in keeping with the present indications for Japan to join forces with Great Britain, and for Germany, Austria and Italy to be forced into

ONE GIGANTIC WAR

That will change the map and perhaps sweep away Kingdoms.

Armed Europe is a tremendous sight at present. Germany's stupendous army of 1,946,380 men, officered by 22,672 men, with a cavalry of over 100,000 horsemen and an artillery comprising 2,964 guns, would be a tremendous aggregation of fighters for Great Britain to face, with her little force of 215,281 soldiers, 4,918 officers, 29,812 cavalrymen and 720 guns. All the men Great Britain would have to help her through an alliance with Japan would be 56,237 infantry and 5,760 cavalrymen. The Japs are born fighters, and have proved their prowess as have their British friends, but the odds would be tremendous, and individual courage does not count for much where men are pitted at a distance of two miles by a marksman with a magazine rifle.

What frightful scenes would result from a general war such as that suggested, should France join forces with Germany's millions and swell her fighting strength by putting over 2,000,000 men into the field, with 112,000 cavalry and 3,400 guns! If the course of events should ever bring it to pass that France forgets her old grudge against Germany, and makes an offensive alliance with her, what a tremendous army would be ready within mobilization time after the declaration of war!

Whatever the outcome of Great Britain's efforts to obtain an ally, it cannot be hoped that Russia will be anything but an enemy of hers. To the coalition against Great Britain, therefore, would be added the army of the Czar, numbering 1,116,824 men, with a cavalry force of 163,000, among whom would be the fierce

COSSACKS OF THE DON,

And an artillery force with 2,672 guns at its command.

Austria would be a mighty ally, for her fighting strength is 862,300 men, and she can supplement this with a cavalry force numbering 163,000 horses, and an artillery with 1,572 guns. If Turkey came into the general scrimmage she would add to the total of fighting men an army of 180,000 combatants, with a cavalry force of 30,400 men, and 696 guns. Not by any means a force to be despised, for most of Turkey's soldiers are veterans of one war.

These figures are appalling when it is considered that they represent men under arms, trained in the use of modern weapons, which are the deadliest used in any war since the world began, and men who are thoroughly educated in the art of war, with nothing left undone that thoughtful trainers can suggest to harden their physique and make perfect the fighting qualities of the troops. But what becomes of the suggestion of even these millions fighting, when it is remembered that they comprise merely the active armies of the countries referred to?

In war times the number of fighters that each nation would put into the field would multiply in some instances by two the forces quoted above. Thus, a million men would have to be added to Germany's army if

THE FIRST RESERVE

Be added to the number given above. If the second reserve is to be included, it will be necessary to add nearly a million more. If the grand total of fighting men capable of being put into the field when the entire resources of Germany are drawn upon be added together, it will swell the German army to 5,098,180 men. All the other nations would be able to send to battle vastly augmented forces, should the reserves be called upon, so that where in past wars armies of 70,000, 80,000 or 100,000 men were considered a large and powerful force, in a modern fight between great nations such an army would not be considered more than a small section of the force required to do battle on a scale that promised success.

With millions of men against her, Great Britain has shown that she does not consider her strength puny. She boasts of her "spendid isolation," and talks confidently of her ability to cope with armies numbering millions by the simple process of bottling them up in their own fortified harbors and compelling them to stay there until they tire of the imprisonment and sue for peace. With her vast navy Britain feels absolutely confident that she can settle Germany in a very short time. Germany's limited seaboard would make the investment of her coast towns, say the Britishers, a matter of the greatest ease, and then, says John Bull, what would be the use of her millions of trained men? There is truth in the argument when

THE COMPARATIVE SIZE

Of the German and British navy is considered, for Britain's navy possesses no less than 980 ships of war of all classes and sizes, while Germany possesses only 334. It would be a different story should France join Germany, for in that event she would bring her navy of 673 ships to join those of Germany. Italy has a fairly good navy, and Britain, should she find an ally in this nation, would secure the help of 330 warships of all kinds, but in Russia she would have another formidable enemy, with a navy of 467 ships. Turkey has 211 warships of one kind and another, but they are not very formidable impression in a naval fight with modern boats. Japan has a fine little navy of 217 ships of all classes, and would do effective work in the Orient, but she would scarcely be an ally upon whom England could count to balance the force on her side with that of a combination of continental Powers.

But it is the awful carnage that would result from such a combination of forces as that suggested that makes men stop appalled at the very thought of general international war, like that which has been so calmly discussed many times recently. It would be a world at war. Not a few thousand fighting men pitted against each other, but the flower of the manhood of nations taking opposing sides, every man capable of bearing arms being impressed into the fight for home and fatherland; a deluge of water, that would threaten the same dire re- results to the world. The peace-at-any-price party may be excused for their utterances when such a result is contemplated as that which would ensue from a general conflict of the nations.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills

READ THE STATEMENTS OF GRATEFUL GIRLS MADE WELL

A TEACHER CURED OF ANAEMIA

Miss Ada Smith, Pubnico Head, N. S., says:—"I take great pleasure in certifying to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of anæmia. I scarcely know how my illness began it came so gradually. My first symptom was a tired feeling, followed by a loss of appetite and palpitation of the heart. I continued to grow weaker, and finally could not go upstairs without resting on the way up, and the slightest exertion would cause a pain in the chest. The color left my face, and I became deathly white. As I continued getting weaker a doctor was called in. He told me my blood was all turned to water and that had I delayed two months longer there would have been no hope for me. He prescribed for me but failed to improve my condition. I was at this time teaching school at Reynardton, and at the Christmas holidays when I returned home I was advised by my friends to take Dr. Williams Pink Pills, as they feared I was going into a decline. I began their use, and on returning to my school I carried a half dozen boxes with me. By the time I had used these I found my health fully restored. I can truly say that I owe my life to your valuable medicine, and am so grateful for what it has done for me that I reely give you permission to use this statement in the hope that it may bring relief to some similar sufferer."

HEADACHE AND DIZZINESS.

Miss Mary Dowser, Grimsby, Ont., says:—"Some months ago I was troubled with severe headaches, accompained by pains in the stomach. These grew worse until finally I was confined to bed. If I moved about I would grow dizzy and I was also subject to spells of vomiting. A doctor was called in but the aches and pains refused to disappear. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them for a week or two there was a decided improvement in my condition, and after using the pills for a few weeks longer my health was fully restored, and I have not since had any return of the trouble."

PALE AND EMACIATED.

Miss Mary E. Wilson, Alton, Ont., says:—"About three years ago I was taken sick. A doctor was called in and he said my blood was turning to water. He gave me medicine, but I found no benefit from it. I then tried another doctor, but with no better results. For two years I suffered terribly. I got so weak I could scarcely stand alone, and was so thin and pale that my friends thought I was dying of consumption. Then my limbs began to swell and my body to bloat. At this stage the doctors held out no hope of recovery. It was while in this desperate condition that I was urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so, and to the surprise of all I had not been taking them long when there was a perceptible improvement in my condition. I continued taking the pills and continued improving, and in the course of a few months felt better than I had ever done before. I believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life and I heartily recommend them to all suffering from poverty of the blood."

A MISSIONARY'S WORK.

Rev. David Forbes, whose missionary work in Algoma has been productive of much good, writes:—"Mrs. McPhail, who resides at Marksville, wishes me to thank you for the great benefit her daughter has derived from the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. For some months she was very much run down, and looked like death, but as a result of using the pills she is better and stronger than she has been all her life. I have often recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills while on my mission visitations, and can attest the good effects which follow their use."

WEAK AND RUN DOWN.

Miss Jessie Lowry, Marathon, Ont., writes:—"It gives me pleasure to acknowledge the benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I believe but for their use I would now be in my grave. My health was completely broken down. The least exertion would fatigue me, and I was subject to headaches, dizziness and palpitation of the heart. I was pale and my appetite fickle. I had read so much concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I decided to try them—and after using five or six boxes I was once more as strong as ever I had been. I now regularly use a box of the pills every spring as a tonic medicine, and always find myself the better of them.

A Modern Scourge

Anaemia—in other words poverty of the blood—is one of the most prevalent troubles of the present day. It affects the young of both sexes, but more especially girls between the ages of 13 and 20 years. Frequently older people are affected by it.

Are YOU anaemic?

Are you pale or sallow? Are your lips and gums bloodless instead of pink? Is your appetite variable and feeble? Are you tired and breathless after slight exertion? Do you suffer from dizziness and headaches? Does your heart palpitate violently if you walk briskly? Are you low spirited, despondent, weak?

These are the signs of anaemia.

Neglected it means consumption and consumption means death.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills

cure anaemia by making rich, red, energy-giving blood. They restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks; invigorate the whole system and make life a blessing instead of a burden.

But You Must Get the Genuine

Sold only in boxes the wrapper around which bears the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale Pale." Do not let any dealer persuade you to take a substitute which he may say is "just the same," or "just as good." You can't afford to trifle with your health and life and all substitutes are worthless. If your dealer does not keep the genuine pills they will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

Miss Emma Miller, Upper Southampton, N. B., says:—My illness came on almost imperceptibly and as my mother was unable to work most of the duties of a large household devolved upon me, so that I felt that I must keep up, but I kept getting worse and worse. My appetite failed, my complexion became sallow, and my eyes sunken. I was troubled with dizziness, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart, until I would almost suffocate. I was troubled with a terrible pain in the side. I could not go up stairs without resting, and was so afflicted with headache that my life became almost unbearable. At last I was forced to give up and keep my bed. My friends feared I was going into consumption, but recommended one remedy after another, which, however, did not help me. Finally I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in less than three weeks I was able to leave my bed, and after using the pills a few weeks longer I feel that I am as well as ever I was. My appetite has returned as well, and my strength and general health is in every way restored. I feel that in bringing this subject before the public I am only doing justice to suffering humanity, and hope that all afflicted as I was will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

SAVED FROM CONSUMPTION.

Miss Marie Drolet, Quebec, says:—"From a strong and robust girl I gradually grew weak and languid. I lost color, was troubled with a pain in my back, my appetite was poor and temper fitful. Without any apparent reason I would burst out crying and it seemed to me that I would die. An excellent doctor was called in, but I did not improve under his treatment. Finally the doctor told my mother that I was in consumption and that it was impossible to save me. One day a little later, one of my friends from the convent came to see me and told me of an aunt of hers who had been cured of a severe illness by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and urged me to try them. My mother sent for some and I began the treatment. It was sometime before any improvement was noticeable, but when the improvement set in it was steady, and at the end of three months I was fully restored to health. To any who may be in a similar condition I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pill as a means of cure."

MR. JOSHUA JOHNSTON

Gives Vent to a few Pointed Remarks About the War

"Joshua, I see th' fellers 't's hollerin' fer war has got it 'n is already a'throwin' bums int' th' en'my's ranks," remarked Mrs. Joshua Johnson, as she picked up a copy of the last issue of the Morning Times. "Lord knows they couldn't take no way t' en' war no quicker, fer of all things I do expire 'n' reprobate it's a bum. W'y my Lord, Joshua, ef they sh'd take all the bums out o' the hotels fer t' la'nch 't th' Spaniards, they wouldn't be 'nough men-folks lef' t' go t' a turkey shute. Queerest thing 'bout it t' me is how these 'ere bums bust up. P'ob'ly it's subterranean " combustification, fer Lord knows they hain't a bum nowhar's 't hain't fairly quilted 'th w-isky, an' w'isky 'll blow up mighty allgretto ef ye tech a match to it. They hain't no longtitude 't kin 'magine th' horrors o' war o' this sort. But, says I, th' Lord's will be done, specially ef it happ'ns t' be mine."

Betsey paused, and there was silence for a few minutes. Then:

"Joshua, you know w'at I 'bout made up my min' t' do?"

"Naw," grunted Joshua. "Think I'm a min' reader?"

"Min' reader!" returned Betsey. "Lord no! Can't b' no stretch o' th' indignation call ye a min' reader—'thout dodgin' th' truth 'n' the Bible says them thet lies shell be lied to. Min' reader! Heavens t Betsey, I'll bet ef th' truth 's knowed ye hain't out o 'yer primer yit say nothin 'bout bein' in yer reader. Now guess ag'in."

"Gee-Joseph, Betsey," wailed Joshua, "how kin a feller guess w'en he hain't got th' slightest idea w'at he's guessin' 'bout?"

"Ye can't!" snapped Mrs. Johnson. "Nobody thinks ye kin guess. Nobody wants ye t' guess. 'T would be too much of a strain on yer brain. Ye kin guess on hogs all right but w'en ye come t' guess on human bein's ye fall down flatter'n a pancake. Joshua Johnson guess? Wal I guess not!"

Another period of silence.

"Joshua," finally observed Betsey, I've c'nclusioned t' go ouf nussin' should Canada git mixed up in this war, ef yer in such a terin' fit t' know."

"Nus-nussin'?" stammered Joshua.

"Yis nus-nussin'," mimicked Betsey. "Anything wrong 'bout nus-nussin'?"

"N-no, not's I know on. Wet er dry?"

"Wet er dry w'at?"

"Nussin' o' course."

"Good Lord, Joshua Johnson, ye don't expect a womern o' my age 'n' sex ' go out wet nussin' d' ye? Not much, Mary Ann! I'm goin down t' Cuby t' nuss th' pore, sufferin' Cubebs."

"Ye be?" asked the astonished Joshua.

"Yes I be. An' I thought mebby you'd git 'long all right fer four er five mont's fer somehow or other I kinder feel like I was needed down thar t' pick out bullets an' things."

"Wal, I s'pose ef yer sot on goin' yer goin'," said Joshua. "Mebby I kin git Em'line t' look afther th' house w'ile yer gone, Betsey."

"W'at?" yelled Betsey, springing to her feet. "Em'line—Em'line Sanders? Ho, ho, Joshua Johnson, now I see w'at yer s' anxious t' git me off down 'mongst them yeller, dirty Cubebs fer 'n' you loppin' 'roun' home, a-shying up t' Em'line Sanders. But yer job won't work. It won't work, Joshua Johnson. It's a mighty thick trick 't Betsey can't see through 'n' don't ye fergit it. Me go t' Cuby? Wal, I guess not! And ef you know w'en yer well off you won't say no more 'bout it, lyou ol' gasoline. I wus won'd'rin' all th' time ye wus tryin t' git me packed off w'at yer game was. But ye can't work Betsey. Ye can't git her off down 'mongst th' Cubebs 'crost th' briny deep w'ile you set here 'n' squint yer eyes 't Em'line Sanders. No sir. Betsey hain't built that way. Ye can't pull th' wool over Betsey's eyes'n no sech way's that.

"Me a nuss! Good Lord, th' very idee 'd make Bildad out thar 'n th' barn kick up 'is heels 'n' whinner like a nine-year-ol' colt. You ought t know better, Joshua Johnson, 'n t' think ye kin come it over th' fateful pardner o' yer joys and sorrers, mostly sorrers, like that. Fer do it ye can't. My Ma Ricks used t' say, s' she, 'Look out fer th' men-folks,' s' she, 'fer they hain't one on 'em,' s' she, 't 't ye kin trust 's fur's ye kin throw a bull b' th' tail,' s' she. 'N' look out,' s' she, specially fer Johnsons,' s' she, 'fer of all th' deceiven'st onspicable critters th' Johnsons is th' wust,' s' she. 'N' they be, too. But they can't d'ceive me 'n' don't you mentionate th' idee o' me goin' t' Cuby t' nuss them yaller-skinned half-injun Cubebs they'll be a war in Peterborough 't kin give th Cuby war cards an' spades 'n' big persimmons 'n' beat it out. You hear me? Wal, shet up!"

And silence descended on the Johnson home like a gentle spirit, to be broken shortly by the rasp of Joshua's breath as he dozed off to sleep in the old rocking chair.

The Consolations of Religion.

Mr. Bryce relates an amusing anecdote which he got from a missionary. A Basuto had returned to his native country from the diamond mines. He described to the missionary his experiences there. On one occasion his eye had [illegible] on a valuable diamond in the clay he was breaking into fragments. While he was endeavoring to pick it up he perceived the overseer approaching, and having it by this time in his hand he was for a moment terribly frightened, the punishment for the theft being very severe. The overseer, however, passed on. "And then," said the Basuto, "I knew that there was indeed a God, for he had preserved me."—London News.

GREAT NAVAL FIGHT IN THE YELLOW SEA

Graphic Account of the Battle Between the Chinese and Japanese Navies in the Year 1894.

THE battles between China and Japan were as fierce as need be, but the inferiority of the former on land and water was apparent from the very start. The only practical test of the modern battleship was the brush between China and Japan at the battle of Yalu, September 14, 1894.

The Chinese battleship Chen-Yuen had been cornered by five Japanese ships and a conflict was inevitable. In the depths of the ship men were stripped to their waists, throwing coal into the huge furnaces; in the turrets the gunners stood to their guns; in the after cabin and in the cockpit the sailors paced back and forth awaiting orders for action, not uttering a word, with every muscle and every nerve at extreme tension. The firemen, water tenders and coal heavers were shut up in the fire rooms out of danger from shot or shell, but certain of a terrible death should the vessel be sunk or a magazine explode. On the platforms, at the reversing gear, at every valve and also every and throttle were stationed men to make response to every command. Oilers moved about filling the cups; cadets were at the voice tubes and annunciators; in the magazines and shell rooms far below the water line, on the lower flats and at successive stations men stood to guide the shells and cylinders of powder.

The crews of the eight and twelve inch guns in the turrets had cutlasses and revolvers strapped about them, while at the lighter guns stood sailors in small groups. All men not needed were directed to remain in the shelter of the barbettes and turrets. Officers of divisions walked to and fro or leaned upon their swords with frequent glances ahead. The captain was on the bridge, the navigator in the tower, the quartermaster at the wheel and petty officers at the engine signals. On one of the flats below the protective deck was the surgeons' table, with a long row of bandages and buckets of water.

It soon became known even among the sailors that orders had been given to fire from the lighter guns when the enemy was 4,000 yards away, and to fire the main battery at a distance of 2,500 yards. This was to give time during the advance for from fifteen to forty shots from each light gun in time to train abeam for the passing broadside.

THE FIGHTING BEGINS.

The Japanese boat could not be plainly seen, and the order came to fire. The boom of the guns, the smoke of the powder, changed everything on board ship. There was now no expectancy, no suspense. The men in the turrets and the men at the lighter guns were blackened with the powder and the smell of powder was all over the ship.

The sailors forgot all fear. Amid the smoke and the dust they became as enraged animals. No thought of danger entered their minds; no realization of peril was upon them. They talked, they laughed, they yelled as if in glee. The battle had commenced. The Japanese vessel, uninjured by the fire from the lighter guns, bore steadily down upon the Chinese ship. Four other Japanese vessels were reported, and it was evident that the Chinese ship, while very much larger than any of her antagonists, was engaging in a desperate fight.

When the Japanese man o' war was twenty-five hundred yards distance the 8 and 12 inch guns sent forth their deadly missles. The Japanese boat returned the fire, and the sailors watched the shells as they mounted the height of their trajectories and fell toward the mark. As calmly they watched the shells as though they were not freighted with certain death and destruction. It was evident that one, at least, had been fired true and would fall upon the Chinese vessel. It struck the forward turret and crashed through, silencing two guns and forever silencing the voices of twenty gunners.

The lighter guns kept up the fight, which waxed hot and furious as the two ships approached each other. Soon they were at broadsides, and the guns of each vessel swept the decks of the other. One after another the gunners fell, and the reserves were called out to take their places. The decks were so slippery from the blood of the wounded men that it was almost impossible for the sailors who were as yet uninjured to take the positions they were ordered to fill.

The Chen-Yuen was commanded by an American, Captain Philo Norton, McGiffin. An account in the Home Magazine, written by Calvin Dill Wilson, says:

"Before he went into the battle of the Yalu he wrote to his brother: 'You know it is four killed to one wounded since the new ammunition came in. It is better so. I don't want to be wounded; and hate to think of being patched up, with half my limbs and sense gone, yet 'a triumph of surgical skill.' No! I prefer to step down the ladder or up, and out of this world.'

"The great battle of Yalu river took place on September 17, 1894. When this fight had scarcely opened, McGiffin saw the navigating lieutenant disappear from his position looking very pale. Soon after something went wrong with the training engine of one of the turrets, and the captain was obliged to go down to the armored place below to set it to rights. As he was getting down, some one caught him by the leg, calling out: "There's no room for any more here. You must hide somewhere else. He looked down and saw the navigating lieutenant and a dozen more terrified men in hiding. McGiffin was so angry that he used physical force upon the cowardly lieutenant to get him out of his way; after that they let him fix the engine.

"During the fight three of the enemy's ships, one on the port side, one on the starboard, and one right ahead, were concentrating their fire on the Chen-Yuen. As the one on the port side was doing the most mischief, the men at the two starboard guns were ordered to turn the guns around, and try to silence the ship that was doing so much damage on the other side. To do this they had to fire across the forecastle.

At this juncture a fire was discovered over the forecastle, and McGiffin ordered a line of hose to be run out, but as the men refused to go unless an officer led them, the captain offered to do this, and a number of men then volunteered to follow:

"Before they started to put out the fire, he ordered the head-gunner at the starboard battery to quit firing on the port side, and turn his guns right ahead; otherwise they would fire upon their own men. When they reached the forecastle, the shot of the enemy's guns struck one man after another. The captain was bending over, pulling up a hose, when a shot passed through his legs, burning both wrists and cutting away the tail of his coat; a shell hit the tower, and as it burst a piece struck him. Shortly after he had gone toward the forecastle, the head gunner, to whom he had given the order to shift the guns was killed; and the man who took his place, not knowing that the captain and his men had gone forward, kept his guns directed to port and fired one. The explosion blew them all off their legs and killed several. McGiffin, at the same time, was gashed by a shot from the enemy which rendered him unconscious; he fell upon a hose that had been cut by a ball, and the spurting water revived him. When he looked up he saw that he was directly in front of the other starboard gun, with his head in line of the fire; he watched the turning of the gun for a second or two, and, realizing his danger, threw himself over the side of the superstructure to the deck below, a depth of eight feet. He fell upon his chest, with blood gushing from his mouth; he managed to get around into the superstructure, and asked two men to carry him further aft, as he could not walk."

In relating this experience afterward he said that when he recovered consciousness and saw the big gun pointing toward him and about to be fired he said to himself: "What an ass I am to sit here and be blown to pieces!" The writer continues:—"He was the soul of his ship, the spirit of the storm, the Prospero with his magic wand. His body was shattered, but his mind kept awake. He was so near the first gun when it exploded that his clothing was set on fire, his eyebrows and hair burned, his eyes injured, and although his ears were crammed as tight as possible with cotton, the drums of both ears were permanently injured by the explosion. He was conscious for a time but as quickly as he regained his sense he was on his feet and giving orders. He received forty wounds, many of them caused by splinters of wood; he with his own hands extracted a large splinter from his hip, and, holding his eyelids open with his finger, this heroic man navigated his ship, which had been struck four hundred times, safely to its dock, skilfully evading capture."

Five thousand dollars were offered by the Japanese for his capture, but they did not have the satisfaction of taking him. But what he dreaded had happened—his nerves, limbs and senses being shattered.

"After the battle of the Yalu he went into a hospital in China for a time; but finding himself with little promise of complete recovery, he came to America. Unfortunately he was indisposed to submit to treatment; he insisted on dressing his own wounds. His body had the appearance of a checker-board, with its many bruises; there were still in him bullets and splinters; he was compelled to walk between two canes; his pain was so great that he spent hours and hours hobbling back and forth across the floor, saying that he was more comfortable thus than in a sitting or reclining posture. His use of language was superb the accounts he gave of his experience to his friends, when they could induce him to talk, were most graphic.

"The battle of Yalu gave young McGiffin the proud distinction of being the only man of European blood who had commanded a modern warship in actual battle."

FAIRLY WELL ISN'T WELL ENOUGH.

Let us say that your wages are twenty shillings a week. You have worked hard, done your best, and feel that you have earned your money. Very good. Now imagine that when Saturday night comes your employer hems and haws, and wants to put you off with fifteen. I'll be bound you would think yourself hardly treated. What are the great strikes in this country commonly about? Why, in some fashion they are about wages or hours; it comes to the same thing. Be it understood that the writer uses this fact as an illustration of another fact—that is all. What is that other fact? We will work it out of the following personal statement.

"Nearly all my life," says Mrs. Sarah Dalby; "I have been subject to attacks of biliousness, accompanied with sickness, but got on fairly well up to the early part of 1882. At this time I began to feel heavy, dull, and tired, with an all-gone sinking sensation. My skin was sallow and the whites of my eyes of a yellow tinge."

As everybody knows, or ought to know, the colouring matter was bile. The liver being torpid, and therefore failing to remove the bile from the blood, it entered the skin, and showed itself on the surface. But the discoloration isn't the worst mischief done by the vagabond bile, containing many poisonous waste elements; it disorders the whole system and sets up troublesome and dangerous symptoms, some of which the lady names.

"I had a bad taste in the mouth," she goes on to say; "and, in the morning particularly, was often very sick, retching so violently that I dreaded to see the dawn of day.

"My appetite was poor, and after eating I had pain at my chest and side. Frequently I couldn't bring myself to touch food at all; my stomach seemed to rebel at the very thought of it."

(This was bad, but the stomach was right, nevertheless. More food would have made more pain, more indigested matter to ferment and turn sour, more of a load for the sleepy liver, more poison for the nerves, kidneys and skin. And yet, without the food, how was she to live? It was like being ground between the upper and the nether millstones.)

"After this," runs the letter, "I had great pain and fluttering at the heart. Sometimes I would have fits of dizziness and go off into a faint, which left me quite prostrated. Then my nerves became so upset and excitable that I got no proper sleep at night, and on account of loss of strength I was obliged to lie in bed all day for days together. I went to one doctor after another, and attended at Bartholomew's and the University Hospitals, but was none the better for it all.

"In September, 1883, my husband read in Reynold's Newspaper about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and got me a bottle of it. After taking it for three days I felt relieved. Encouraged and cheered by this I kept on taking the Syrup, and in a short time all the pain and distress abated, and I was well—better than I had ever been. That is ten years ago, and since then I have never ailed anything. With sincere thanks, I am yours truly, (Signed) Mrs. Sarah Dalby, 93, Tottenham Road, Kingsland, London N., January 2nd, 1894."

Now run your eye back to the first sentence of Mrs. Dalby's letter, and you will come upon these words, "I got on fairly well," &c. This is the sad thought. Her life had always been at a discount; she had always got less than her due; she lost part of her health—wages. Do you take my meaning? Of course. Whatever may be our differences of opinion as to the rights of capital and the value of labour, it is certain that every human being is entitled to perfect health—without reduction, without drawback. All the more, as nobody else loses what one person thus gains. No, no, on the contrary, a perfectly healthy person is a benefit and a blessing to all who are brought into relations with him.

But do all have such health? God help us, no; very, very few. Why not? Ah, the answer is too big; I can't give it to-day. To the vast crowd who only get on "fairly well" I tender my sympathy, and advise a trial of the remedy mentioned by Mrs. Dalby.

The Bulldog a Good Dog.

No member of the canine family has been more persistently maligned than the bulldog. Writers who have no intimate knowledge of the dog and his attributes have described him as stupidly ferocious, and illustrators have pictured him as a sort of semiwild beast, till the general public has come to look upon him as dangerous.

"Give a dog a bad name," is an old saw, and perhaps a true one, but when it is applied to the bulldog it is manifestly unjust. Writers, too, have fallen into grave error in claiming that the bulldog is deficient not only in affection, but in intelligence.

Stonehenge, who is considered one of the greatest of canine scientists, claims that the bulldog's brain is relatively larger than that of the spaniel, which dog is generally considered to be the most intelligent of the canine race, while the bulldog's affection is never to be doubted.—Outing.

Andrews, of Akron, O., says: "I read this paper and have seen many reports of remarkable cures made by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan. I decided to treat with them. Indiscretion was the cause of my trouble. I had tried fourteen doctors, bought four electric belts took scores of bottles of patent medicines—all failed. I tried the New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, and it cured me. KINGSTON'S LAMENT

Failed to Get a Regiment for the 24th of May Celebration

The Kingston News of Thursday contains the following:

Failed To Get a Regiment.—The fact of a battalion not having been obtained for the 24th of May celebration will be a hard blow to the success of the demonstration. A regiment of 300 or 400 men off on a holiday means quite a big item.

Now that the Ottawa trip has been called off, how would it be for the 57th to step into the breach and help Kingston out? There is really no sentiment in these matters, and the fact of the "Rangers' having chosen Ottawa in preference to Kingston as the objective point of their annual outing, should have no bearing whatever on the case. These invitations, as a rule, are extended for strictly business reasons. The visiting regiment's ability to draw a crowd is the important consideration always.

Primary Teachers' Union

The Primary Teachers' Union held a very successful meeting last night in the primary class room of the George street Methodist Church.

What it Costs

According to the government blue book expenses connected with the Post Office, Customs and Inland Revenue offices for the fiscal year ending 30th June last year were as follows: Customs house—heating, $2.50; light, $3.20; water, $37.50 total, $43.20. Inland Revenue office—light, $4.25. Post office—caretaker's salary and supplies, $508.58; heating, $254.50; light, $322.50; water, $56.25; total, $1,141.83. It is quite clear from the above that the staff in the Customs and Inland Revenue offices are not addicted to keeping late hours, judging from the gas bills. Or have they used very much coal or wood, according to these figures. Perhaps this may be accounted for by the fact that they live next door to a public wood yard.

Former Belleville Lady Dead

The Belleville Sun says:—"The remains of an old resident of this city were brought here Thursday afternoon and interred in St. Michael's cemetery. Mrs. V. Cavanagh, daughter of the late William Begley, a former resident of Belleville and Cannifton, died on Monday at her residence in Cambridgeport, Mass. She was born in this city about 45 years ago. She was well known to many residents of this city and was a most estimable lady. Her husband survives her and there are also three brothers and two sisters. The brothers are: Patrick and Robert Begley, of Peterborough, and John Begley, of Lindsay. The sisters are Mrs. C. F. Harding and Miss Mary Begley, of Cambridgeport, Mass.

The Marmora Mines

Prospecting is in full swing in the Marmora district, and it is safe to say that little, if any, valuable property will escape the scrutiny of the experts now in that neighborhood. Mr. W. A. Beerman, a mining expert from Cripple Creek, Col., was down there this week, and thinks the Marmora district bids fair to become famous. He was sent by the Detroit-Hastings Mining and Milling Co., to inspect their mine. In company with Mr. J. Bush, the local manager, and Mr. D. Mitchell, Mr. Beerman rode out to investigate the progress being made and is highly pleased. He has returned to Detroit to make his report to the company. A steam drill will soon be placed at the mine.

Has the Ottawa Military Demonstration Been Called Off?

According to Wednesday's Ottawa Free Press, the military demonstration at Ottawa on the Queen's Birthday apparently had been called off. Now it would appear from the following from the Ottawa Citizen of Thursday that the demonstration is still on:—

CHURCH COURTS

May Differ and Split Hairs on Doctrinal Points, but may Join Hands for Humanity in Proclaiming the Virtues of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Catarrh, that dread menace to humanity, attacks the high, the low, the rich, the poor, the learned and the illiterate, but Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is the sovereign cure and needs no more reliable testimony of its efficacy to cope with and cure this disease than that such eminent divines as Rev. W. H. Withrow, Methodist; Rev. Mungo Fraser, Presbyterian; Bishop Sweatman, and other prominent leaders in the Church courts who have over their own signatures testified of its virtues. What better evidence for you that it will cure you.

CHILD SAVING WORK

Mr. J. J. Kelso to Deliver an Address in the Opera House

Mr. J. J. Kelso, Provincial Superintendent for Neglected Children, is making his annual tour of the province in the interests of neglected children.

He will arrive in Peterborough next week and on Tuesday evening will deliver an address in the Opera House.

The subject which he has selected for his address is "Child Saving Work," and in view of the immense importance of the work being performed—not alone by our own local Children's Aid Society, under whose auspices the lecture will be delivered—but by kindred societies throughout the entire Dominion, the lecture should attract a very large audience.

There will be no admission charged, but a collection will be taken at the door.

That Tired Feeling

An exceedingly common and dangerously significant condition.

A warning which must be heeded, or, as with the express train which fails to regard the danger signal, disaster must follow.

A sure indication of thin, weak, impoverished blood. A certain admonition that the blood is not properly feeding the nerves, tissues and organs of the body.

An imperative demand for the tonic, vitalizing effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla upon the blood.

Weak, nervous, tired men and women are found everywhere. Men strive too hard to "keep their ends up," women too anxiously work "on their nerves" to meet the demands of home and society, all have too little sleep, and the excessive drain on strength and nervous energy will soon completely ruin health.

The strength must be built up by pure blood, and the nerves must also find in pure blood the proper nerve food. For this purpose nothing equals Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The thousands of wonderful cures it has accomplished, the like of which no other medicine and no combination of medicines can show, prove its curative merit; prove that it has never been equalled as a blood medicine; prove that Hood's Sarsaparilla is indeed the ideal spring medicine, the best nerve and stomach tonic, the one true blood purifier.

"I was feeling tired all the time, as tired in the morning as I was at night. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has helped me so that I have no such feelings now. My little girl suffered with pain in her stomach, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured her." JAMES T. MANN, Hubbardston, Mass.

Weakness and Loss of Appetite.

"Last spring my little girl had no appetite and was weak. I gave her one-half bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cured her. We will now take no other medicine but Hood's Sarsaparilla, and recommend it to everyone for weakness and loss of appetite." WM. F. HANES, Brysonia, Pa.

All Tired Out.

"My husband was all tired out and run down in health. He felt the need of something to build him up, and he began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and the result was very satisfactory. We regard Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills as excellent medicines." MRS. H. L. MOWRY, Towanda, Pa.

Tired and Worn Out Feeling.

"I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and cannot say too much in its favor. It has done me more good than any medicine I have ever tried. I have advised my friends to use it for a tired and worn out feeling, as I know that it gives relief." WILLIAM T. HURDLE, Hollyville, Del.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is sold by all druggists. Price $1, six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. It is the One True Blood Purifier.

The feature of the past week has been the increased demand for War Eagle, Iron Mask, Josie, Athabasca, Deer Park, Noble Five, Monte Christo, Con., Van Anda, Smuggler, Tin Horn, Northern Belle, and B. C. Gold Fields, all of which at present market prices are good investments, and, as the market is a rising one, now is a most opportune time to purchase.

Notwithstanding the unsettled state of the industrial market, the present indications bear out our previous prediction that the mining stock market is firmly established, and prices must advance owing to the active development work now being vigorously prosecuted both in Ontario and British Columbia, and especially in the Rossland camp. We are informed on reliable authority that the capacity of the Trail smelter will be immediately doubled to 500 tons per day. This will have a decidedly favorable effect upon all the mines in this vicinity.

Later work on Iron Mask is proving the rich strike recently made upon it. The best proof of the intrinsic value of this stock lies in the fact that in the face of a lawsuit not yet being settled, large buying orders have come from the West for the stock, and from insiders.

Mr. Mulholland, of the Deer Park, is now at Rossland, and will double the force at the mine, and commence shipping immediately. This stock we consider worth a great deal more than present quotations, and a good buy. We also note that work has been commenced on the Evening Star at Rossland and the Noble Five at Slocum. We consider the latter stock in the same position, adopting the same methods of development, and backed by the same class of strong holders, as the War Eagle, and look to see the stock worth much more than the present price. In fact, if we were asked for a pointer we think we could conscientiously recommend "Noble Five" as one of the best.

We enclose herewith prospectus of the Frontenac Lead Mining and Smelting Company. We desire our customers to know that we confidently recommend this stock. It is only capitalized for $55,000, which in itself is a recommendation. We understand that no money will be spent in the acquisition of properties. Application has been made to Parliament for an export duty on lead ores. This will mean that the lead industry will be decidedly benefitted, and we predict a boom in lead. We can offer 1,000 shares of this stock in lots of twenty-five shares upwards at 60 cents a share. After this small block has been disposed of no other stock will be offered at less than par or a premium.

We have at present buying orders for "Eureka Con.", "Josie," Monte Christo, War Eagle, Old Ironsides (Boundary), Big Three and Iron Mask.

We shall be pleased to fill all orders, whether buying or selling, and promise prompt attention and returns. Write or wire orders.

Dominican Officials Report Heavy Cannonading North of Monte Cristo

CRUISERS UNDER FIRE

The Firing Began About 9 o'clock Yesterday Morning and was Terrible—Dewey Heard From—The Spanish Fleet of Eleven Warships was Totally Destroyed—U. S. Troops Injured—Pope's Denial

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

IN ACTION

New York, May 8.—The World has received the following copy-righted cablegram from Puerto Plata, San Domingo, May 8: "Dominican officials report heavy cannonading off the north of Monte Cristi about fifty miles from here." It is believed here that Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron is engaging the Spanish Cape Verde fleet. The firing began about 9 o'clock this morning and was terrific. The American fleet was due to arrive in Porto Rico waters yesterday afternoon. The Spanish fleet was expected at about the same time. Sampson came here with orders to find the fleet and reduce it. He will, after destroying the Spanish ships begin a street blockade and if necessary he will bombard and capture Porto Rico.

NO FIGHTING

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, May 8.—10 a. m.—The American fleet under the command of Rear Admiral Sampson has not yet arrived off Porto Rico and no fighting has yet occurred in that quarter.

AMERICAN CRUISERS FIRED ON

Havana, May 8.—At half past eight o'clock this morning two American cruisers which were pursuing the Spanish schooner Santiago, bound from Yucatan with salted fish approached the Vedado batteries, which fired at them when about five miles off shore. Six shots were discharged at the Americans. A local paper says that one projectile carried off the smoke stack, and one of the members of the American cruiser which was in the lead, and projectile fell upon the deck of the other cruiser. The Americans replied with 12 shots, but the projectiles fell two miles off the batteries and the cruisers then retreated under a full head of steam. One of the shots from the batteries fell near one of the American vessels, covering her decks with water, and it is asserted positively that a hole was made in her hull below the water line. The letteral at San Lozore Vedado was full of people watching the encounter through opera glasses and applauding the firing of the Spaniards.

At 11.30 the Santiago entered the harbor in tow of the Sussie. One of the American shots carried off a boat from the schooner's stern. It is reported that one of the cruisers was so damaged that she will be towed to Key West. She will probably leave to-morrow.

Gen. Blanco has ordered that an account of the state of war flags be hoisted on the forts and batteries at sunrise and be lowered at sunset. The war material brought by the Spanish steamer Monsterrat to Cienfuegos, has arrived at Havana, having been brought by seciap train consisting of 15 cars. The French gunboat Fulton will leave to-morrow for aJmaica, taking with her such French citizens as desire to leave the island. The lower House of the Colonial Parliament was definitely organized today. The ceremony was a solemn one The Senate will eb organized Monday.

THE QUEEN REGENT GUARDED

London, May 8.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: It is true that every preparation has been made in Madrid for the safety of the Queen Regent and the King, but this was was done by the Austrian ambassador Count Dubsley, on instructions from Vienna without the Queen's knowledge.

CUBAN REVENGE.

Key West, May 7.—An interesting scene of vengeance took place on board the warship Nashville. Among the prisoners captured in the Argonauta was the cruel Colonel Vincenta de Cartijo, related to General Weyler, and for more than a year Governor of Cabanas fortress, where most of the political prisoners were incarcerated. He was cordially hated by the Cuoans, who swore to hav ehis life.

Among the prisoners who came before the colonel was Alfredo Laborde, capatin of the ill-fated Competitor, who, showing himself to be unjustly detained, asked to be sent before the Governor of the prison. In response Colonel de Cortijo leaned across his magistrate's desk and deliberately spat in Laborde's face. Spanish officials present openly applauded this act of their superior toward a helpless prisoner.

Laborde was then cast into a cell far beneath the earth, but he took an oaht to revenge himself upon the man who insulted him. Time and Consuls-General Lee brought about Laborde's release from Cabanas fortress, but price had been put on his head by Weyler, and he could not return to Cuba to get vengeance. Weyler was recalled, and with him went Colonel de Cortijo.

His absence only fanned the fire of Laborde's hatred. Two years passed. Laborde, his former occupation gone, began to filibuster. When the war between Spain and the United States began he volunteered his services as pilot to Admiral Sampson. He was accepted and assigned to the gunboat Nashville. His knoiwledge of all iintricacies of the Cuban coast and its waters, made him veyr valuable. When the Argonauta with Colonel de Cortiji and his staff on board, was intercepted off Cienfugos and captured fate decreed that the prisoners should be taken on the Nashville to Key West.

One of the first men to see Colonel de Cortiji after he was taken over the Nashville's side was Laborde. Then ensued a dramatic scene. With his face pael with the degrading recollection, Laborde stepped directly in front of the Spanish colonel.

"Do you remember me?" he asked in Spanish.

Colonel de Cortiji looked at the white faced man several seconds, then shook his head.

"Perhaps Cabanas fortress and this," ejaculated Laborde, spitting in De Cortijo's face, "will assist your memory."

It was De Cortijo's turn to grow pale but he did not reply. A naval officer ordered Laborde away, and the incident closed for the time. It was not Laborde's nature to let the matter rest there. When the Nashville arrived in Key West, he quickly informed his friends ashore of De Cortijo's presence on the ship. There was no way to reach the Spanish officer so long as he was under the protection of Uncle Sam's sailors, but a plot was started to get at him on land, and a strong guard of soldiers was necessary to protect the colonel from the violence of the crowd.

THE POPE'S OFFICIAL DENIAL.

Rome, May 7.—The Vatican has issued an official statement absolutely denying the report that the Pope has sent an earnest message to the Queen Regent of Spain, advising her to immediately ask for the mediation of the European powers, and promising his support and that of the powers, to obtain an honorable solution of the difficulty.

THE SPANIARDS LEAVE.

Senor Polo y Bernabe and the other members of the Spanish Legation in Washington, who have been staying in Toronto for the past two weeks, left at nine o'clock last evening for Montreal by the C.P.R. in the Pullman car Quenboe. The party will stay at the Windsor Hotel for some two weeks.

DEWEY'S DESPATCH.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Long at 10.30 o'clock, read the following to the newspaper men as Commodore Dewey's communication:

Manila, May 1.—The squadron arrived at Manila at daybreak this morning. Immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following Spanish vessels—Reina Christina, Castilla, Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, Is'a de Cuba, Gen. Lozo, Marquis del Duero, Correo, Velasco, Isla de Mindanao, one transport, and the water battery at Cavite. The squadron is uninjured and only a few men were sightly wounded. The only means of telegraphing is to the American consul at Hong Kong. I shall communicaet with him. DEWEY.

CUT THE CABLE HIMSELF.

Washington, May 7.—Dewey states that h ehas silenced the batteries completely, but he cut the cable himself and he has the bay and everything else completely at his mercy. He has, however, been unable to take possession of the town of Manila for lack of men. The vessels he destroyed were Isla de Cuba, Reina Christina, Castilla, Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, and the Velasco, all cruisers; El Cano, General Lazo, Marquis del Duero, gunboast; and Isla de Mindanao, an armed transport.

A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE.

New York, May 7.—The World, in an extra edition just published, has the following copyright despatch from Hong Kong:

"I have just arrived here on the United States revenue cutter McCulloch with report of the American triumph at Manila. The entire Spanish fleet of eleven vessels was destroyed. Three hunlred Spanish were killed and four hunlred wounded. The American loss was none killed, but six were slightly wonuded. Not one of the American ships were injured.

A REMARKABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

Hong Kong, May 7.—The victory of Commodore Dewey at Manila was complete. The Spanish fleet of eleven vessels was utterly destroyed. Three hundred Spaniards were killed and four hunlred were wounded, and Dewey did not lose a man. None of his ships were injured. This first official news of the triumph of American arms in the Philippines was brought here to-day by the United State srevenue cutter McCulloch. The McCulloch was with the American fleet when Dewey steamed into Manila harbor to engage the Spanish ships. The triumph of Dewey will rank with the most remarkable achievements in naval warfare. Seven American warships were in the fight, making a total of eighteen ships engaged. The American ships were subjected also to the fire of the shore batteries for several hours, and yet lost no men. The defeat of the Spanish was overwhelming.

THE CHIEF ENGINEER DEAD.

Washington, May 7.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has received a cablegarm from a friend who was on the McCulloch during the great naval engagement at Manila in which he says: "The Spanish fleet of 11 warships was destroyed totally. Best of all no American was killed and only six Americans were injured." Another cablegram received by Mr. Vanderlip from the commander of the McCulloch at Hong Kong states that Chief Engineer F. B. Randaal died on May 1st. The cause of death is not known.

IS THIS THE SPANISH FLEET.

London, May 7.—A special despatch from Fort De France, capital of the Island of Martinique, French West India Islands, says five warships, supposed to be Spanish vessels, were sighted off here this morning. They are bound in a northerly direction and might be heading for Porto Rico.

U. S. TROOPS INJURED.

Camp U. S. Army, Chickamauga, May 7.—It is not likely tha any more troops ohter than the 10th Colored Cavalry of Montana, will beremoved from here to Tampa. The camp people generally are of the opinion that the men will be sent direct from Chikamauga to the boats at Tampa, and thence to Cuba, and also that it will not be long before the word for them to start will arrive. They are kept in a constant state of expectancy, their camp being in such order that they could, without difficulyt, be on the move three hours after the command is received. It is stated on good authority to-day that this very important order will be issued from Washington in a couple of days, and regulars will leave to co-operate with Gomez's army.

The different regiments are being drilled rigorously, especially the cavalry, and great attention is being paid to skirmish work. It is quite a thrilling sight to watch them rushing recklessly through the dense woods, dismounting, firing across their horses, mounting again and hurriedly responding to the bugle call to re-form column; and the sharpshooters advancing from tree to tree under the protection of the supposed fire of the regiments in the rear. A worthy item for the sentimentalist is, that these modern sharpshooters practiced in the thick forest behind Kelly's field, through which the Confederates advanced successfully upon the Union army in November 1863

The cavalry exercise in the woods is both severe and dangerous. Hardly a day passes without some of the men being injured. The ambulence is always in attendance and follows the different troops over the field.

Gen. Brooks has his headquarters on the hill looking upon Kelly's field. There are six official tents in line, are nicely fitted up, and made comfortable by board floors and canvas awnings. The first tent on the left is occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Company, who have three men constantly employed receiving and despatching army messages. Next to that is one for General Brooks' official staff, which consists of four clerks from the War Deparmtent at Washington and two telegraph operators, who have charge of the army wires running through the camp. The tent for the general's aides is located between that of the office staff and the private quarters of the general. Behind this row are quartered the Guard and the despatch riders.

Gen. Brooks has the reputation of being an excellent modern commander, and, indeed he deserves it as far as he has gone. The general good order in the large camp is exceptional, and the manner in which the troops are handled is really marvellous. General Brooks is on eof the four major-generals in the United States militia. In appearance he is every inch a soldier, straight and tall, with a pleasant ruddy face, to which a Bismark moustache of lightish grey adds a marked military expression.

When passing over the Lafayette Road early this morning on my way to the camp, and just over the line between Georgia and Tennesse, I discerned several men through the mist busily engaged driving stakes. I asked them for what troops they were laying out the ground, They said, "Seventh."

Returning again at half past one in the afternoon, I was surprised to see on the same field, where the few men had worked in the early dawn, a whole regiment encamped, fires going, hosres tethered, and soldiers quietly reclining in the shade of their white tents. I could hardly credit the sight, and to make sure that I had not mistaken any route, I asked the sentinel what regiment was here located. He answered, "Seventh."

CARLOS WARNS HIS FOLLOWERS.

New York, May 7.—The Commercial Advertiser to-day publishes the followers throughout the United States and South America to join him at once. Some will leave for here on steamboats sailing to-day; others have left, and still more will leave as soon as they can settle up their affairs in this country. Rafael Diez de la Cortina, the official representative of Don Carlos in America, yesterday received his instructions to join Don Carlos, and will leave for Europe during the coming week. According to Senor Cortina, the general ferment in Spain to-day is the beginning of the end of the present dynasty. The emissaries of Don Carlos throughout Spain have reported that an overwhelming majority of the people are ready to flock to his standard the instant it is raised. General Weyler and the army are only waiting to receive the word to openly declare their allegiance to him. The majority of the naval officers including all of the fifteen admirals are already pledged to him.

In reply to the question as to the intention of Don Carlos regarding the Spanish-American war, Senor Cortina replied: "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." He certainly will not act until he has seen and consulted with the American Carlists. We will join our leader at some place on the Continent of Europe, exactly where I do not know. A provisional government will be formed, to go into eff the instant the Queen Regent abdicates or when Don Carlos proclaims himself. There will be no opposition from any other nation. The new government will be formed on much more democratic lines. I speak authoritatively when I say that Don Carlos intends to make a radical change in the present system of government."

THANKS TO THE ADMIRAL.

Washington, May 7.—By direction of the President, Secretary Long sent the following cable despatch to Commodore Dewey: Washington May 7.—Dewey, Manila. The President, in the name of the American people, thanks you and your officers and men for your splendid achievement and overwhelming victory. In recognition he has appointed you acting admiral, and will recommend a vote of thanks to you by Congress.

BAD ARTILLERY PRACTICE.

Havana, May 7.—The American fleet to-day has been nearer than at any other time. At half past five o'clock a cruiser approached almost in front of Fort Morro. The playachive battery fired the first shot, but it fell short. The second passed above the vessel, which turned and retired at full speed. The third shot fell near her bow. Other shots were fired at her as she retreated.

CAN DEFEND THEIR POSTS.

Madrid, May 7.—Many Spanish generals with considerable experience of Cuba, whom Senor Sagasta has consulted, assure him they are confident that General Blanco in Cuba and Captain General Macias in Porto Rico can hold on and make their respective islands very uncomfortable for the invaders as long as the supplies of stores and munitions of war last, even if the Americans should meet with some success in the bombardment of ports.

De Lesseps Statue.

M. Fremiet has finished the head of the enormous statue of the late Comte Ferdinand de Lesseps which is to be placed at the entry of the Suez canal. The canal projector is to be represented standing, covered with an Arab burnoose, and pointing toward the new waterway opened up to navigation. On one of the sides of the pedestal—which is to have a granite foundation—will be a medallion containing the portraits of the khedives who patronized the canal. —Boston Transcript.

Seeing Oneself.

Next to the power of standing outside oneself and looking at me as other folks see me the most remarkable is this of (by the insight of genius and imagination) becoming you. The first makes one sometimes only too reasonable, too humble; the second warms the heart and enriches the soul, for it gives the charm of selfhood to beings not ourselves.—Jean Ingelow.

Easter Millinery Booming

To say that we've started to be busy in Millinery hardly expresses the idea of the big rush of past days—so far trade is doubling up on last year, and though our staff of trimmers and saleswomen has been increased, we think it necessary to warn those who intend to order an Easter Hat or Bonnet here, that it will be the part of wisdom to see to the matter at once—this week if possible.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 9, 1898

JINGOISM AND ARROGANCE

Perhaps there may be a danger ahead for the United States after the war is over, unless the wise and thoughtful are able to direct public sentiment. Already there is too much of the jingo and arrogant tone in the press in dealing with the future. The Boston Journal says, for example, "it was foreordained in the great plan of nature that the people who sat where we sit between the Eastern and Western seas, should eventually be the rulers of the commerce of the world—the chief masters of ocean empire. For a century home development has circumscribed our stoutest energies." It is not well to be too bumptous, and it is to be hoped that the easy conquest over a sixth rate, and impotent power, will not lead to the impression that universal aggressiveness is to be the order of the day for the United States. Such a spirit would only lead to the setting back the dial of civilization and progress in that country. As Kipling has shown, it is bad to be "drunk with sight of power.' It would be much worse to be drunk with the idea of a power which at present is not yet established. An alliance between Great Britain and the States such as is pictured by Chauncey M. Depew, is to be hoped for in the interests of civilization and "standing together for humanity and peace.' Together they could accomplish such a work in this direction as has never been witnessed. But pride must not be the watchword.

THE COMING SEA FIGHT

Though talk of intervention still continues, the general opinion now seems to be, that even if Europe is not afraid to interfere, there will not be any intervention till after the expected big sea fight. A big naval battle between the United States and Spain would prove a splendid object lesson to the powers and they do not feel like missing it even for the sake of peace. Perhaps they believe that after it is over peace will be more likely. The naval powers are keenly anxious for a big naval fight. The sea battles between Japan and China were not a fair test they were too one-sided. But the Spanish fleet now said to be mobilizing at Cadiz and the American fleet would be fairly evenly matched, both in quality and quantity, and as the Spaniards are not by any means cowards or incompetent like the Chinese, the fight should be hot enough to give a full effect to the supposed terribleness of modern war. What Europe would like to know is is a big battle likely to be as deadly as the known effectiveness of the armaments used would suggest. The fight at Manila, though severe, did not as far as known result in any very great loss of life. It is said the Spaniards had 450 killed; the American loss is unknown. The figures in themselves are not startling considering the number of vessels engaged. Naval history can easily duplicate the loss. Of course it must be remembered that the crews of two of the Spanish vessels sunk were rescued. Had the battle been in mid-ocean they must have nearly all perished. When the main Spanish and American fleets meet the armament will be larger, and the destructive power consequently greater.. Such a conflict must certainly fill an instructive page in history.

WAR PROBABILITIES

Despite the frantic efforts of journalists of the criminal class, who seek to paint the war as a thing of great deeds and frightful carnage, it is becoming more and more apparent that the men who control the war plans of the United States are inflexibly determined to prosecute a humane campaign. The entirely peaceful nature of the blockade of Cuban ports by the warships of the United States is conclusive evidence as to the determination of the president and his councillors that Havana shall be reduced and the Spaniards driven out of Cuba at the least possible cost in human lives.

From the beginning Mr. McKinley was averse to war. He took every honorable means to avoid it, but now that it has been forced upon him he has succeeded in imparting to the war plans of his country his own spirit of enlightened humanity. In a few short months he has been changed in the world's esteem from a very small man to a man who may be fairly called great.

The conduct of the war is in good hands and it it ends as it has begun, the ultimate adjustment of the Cuban difficulty will probably be such as to commend itself to the approval even of enemies of the United States.

Thus far it looks very much as if the Spanish appellation should be changed from Don to Done.

A bulletin issued by the League of American Municipalities gives some interesting data on the subject of electric lighting. The league was organized last year for the purpose of bringing the reform elements in different cities closer together. In the bulletin issued it is shown that out of 26 cities Detroit, Mich., pays the highest rate for arc lamps—$89.42 each a year. Lansing, Mich., comes next with $75, then Galveston, Tex., with $70. The lowest rate paid is $29.10, in Danville, Va. Allegheny Pa., owns its own plant, and the cost is estimated at $53.55 for each lamp. The plant cost $348,881, and has saved so much money for that city that the controller says he would not sell it for $700,000.

Senator Landry, in the Senate, asked whether Mr. Charles Russell, solicitor for the Canadian Government in London, was telling the truth in representing that he had gone to Rome at the instance of the Catholic members of the Canadian Ministry. Mr. Landry also read a letter from Mr. Russell to Cardinal Rampolla. In reply, the Secretary of State charged Mr. Landry with exhibiting bad taste in bringing the matter before Parliament. He knew nothing of the letter quoted, and repeated his former answer that the Government had not at any time conducted the negotiations with the authorities at Rome through Mr. Russell or any other person on the school question. In reply to Senator McMillan, Hon. David Mills said: The Government was not responsible for negotiations between individual members of the Administration and the head of the church to which they belonged, even supposing the letter quoted was authentic, of which fact there was not the slightest proof. Several senators wanted to know whether Mr. Russell had written the letter on the authoriyt of the Catholic members of the Government. They claimed that there were discrepencies between the evidence and the answers given by the Secretary of State. No more satisfaction was given, however.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end. No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys. When symptoms of disease appear in them not a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored. The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaints. For this purpose there is no remedy equal to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For many years I have been a constant sufferer from kidney trouble, and have tried a number of largely advertised kidney cures without benefit. At last a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The use of eight bottles of this remedy entirely cured my malady."—MARY MILLER, 1235 Hancock Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Tennyson's Praise of Burns.

Mr. Aubrey de Vere contributes to the biography of Lord Tennyson a report of some conversations with the poet, in which was disclosed his singular freedom from the spirit of rivalry.

In these conversations he never uttered a word that was disparaging or tainted with the spirit of rivalship. The only poet I heard him criticise roughly or unfairly was himself. "Compare," he once said to me, "compare the heavy handling of my workmanship with the exquisite lightness of touch in Keats."

Another time he read aloud a song by one of the chivalrous poets of Charles I's time, perhaps Lovelace's "Althea," which Wordsworth also used to croon in the woods, and said, "There, I would give all my poetry to have made one song like that."

Not less ardent was his enthusiasm for Burns. And here an incident with no small significance recurs to me. "Read the exquisite songs of Burns!" he exclaimed. "In shape each of them has the perfection of the berry, in light the radiance of the dewdrop. You forgot for its sake those stupid things, his serious pieces."

The same day I met Wordsworth and named Burns to him. Wordsworth praised him even more vehemently than Tennyson had done as the great genius who had brought poetry back to nature, but ended: "Of course I refer to his serious efforts, such as the 'Cotter's Saturday Night.' Those foolish little amatory songs of his one has to forget."

I told the tale to Henry Taylor that evening, and his answer was, "Burns' exquisite songs and Burns' serious efforts are to me alike tedious and disagreeable reading."

So much for the infallibility of poets in their own art.

Toads In Rock.

Stories of toads inclosed in solid rock are not at all uncommon, but of all the reported cases not one has ever been substantiated. When investigated, it is found that they are made up stories or that there was no toad or no rock or that there was a way for him to get in or get out. People who find toads in solid rock must understand that it is an important matter. If ever there is one single case verified beyond dispute of finding a toad or any other living animal in an absolutely solid rock, the science of geology will be swept from the realms of belief. The doctrine of evolution will crumble to airy nothings. Half of the exact sciences will have to be reorganized on an entirely new basis. Accumulated human knowledge will have to be revised from the bottom, and most of what is so called rejected entirely. So the man that finds the toad had better be pretty sure that it is a toad in a solid rock, and while he is about it he had better have witnesses and photographs and everything possible to be had in proof of his assertion, for it will be doubted. If he proves his case, no man ever known will have such enduring fame. Just find the toad, gentlemen.—Milwaukee Journal.

GENTLEMEN: Having suffered with Rheumatism for the past seven years was recommended to use Walton's Rheumatic Pills, which gave me immediate relief, and am as well as ever and can follow my trade again. SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM SATURDAY'S EDITIONS

CUBAN SUCCESSES

New York, May 6.—General Thomas Estroda Palma at the Cuban headquarters in this city to-day received a communication from General Pedro Dias, commanding the sixth army corps of army of liberation, dated Campana, April 16. The communication says in part: "We have just received news of suspension of hostilities on part of Spaniards, but we continue to assume the same position as always and will continue fighting until we receive definite orders from our government to the contrary. In the past few days we have had several successful battles —one of them was the attack and capture of Fort Vega Piedras by Col. Perez, capturing arms and ammunition, destroying fort and the tobacco warehouses it guarded. Col. Perez was afterward attacked by a Spanish general named Herinandez de Velasco with the regiment, batteries and other forces and the Spanish were not only driven back, but were charged with part of our regiment of pilots with the machete—killing a Spanish major, two lieutenants, two sub-lieutenants, and a number of soldiers and capturing arms and ammunition. This charge was by our infantry and resulted in the utter rout of the Spaniards. Lieut.-Col. Carrillo, with a regiment of caragieraras attacked and destroyed Fort Basilce Alvarez, capturing arms and ammunition, the garrison fleeing and abandoning the fort. Tobacco houses guarded by this fort were also destroyed. In both these places we captured a large quantity of tobacco leaf for our personal use, and also a number of horses. Everywhere we have continued operations with activity. We have seen several columns and fired on them, but they all fled precipitately. As to the sugar cane it is all destroyed.

FRENCH VESSEL RELEASED

Key West, Fla., May 6.—6.50 p.m.—Commodore Watson this afternoon received orders from Washington to instantly release French mail steamer Lafayette, and to send her to Havana under escort. Capture of Frenchman by the gunboat Annapolis turns out to have been an unfortunate incident resutling from mistake, but no protest has been made to the representative of the French Government in the United States. The officials here declare that this will close the affair. It appears that before the Lafayette sailed for Havana the French legation in Washington was instructed to communicate with the State Department. This was done and permission granted to the steamer to enter and discharge her passengers and cargo with the understanding that she would take on nothing there. Instructions for fulfilment of this agreement were sent from Washington to Admiral Sampson's squadron and it was only learnto-day after the capture was made that they were never delivered.

RIOTING AT MURICA

Madrid, May 6.—2 p. m.—Further disorders are reported from different parts of the provinces, especially from Murcia, capital of the province of that name, thirty miles from Cartagena, where a mob comprised mainly of striking miners, has cut the telegraph lines, set fire to the town hall and to the law courts, burning the archives. The rioters aslo made an attack upon the local jail, beat in the doors and released the prisoners. Finally, the rioting strikers have interrupted railway communication with Murcia and have destroyed a store by the use of dynamite, distributing the provisions which it contained. The situation is regarded as being very serious. Quite recently six thousand striking miners of Murcia attempted to march upon Cartagena and were only prevented from so doing by a strong force of troops.

OPPOSED TO INEXPERIENCED GENERAL

Washington, May 6.—At the Cabinet meeting to-day besides the war situation in its general aspect there was some discussion of the relative merits of persons seeking brigadier generalships and other commissions in the army. The President expressed himself very pronouncedly as opposed to the appointment to such responsible positions of those who had no previous military experience.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON GIVEN A ROVING COMMISSION

Washington, May 6.—There was considerable gratification evident at the session of the general war outlook. There was a strong belief that the Spanish fleet instead of sailing across the sea to intercept the Oregon or to come over into the waters nearer home to begin operations would be found eventually to be now progressing for some point closer its own possessions on the other side of the ocean. While there is great reticence on the part of all members of the Administration on the subject there is excellent authority for the statement that the instructions of Admiral Sampson gave him great latitude.

EVADING THE BLOCKADE.

Key West, May 6.—The inefficacy of the blockade now being enforced by the American fleet off the Cuban coast is becoming a byword among the Spaniards in Cuba, judging from a recent rpeort received here. The Americans are only guarding about 100 miles of the coast line and that on the north of the island. The ports on the whole southern coast of Cuba are free and open to all comers. The result is that all ocean traffic is now being diverted to them, so that the effect of the blockade is by no means to prevent supplies and munitions of war from reaching the Spaniards.

As a matter of fact, vessel after vessel has put into Trinidada, Santa Cruz, Cienfuegos and other small ports on the coast and unloaded supplies which are sent partly by rail and partly by pack mules to Havana and other cities in need of them. The latest instance occurred yesterday, when the Boadil, a Spanish merchantman of 9,000 tons, entered Trinidada and unloaded a vast quantity of military stores for Blanco's men in Havana, together with two pieces of heavy modern breech-loading ordinance to be mounted on the sea wall of El Morro and which, when placed in position, will cause Sampson's vessels to keep still further out to sea. It is stated that in this manner the Spanish government are unostentatiously sending enough provisions and munitions of war to enable Havana to hold out against a seige for almost a year.

SUSPECTED SPIES.

New York, May 6.—Four Spaniards who were taken to the immigration station at Barge office arrived here by rail from Quebec yesterday, having travelled from Buenos Ayres by way of England to reach Vera Cruz, Mexico. They explained that they took this roundabout route because it was cheaper. The men are Jose Brai, Manuel Gonzales Sanfez, Jose Bodi, and Antonio Tokairo. Each is about 28 years old. They say they are working men. The arrest was the result of a visit paid to Assistant Commissioner of Immigration McSweeney, by a woman who told him that the Spaniards were coming to this city by way of Canada to evade deportation. Chief Registry Clerk Laderhiter found the four men at 55 Greenwich street. They declared they were Austrians, but could not speak that tongue, then they said they were French, but their knowledge of that language was limited. At the barge office the prisoners were searched. In the possession of one was found receipts of dues for last January in "Association Patriotica Espanola," of Mercedes, Argentina. Another had a passport issued at Corunna, Spain, November 20, 1896, in his name as a resident of the province of Lugo, Spain, despite the man's assertion that he had been out of the country for six years. They are all believed to be spies.

LOST SIX MEN.

Key West, May 6.—It is reported here that the expedition which landed upon Cuban soil under the guns of the Wilmington near Mariel, commanded by General Baldomero Acosta, did not fare so well after all. So long as the guns of the Wilmington kept up a fire upon the Spanish cavalry which attempted to interfere with the landing, the Spaniards continued in retreat. The cavalry, apparently having disappeared, the insurgents directed their footsteps to the interior. They had proceeded about two miles from the shore when the cavalry, which had been reinforced by some 200 men, came after them at the gallop. The Cubans immediately took to the bush, but not before several of their number had been ridden down and pistoled by their pursuers. Once in the bush, where the Spanish horse could not penetrate, they opened up a rifle fire which emptied ten or a dozen saddles, whereupon the horsemen, finding it impossible to approach their enemies, emptied their pistols in the direction of the forest and galloped towards Havana. The insurgents lost at least six men in this second encounter and afterwards reached their destination safely.

MAY SEIZE THE CANARIES.

London, May 6.—A story is published here to the effect that the British Admiralty has been advised by the Washington Naval Strategy Board to remove British subjects from the Canary Islands, and it is added that this accounts for the British second-class cruiser Charlybois being ordered to Las Palmas, and leads to the conclusion that Rear Admiral Sampson may attack the Canary Islands, which would either draw the Spanish fleet out of Cadiz, or give the United States a naval base from which to attack Spain.

MOSQUITO FLEET SETS SAIL.

Norfolk, Virginia, May 6.—The mosquito fleet has sailed for Havana, where experience a sexual weakness sooner or later in life. That kind of weakness comes both from abuses and from overwork. It is an affliction that may well be dreaded. It destroys ambition, and life becomes a burden. These weak men can be cured—no question about that. The flight of years can not be stopped, but healthful, natural feelings and powers can be restored. If those powers have been lost, our treatment and appliances will restore them beyond a doubt.

OUR FREE OFFER

In order to show our implicit faith in our treatment, we will send our medicines and appliances for a free trial of ten days to all men whose sexual vigor is gone and whose organs are small. it will take the place of Admiral Sampson's ships which have gone to meet the Spanish Cape Verde squadron. The mosquito fleet consists of seven cruisers, seven torpedo gunboats, a scout boat, and two auxiliary vessels. Commodore Howell is the commander and his flagship is the San Francisco cruiser.

ENGLAND STANDS FIRM.

London, May 6.—Certain powers, it has been learned by the Associated Press, have again made overtures to Great Britain, looking to intervention in the war between Spain and the United States; but Great Britain has again refused to take part in any such movement, and it is a significant fact that the British naval authorities have decided to immediately commission two new battleships just completed.

THE DEADLY CUBAN CLIMATE.

New York, May 6.—The deadly nature of the climate which the troops of the United States will have to face when they make their descent upon Cuba, is shown in a report recently issued by Dr. W. F. Brunner, Sanitary Inspector of the United States Marine Hospital Service. During the year 1897 there were 32,534 deaths in the military hospitals of Cuba. Of these 6,047 were from yellow fever; 2,500 from enteric fever; 12,000 from enteritis and dysentery; 7,000 from malaria fever; 5,000 from other diseases. During the year 30,000 sick men were sent home to Spain, and fully ten per cent. of them were destined to death. The Spanish troops when sick are not properly cared for. If they had been the death rate would have been reduced 50 per cent., even from yellow fever.

RIOTING STILL CONTINUES.

New York, May 6.—A special from Madrid says: Riot still ramps and raves through Spain, and continually threatens to break into revolutionary war.

More and more it is apparent that the Sagasta Ministry is afraid to act heroically. The mobs are temporized with where it is feared that shooting will lead to more serious disturbances.

In Gijon, Province of Oviedo, the killing of women by the troops during the rioting of the fisherwomen and tobacco girls has caused a tremendous demonstration. The Guarda Civil has joined the rioters, many of the guards having sweethearts among the disaffected women.

The octroi duties were merely an excuse for the outburst. The price of bread and the interference with the tobacco work was enough to start from below by agitators who were working for the downfall of the Government. And the Gijon massacre, instead of putting down the riot, has increased its violence. Cries against the throne are open. Mutterings of revenge against the soldiery are on all lips.

One party of rioters has attacked the Casa Blanca, and almost demolished it. The infantry fears to venture from the barracks. The artillery made an attempt to capture the gun carried off by deserters the day before, but their effort was half-hearted, and they retired under a shower of hot water, stones, dead animals and addled eggs. The gun has been taken into the back country, and desperate men are collecting around it, and a band of cutthroat bandits who are ripe for spoil. Weyler's secret emissaries are whispering that he is the friend of the poor, that he will make bread cheap, reduce taxes, and humble the hated Americans. In Barcelona "the Yankees of Spain" are expressing their disapproval of the Government by a run on the bank, demanding silver for notes. In the harbor there have been heard mutterings of mutiny in the navy and of a plot to capture a torpedo destroyer.

Cartagenas bubbles and seethes with revolution. Thirty miles away in Murcia a great army of miners and their sympathizers, estimated at from 7,000 to 10,000 men and women, has been tumultously shouting, "Death to the thieves," "Down with Sagasta," "Who stole our tax money?" This great throng fired the railroad depot and dynamite into the quartel. Then they started for Cartagena, the war port. Troops were hurried to meet them. The angry rioters refused to disperse and withstood two volleys before they ran. Reports place the dead and wounded at more than fifty, including many women.

The ringleaders rallied the mob and began shouting "Give us Weyler or Don Carlos." They gathered on the heights and gave battle to the soldiers. At last accounts the troops were on the defensive and reinforcements were hurried to their support.

TWO COMMANDERS APPOINTED.

Key West, May 6.—Commodore Watson will take command of the second division of Admiral Sampson's squadron.

Commodore John C. Watson has been appointed to command the cruiser Cincinnati.

UNCERTAINTY AT TAMPA.

Tampa, Fla., May 6.—There is much uncertainty here as to army plans. Commanding officers here, as well as the rank and file, have now reluctantly settled down to await news from Sampson's fleet before speculating further as to the date of the departure of the invading expedition. Opinion prevails now that no soldiers will be landed in Cuba until the Spanish fleet has either run away or been engaged by the American ships.

IS IT SAMPSON'S FLEET?

New York, May 6.—A Kingston Jamaica, desaptch says four warships have been sighted off Porto de Banes, Cuba. Supposed to be part of Sampson's fleet. Porto de Banes is on the north coast of Cuba and near the most easterly part.

COURT MARTIAL IN CAMP.

Chattanooga, May 6.—John Henson, a private of Troop H. Third cavalry, was before the court martial yesterday, charged with striking Sergeant Shropshire. The prisoner was brought forth with much pomp, guarded by a sentinel, who stood over him with gun in hand. The proceedings were dignified and the scene decidedly picturesque. The evidence against Henson was conclusive, and he will probably be dismissed from the service.

THEY HOLD MANILA.

Singapore, May 6.—It is reported that the Americans now hold and govern Manila and that Aquinaldo, the insurgent leader, has landed on the island.

THE REVOLT IN PORTO RICO.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 6.—Thousands are flocking to the standard of revolt in Porto Rico. The strength of the resolution is such that the leaders may be able to render considerable aid to the United States forces if landed.

RIVERA'S DEFIANT MESSAGE.

Madrid, May 6.—General Primo De Rivera, late Captain-General of the Philippines, who has arrived at Port Said on the way to Madrid, has telegraphed the following message here: "Americans may destroy undefended towns and villages along the coast of the Philippines, but capture Manila, never. Oh! that for the glory of Spain they may attempt it."

KILLED HIS CATTLE.

New York, May 6.—W. Borda, an American citizen and his family arrived from Porto Rico to-day. Borda owned a stock farm two miles from St. John and had a sugar grinding plant there. When the present trouble began the Spanish authorities quartered a large number of soldiers on his farm, who killed his cattle and took everything they required without reimbursing him.

NOTED FILIBUSTERER PARDONED

Washington, D. C., May 6.—The President to-day announced he would shortly pardon Captain John D. Hart, of the filibustering steamer Laurada, now serving a two years' sentence in the penitentiary for his Cuban filibustering operations. A delegation from the House, comprising Representatives Young, McAleer and Bingham, of Pennsylvania, and Cummings and McClellan, of New York, called on the President to urge a pardon.

LIVELY LAKEFIELD

He's After Them

The Bard of Avon's ghost must surely haunt the council chamber of Lakefield, for the living Shakespeare said:

"That man who hath no music in his soul
Is fit for treason, strategems, and spoils."

What would William have thought if he had been present at the Lakefield council meeting where one of the councillors made the announcement that because the practice of the band might disturb the readers in the public library there must be no band; and as a consequence although Lakefield possesses a fine set of instruments it has no band. The band only practices one night in the week. Surely the studious could grant the musical one out of six. In the meantime a fine set of instruments lie dead—that councillor took the wind out of them—and Lakefield, a summer resort, the place above all others that should have a band is as dumb as an oyster. This Lakefield band question is an old sore, but perhaps a little probing may result in some noise and this may later on be toned down into sweet music—the medicine of the soul.

A good fire might teach the Lakefield council a lesson—then again there are others who doubt this.

In the absence of a brass band the bull frogs get in their work these nights—and they are no slouches—would it not be wise for the council to pass a resolution forbidding them to disturb the readers in the public library?

Picture framing and repairing at lowest prices at Hendren's.

The Sunbeam is nearly ready to flit across the lakes again and this time without a murmur, so say Messrs. White & Grills, her owners. Last year when they put in their new sixty-five horse-power Doty engine (when the change was made from a side-wheeler to a propeller) the engine had to be placed at the end of the bed timbers, and its working caused considerable vibration. This has been remedied this year, and with her new canvas promenade deck, and new bright coat she well befits her name. Capt. Milloye will again take charge of her and keep her off the rocks.

Fancy Tables 75c., Extension Tables $4.50, at Hendren's.

Capt. Reynolds expects to put the Golden City on the "stays" next week for a thorough overhauling. The Captain is very proud of his neat little craft and says she can do more work for her "heft" than any other boat on the inland lakes.

Chairs 32c., Spring Beds $2, Matrasses $2.50 at Hendren's.

O, Rolly, you jolly Jack Tar!
O, golly, how jolly you are!
When you're out for a lark
You're right up to the mark,
And the boys can all tell where you are.

Lakefield fell out of the band wagon through the runaway of a pair of m—I beg pardon—councillors.

The trouble with some people who retire is that they don't retire enough; they simply change the base of their re-tired operations.

Mr. J. S. Madill, of Madill Bros., the well-known dry goods firm, has been renewing old acquaintances in Kingston the past week.

Co-operation seems to be the order of the day. Mr. J. Giffin, who has been working for some time to bring about a co-operative milling combination among the farmers of the community has succeeded so well that he expects to organize within a few days what he calls "The Farmers' Gristing Company, Limited." If Mr. Griffin can do what the prospectus promises it would certainly seem to be to the interest of farmers generally to go into the combine. It is understood to be purely a gristing business and no shipping is to be done, so that it will not seriously interfere with other mills.

Dining room Setts $10 up, Bed room Setts $8 up, at Hendren's.

In 1892 there was started in this town by Messrs. Strickland & Co. a business which is to-day known the world over. This firm have for the past five years been averaging two hundred canoes a year for the English market—in fact they claim a practical monopoly of this trade. They say their success is due not only to the quality of their material and workmanship but largely also to the superiority of their model. They received an order last winter for one hundred Klondike canoes and have nearly filled same. The Messrs. Strickland take great pride in the fact that they received a special order last year for two fancy canoes from the Princess May.

Parlor Suites $20 up, Couches $3 up, at Hendren's.

There are in the province larger summer resort hotels than the Craig House, Lakefield, but there are none more conviently situated, and certainly none in a more popular district. It is the first sight that meets the eye on alighting from the train and it is but a step away, and it is only another step to the boats. The Craig House is commodious and has been recently thoroughly refitted with all the most modern conveniences for comfort. The fact that the same guests come season after season seapks for itself. The house is actually full and mine host Craig is in a quandry as the season draws near how to "gently speed the parting guest in time to greet the new."

THE EXCITABLE FRENCH.

Scene In the Chamber of Deputies With the Members Enraged.

Upon arriving at the anteroom of the chamber of deputies, says Colonel T. W. Higginson in The Atlantic, I found the hall full of people waiting, each having to send his card to some member, naming on it the precise hour of arrival. The member usually appeared promptly, when an immense usher called in a stentorian voice for "La personne qui a fait demander M. Constant"—or whoever it might be. Then the constituent—for such it usually was—advanced toward the smiling member, who never looked bored, the mask of hospitality being probably the same in this respect throughout the legislative halls of the world. At last M. Talandier appeared and got me a place among the corps diplomatique. The chamber itself was more like our representatives' hall at Washington than like the house of commons. The members had little locked desks, and some were writing letters, like our representatives, though I saw no newspapers.

The ordinary amount of noise was like that in our congress, though there was happily no clapping of hands for pages, but when the members became especially excited, which indeed happened very often, it became like a cage of lions. For instance, I entered just as somebody had questioned the minister of war, General Borel, about an alleged interference with elections, and his defiant reply had enraged the Lefts, or radicals, who constituted the majority of the assembly. They shouted and gesticulated, throwing up their arms and then slapping them on their knees very angrily, until the president rang his great bell, and they quieted down lest he might put on his hat and adjourn the meeting. In each case the member speaking took his stand in the desk or tribune below the president, and the speeches were sometimes read, sometimes given without notes.

The war minister, a stout, red faced man—always, the radicals say, half intoxicated—stood with folded arms and looked ready for a coup d'etat, yet I heard it said about me that he would be compelled either to retreat or resign. One saw at a glance how much profounder political differences must be in France than with us.

Married on Thirty Minutes' Courtship.

"You may talk about your brief courtships and marriages on short notice," said Captain Arm Cardwell once, "but I think I once witnessed the quickest made match on record. I was running as a conductor between Russellville and Owensboro, as I did for many years, and on a trip in the winter of 1881 I got a pretty country girl passenger at a little flag station south of Central City about 9:45 a. m. A few miles farther on at another small station a big strapping looking farmer, dressed in brown jeans, with his trousers tucked in his tall boots, got on my train. The fellow hadn't opened the car door till he spied the rustic lass, and before he took his seat in front of the girl he had smiled at her.

"I punched his ticket, went in the smoking car, and on my return to the regular passenger coach found the Green river tiller of the soil sitting in the same seat with the maiden, chatting with her as if he had known her since birth. In 25 minutes after they had first met the fellow called me to him and said: 'See here, podner, we want to get hitched. I hain't knowed Mirinda Jane here but 30 minutes, but we both like, an she's willin an so'm I. Whur's the nighest parson, podner?' I took them on to Owensboro, and the happy bridegroom and his blushing other half were passengers back on my train that afternoon. For hurry up nuptials it does strike me that these ought to have the cake and other special prizes offered for quick yeast love matches."—Louis-

Navigation Notes

—In speaking of Capt. and Mrs. Lane the Bobcaygeon Independent says: Capt. Lane left on Wednesday to take command of the Peterborough Nav Co's steamer the City of Peterborough. The Company has placed the catering of the boat entirely in the hands of Mrs. Lane, and wiser selections could not have been made. The Captain has, perhaps, the longest experience of any man on the waters, and the mention of Mrs. Lane's dinners touches the hearts of many Americans throughout the Northern States. The Captain and Mrs. Lane are certain to exercise a material influence in popualrizing travel over the Peterborough Navigation Co's route.

—The steamers Eclipse and Beaver brought up a large number of passengers from Rice Lake and lower ports on Saturday.

—The City of Peterborough is now about ready to launch, her lower works having been entirely overhauled.

A SHOCKING DEATH

Mrs. May Killed by the Klondyke Flyer on Saturday

A terrible fatality occurred about ten minutes after one o'clock Saturday afternoon, just where the C. P. R. track crosses Stewart-st. in the south end of Ashburnham. Mrs. Michael May, an old resident of the village, and well known in town as well, was coming from her home on Concession-st., the street east of Stewart, towards town. She took the railway track for the block between the two streets and this was the cause of her death.

The 1.18 C. P. R. west-bound train, the returning Klondike flyer, was coming along at a good speed towards town. The old lady evidently saw and heard it for she hastened to reach Stewart-st., and so gain the sidewalk before it overtook her. She succeeded in doing this, but just as she was stepping on to the street her boot caught in the track and she was held fast. The planks in the sidewalk run crosswise, and therefore in the direction of the rails, leaving about two inches of space between the nearest plank and the rail. It was in this that the old lady's heel evidently caught, for several of the neighbors saw her struggle wildly there for a moment before she was struck. The heel was also found nearly wrenched off her boot when the body was picked up.

The train was very close when she was thus caught in a death trap, and several neighbors saw her struggle with her arms. The train almost immediately struck her, threw her in on the cow-catcher on which she was carried across the street. The body was then thrown down a steep bank on the opposite side of the street to that on which the train first struck her. Here the stones were spattered with blood from her fall;

Dr. Clarke and Dr. Bell, the coroner, were soon on the spot, but nothing could be done. No inquest was considered necessary.

Mrs. May was 69 years old. She was born in the county of Tipperary, Ireland, and came to Canada when 10 years old. Her maiden name was Mary Kennedy. Five children survive her union with her late husband. They are Michael, of Chicago, Timothy, of Chicago, James, who lives in Ashburnham, and is employed on the canal, John, employed by the Dickson Co., at present back north, and Ellen, now Mrs. Henderson, of Chicago. At the time of her death the deceased was a very active and smart woman for her age.

The Guards May Go to Kingston

The Kingston Daily News says: "It now looks as if the city will have a visiting regiment on May 24th. A letter has been received from the Governor-General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, stating the Kingston's invitation will be considered at a meeting of the officers to be held to-night. Ottawa has abandoned the idea of a celebration and the regiment will probably go out of town for the day. The Guards have been to Kingston on two previous occasions and are a fine set of fellows."

A Bonus Seeker

The Toronto Star says: "Another manufacturing concern is said to be looking for a site for building purposes, and has gone outside the city to look for it. Perhaps we are so full of manufactories in Toronto that we have not room for another. Is that the reason why Mr. Thomas Bengough, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Motor Syndicate, was in Guelph yesterday, conferring with a committee of the City Council there with reference to the establishment of the proposed works in thatc ity? The case may be an exceptional one, for it is said the company wants a building and about five acres of land for testing purposes. The five acres is rather a big contract for one factory." This is the same concern that applied to Peterborough for propositions. The idea no doubt is to get the municipalities bidding against each other. The granting of bonuses should be put a stop to altogether.

OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

High Court of Justice and the Cases that Will Come Up for Adjunction

The High Court of Justice opens this afternoon at one o'clock before Mr. Justice Ferguson. The docket will be on as follows:

J. C. Kells and W. T. Wood vs. W. H. Coombe, W. A. Coombe, N. F Coombe and Mary Richards—a case in which the plaintiffs ask that the court shall decree probate of the last will and testament of the late Wm. Coombs, of Millbrook. The defendants object to the probating of the will in which the plaintiffs are named as executors and ask that the late Wm. Coombs be declared to have died intestate; on the ground that the will was obtained by fraud and that the plaintiffs are not fit and proper persons to act as executors.

A. A. Smith for plaintiffs; R. Ruddy for defendants.

Miles vs. Campbell.—The plaintiff is a farmer residing in Dummer, and the defendant is a Keene merchant.

In September, 1894, plaintiff purchased from defendant, through his agent, John Burnham, the east half of lot No. 6, in the 4th concession of Dummer for $2,260, of which he paid $1,110 cash, the balance being left on mortgage. Plaintiff claims that he paid the balance of the purchase money from time to time to the agent of the defendant, and is now entitled to a discharge of the mortgage.

The defendant denies receiving the balance due on the property, and states that the late John Burnham had no authority, expressed or implied, to collect the money.

Dumble & Johnston for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendant.

Stethem vs. Consolidating Gold Mining Co.—In this case George Stethem asks that his claim on the lands of the defendants for tools, etc., purchased, be liquidated before such properties are disposed of.

Laidlaw, Kappelle & Bicknell, Toronto, for plaintiff; McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman, for defendants.

Knox vs. McNeilly.—The plaintiff, John Knox, is a farmer residing in Asphodel and the defendant, who is the wife of Robert McNeilly and widow of the late Thos. Scott, lives in the same township.

The plaintiff, who is sole surviving executor of the will of the late Thos. Scott, asks that the estate now be divided up amongst his children, the youngest of whom is now of age and claims that Mrs. McNeilly refuses to give an account of her trusteeship, which he desires the court to compel.

The defendant states that she already has divided the estate.

Hall & Hayes for plaintiff; G. J. Sherry, of Norwood, for defendant.

Edmund Johns vs. Jas. McNeilly et al.—In this case the plaintiff is suing to recover land given to his daughter on the understanding that she was to pay to him a certain sum annually.

The defendants deny that there was any agreement to pay such sum.

G. J. Sherry, Norwood, for plaintiff; W. A. F. Campbell, Norwood, for defendants.

He purposes giving two prizes in each of the two senior rooms for the best and second best specimens of penmanship from each. The first prize in each case is to be $1 in cash, and the second prize 50 cents. The contest is to take place before school closes for the summer vacation, and the prizes will be publicly awarded at the Ashburnham Public School picnic, which will be held on Tuesday, August 30, 1898, per str. DISSATISFIED REFORMERS

The Merritton Reform Association Decidedly Objects to the Manner in Which the Patronage is Distributed

St. Catharines, May 5.—In accordance with notices published in the daily papers a meeting of the Merritton Reform Association was held on Friday evening, and the following official letter, addressed to the press of the city, shows what business was done:—

"I am requested to have you publish the following resolution adopted at the last regular meeting of the Reform Association of Merritton:

"That the Reform Association, in regular meeting assembled, place on record their condemnation of the member of the electoral district of Lincoln and Niagara, Mr. William Gibson, M.P., in violating a pledge made to the Reform Convention, when the executive committee was elected, to transact business for the Reformers of Lincoln and Niagara, by stating he would recognize the recommendations coming from this committee:

"Having ignored that committee, he likewise ignored the recommendations sent from the Reform Association of Merritton and it is incumbent, therefore, upon the members of this association to emphasize their displeasure and dissatisfaction at the course pursued by Mr. William Gibson, M.P., by disbanding the Liberal organization for Merritton.

"It is further ordered that copies of the above resolution be mailed to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, M.P., Ottawa; William Gibson, M.P., and published in the local press of St. Catharines.

Secretary.

MOMENTARILY EXPECTED

A Fierce and Bloody Conflict May Occur at any Moment off Porto Rico

READY FOR THE FRAY

A Cable Despatch from the Captain-General of Porto Rico, Dated Madrid, Says that the American Fleet is Approaching that Port and that a Naval Battle is Imminent—The Spanish Cabinet is about to be Re-Constructed

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

IMPORTANT NEWS EXPECTED.

Washington, May 9.—Naval officials are expecting interesting news from Admiral Sampson within the next 24 hours. It is now officially admitted that the admiral yesterday was with his fleet near Cape Haytien, on the north coast of the San Domingo and distant about a day's run from Porto Rico. So far no reports have come to the department of any kind, of the lurid engagements that are said to have taken place in those waters. From the expectation so plainly manifested at the Navy Department that something important is to happen very soon, it is surmised that if Sampson has not struck the Spanish flying squadron to-day he may strike a blow at Porto Rico itself to-morrow. It is a curious fact that thus far the navy department does not know positively where the Spanish fleet is and it is just possible that the vessels may be away over on the other side of the Atlantic or at Cadiz, instead of being in Sampson's neighborhood in the West Indies. That such a thing can happen is plainly shown by the report from St. Thomas that the Spanish cruiser Alphonso XIII arrived at Porto Rico yesterday or the day before. This is a formidable protected cruiser of the modern type, and it has been supposed all along that she was at Cadiz, Spain, forming part of the home defence squadron. The fact that she has arrived at Porto Rico without knowledge of her departure having leaked out is an evidence that the Spanish authorities are able to guard the secrecy of their naval movements much better than the people of the United States are able to do. Word came to the Navy Department to-day that the cable had been cut between Montevidio and Rio Grande Do Sul thus cutting off all communication along the east coast of South America below the first and last named points in the south of Brazil. If this was not an accident it would be hard to guess at the purpose, the Oregon having passed far north of the break. It is just possible that Spanish emissaries have cut the cable to conceal some naval demonstration or movements of Spanish ships in that quarter of the world.

THE AMERICAN FLEET APPROACHING.

Madrid, May 9.—A cable despatch from the Captain-General of Porto Rico says he has information that the American fleet is approaching.

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE CABINET.

Madrid, May 9.—8 p.m.—The Queen Regent consulted late this afternoon wiht Senor Montaro Rios, President of the Senate, who advised a re-construction of the Cabinet. It is increasingly probable that the Cabinet will be reformed with Senor Gamazo included after the lower House has adopted the Indemnity Bill.

CUBA TO BE INVADED AT ONCE.

Washington, May 9.—The Washington Post says to-day: Between 60 and 80 thousand men will be landed on Cuban soil at once. They will wear the uniform of the United States and they will not return until they have defeated the Spanish forces on the land and the American flag floats over Havana. This is the idea of the military advisers of the Administration, and the President has approved the plans. The first section of the army to invade Cuba will be the 15,000 or 18,000 troops that are now assembling at New Orleans and Tampa. They are all regulars and most of them are men who have seen actual fighting on the plains. They are seasoned, disciplined, effective. They will be followed at once by another army of 50,000 volunteers, who will be concentrated at Southern ports as quickly as the trains can carry them, and will be transported as fast as the necessary ships can be collected. It is estimated that it will take at least 500 vessels to carry this immense army to Cuba. Nearly everything that floats has already been secured by the Government and last night the wires were hot in all directions, directing contracts to be closed immediately in all the principal seaport towns.

Other details of the great expedition have been arranged within forty-eight hours. There will be 2,000 wagons at Tampa and 12,000 mules. Several hundred ambulances will also be hurried to Tampa. They may be needed. Battles are not all like the one which has just been fought in Manila harbor.

ARRESTED 150 RIOTERS.

London, May 9.—A special despatch from Madrid say that 150 persons have been arrested at Talavera. The mob tried to burn the railway station Vallancanas, south-east of Toledo.

At La Union, all the prisoners have been liberated and tranquility has been restored there, but only after serious street fighting, in which three miners were killed. The municipal buildings at Soris have been destroyed.

DEWEY ASKS FOR TROOPS.

New York, May 9.—A special cable despatch to The World from Hong Kong says: Despatches signed by Commodore Dewey have just been sent to Washington recommending that the surrender of Manila be demanded and that a provisional Government for the Philippines be established pending the settlement of the war with Spain. His proposal is for a commission to take control of the Government. He suggests that he be named as one of the commissioners. The Government would be continued upon much the same lines as exist now. He asks that sufficient troops be sent him in event that his plan is adopted, to maintain order. If his suggestion is favorably received by the President and the Cabinet, it is probable that our two Consuls, Williams, of Manila, and Wildman, of Hong Kong, will be asked to serve on the commission.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Washington, May 9.—President McKinley and his Cabinet held a special council of war to-day, and with the approval of the War and Naval Boards of Strategy decided upon this general plan: First, to annihilate the Spanish navy in the Atlantic, even if it is necessary to cross the sea. Second, to begin at once a land movement against Cuba with a force so large that the fall of Havana and the complete surrender of Spanish rule in the island is assured before the rainy season sets in. Third, to back up Admiral Dewey with men and arms sufficient to subjugate all the Spanish possessions in the various groups of the Philippines, regardless of money or men. Fourth, to provide for the military occupation of all islands captured from Spain, and to hold them by force of arms until their fate has been decided by Congress, after the war is at an end.

STRENGTHENING THE BELEARICS

London, May 9.—Lloyds' agent at Port Mahon, the capital of Minorca, Balearic Islands, reports that the Minorca garrison is being largely increased and that the defences of all the ports on the island are being strengthened with torpedoes and heavy artillery.

ITALIAN ROITERS.

Milan, Italy, May 9.—Rioters have torn up the tracks of the railway leading out of Milan and the trains on the St. Gothard tunnel route have been stopped nine miles from the city.

ARCHBISHOP (IRELAND)SUMMONED.

Waterloo, Iowa, May 9.—It is rumored that Archbishop Ireland has been summoned to Rome to give the sentiment of the Catholics in America in regard to the Spanish-American war.

MORE RIOTING.

Madrid, May 9.—Riots have broken out at Cadiz and Alicante. More trouble is feared. Martial law has been proclaimed in the Provinces of Albacete and Jaen.

WON'T ATTACK YET.

London, May 9.—It is announced to-day in a special despatch from Madrid that the Spanish Minister of War and Marine, General Correa, and Admiral Bermejo, declare they do not expect Manila to be attacked before the arrival of reinforcements for Rear Admiral Dewey from the United States.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Washington, May 9.—President McKinley has sent a message to Congress reciting the brave deed of the fleet under Commodore Dewey, and alluding to the victory as of extraordinary magnitude, at which the "great heart of our nation throbs." The message recommends the appointment of Dewey as Rear Admiral, and that the thanks of the nation be given to him, his officers and men.

GUILTY OF COWARDICE.

London, May 9.—According to a despatch from Paris, Commodore Dewey's despatches and the completeness of the American victory have greatly chargined the French press, which has been assuring France that the American fleet was locked up in Manila Bay. The Russian papers are full of criticims of the Spanish fighting. They accuse the Spaniards of losing the arsenal at Cavite through cowardice.

AN ATTEMPT TO SEIZE THE QUEEN.

Madrid, May 9.—Sensational reports are being circulated in the Spanish capital as to an attempt of the Carlists to seize upon the person of the Queen Regent and the young King, and confine them in some distant and secret place until Don Carlos shall have been firmly established upon the throne.

It is stated that on Saturday evening at midnight a band of some half dozen armed conspirators, by the aid of treacherous guards, were introduced into the Escuria, the royal palace, and made their way to the apartments occupied by the Queen Regent and the young King Alfonso XIII, eluding the vigilance of the body-guard.

The Queen, being warned a few moments in advance by a faithful woman-in-waiting, escaped with her son down a secret staircase into an inaccessible part of the palace, so that when the conspirators burst in her door the birds were flown and they were compelled to beat a hasty retreat by the sounding of an alarm.

It is stated that the Department of Police have indisputable evidence that the descent upon the palace was in consequence of a carefully laid plot, the daring purpose of which was to seize Her Majesty and the King in their own palace and convey them to some secret place of confinement in the mountains of Galicia; that a large guard of Carlists with a closed conveyance was in waiting at a convenient place and that arrangements had been made for relays of horses so that as rapid a journey as possible might be made with the royal captives.

The palace guards have, as a result, been quadrupled in number; a posse of absolutely faithful troops remain on duty outside Her Majesty's apartments day and night; and several of the ladies-in-waiting never leave the royal presence, even sleeping in the Queen's apartment. Her Majesty has been urged to take refuge with her relatives of the imperial house of Austria until the storm blows over, but strenuously refuses to do so, holding that the Spanish nation is desperately in need now of an example of fortitude such as she can give.

There is little doubt that an attempt will soon be made to establish a Carlist dynasty. The Republicans and the Carlists were formerly about evenly divided, the former being strong in the country, the latter in the towns. The fact that America is a republic, however, is prejudicing Spaniards against that form of government and the Carlists have now the advantage. Besides they are perfectly organized and united, while the Republicans are divided among themselves.

MAY RETAKE CAVITE.

Madrid, May 9.—Signs of internal trouble are increasing, and martial law is spreading all over the country. The Republican minority in the Cortes have prepared a number of fiery speeches for delivery to-day. The military deputies, headed by General Lichambre, have held a meeting and decided to act independetnly of politics. At a future meeting the naval deputies will be invited to co-operate with the military deputies. It is reported that Governor-General Augusti, of the Philippines, is planning to retake Cavite.

REFUSED TO SELL COAL.

Montreal, May 9.—The old Dominion Coal Company have refused to sell the Spanish Government 10.000 tons of coal to be delivered at Cape Breton, the sale being contrary to the neutrality laws.

A SWORD AND MEDALS.

Washington, May 9.—A resolution of thanks to Commodore Dewey and the officers under him, passed both the Senate and House to-day. Senator Lodge presented and the Senate passed a resolution authorizing the president to present a sword to Dewey and medals to officers and men under him who were in the battle of Manika. It appropriates ten thousand dollars for the purpose.

TO THE DEATH.

London, May 9.—A special despatch from Madrid says orders have been sent to Governor-General Augusti to resist to the death an attack on Manila.

PRIESTS AFRAID

London, May 9.—The Vienna correspondent of The Standard says: "The Vaterland, the Vatican organ, advises the administrators of church property in Spanish dominions to take measures with all speed whereby the titles to that property would be secured by way of timely transfers to trustworthy private individuals. Nobody knows what is going to happen in Spain; and not only are we prepared to learn that a a conquest of Philippines is to be followed by the abolition of convents and monasteries, but we are also informed of an intention in Spain, in case of further reverses, to close all the convents and sell their estates for the nation.'

FOURTEEN RIOTERS KILLED.

NO UNCERTAIN VERDICT

THE LADIES ARE CONTINUALLY PRAISING DIAMOND DYES

The strong assertion can be made without fear of contradiction, that no other package dyes for home dyeing ever commanded the praise and admiration of the millions as have the wonderful and popular Diamond Dyes.

Mrs. W. F. Curtis, Albany, P.E.I., says: "Have used Diamond Dyes for seven years, and have always had success with them."

Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Manitoulin Island, Ont., says: "I have used your Diamond Dyes for many years with the greatest success, and find them better than any other make of dyes."

Mrs. Jas. [illegible], Surrey Centre, B.C., says: "I have bought your Diamond Dyes for a great many years, and they have always proved true."

Mrs. Charles Leck, [illegible] Station, Man., says: [illegible]

Mrs. W[illegible] says: [illegible]

Mrs. [illegible] Stafford, [illegible] P.Q., says: "I have used Diamond Dyes for many years and think they are the best; and I do not wish to try any other make."

Mrs. Chas. Gagne, St. [illegible], P.Q., says: "Your Diamond Dyes are splendid and should be kept in every home."

Mrs. Chas. Lewis, Hamilton, Ont., says: "The Diamond Dyes are far far ahead of other Dyes I have tried; they give the cleanest and brightest colors. No wonder your dyes are the most popular."

A NERVOUS WOMAN.

"I was completely run down and had a bad cough due to bronchitis. I was very nervous but since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I have more appetite and feel a great deal better. I have also used Hood's Pills and find them very excellent." Mrs M. Garland, 675 Crawford street, Toronto, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 10, 1898

ONE-SIDED LOGIC

The New York Sun insists that the United States shall hold the Philippine Islands for all time to come, because their value is inestimable. "Their possession," says the Sun, "is founded upon political logic that is solid and impregnable."

The Sun ought not to introduce logic into this question at all. The resolution of Congress ought to prevent the United States from acquiring territory through the war with Spain. If it violates this resolution it leaves itself open to the charge that it entered upon the war under false pretences. But, even if the resolution is not considered binding or is rescinded, what about the Monroe doctrine? Does the "political logic" of the United States permit that country to acquire territory in the eastern hemisphere while insisting that foreign countries acquire no additional territory in the western hemisphere? Is such logic "solid and impregnable?"

ANGLO-SAXON UNITY

The real and true friends of an Anglo-American good understanding have been the Canadians who have laboured to make Canada independent of the United States.

A conviction that Canada was being drawn further and further from the Empire would have been a reason why the United States should not stop that separating process by coming to terms with Great Britain.

By proving her determination and power to remain in the Empire and to live without trade favours from the United States, Canada has cleared the way for the union which ought to be dictated by the interest and sentiments of both nations.

The old idea that Cadna was a Lazarus fighting with the dogs for the crumbs which Uncle Sam might drop from his table, is being replaced by the newer and truer conviction that Canada is a country capable of securing wealth by self-development, and a market which even the United States can condescend to bargain for.

Canada was an obstacle to a good understanding between Great Britain and the United States, so long as its trade policy encouraged the belief that the British flag could be driven from this continent. Canada has done something to convert the United States to a conviction that the British flag is here to stay, and therefore the United States has no selfish reason for holding aloof from a chance to work with Britain for the promotion of her own commercial interests and the protection of humanity.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

If the area of Italy, divided into about two thousand islands, two of them each about as big as Ohio, or Cuba, and the rest ranging down to mere rocky islets, be pictured in the mind scattered through some seventeen degress of latitude and nine degrees of longitude, a fair beginning is made in getting a correct idea of the size and form of the great group knows as the Philippine Islands. They lie off the east coast of Southern Asia, southeast of China and east of farther India, or Indo-China. The most southern islands of the group are only four degrees from the equator.

Being situated in such a part of the world, it need hardly be said that the Philippines are very fertile and productive. That they are tropical in climate is to be taken for granted. The products are many, and of great variety. Naturally, the population is large. It may be 7,000,000 in all. There has been no complete census. About nine-tenths of the people are nominally, at least, Roman Catholics. The great bulk of the population is of the Malay race, and the customs of the people, especially in the large towns, are a curious compound of Spanish and Malay.

Manila, the chief city of the group, is the largest centre of population, except Madrid, and possibly Barcelona, hitherto under the Spanish flag. With the suburbs, it has about 300,000 inhabitants. The city has some fortifications, believed to be in a very bad condition. It has also been guarded to some extent by the shallowness and sometimes dangerous nature of the bay on which it fronts. And the Spaniards were believed to have laid a few mines in the harbor lately.

The city has an important commerce with many parts of the world. Its trade has been rapidly increasing in the last half century. The people of the Philippines are, as a rule, by no means loyal to Spain. Bloody and desperate revolts have taken place within the last two years, led by some of the chiefs of the Moslem and pagan elements of the population, which may represent 5 per cent. of the whole number of inhabitants, and supported by other restless and discontented natives.

Will Dewey's men claim the right to sell the Philippines for prize money?

Dewey probably delayed his report until he had received the newspapers telling him about it.

* * *

How would it do to make Alaska the price of British support to Uncle Sam on the present occasion?

* * *

Names are confusing in the Ontario Cabinet. Frinstins. Harty is hardy and Hardy is hearty.

Of what avail is the victory in the Philippines when no word can be found to rhyme with Dewey.

* * *

If flour continues to advance in price, farmers' sons will change their minds about going to the Klondike.

* * *

All vessels starting on long voyages take on water. The Cape Verde fleet will doubtless take water and stay home.

* * *

Would the United States have acted as she has done in Cuba had Spain been her equal instead of a very weak power?

* * *

That fiery Spanish gentleman connected with Senor Polo's embassy, and who wanted to fight Capt. Sigsby, should now challenge Capt. Dewey. His conduct towards the Spanish navy has been outrageously insulting.

* * *

It is proposed to place a tax on gum, so that those who chew the stuff will be forced to contribute to the public exchequer. We would suggest that the Government also place a tax on those who "chew the rag." It would be popular as well as praiseworthy. And, Lord knows, there are plenty of them to tax.

* * *

There is no truth in the rumor, started in Lakefield, we believe, that the Salvation Army propose to purchase the wreck of the Maine to make a war cry of it. Nor is it true that the Bostonians have planted no beans this season for fear they might be shelled by the Spaniards. It is a difficult matter to keep track of war scares these days.

Men and medicines are judged by what they do. The great cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla give it a good name everywhere.

A Common Cold

and common carelessness can make a combination strong enough to defy all the healing skill of the physician. Common carelessness lets the cold root and grow. Common carelessness says, between paroxysms of coughing, "It will be all right in a day or two," and the common end is confirmed lung trouble, perhaps consumption. The common-sense treatment of a common cold is a prompt dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most efficient and reliable cure for colds and coughs, and is constantly prescribed by physicians. —

S. HAYNES, M. D., Saranac, N. Y., says :—

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice since 1853, and have always found it reliable for the cure of colds, coughs, and all lung diseases."

An Escaped Lunatic

Lindsay Post: Some years ago a man named Edward Sampson, of Tamworth, Madoc district, was incarcerated in Kingston asylum, being hopelessly insane. About a year ago his brother moved to this vicinity and a few days ago he informed Chief Bell that Edward was at his house, and seemed to be in full possession of his senses, but he doubted if he had been discharged as cured. Chief Bell at once wired the asylum authorities asking if a patient had escaped, and the reply was "Yes, on the 25th." He then arranged to have Edward brought to town by his brother this morning, and next wired the asylum authorities to have a guard reach here on the 11 o'clock train. According to arrangement, Sampson reached town about 10 a.m. Chief Bell was on hand and took him into custody in the Benson house yard, and duly delivered him into the care of the asylum guard at 11 o'clock. Sampson told the chief that he came as far as Peterborough on the C.P.R., and to his brother's house via Ennismore and Emily.

GENTLEMEN: Having suffered with Rheumatism for the past seven years was recommended to use Walton's Rheumatic Pills, which gave me immediate relief, and am as well as ever and can follow my trade again. SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

IN ACTION

New York, May 8.—The World has received the following copy-righted cablegram from Puerto Plata, San Domingo, May 8: "Dominican officials report heavy cannonading off the north of Monte Cristi about fifty miles from here." It is believed here that Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron is engaging the Spanish Cape Verde fleet. The firing began about 9 o'clock this morning and was terrific. The American fleet was due to arrive in Porto Rico waters yesterday afternoon. The Spanish fleet was expected at about the same time. Sampson came here with orders to find the fleet and reduce it. He will, after destroying the Spanish ships begin a street blockade and if necessary he will bombard and capture Porto Rico.

NO FIGHTING

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, May 8.—10 a. m.—The American fleet under the command of Rear Admiral Sampson has not yet arrived off Porto Rico and no fighting has yet occurred in that quarter.

AMERICAN CRUISERS FIRED ON

Havana, May 8.—At half past eight o'clock this morning two American cruisers which were pursuing the Spanish schooner Santiago, bound from Yucatan with salted fish approached the Vedado batteries, which fired at them when about five miles off shore. Six shots were discharged at the Americans. A local paper says that one projectile carried off the smoke stack, and one of the members of the American cruiser which was in the lead, and projectile fell upon the deck of the other cruiser. The Americans replied with 12 shots, but the projectiles fell two miles off the batteries and the cruisers then retreated under a full head of steam. One of the shots from the batteries fell near one of the American vessels, covering her decks with water, and it is asserted positively that a hole was made in her hull below the water line. The letteral at San Lozore Vedado was full of people watching the encounter through opera glasses and applauding the firing of the Spaniards.

At 11.30 the Santiago entered the barbor in tow of the Sussie. One of the American shots carried off a boat from the schooner's stern. It is reported that one of the cruisers was so damaged that she will be towed to Key West. She will probably leave to-morrow.

Gen. Blanco has ordered that an account of the state of war flags be hoisted on the forts and batteries at sunrise and be lowered at sunset. The war material brought by the Spanish steamer Monsterrat to Cienfuegos, has arrived at Havana, having been brought by seciap train consisting of 15 cars. The French gunboat Fulton will leave to-morrow for aJmaioa, taking with her such French citizens as desire to leave the island. The lower House of the Colonial Parliament was definitely organized today. The ceremony was a solemn one The Senate will eb organized Monday.

THE QUEEN REGENT GUARDED

London, May 8.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: It is true that every preparation has been made in Madrid for the safety of the Queen Regent and the King, but this was was done by the Austrian ambassador Count Dubsley, on instructions from Vienna without the Queen's knowledge.

CUBAN REVENGE.

Key West, May 7.—An interesting scene of vengeance took place on board the warship Nashville. Among the prisoners captured in the Argonauta was the cruel Colonel Vincenta de Cartijo, related to General Weyler, and for more than a year Governor of Cabanas fortress, where most of the political prisoners were incarcerated. He was cordially hated by the Cubans, who swore to hav ehis life.

Among the prisoners who came before the colonel was Alfredo Laborde, capatin of the ill-fated Competitor, who, showing himself to be unjustly detained, asked to be sent before the Governor of the prison. In response Colonel de Cortijo leaned across his magistrate's desk and deliberately spat in Laborde's face. Spanish officials present openly applauded this act of their superior toward a helpless prisoner.

Laborde was then cast into a cell far beneath the earth, but he took an oaht to revenge himself upon the man who insulted him. Time and Consul-General Lee brought about Laborde's release from Cabanas fortress, but a price had been put on his head by Weyler, and he could not return to Cuba to get vengeance. Weyler was recalled, and with him went Colonel de Cortijo.

His absence only fanned the fire of Laborde's hatred. Two years passed. Laborde, his former occupation gone, began to filibuster. When the war between Spain and the United States began he volunteered his services as pilot to Admiral Sampson. He was accepted and assigned to the gunboat Nashville. His knoiwledge of all iintricacies of the Cuban coast and its waters, made him veyr valuable. When the Argonauta with Colonel de Cortiji and his staff on board, was intercepted off Cienfugos and captured fate decreed that the prisoners should be taken on the Nashville to Key West.

One of the first men to see Colonel de Cortiji after he was taken over the Nashville's side was Laborde. Then ensued a dramatic scene. With his face pael with the degrading recollection, Laborde stepped directly in front of the Spanish colonel.

"Do you remember me?" he asked in Spanish.

Colonel de Cortiji looked at the white faced man several seconds, then shook his head.

"Perhaps Cabanas fortress and this,' ejaculated Laborde, spitting in DeCortijo's face, "will assist your memory."

It was De Cortijo's turn to grow pale but he did not reply. A naval officer ordered Laborde away, and the incident closed for the time. It was not Laborde's nature to let the matter rest there. When the Nashville arrived in Key West, he quickly informed his friends ashore of De Cortijo's presence on the ship. There was no way to reach the Spanish officer so long as he was under the protection of Uncle Sam's sailors, but a plot was started to get at him on land, and a strong guard of soldiers was necessary to protect the colonel from the violence of the crowd.

THE POPE'S OFFICIAL DENIAL.

Rome, May 7.—The Vatican has issued an official statement absolutely denying the report that the Pope has sent an earnest message to the Queen Regent of Spain advising her to immediately ask for the mediation of the European powers, and promising his support and that of the powers, to obtain an honorable solution of the difficulty.

THE SPANIARDS LEAVE.

Senor Polo y Bernabe and the other members of the Spanish Legation in Washington, who have been staying in Toronto for the past two weeks, left at nine o'clock last evening for Montreal by the C.P.R. in the Pullman car Quenboe. The party will stay at the Windsor Hotel for some two weeks.

DEWEY'S DESPATCH.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Long at 10.30 o'clock, read the following to the newspaper men as Commodore Dewey's communication:

Manila, May 1.—The squadron arrived at Manila at daybreak this morning. Immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following Spanish vessels—Reina Christina, Castilla, Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, Isla de Cuba, Gen. Lozo, Marquis del Duero, Correo, Velasco, Isla de Mindanao, one transport, and the water battery at Cavite. The squadron is uninjured and only a few men were slightly wounded. The only means of telegraphing is to the American consul at Hong Kong. I shall communicaet with him. DEWEY.

CUT THE CABLE HIMSELF.

Washington, May 7.—Dewey states that h ehas silenced the batteries completely, but he cut the cable himself and he has the bay and everything else completely at his mercy. He has, however, been unable to take possession of the town of Manila for lack of men. The vessels he destroyed were Isla de Cuba, Reina Christina, Castilla, Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, and the Velasco, all cruisers; El Cano, General Lazo, Marquis del Duero, gunboast; and Isla de Mindanao, an armed transport.

A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE.

New York, May 7.—The World, in an extra edition just published, has the following copyright despatch from Hong Kong:

"I have just arrived here on the United States revenue cutter McCulloch with report of the American triumph at Manila. The entire Spanish fleet of eleven vessels was destroyed. Three hundred Spanish were killed and four hundred wounded. The American loss was none killed, but six were slightly wounded. Not one of the American ships were injured.

A REMARKABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

Hong Kong, May 7.—The victory of Commodore Dewey at Manila was complete. The Spanish fleet of eleven vessels was utterly destroyed. Three hundred Spaniards were killed and four hundred were wounded, and Dewey did not lose a man. None of his ships were injured. This first official news of the triumph of American arms in the Philippines was brought here to-day by the United State srevenue cutter McCulloch. The McCulloch was with the American fleet when Dewey steaminto Manila harbor to engage the Spanish ships. The triumph of Dewey will rank with the most remarkable achievements in naval warfare. Seven American warships were in the fight, making a total of eighteen ships engaged. The American ships were subjected also to the fire of the shore batteries for several hours, and yet lost no men. The defeat of the Spanish was overwhelming.

THE CHIEF ENGINEER DEAD.

Washington, May 7.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip has received a cablegarm from a friend who was on the McCulloch during the great naval engagement at Manila in which he says: "The Spanish fleet of 11 warships was destroyed totally. Best of all no American was killed and only six Americans were injured." Another cablegram received by Mr. Vanderlip from the commander of the McCulloch at Hong Kong states that Chief Engineer F. B. [illegible]andall died on May 1st. The cause of death is not known.

IS THIS THE SPANISH FLEET.

London, May 7.—A special despatch from Fort De France, capital of the Island of Martinique, French West India islands, says five warships, supposed to be Spanish vessels, were sighted off here this morning. They are bound in a northerly direction and might be heading for Porto Rico.

U. S. TROOPS INJURED.

Camp U. S. Army, Chickamaugn, May 7.—It is not likely that any more troops ohter than the 10th Colored Cavalry of Montana, will b eremoved from here to Tampa. The camp people generally are of the opinion that the men will be sent direct from Chikamauga to the boats at Tampa, and thence to Cuba, and also that it will not be long before the word for them to start will arrive. They are kept in a constant state of expectancy, their camp being in such order that they could, without difficulyt, be on the move three hours after the command is received. It is stated on good authority to-day that this very important order will be issued from Washington in a couple of days, and regulars will leave to co-operate with Gomez's army.

The different regiments are being drilled rigorously, especially the cavalry, and great attention is being paid to skirmish work. It is quite a thrilling sight to watch them rushing recklessly through the dense woods, dismounting, firing across their horses, mounting again and hurriedly responding to the bugle call to re-form column; and the sharpshooters advancing from tree to tree under the protection of the supposed fire of the regiments in the rear. A worthy item for the sentimentalist is, that these modern sharpshooters practiced in the thick forest behind Kelly's field, through which the Confederates advanced successfully upon the Union army in November 1863

The cavalry exercise in the woods is both severe and dangerous. Hardly a day passes without some of the men being injured. The ambulence is always in attendance and follows the different troops over the field.

Gen. Brooks has his headquarters on the hill looking upon Kelly's field. There are six official tents in line, are nicely fitted up, and made comfortable by board floors and canvas awnings. The first tent on the left is occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Company, who have three men constantly employed receiving and despatching army messages. Next to that is one for General Brooks' official staff, which consists of four clerks from the War Department at Washington and two telegraph operators, who have charge of the army wires running through the camp. The tent for the general's aides is located between that of the office staff and the private quarters of the general. Behind this row are quartered the Guard and the despatch riders.

Gen. Brooks has the reputation of being an excellent modern commander, and, indeed he deserves it as far as he has gone. The general good order in the large camp is exceptional, and the manner in which the troops are handled is really marvellous. General Brooks is on eof the four major-generals in the United States militia. In appearance he is every inch a soldier, straight and tall, with a pleasant ruddy face, to which a Bismark moustache of lightish grey adds a marked military expression.

When passing over the Lafayette Road early this morning on my way to the camp, and just over the line between Georgia and Tennessee, I discerned several men through the mist busily engaged driving stakes. I asked them for what troops they were laying out the ground. They said, "Seventh."

Returning again at half past one in the afternoon, I was surprised to see on the same field, where the few men had worked in the early dawn, a whole regiment encamped, fires going, horses tethered, and soldiers quietly reclining in the shade of their white tents. I could hardly credit the sight, and to make sure that I had not mistaken any route, I asked the sentinel what regiment was here located. He answered, "Seventh."

CARLOS WARNS HIS FOLLOWERS.

New York, May 7.—The Commercial Advertiser to-day publishes the followers throughout the United States and South America to join him at once. Some will leave for here on steamboats sailing to-day; others have left, and still more will leave as soon as they can settle up their affairs in this country. Rafael Diaz de la Cortina, the official representative of Don Carlos in America, yesterday received his instructions to join Don Carlos, and will leave for Europe during the coming week. According to Senor Cortina, the general ferment in Spain to-day is the beginning of the end of the present dynasty. The emissaries of Don Carlos throughout Spain have reported that an overwhelming majority of the people are ready to flock to his standard the instant it is raised. General Weyler and the army are only waiting to receive the word to openly declare their allegiance to him. The majority of the naval officers, including all of the fifteen admirals are already pledged to him.

In reply to the question as to the intention of Don Carlos regarding the Spanish-American war, Senor Cortina replied: "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." He certainly will not act until he has seen and consulted with the American Carlists. We will join our leader at some place on the Continent of Europe, exactly where I do not know. A provisional government will be formed, to go into effect the instant the Queen Regent abdicates, or when Don Carlos proclaims himself. There will be no opposition from any other nation. The new government will be formed on much more democratic lines. I speak authoritatively when I say that Don Carlos intends to make a radical change in the present system of government.'

THANKS TO THE ADMIRAL.

Washington, May 7.—By direction of the President, Secretary Long sent the following cable despatch to Commodore Dewey: Washington, May 7.—Dewey, Manila. The President, in the name of the American people, thanks you and your officers and men for your splendid achievement and overwhelming victory. In recognition he has appointed you acting admiral, and will recommend a vote of thanks to you by Congress.

BAD ARTILLERY PRACTICE.

Havana, May 7.—The American fleet to-day has been nearer than at any other time. At half past five o'clock a cruiser approached almost in front of Fort Morro. The playachive battery fired the first shot, but it fell short. The second passed above the vessel, which turned and retired at full speed. The third shot fell near her bow. Other shots were fired at her as she retreated.

LIVELY LAKEFIELD

A DESPERATE ATTACK

The Majestic Forces an Entrance Into The Harbour

And Captures the Cheese Factory as a Base of Supplies—The Cheese Boxes Just Fit the Cannon and the Contents Fit the Captain—An Awful Battle Looked for To-night

Special to the Times from our own war correspondent.

Lakefield, North Pier, May 9.—The fears expressed in last night's exclusive telegram to the Morning Times to the effect that a strange vessel hovering just outside the harbor was thought to be the Majestic on her way to bombard the Strickland ship yards and capture the immense supply of provisions in the cheese factory just outside the village, were fully realized. The work of destruction was completed in short order, the first position to surrender to the enemy was Fort Craig (after the destruction of the pier at the entrance of the harbor). Here the garrison was soon overcome and the work of destroying the establishment and its contents—more particularly the latter—was proceeded with.

It was nearly 9.30, when Billy Leahy espied the vessel looming up against the sky, as he sat on the middle pier fishing for eels. The vessel was preparing to enter the harbor and at the same time avoid the mines that had been placed there by Jack Craig and Harbor-Master Dinwoodie during the day.

As soon as the Majestic was observed in the offing, Mayor Rolly Strickland was sent for, but that gentleman having already departed for Cuba, Don Casement immediately assumed command of the garrison, and three of the battery guns were at once limbered up and taken to Fort Craig, and soon the booming of the cannon was heard throughout the village as the sound echoed and re-echoed from hill to hill and from dale to dale. Owing to the mistiness of the night and the huskiness of Corporal Bob Monroe's eyes as he took aim, the effect was not as good as might have been expected.

Despite the flying of shot and shell, and in spite of the great search-light at the end of the pier, Commander Scallard came on undaunted with his gallant craft and brave and almost sober crew, cheering as they came but holding their fire until they should be immediately in front of their objective point. Between the booming of the cannon, ever and anon could be heard the sharp commands of the Majestic's captain—"Luff her, Ed," "Port your sta'board there, you lubber," "Haul up that helm to the sheet," etc.

Then when she got down opposite Fort Craig she let drive with her ten and twelve inch guns and raked the enemy with terrible havoc and driving them without more ado back behind the picket fence, where they stood helplessly watching the ship's crew and the marines land and spike their guns, and afterwards capture the fort where a rich store of valuable articles were found, and cheer after cheer rang through the building as various articles of value and utility were discovered. A good deal of curiosity was expressed, however, when Commander Scollard found in Senor Craig's private office a nest of bottles of water-like stuff. There was a name something like Hennessey on the label, but in the dimness of the light it was impossible to make out anything further. The prize was carried on board the Majestic for further investigation to-day. Capt. Reynolds, of the Navy Department, expressed the opinion that it was a new kind of liniment for the cure of poison ivy.

After the capture of this noted stronghold the invader proceeded to the cheese factory, just outside the village, where he found an immense store of large round boxes, which he at once surmised were loaded with powder and shot for the cannon, and Corporal Macfarlane at once reported to the Commander. The Captain investigated the pile and agreed that the boxes would just fit the Majestic's guns, but as he turned away he was heard to mutter, "But their contents will fit me elegantly,' and he ordered them all on board.

When this had been completed the ship sailed off in search of the cruiser Sunbeam, which is supposed to be taking on coal at Jack Holmes', and the battleship Golden City, which had fortunately escaped around the "horn" to Mud Lake to seek protection under the guns of Fort Fobert.

They are expected to meet to-night and there may be a big drop in cheese in consequence. Full particulars of the engagement will be given in these columns, provided the cable is not cut by the enemy.

The Need of a Fire Brigade

Away back reaching almost beyond the memory of man, when Lakefield had three little hand fire pumps, everybody turned out to a fire, everybody took his hand at the pumps, everybody thought only of the distress of his neighbors and fires were now and again quenched—but in 1889 the village determined to buy a steam fire engine and equipment, and a change came over the spirit of its citizens. Now three-fourths of them stand around and watch the other fourth make no connections or wrong ones, laugh in chorus with the fire fiend at their ineffectual efforts, their whole attention being taken up, not with the distress of their neighbors, but with the absurdities of the situation.

The reasons leading up to this may be briefly stated: At the time the new equipment was purchased there was in existence a volunteer company, the members of which took a pride in competing as to who would be first at the scene of a fire. They had no special drilling to do—they needed none. With the advent of the new outfit it was at once seen that in order to do effective work much drilling and practice would be necessary. Some sort of uniform would be an advantage. They, thereupon, memorialised the council to make a grant of $50 a year towards the volunteer fire company. The council refused, and that not civilly. The company met immediately after, and, on motion of the captain, Mr. J. Griffin, unanimously passed a resolution to disband. That is how it has happened that Lakefield, with a $3800 fire equipment, has no volunteer fire brigade competent to manage its apparatus.

Passing over the fact that there are dark whispers behind doors as to the influences which led to the purchase of this equipment, its inutility without a proper brigade may be shown in two glaring instances:

The first instance, that of the Cotton and Tanner Blocks occurred in 1890. The fire was discovered by Jno. Clarin at 1.30 in the morning. Five men—W. Leahey, H. Roland, J. Kelly, Dr. J. R. Frazer and another handed the engine down to the Reid St. platform. Not one of the five men knew how to make connections. A crowd gathered, but among them there was no one educated to the working of fire appliances. The engineer, who was skillfully appointed by the council because of his remoteness from the city hall, slept on unconscious of the need of his services. An hour elapsed before there emerged from the crowd a Mr. Bogg who knew how to do the trick. But it was too late. In the meantime it was only with great difficulty that two families who occupied the buildings were rescued with their lives. In the adjoining block goods were carried out and lost or destroyed. All this might have been averted by a drilled brigade.

The second instance occurred in 1897, and is known as the McKee fire. This fire started at noon. The engine was run down, steam gotten up, connections made and the water turned on, when it was discovered that the nozzles had been left behind and that the coal had run out. It took fifteen minutes to get coal and fetch down the nozzles and by that time the fire was beyond control. If the apparatus had been in proper working order a few minutes would have put out the fire and saved the building.

A fire may start anywhere at any time. Each householder runs as much risk as every other. With a view of ascertaining the feeling of the business men on the subject of organizing a volunteer brigade and donating out of the public funds say $50 thereto, the Times has interviewed some of the leading business men of the town and the following are their views:

In favor of a volunteer organization and a donation by the council of $50:

T. H. Benson, of Jas. Linton & Co., bankers.

J. S. Madill, of Madill Bros., dry goods.

J. H. Sherin, of J. C. Sherin & Son, dry goods.

W. Graham, of Robt. Graham & Son, merchants.

T. C. Ridpath, tailor.

W. Fischer, tailor.

J. W. Stuart, butcher.

R. J. Munro, Queen's Hotel.

The following were out and could not be seen:

W. McDonald, furniture.

The following would not express an opinion:

W. H. Casement, hardware.

The Times has engaged the services of Mr. Alex. Couch, of Toronto, as outside circulation manager. Mr. Couch has had large experience on several of the larger dailies of the United States and Canada, and thoroughly understands his business. He will devote his attention to the villages and towns in this district. During his stay in a place, which lasts from a week to a month, a copy of the Morning Times is delivered at each house free, so that people will see exactly what kind of a newspaper they are asked to subscribe for. The paper being printed daily at 4 a. m., and mailed soon after, is able to get into dozens of towns and villages hours ahead of the Toronto papers, as well as ahead of the local evening papers. Everybody reads the Times.

STELLA STERLING.

BY JULIA EDWARDS.

CHAPTER I.

"I do think Stella Sterling is the happiest girl in Brandon," said a pretty girl in a simple evening dress, to a friend. There might have been just a tinge of envy in her tone. Her lips wore a not unbecoming pout, and her eyes were fixed on the tall, slender form of her hostess.

"You consider riches the greatest of all possible blessings then, Minnie?"

"No, I do not. Stella has many other blessings. She is beautiful; her step-father is the richest man in Brandon, he loves her devotedly, and gratifies every wish she forms, and now she is engaged to be married to the handsomest man I ever saw."

"And to my mind the most vain and soulless fop; if I ever used slang, which, thanks to a careful mother, I do not, I should say that Algernon Van Cart was a dude par excellence."

"Ah, you are prejudiced against him because he is what you term an idler; but I hear he is rich, and even if that is not true, Stella's fortune is ample for both. They are going to Europe for their wedding trip, and before they return this house is to be refitted from top to bottom, though how they can improve on its excellence passes my comprehension."

"And all this makes you think Stella is happy?"

"Certainly; what more can she wish for?"

"Many things. In the first place, she is motherless. Her step-father is a man I could never love; he has a courtly manner, I admit, but his eyes are shifty, and I have heard my father say he has no charity or mercy in his business dealings."

"Ah, he is so rich."

Pretty Minnie said this with a heavy sigh. Her father was a poor doctor, and all her troubles arose from the one source, viz.: an empty pocket book.

"Rich, my dear child? How you do worship the golden calf."

Mary Burton laughed. She was some years pretty Minnie's senior, and, though far from wealthy, was not harassed by poverty.

"So would you if you had cried your eyes out before you could get even this kind of a dress to wear to the sweetest party ever given in Brandon."

The speaker glanced disdainfully down at her pretty costume of white mulle.

Mary Burton laughed, though in a kindly fashion.

She was a plain-looking girl, though of such a fresh-hearted, wholesome nature that everyone liked and respected her.

"Now, Minnie, if you had spent one hundred and fifty dollars on your dress, as I hear Stella spent on hers, it could not suit you better or look prettier."

"Yes, but it is cheap; every girl in the room knows it didn't cost five dollars, and that I made it myself."

Just then an eager looking young man came to claim Minnie's hand for the next dance, and Mary Burton was left alone. The scene was a gay one, a full-dress reception in honor of the birthday of Miss Stella Sterling, the step-daughter of the richest man in Brandon, Mr. Alwin Croft, whose large jewelry store on the principal street was one of the handsomest buildings in town, while his noble mansion, situated on a rising piece of ground overlooking the river, was the finest residence.

The parlors were filled to overflowing with a fashionable throng, the most skilled musicians discoursed sweet music, and the air was heavy with the perfume of costly flowers. The furniture, hangings, rare china, and magnificent paintings, all bore evidence of Mr. Croft's wealth and cultured taste, and his step-daughter and only child was the belle of the town, universally admired and envied.

She stood by the entrance of the front parlor to receive her guests, a tall, slender girl, with a queenly little head crowned with raven braids, among which glittered diamond stars. Her eyes were dark and full of the fire of intellect, while her lips were smiling gracious welcomes to all her friends. She looked, as Minnie Long said, "the happiest girl in Brandon."

Beside Mr. Croft, who stood near his step-daughter, a tall, blonde young man lounged in a graceful attitude, his thin, pale face, single eye-glass, and faultless evening dress giving him somewhat the appearance of an English sprig of nobility.

This gentleman had been introduced to the company by Mr. Croft, as "My daughter's future husband, Mr. Algernon Van Cart, a New York gentleman.'

Such extreme elegance as Mr. Van Cart displayed was a little unusual in the town of Brandon. Anglo-mania does not flourish in Southern Illinois, and more than one of Mr. Croft's guests had expressed the same opinion as Mary Burton; they had used the term "dude" in speaking of Mr. Van Cart.

"Where did Stella Sterling meet that piece of perfection?" asked Edith Sloan the wildest girl in Brandon, who always said just exactly what she thought, and was never out of hot water in consequence.

"At Long Branch last summer; he was in company with his mamma, who is, as he takes pains to inform every one, an English lady, related to the Duke of Something or other,' replied her chum, Effie Strange.

"And what possessed Stella to accept his hand and alleged heart?"

"Dear knows. I believe Stella's papa and Algie's mamma made up the match."

"Stella has never seemed to me weak-minded enough to let herself be married to please other people."

"Well, there stands the future husband; judge for yourself."

Early in the evening Mr. Croft withdrew, after a few whispered words with his daughter, who looked concerned and anxious.

"Poor papa," she said to Dr. Long, "he cannot stand the music, the glare, and the perfumery of the flowers; he has run away to the growlery."

"That is his usual custom, is it not?" said the doctor.

"Yes; I am surprised that he is not only willing but anxious that I should entertain my friends so often; he never remains in the house after my guests assemble, and it is odd that very few people seem to miss him."

"You supply his place so thoroughly,' the doctor said, with old-fashioned gallantry.

His face, however, wore a curious expression, and he shortly afterward moved away, and quietly left the room.

The grounds which surrounded Oakdean were beautifully laid out and carefully cultivated; they were quite extensive and pleasantly diversified. Shady walks led to cool grottoes and fine conservatories, and fountains played among beds of gorgeous flowers.

At some distance from the house, in the center of a grove of evergreen trees, stood a small building which Stella playfully designated the "growlery." It was a sort of pavilion, built in the form of an octagon; it was two stories high, and the apartment on the ground floor was fitted up as a study or library; the upper room was furnished as a bedchamber. To this place Mr. Croft was accustomed to retire whenever his daughter entertained her friends, which was quite often.

After Doctor Long left Stella, he slowly and cautiously made his way out of the house, and shortly afterward took up a position which seemed an odd one under the circumstances.

He found a rustic settee under an elm tree not far from the pavilion and stretched himself comfortably upon it.

"I've had strong suspicions for some time," he said, 'and to-night they shall be set at rest, one way or the other."

Two hours passed, midnight struck, and the doctor was still at his post.

He was watching the pavilion.

CHAPTER II.

Algernon Van Cart was the result of a marriage of an American millionaire and the proud daughter of an English family who rejoiced in a long pedigree, but very little else. This lady, who was a haughty beauty, and possessed of a powerful will, dominated her easy-going husband during his brief married life, and ruled his son with a rod of iron after his death.

Algernon had spent most of his life on what he termed the "other side." He had passed some years at an English college, where he learned to row, box, drink, drive horses, and other accomplishments of a similar nature. He was a handsome fellow, and had he received a different education, might have turned out a man; as it was, he was what Mary Burton, with shrewd discernment of character, had termed him, "A soulless fop."

Why had a girl of Stella Sterling's frank, open disposition chosen such a man for her guide and companion through life? This question can be answered by another. Who can ever read aright the reason why sensible women throw themselves away on despicable scoundrels every day in the year, in every part of the world?

A very handsome face, an easy, indolent manner, abundance of self-esteem, and an atmosphere of wealth and luxury, carried Algernon Van Cart successfully through the world. Not one person in ten ever stopped to analyse the reason of his careless good-nature and generosity. Every one regarded him as an amiable man of good ability, and no one denied his undoubted "good form." He always knew just how to dress, what to say, and what to leave unsaid, on every occasion.

He appeared perfectly devoted to Setlla; and his mother, who had vainly sought an allegiance with some high-born English girl, had approved the match.

Stella was beautiful, accomplished and rich. It seemed as if the course of this true love was destined to run smoothly to the end.

"Come for a stroll through the grounds," said Edith Sloan to Effie Strange.

The girls twined their arms together, and stepped out on the lawn.

It was a beautiful moonlight night in June, and the scene was a fair and peaceful one.

After strolling about for half an hour the girls met Dr. Long, who looked strangely excited and upset.

"Why, doctor!" cried Edith. "I never saw you so pale and scared-looking. Have you seen a ghost?"

SACRED CONCERT

A Programme of Rare Excellence Presented Last Night at the Murray St. Baptist Church

Interesting in many ways was the sacred concert given by the choir of the Murray street Baptist church, last night. The programme was one of rare excellence and gave much pleasure to the large audience that assembled. The choruses were exceedingly well rendered and the various solos interspersed throughout the numbers were capitally sung—those of Miss Montgomery, Miss Ratcliffe, Mr. G. W. Mulligan and Mr. Jas Browne, being specially deserving of mention. A trio by Miss Ratcliffe, Mr. Geo. Matthews and Mrs. G. K. Martin was also sung in excellent style and Miss Agar's and Mrs. Martin's instrumental selections were artistically rendered. The programme was a follows:

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE

A Millbrook Will Case Occupies the Greater Part of the Day

The spring sittings of the High Court of Justice for non-jury cases opened yesterday morning at the Court House, Mr. Justice Robertson presiding.

Among the legal talent present were Messrs. Watson, Q. C., and Aylesworth, Q. C., of Toronto; R. Ruddy and A. A. Smith, of Millbrook; G. J. Sherry and W. A. F. Campbell, of Norwood; and D. W. Dumble, R. M. Dennistoun, Geo. Edmison, W. A. Stratton, E. H. D. Hall and L. M. Hayes.

The first case to come up was that of J. C. Kells and W. T. Wood vs. W. H. Coombe, W. A. Coombe, N. F. Coombe and Mary Richards—a case in which the plaintiffs ask that the court shall decree probate of the last will and testament of the late Wm. Coombe, of Millbrook. The defendants object to the probating of the will in which the plaintiffs are named as executors and ask that the late Wm. Coombe be declared to have died intestate on the ground that the will was obtained by fraud and that the plaintiffs are not fit and proper persons to act as executors.

The decision was given in substance as follows: All moneys belonging to the estate of the deceased, except $800 devised to Wm. Alfred Coombe, are to be paid over forthwith to Walter and Norman F. Coombe. The $800 is to be paid to the General Trusts Co., to be administered by them.

A. A. Smith for plaintiffs; R. Ruddy for defendants.

The case of Miles vs. Campbell was then taken up. It is a case involving the payment of a mortgage and arises out of the death of the late John Burnham.

The other cases to be tried are Stethem vs. Consolidated Gold Mining Co., Knox vs. R. McNeilly, and Johns vs. Jas. McNeilly.

Burial at Centreville

The funeral of the late Fred R. Rutherford, of South Monoghan, took place on Sunday last. There was a very large number of persons in attendance, thus attesting the very great regard in which the deceased was held in the community. The services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. McIntosh, pastor of Centerville Presbyterian church, and were very impressive. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family, as it was only a few weeks ago since a beloved daughter was laid at rest.

Railway Notes

The Grand Trunk management has decided to build 500 more thirty-ton box cars at their different Canadian shops in addition to six mogul and six ten-wheeler locomotives.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Met Yesterday Afternoon—4 Cases of Diphtheria and 10 of Scarlet Fever Since January

A meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon in the town clerk's office.

There were present B. Shortly, Esq., chairman, Dr. Burnham and Messrs. H. Denne and R. Innes, and Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer.

After routine, Dr. Clarke reported since last meeting in January, four cases of diphtheria, one being fatal, and ten cases of scarlet fever. He also reported that the Sanitary Inspectors had commenced work last Monday and had inspected 328 yards and served 144 notices.

Two communications were read—one a letter, and the other a petition signed by a large number of ratepayers in reference to a nuisance caused by the G. T. R. cattle sheds.

On motion, Mr. Gordon was heard, who stated that the sheds were very offensive in wet weather.

The Inspectors were instructed to examine the sheds frequently and report to the Board.

The Inspectors were also instructed to see that the requirements of the Public Health Act in reference to spring cleaning be rigidly enforced.

The chairman said there were complaints as to several cesspools in different parts of the town overflowing.

On motion, property owners on George street, between Charlotte and Brock, were notified to connect their premises with the sewer.

Dr. Clarke stated that numerous complaints had been made in reference to children attending public schools being in an unclean condition and infected with parasites.

Dr. Burnham moved, and Mr. Denne seconded, that the Medical Health Officer communicate with the Superintendent of Schools and that such children be dismissed.—Carried.

A further discussion then took place on various sanitary matters, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE MUD LAKE BRIDGE

A Deputation Leaves To-day for Ottawa to Interview the Government re the Building of a New Bridge

A joint deputation from the town the county, and the township of Ennismore leaves this afternoon on the Klondike Flyer for Ottawa for the purpose of soliciting a grant from the Government towards the reconstruction of the Mud Lake bridge.

The delegation will consist of Mayor Davis and Councillors McWilliams and Langford for the town; Warden Pearce and Councillors Anderson and Casement for the county, and Reeve Costello and probably one of the township councillors for Ennismore.

The reason for making a request from the Dominion Government is that it is claimed that the construction of the dam at Buckhorn has raised the water considerably in Chemong Lake. The deputation will urge the plan of filling in the lake for a distance of 1,700 feet out from the Bridgenorth shore, erecting a pier half way between that and the Ennismore shore and having a floating bridge in two sections, which would be capable of resisting a storm. It is estimated that the work will cost $30,000.

Laid at Rest

Port Hope Guide: The funeral of the late Harry U. Oke took place this afternoon upon the arrival of the body from Peterborough on the noon train. A very large number of friends and relatives of the deceased were present to pay a last tribute of respect to the departed, and many members of the S. O. E. B. S., of which deceased was a member, attended, that order having the funeral in charge. Rev. S. J. Shorey, of George Street Methodist church Peterborough, assisted by Rev. W. R. Young, and Rev. F. Johnson conducted the devotional services at the Methodist cemetery, Welcome.

Appreciated Abroad

We clip the following from the Newcastle Times:—Among the many lectures and lecturers with which the people of Newtonville have been so favoured during the past months, few were more appreciated or better received than that given by Rev. J. F. Moore, Ph., B., of Mark street church, Ashburnham. Mr. Moore's subject was "Mother, Home and Heaven." Many very excellent things were said bearing on personal responsibility and practical life, very timely and helpful. The speaker's manner and delivery is very pleasing to his hearers, who seemed quite willing to listen while he was willing to address them. His lecture is popular and possessed of enough "funnyisms" to keep his audience in good humor from beginning to close. The lecturer would be gladly received again.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION

The Annual Meeting Held in the Drill Shed Last Night

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Rifle Association was held in the drill shed last night and was fairly well attended.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The financial statement was then presented and showed the Association to be in a flourishing condition. For the first time in years a surplus was shown, after the payment of all debts.

The election of officers was the next order of business taken up and resulted in the following selection being made:—

Honorary Presidents—Rev. V. Clementi and Lieut.-Col. R. W. Bell.

President—Capt. R. Max. Dennistoun.

1st. Vice-President—Major E. B. Edwards.

2nd. Vice-President—Capt. W. H. Hill.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. E. D. Clegg.

Council—Messrs. F. Bartlett, Charles Curtis and J. B. Pentland.

Two Association teams were entered for the League matches.

The first League match will be shot on the 28th inst., and the monthly matches will be fired on the first and third Thursdays in July and August.

It is certainly gratifying to learn that the Association is free of debt and enters upon the work of the year with a surplus.

The meeting last night was enthusiastic from start to finish and we predict even greater achievements for the Association this year.

They should send a deputation to Washington, and press upon Congress the vital importance, as a war measure of emergency, of opening the Quinte end of the canal. Every eventuality should be prepared for. If it came to such a pass as withdrawing to the last ditch, the American fleet could then retire to Balsam Lake, and defy the cursed Spaniard."

This mission will be for the laity, the first week being devoted especially to the women and the second to the men. Three Jesuit priests will be the speakers, Rev. Gregory O'Brien, S. TROOPS LEAVE FOR CUBA

Their Exact Destination is a Secret Which the Authorities Refuse to Divulge

AFRAID OF SPANIARDS

39,354 Men Have been Mustered into the Volunteer Army of the United States, and Volunteers as Well as Regulars, will have to Proceed to Cuba and Take Part in the Fighting on the Island

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

U. S. TROOPS TO MOVE

Washington, May 10.—The War Department officials admitted to-day that all the regular troops now at Chickamauga had been ordered away. They refuse most positively to tell the exact destination of the troops, contending that to do so would be simply to invite attacks by Spanish naval vessels upon the transports which will convey them. The volunteers will take up the camp abandoned by the regulars in Chickamauga Park just as soon as they can be gotten there so that the movement should begin almost immediately.

40,000 VOLUNTEERS

Washington, May 10.—Reports received at Adjutant-General Corbin's office up to this morning, show that 39,354 men had been mustered into the volunteer army of the United States. It is probable, however, by this time that the actual number mustered in is about 40,000 in round numbers.

RUN THE BLOCKADE

Madrid, May 10.—4 p.m.—A despatch received here from Havana this afternoon says the Spanish steamer Montzerrat, which with a valuable cargo of troops and a large sum of money, intended for Havana, which escaped the United States fleet and entered the port of Cienfuegos, Cuba, has now run the blockade of the American squadron and has entered the port of Havana in safety. It is claimed here that this proves the blockade of the Cuban ports is ineffectual.

GETTING READY FOR CUBA

Washington, May 10.—It is hard to tell whether the naval officials were relieved or disappointed by the news that came this afternoon to both the Navy and State Departments to the effect that the Spanish flying squadron had arrived at Cadiz, Spain. The safety of the Oregon from attack is now completely assured and the way is clear for military operations in Cuba without running the risk of having the occupying army line of communication cut off. On the other hand it is believed that no enduring peace can be secured until the Spanish navy has been destroyed and it now appears that to do this United States sailors must make up their minds to go after the Spaniards, a task very much more difficult than that of meeting them near the American shore. It was suggested by some of the members of the War Board that there was just a possibility that the Spanish squadron might make a quick passage into the Pacific through the Suez Canal and attack Dewey at Manila. It is said that, contrary to the common understanding, the Suez Canal is open to warships of belligerent powers so that if the Spanish chose to take this course they would have a long start of any pursuing fleet from this side of the Atlantic. It is scarcely believed, however, that the Spanish are willing to take the great risk of exposing to attack their own home ports by the withdrawal of so considerable a proportion of their naval strength as would be required to overmatch Dewey. Nothing was heard from Admiral Sampson to-day, but there is a confident expectation that interesting news will be coming from his squadron within the next 24 hours. Whether this means an attack on Porto Rico or not cannot be learned.

One effect of the retreat of the Spanish fleet has been to hasten even more the preparation already under way for the despatching of military expeditions to Cuba. It has also caused a complete change in the concentration plans. Time is now believed to be the great factor. There is no longer opportunity to indulge in extensive drilling and practice manoeuvring. The regular army troops do not need it and desire to be thrown at once into the fray. Many of the regiments of the National Guard, which are entering the volunteer service, are felt to be sufficiently trained from a military point of view, to follow the regulars immediately and the department has indicated its purpose to-day of despatching these volunteer troops directly to the Gulf Coast for shipment, instead of sending them to Chickamauga. This disposition was shown by the change in the new orders issued to the troops although there yet may be a return to the original programme of concentration if the plans show signs of weakness as they develop. The Quartermaster-General has already gotten under charter 27 merchant steamers for the transportation of troops, and, roughly speaking, these should carry about 20,000 men. Others are being procured as rapidly as possible. The plan of the war department is to have these vessels assemble at the different gulf ports, Tampa, Mobile, New Orleans, and Galveston to take on troops which will be sent there. The navy department is expected to furnish convoys for these transports, which would be absolutely helpless against Spanish attack.

A BLOCKADE RUNNER.

On board the Associated Press Dispatch boat Kate Spencer, Off Cardenas, May 9, via Key West, Fla., May 10.—The British tramp steamer Strathdee, Captain Currie, attempted to run the blockade yesterday, but was overhauled by the gunboat Machias. The captain of the Strathdee claimed that the vessel was loaded with sugar and that he had on board a number of Spanish refugees from Sagua la Grande. He also said that the steamer was bound for Matanzas where it was desired to disembark some of the refugees. The commander of the Machias would not alow the steamer to proceed, whereupon the Strathdee put about and steamed away in the direction of New York.

ADMIRAL MONTEJO MURDERED.

London, May 10.—A special despatch from Shanghai says it is reported there that Admiral Montejo, the commander of the Spanish fleet, who escaped from Cavite by running along the shore to Manila with his two sons, was killed by the populace of the latter place.

It is added that the hospital of San Roque, filled with Spanish soldiers, was set on fire by shells from the Boston and that Sisters of Charity were killed while removing the wounded.

Massacres are reported to have occurred outside of Manila, the insurgents butchering even the Spanish women and children.

SPANISH TREACHERY.

Hong Kong, May 10.—A fresh example of Spanish treachery seems to have come to light. It is said there that the priests and Sisters of Charity of the Cavite Hospital, in a procession, bearing crosses, etc., petitioned Rear-Admiral Dewey not to massacre the sick and wounded, which, naturally, he did not do. The Spaniards, it is added, thereupon thanked the Americans for their humanity and repaid them by informing them of a narrow channel, which, they said, was not mined, and through which the sips could pass in safety, while the broad channel, they explained, was fully mined. An investigation on the part of the Americans, however, revealed the contrary to be the case, and the mines were blown up by the sailors of the American fleet, who, if they had accepted the word of the treacherous Spaniards, might, with all their ships, have been sent to the bottom. Rear-Admiral Dewey, it is said here, finds the insurgents growing dangerous. It is added that he cannot control them, nor can he enable the Spaniards to do so. There is one Japanese warship at Manila.

MANILA IS PANIC-STRICKEN.

New York, May 10.—A special to the World from Taipeh, capital of Formosa, says: Manila is reported to be in a panic. The Spaniards in the city are completely surrounded by their enemies. In front is the victorious American fleet under Admiral Dewey, which has wiped out the Spanish fleet destroyed the forts at Cavite, besides those at the entrance of the bay, and has threatened to shell the city at the first sign of further hostilities. In the rear, on the land side, are the native insurgents, impatient to wreck revenge upon the Spanish for three hundred years of tyranny and torture. The rebels are unorganized, undisciplined, armed with a miscellaneous lot of weapons, and are a mob rather than a military force. But General Aguinaldo, the chief whom they idolize, has promised the American commander that the natives shall not commit atrocities when the Philippine capital is captured. The surrender of the city was expected hourly when the ship bringing the news of Admiral Dewey's remarkable triumph sailed from Manila.

TO WARN THE FLEET.

New York, May 10.—A telegram from St. Thomas says that the Spanish cruiser Isabel II., which called here yesterday, and sent despatches to Spain, was ordered to warn the Cape Verde fleet that the American squadron was en route to blockade Porto Rico, and to entrap the Spanish ships. News of the engagement is momentarily expected.

BOLINAO ARRIVES.

Madrid, May 10.—An official despatch from Porto Rico says the Bolinao has arrived there, protected by Spanish warships. She was chased by an American warship. The despatch also says that provision ships have arrived, assuring Porto Rico a supply for several months.

BRITISH STEAMER BOARDED.

Gibraltar, May 10.—The British steamer Narva, from Bari on April 25, for London, has arrived here and reports having been boarded at one o'clock this morning, eighteen miles east of Europa Point, by an armed party from a Spanish cruiser, which fired across the steamer's bows. The officer in command of the boarding party examined the papers of the Narva and then allowed her to proceed.

SAGASTA IN DESPAIR.

London May 10.—The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Post has had a long interview with Senor Sagasta, the premier, in the course of which the Spanish statesman said: "The sad events at Manila have saddened all Spaniards, but have not made them lose heart. We can say with confidence of this disaster that nothing has occurred to wound our pride. Much has been said regarding the causes of the catastrophe, but all the discussion has been beside the question. The truth is we were too few and were overwhelmed by the great superiority of the enemy's forces and by the fortunes of war which, unhappily went against us."

"In the present juncture there is no time to lose. It is useless to debate. We must reserve all our strength and all our energy for to-morrow. Our first duty is to unite in order to vanquish our enemies and to uphold the honor of Spain. It is necessary, to secure that end, for the Government to have the support of all, without considerations of party and exclusively on patriotic grounds. Parliament, too, must grant the Government the resources required.

"Now this is precisely what grieves me. I believed that the first cannon shot fired by the United States against our troops would be a signal for the union and the fraternity of all Spaniards, as all are equally effected by the assault of the United States. I am mistaken. Certain parliamentary groups are in disagreement with the Government and have the pretention to make conditions in return for their support. They thus paralyze our efforts and diminish the strength which is indispensable to the Government. In such difficult times some are even ceaselessly intriguing; others are full of reticence and all has been done in the name of the fatherland. Attempts have even been made to assail the monarchy, without their authors appearing to imagine for a moment that this is simply weakening the country, lowering to the prestige of the flag, tending to discouragement of the troops and to the encouragement of our enemies.

"While our political adversaries attack the Government, when they criticise the acts of the Crown while war is proceeding, they are committing a crime, for which, some day, perhaps, they may have to answer before the country.

"On principle I am opposed to war, which is always disastrous even to the victorious nation. God is my witness that I did not wish a rupture with the United States. I realized perfectly that we were exhausted by the war which we have been waging so long and needed rest. On the contrary, I desired a peaceful solution which would have protected our interests and honor, our rights and sovereignty. The Government did everything to avoid a conflict, more even that it should have done. Then our adversaries began to treat us with contempt; war became inevitable and we were compelled to accept it with all its consequences, whatever they may be.

"The situation is very simple, and, unfortunately cannot be concealed. Spain is desolated and ruined by internal troubles. The United States have coveted Cuba for a long time, first because it is an excellent strategic point; second, so as to be masters of the inter-oceanic trade. To attain their object they have literally hesitated at nothing. They knew the state of our finances and took advantage of it to attack us after having assisted the Cuban insurrection with a view of completing our ruin, and with a cut and dried plan, declaring war as soon as they considered our exhaustion sufficiently advanced.

"Now that the struggle has begun the Americans continue the same tactics. Instead of openly making war they encourage in every way the troubles in Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines; and if they could they would stir up an insurrection in the peninsula. The future is in the hands of God. None can forsee it."

A NORWOOD FRACAS

Constable Iles is Roughly Handled in an Attempt to Arrest W. Hendreren

Norwood has a genuine sensation—one that has aroused the citizens of that place fully as much as the blowing up of the safe in the post office a few weeks ago.

The local constable, John Iles, and Geo. Hendren, Wm. Hendren, Stanley Hendren, John Hendren and Bert Hendren are the principal characters in what rpomises to be—befroe all the parties concerned are through with it—a most sensational case.

Yesterday morning William Hendren, of Norwood, appeared in the police court to answer to a long standing charge of theft and was remanded till Monday, May 16th, for trial.

Hendren's arrest and appearance at the police court as above stated recalls what took place here in August, 1893, and this probably is as good a starting point as any. Hendren was at that time clerking in the grocery store of John Cameron, George-st., and was charged by his employer with having stolen groceries and liquors from the store. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but Hendren escaped and for a time his whereabouts was unknown, though it was soon rumored and was known for a fact that he had returned to his home in Norwood. Chief Roszel sent instructions to the local constable to arrest him, but the orders were never carried out, and whenever any of the town force went down Hendren would be warned in time by sympathizers in the village and would take to a place of safe hiding. His family is well known and highly respected in the village and as the officers of justice were not troubled with undue activity the accused man was allowed the freedom of the place just the same as any other citizen.

But a new constable, John Iles, was appointed this year and things changed. On a warrant issued by Chief Roszel, Constable Iles went into the carriage shop of Geo. Hendren, the prisoner's father, on Monday, where he found the man he wanted working alone. The developments that took place were rather exciting and the whole incident seemed to stir the village greatly. Constable Iles found the prisoner working alone and told him he had a warrant for his arrest. Hendren offered to go along if he were allowed to go over to the house and change his clothes. But the constable in the light of past events, doubted his good faith and refused to let him do so unless he were allowed in the house and in the same room. Hendren agreed but just as the two were turning to the door Hendren by a quick shot threw the constable over the axle of a buggy which was lying by. The constable kept his hold, however, and in the struggle got one handcuff over Hendren's wrist and locked the other over his own, thus securing his man. All this time Hendren was shouting loudly for his mother. His father and brother came running in and piled on to the constable. Then the old man quit and in three or four minutes two more brothers came in, and, the constable alleges, after locking the door so that no one could be admitted, they all began to beat Iles over the head and back. They threatened him unless he gave up the key and unlocked the handcuffs from his prisoner. He did so and the bone of contention walked away with his friends, the party still threatening all sorts of punishment on the constable.

Constable Iles then telephoned to Chief Roszel of what had taken place and received the answer that the matter would be attended to in the morning. Some of the parties down there evidently heard of this for, during the night, the constable's house was visited by several of the citizens of Norwood who proposed that Hendren would be given up if the case against the others would be allowed to drop. The two brothers also came and Hendren himself offered to give himself up if the constable laid no information against the other parties. The constable promised to do so and came up with his prisoner on the 7.10 train yesterday morning, George Hendren, prisoner's father, also accompanying them. William Hendren was arraigned on the old charge of theft and remanded till the 16th.

But though Constable Iles would lay no information against the others Chief Roszel did and a warrant was made out charging George Hendren the father, and Stanley Hendren, John Hendren and Bert Hendren, with assault, preventing a constable in the execution of his duty. Mr. George Hendren, who came up on the train, was arrested, but was liberated on his own promise to appear.

Yesterday afternoon police constables Adams and McGinty went down to Norwood with warrants for the arrest of the Hendren brothers. The Hendrens, however, got wind of the change in the programme and fled on the approach of the constables—one on a bicycle and the others in a double rig. P. C. McGinty returned to town on the afternoon express, leaving P. C. Adams to arrange a plan of campaign with the local constable—John Iles.

It is the intention of Iles and Adams to run the fugitives to earth if it takes a month to accomplish the task.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBTS

There is a pleasant fiction afloat that imprisonment for debt has been abolished in Ontario, says the London News. A married woman of this city, of irreproachable character so far as we know, has recently completed a sentence of thirty days in gaol. Now, we shall not go into the merits of the case as between plaintiff and defendant. Probably she owed the money and would have paid if she could. The point we wish to emphasize is that she served thirty days in gaol. It will be said that she was not imprisoned for the debt, but for disobeying a judgment summons. Technically that is correct. But the fact remains that she was in jail because of the debt. "Ignorance of the law excuses no one," is a maxim, but there is no reason why anybody in Middlesex county should be supposed to know the law when the two judges give exactly opposite decisions on a given point.

Whether there should be imprisonment for debt is a moot point.

We think there should not be.

But that there is imprisonment for debt in Ontario is plainly proved by the experience of this woman.

CANADA DURING THE WAR

There is much more than a little truth in the statement that if the war is protracted and Spain continues to make anything like an active resistance, the summer resorts on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States will be abandoned during the coming season. It even seems probable that the proprietors of many of them may be ruined. For from the Bay of Fundy to the rim of the torrid zone the coast is planted so thickly with summer resorts that the line of summer hotels and summer cottages seems almost unbroken.

The statistics would certainly show an immense number of "American" families who commonly pass their summers on the Atlantic coast.

Now, at any one of these points the dread of actual bombardment would be intense. Owners of cottages would seek to rent them to some one else, or would leave the boards on the doors and windows and the houses to their fate. Persons with houses to rent would seek in vain for tenants, and the usually seductive advertisement of the summer boarding house or hotelkeeper would strike blind eyes or fall on deaf ears. Families would be hurried off as far as possible from the scene of possible conflict. Even the mountain resorts would suffer. For nervous persons these resorts would be so near the center of "American" excitement as to be almost as fatal to comfort as the proximity of the battle itself.

Several cases of the latter kind have already presented themselves in Toronto and elsewhere, to several of which ailing men and women have been consigned by their anxious friends, and this for the sole reason that if they were within easy reach of the big cities of the States the war excitement might affect them, and still further injure their health.

The average cottage owner on the Atlantic coast of the States or the average head of a household who in times of peace might purpose taking such a cottage for the season, would hesitate before tying himself to such a spot in times of war, because a summer cottage means residence or rent for months. For this reason some of the big boarding houses or hotels might actually profit by reason of the emptying of the cottages. People who would object to fastening themselves to one spot for the whole summer might seize on the chance to run down to the big hotels for days and weeks, and at the approach of the Spaniards they could pay their bills and take to the woods, and leave no furniture behind, nor any responsibility for several months' rent for a cottage which a Spanish shell had blown off the face of the earth.

The ocean steamship companies also would suffer. Business men whose fortunes might be marred in a single day of war would want to be on or near the spot. They would not dream of cooping themselves up in a vessel where for six or seven long days they would not hear a single word of the war unless they got it from the lips of the officers of a conquering Spanish gunboat.

All this is what war might produce in the States. What more natural than that the Statesers should look to the Canadian summer resorts, to the Maritime watering places, and the historic scenes on the Lower St. Lawrence, to the Thousand Islands, the Canadian side of the Great Lakes, to Muskoka and the many summer resorts on the Rice Lake and Stoney Lake waters? That they have already begun to do so is attested not only by the evidence of everybody who has been among them during the past few weeks, but on that of the immense bulk of "American" correspondence which the proprietors of the Canadian resorts have had lately to handle.

In British Columbia

A letter was received by the Times yesterday from Captain Eden, who is now in British Columbia. The captain is in command of a fine, large steamer named "Greenwood," and runs to O'Kenagan Falls, connecting with the C. P. R. boats. He says he was in Vancouver for a while, and that it is full of men who have nothing to do. The Klondike rush is very slack at present. Captain Eden says that British Columbia is a great country for game of all kinds. It is a veritable sportsman's paradise. He promises to write a letter for The Times, which, no doubt, will be read with great interest, in a few days. The many friends of the Captain in Peterborough will be greatly pleased to hear of his success.

Trees and the Air.

According to a reliable computation, a single tree is able through its leaves to purify the air from the carbonic acid arising from the respiration of a considerable number of men—as many as a dozen or a score. The volume of carbonic acid exhaled by a human being in the course of 24 hours is estimated at 100 gallons, and a single square yard of leaf surface, counting both the upper and under sides of the leaves, can decompose about a gallon of carbonic acid in a day.

SPECIAL WAR NEWS

FROM YESTERDAY'S EDITIONS

IMPORTANT NEWS EXPECTED.

Washington, May 9.—Naval officials are expecting interesting news from Admiral Sampson within the next 24 hours. It is now officially admitted that the admiral yesterday was with his fleet near Cape Haytiena, on the north coast of the San Domingo and distant about a day's run from Porto Rico. So far no reports have come to the department of any kind, of the lurid engagements that are said to have taken place in those waters. From the expectation so plainly manifested at the Navy Department that something important is to happen very soon, it is surmised that if Sampson has not struck the Spanish flying squadron to-day he may strike a blow at Porto Rico itself to-morrow. It is a curious fact that thus far the navy department does not know positively where the Spanish fleet is and it is just possible that the vessels may be away over on the other side of the Atlantic or at Cadiz, instead of being in Sampson's neighborhood in the West Indies. That such a thing can happen is plainly shown by the report from St. Thomas that the Spanish cruiser Alphonso XIII arrived at Porto Rico yesterday or the day before. This is a formidable protected cruiser of the modern type, and it has been supposed all along that she was at Cadiz, Spain, forming part of the home defence squadron. The fact that she has arrived at Porto Rico without knowledge of her departure having leaked out is an evidence that the Spanish authorities are able to guard the secrecy of their naval movements much better than the people of the United States are able to do. (Word came to the Navy Department to-day that the cable had been cut between Montevidio and Rio Grande Do Sul thus cutting off all communication along the east coast of South America below the first and last named points in the south of Brazil. If this was not an accident it would be hard to guess at the purpose, the Oregon having passed far north of the break. It is just possible that Spanish emissaries have cut the cable to conceal some naval demonstration or movements of Spanish ships in that quarter of the world.

THE AMERICAN FLEET APPROACHING.

Madrid, May 9.—A cable despatch from the Captain-General of Porto Rico says he has information that the American fleet is approaching.

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE CABINET.

Madrid, May 9.—8 p.m.—The Queen Regent consulted late this afternoon wiht Senor Montero Rios, President of the Senate, who advised a re-construction of the Cabinet. It is increasingly probable that the Cabinet will be reformed with Senor Gamazo included after the lower House has adopted the Indemnity Bill.

CUBA TO BE INVADED AT ONCE.

Washington, May 9.—The Washington Post says to-day: Between 60 and 80 thousand men will be landed on Cuban soil at once. They will wear the uniform of the United States and they will not return until they have defeated the Spanish forces on the land and the American flag flaots over Havana. This is the idea of the military advisers of the Administration, and the President has approved the plans. The first section of the army to invade Cuba will be the 15,000 or 18,000 troops that are now assembling at New Orleans and Tampa. They are all regulars and most of them are men who have seen actual fighting on the plains. They are seasoned, disciplined, effective. They will be followed at once by another army of 50,000 volunteers, who will be concentrated at Southern ports as quickly as the trains can carry them, and will be transported as fast as the necessary ships can be collected. It is estimated that it will take at least 500 vessels to carry this immense army to Cuba. Nearly everything that floats has already been secured by the Government and last night the wires were hot in all directions, directing contracts to be closed immediately in all the principal seaport towns.

Other details of the great expedition have been arranged within forty-eight hours. There will be 2,000 wagons at Tampa and 12,000 mules. Several hundred ambulances will also be hurried to Tampa. They may be needed. Battles are not all like the one which has just been fought in Manila harbor.

ARRESTED 150 RIOTERS.

London, May 9.—A special despatch from Madrid say that 150 persons have been arrested at Talavera. The mob tried to burn the railway station at Vallancanas, south-east of Toledo.

At La Union, all the prisoners have been liberated and tranquility has been restored there, but only after serious street fighting, in which three miners were killed. The municipal buildings at Soria have been destroyed.

DEWEY ASKS FOR TROOPS.

New York, May 9.—A special cable despatch to The World from Hong Kong says: Despatches signed by Commodore Dewey have just been sent to Washington recommending that the surrender of Manila be demanded and that a provisional Government for the Philippines be established pending the settlement of the war with Spain. His proposal is for a commission to take control of the Government. He suggests that he be named as one of the commissioners. The Government would be continued upon much the same lines as exist now. He asks that sufficient troops be sent him in event that his plan is adopted, to maintain order. If his suggestion is favorably received by the President and the Cabinet, it is probable that our two Consuls, Williams, of Manila, and Wildman, of Hong Kong, will be asked to serve on the commission.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Washington, May 9.—President McKinley and his Cabinet held a special council of war to-day, and with the approval of the War and Naval Boards of Strategy decided upon this general plan: First, to annihilate the Spanish navy in the Atlantic, even if it is necessary to cross the sea. Second, to begin at once a land movement against Cuba with a force so large that the fall of Havana and the complete surrender of Spanish rule in the island is assured before the rainy season sets in. Third, to back up Admiral Dewey with men and arms sufficient to subjugate all the Spanisht roops in the various groups of the Philippines, regardless of money or men. Fourth, to provide for the military occupation of all islands captured from Spain, and to hold them by force of arms until their fate has been decided by Congress, after the war is at an end.

STRENGTHENING THE BELEARICS

London, May 9.—Lloyds' agent at Port Mahon, the capital of Minorca, Balearic Islands, reports that the Minorca garrison is being largely increased and that the defences of all the ports on the island are being strengthened with torpedoes and heavy artillery.

STELLA STERLING.

BY JULIA EDWARDS.

"I—— Excuse me. I must hasten away. I——"

"What in the world ails the doctor?" exclaimed Edith; "he is usually the pink of politeness to anything in the shape of what he calls the gentler sex."

"Perhaps he has been called away to some sick person."

"Then why didn't he say so. By the by, I wonder who will get burgled this time?"

Effie burst out laughing.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"What I say. Don't you know that every time Stella Sterling has a party some house or store is broken into? Last time Judge Perkins lost all his bonds and his silver plate, that his wife makes people tired with. I'm glad the burglar took that, for some time or other we will hear the last of it."

"Ah, Edith, what a shame."

"Stuff and nonsense! Do you think I want to go to my grave hearing how the Perkinses had a coat-of-arms since William the Conqueror? Then Nichol's place was robbed, and Aunt Sallie Sloan lost her diamonds on another occasion. Served her right, for I wanted her to lend them to me to wear to the hop and she wouldn't."

"You are too young for diamonds."

"I am three months older than Stella, and she wears them. Say, what do you think I told Algernon?"

"I don't know."

"Well, he asked me to 'dawnce the lawncers,' and I told him I only considered it honorable to warn him that my mother took boarders."

"Good gracious!"

"Yes it would not do to take advantage of his innocence."

"What did he say?"

"He looked me carefully over, and said at length that it did "not matta." I guess he came to the conclusion that it was not catching."

"Edith you are the worst!" Effie cried, amid peals of laughter.

"So I hear. You know we have two new men boarding with us. They are printers and their thumbs are somewhat inky, and their mouths are full of cutting sarcasms. Well, one of them told me this morning that some girls would never get husbands because their tongues were their worst enemies."

"He was right."

"Certainly. Well, the question remains unanswered. Who will be robbed this time?"

Half an hour later the question was answered. The mansion of Amos Ballston had been broken into, and all the most valuable articles in the house carried away. As the party broke up in some confusion, Stella heard an elderly gentleman say:

"I hear the thieves have been captured."

How little did she think what fatal tidings these words conveyed.

She ordered the servants to close up the house and extinguish the lights, and then retired to her room.

Next morning the whole town was electrified by the news. Alwin Croft had been caught in the act of robbing the house of Amos Ballston.

Such an event, happening in one of the largest cities in the world, would create a certain amount of excitement; but taking place in the town of Brandon, where the people were all well acquainted, and where the man accused had been regarded as a leading citizen, the astonishment and confusion of ideas may well be imagined. Alwin Croft had been caught by the officers as he was leaving the despoiled house with a portion of the booty in his possession. He was not alone; two men were his accomplices; they were both strangers.

At dawn of day Doctor Long called at Oakdean and requested an interview with Miss Sterling.

"I hate to have to tell her," the doctor said to his wife, "but I have known her ever since Croft married her mother, when she was a bit of a child, and I can't let the news be told to her in some rough fashion, which may frighten the poor girl half to death."

Stella had retired to bed happy and full of pleasant thoughts for the future. Algernon had begged her to name an early day for their marriage, and had drawn such glowing pictures of their subsequent wanderings in the old world that Stella was warmly interested.

When Lucy, her favorite among the girls employed in the house, tapped at her door, she opened her eyes stupidly, and asked:

"Who is there?" in a bewildered fashion, for she felt as if she had scarcely dropped asleep.

"Miss Stella, Doctor Long is here; he says he must see you."

"Oh, dear, something is wrong. Tell him I shall be there in a few minutes."

She hurriedly threw on her wrapper and ran down stairs. The doctor stood gazing out across the lawn, his head in a whirl, and his good heart aching at the thought of the woe and ruin he was forced to reveal.

He turned as he heard Stella's foot on the stairs, and advancing, took both of her hands in his.

"I am sorry, my dear, to be the one who brings bad news to you this morning, but I felt that I could tell the sad story more kindly, perhaps, than another."

Stella looked up quickly. She did into a chair, saying, faintly:

"Papa! Algernon——"

"They are both well; but Stella, something terrible has happened. Mr. Croft is ruined.

Stella looked up quickly. She did not understand his meaning. She had heard of people who were ruined. That meant that they had suddenly become poor, had to sell their horses and carriages, and sometimes move into small houses, and wear cheap dresses. Was that all?

"Ah, doctor, thank God it is no worse! You frightened me so. Ruin is nothing. I feared an accident—death!"

She caught his hand with a brave smile, her color began to come back to her oval cheeks and arched lips. The relief was great.

The doctor groaned over the clumsy way he was fulfilling his mission.

"But, dear child, ruin is something. In this case it means shame, disgrace!"

"What!"

Her eyes flashed, there was no shrinking back; no faintness stealing over her now. She was aroused, angry.

"Shame!—disgrace! How can such words apply to anything I have done?"

The poor doctor began to wish he had left the task of bringing evil tidings in some more skilful or experienced hands.

"Nothing, Stella, that you have done merits such terms."

Her dark eyes grew wide in her perplexity. Her brows knit.

"Well, what do you mean? Tell me at once."

"Mr. Croft has been arrested."

"Papa! What villain can have done such a wicked thing? Dear papa! Let me go to him! What does it mean?"

"It means, Stella, that Mr. Croft is one of a gang of burglars; he was caught last night coming out of Amos Ballston's house, and arrested."

"Doctor Long, you must be mad."

Utter bewilderment had taken possession of all her faculties. She stood dazed and helpless.

"No, my child, I am not mad. It is too true."

"My father, a rich man, well known in all his dealings! An honorable gentleman! Whoever has dared to do this will bitterly rue it! Surely there is justice for such a case."

The doctor saw how hopeless a task it was to try to convince her; moreover, he began to wish himself well out of the house.

"No one can surprise her now,' he thought, and he meanly took refuge in subterfuge.

"Perhaps it may turn out a mistake,' he stammered, "and I must really go Stella. You had better arrange your hair —and—and—so forth, for I guess Mr. Van Cart will be here presently to talk matters over, and no doubt you wish to go and see Mr. Croft. If I can help you in any way send for me, for I feel as sorry for you as though you were my own child.'

With a hearty pressure of the girl's cold little hand, the good doctor hurried away.

"It was horrible, Letty, horrible," he said to his wife. "She is dazed now, but pretty soon she will realize the truth, and it will just about kill her. You should have seen her face when she said 'an honorable gentleman.' Really, poor child, I wish she was more like other girls; if she had cried or gone into kicking hysterics I'd have more hopes of her getting over it easily.'

"She will need all her courage before the end comes,' said Mrs. Long, "for that dandy from New York will never marry her after this business.'

"By George, I never thought of that."

"Well, you will see. Poor girl, it is terrible! I wonder if she would care to see me if I went up—or would it only be an intrusion?"

"Wait a bit, Letty, ; let her have time to know the worst; then we will go to her and assure her of our friendship. I feel guilty, for I was indirectly the cause of his detection."

"Well, it is to your credit. Why should he get off with such crimes, when a poor man would have to suffer?'

"True. What possessed him? He was rich, and had everything heart could wish for. He must be mad."

Many others shared his opinion. No one could account for such actions on the part of a man in Alwin Croft's position. Now that exposure had come however, people began to remind each other how extremely sharp had been the business practices of the jeweler. He had invariably got the best of every one who had had dealings with him. His motives for running such risks was next inquired into.

That also came to light. During his frequent visits to Chicago, New York, and Boston, Alwin Croft had speculated heavily, and ruin stared him in the face.

To recover from embarrassment he had played a desperate game—for a time successfully, but now the end had come.

The Dickson Co. Mill

The Dickson Co. expect to begin operating their new saw mill about the 1st. of July. Mr. Thomson who is in charge of the construction work is a bustler, for building operations began in January. The old Strickland mill which was about 55 feet by 80 feet, has been enlarged and the new mill is now 80 feet by 140 feet. The mill will contain one band saw, one circular saw, and two gangs, together with lath mill etc., etc. There has also been erected burner, steam feeds, etc., which will make the mill a modern one throughout. The capacity will be 125,000 feet in 10 hours, and it will give employment to 45 men. The old style of mill would need over 100 men or about a man to a thousand feet. Although a little late in starting, the Dickson Co. expect to complete their complement of logs before the season closes. The machinery was manufactured by the William Hamilton Co., and is all up-to-date. The mill, when completed, will be one of the most complete on the inland waters.

The burner, which is the most noticeable feature of the mill, is a round tower 22 1-2 feet in diameter and 85 feet high, capped with screens to protect from any chance of fire, and is lined inside with fire brick to the height of 50 feet. It is large enough to consume the refuse of two such mills. All the refuse is poured on to a large elevator by smaller ones, running from different parts of the mill, and [illegible] by the large one carried and dumped on to the grate at the bottom of the burner. Just before the refuse reaches the burner it passes over a series of sieves, which allow the saw-dust to fall through one to another set of carriers, which take it into a large furnace, and it is there consumed in making steam to work the elevators, the log carriers and all the smaller machinery, where speed is required rather than great power. A visit to the mill will well repay any one who takes an interest in the wonders of modern machinery.

Our concert never clogs
And we never go on strike;

Who will come to our relief,
Who will play our music fine,
Who will resurrect the deaf;

Locals

The Midland Hotel has been undergoing a thorough renovating this week.

Mr. R. Rogers, the district agent for the Page Fence Co., of Walkerville, paid a flying business trip to Lakefield Saturday.

Mr. Mulhearn, manager of the Trent Valley Mills, is about to remove his family to Peterborough. In the meantime they are boarding at the Queen's.

The Queen's looks bright and cheery in its new summer coat of white.

Count Leahey and Baron Munro are both doing a flourishing trade these days.

It is whispered on the street that if the electric road ever reaches Lakefield the town will resign. If a cyclone struck the council the cyclone would resign.

Supt. of Fisheries Fitzgerald, who met with a painful accident Friday, is around again greeting his host of friends with an "Oh, yes—much better, thank you."

There is within the corporation limits of Lakefield a bicycle rider who had three punctures between Young's Point and home. There is also within the town of Lakefield a football player who travelled on his wheel to Young's Point to play with the Young's Pointers. There is also a newspaper man in Lakefield who plays football. There is also an avenging Nemesis.

One of the largest funerals in this vicinity in recent years took place Monday last at 1 p. m., from the family residence of Mr. John Jory, Lakefield. Elizabeth Jory, who had reached the ripe age of 72 years, was laid to rest in the presence of her numerous sorrowing friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Jory had retired from farming in the Township of Dummer about ten years ago and looked forward yet to many years of restful life. Mrs. Jory was noted throughout the community as an exemplary wife and mother. Noticeable among the floral offerings was a large bouquet of carnations and lillies, the tribute of Mrs. Gates. The Rev. T. J. Edmison, of the Lakefield Methodist church, officiated.

The council met last night but nothing special was done. The tender of Jno. Hendren for street watering at $25 per month for five months was accepted. The treasurer's financial statement, showing receipts up to May 1, '98, $1,753.95, and disbursements, $1,649.10, all since Jan. 1, '98. Road and sidewalk committee reported as to work to be done. Finance report, $90.39, was adopted. Moved by Dr. Frazer, seconded by Mr. Burges, that the clerk be instructed to write Mr. R. B. Rogers with regard to the approaches to the village bridge being completed at once and that the sidewalks be put down for convenience of pedestrians crossing over said bridge. —Carried. Mrs. Clark was granted relief of $2.

The Black Cap.

There is one particular part of the dress belonging to the order of the coif—the black cap—which the judges in England always put over their wigs when passing sentence of death. Little is known concerning this black cap, and many mistakes have been made about it. Mr. Sergeant Pulling, in his work "The Order of the Coif," says: "The black cap, or sentence cap, of the judges and sergeants is certainly not the coif, as Lord Campbell repeatedly states. It is, on the contrary, the covering expressly assigned to veil the coif on the only occasion when the coif was required to be hidden. By the ancient privileges of the sergeants the coif was not to be taken off even in the royal presence. The chief insignia of the order was to be so displayed when sitting on the bench or pleading at the bar, but this rule seems always to have been departed from in passing sentence of death.

"The head of the administrator of justice was then covered, as a token of sorrow, by the black sentence cap. This cornered cap, black cap, or sentence cap, as it is sometimes termed, is a piece of limp black cloth, which is put on the top of the wig. The cap is rarely put on, except when a prisoner has been convicted of murder, and then the judge places the cap on the top of his wig and passes sentence of death."—Gentleman's Magazine.

Analogous Reasoning.

A poet proffering his work to an editor said:

"This is a small poem, but quality is the main thing. I venture to think you'll find it true poetry."

Having read it the editor put it into a drawer and, handing the poet a 10 cent piece, said:

"This is a smallish coin, but I am so bold as to hope that you will be pleased with its purity. It is nearly all silver."—San Francisco Examiner.

"Lay" Plates.

In caring for the table during a dinner party it is customary to reserve the most valuable or artistic plates for the "lay service." The scheme of providing does not permit the guest to be without a plate before him, and between the courses plates are laid at each cover, one laid down while the used plate is removed. Cauldon Copeland and Royal Worcester china are much liked for "lay plates."—Philadelphia Press.

A Diagnosis.

Maude—Do you know, I really believe that Tom is going to propose.

Bertha—I noticed that he was looking terribly sad about something or other, but then, you know, dear, it may not be that. Perhaps his mother is sick, or possibly he isn't feeling well himself.—Boston Transcript.

The Germans and Saxons drank their wine and beer from horns unprovided with handles or feet, so that the horn had to be emptied by each drinker.

Our New Serial

We call attention to the new serial story just started in the Times. It is intensely interesting, and should be popular with all.

Flower Thieves

During the last few days a number of our citizens have lost some of their best flowers from beds in front of their houses. On Sunday night the best flowers from Mr. J. B. McWilliams' flower beds were taken. The public are asked to watch for the thieves—not only their own flowers but their neighbors as well. Should the thief or thieves be caught, as they undoubtedly will if they continue in their course, an example will be made of them.

The Late Mrs. M. Cavanagh

Monday evening the death of Mrs. Michael Cavanagh occurred at the homestead, lot 3, concession 8, Ennismore. The deceased had an operation performed early in the spring, from the effects of which she never compeltely recovered and to this is attributed her death. Mrs. Cavanagh was one of the oldest residents of the district, being born in the township of Emily in 1837. A husband and eleven children survive. The funeral will take place to-day at nine o'clock a. m., interment being in the Ennismore cemetery.

ON TO KINGSTON

The Rangers Decided Unanimously Last Night in Favor of Kingston

Notwithstanding the heavy rainfall last night the gallant "Rangers" turned out 106 strong for drill and put in a good night's work.

Recruits are flocking to the ranks in droves and the battalion will soon be up to its normal strength.

During the evening the men expressed themselves—through the non-commissioned officers—as being favorable to visiting Kingston on May 24th, and consequently Kingston will be graced by the presence of the "Rangers" on the Queen's Birthday.

The battalion will leave on the Saturday evening preceding the 24th and remain over until the evening of the 24th.

The total strenth of the battalion, including both brass and bugle bands, will reach the 300 mark and the boys may confidently be expected to give a good account of themselves in the Limestone City.

The following orders were issued at last night's drill:

Headquarters,
Peterborough, May 11th, 1898.
Orders by Lieut.-Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding 57th Batt. of Infantry, P. R.

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending May 21st: Officer for the week, Capt. Stevenson; next for duty, Capt. Hayes. Bugler for the week, Bugler Galley; next for duty, Bugle-Sergt. Sharpe.

No 2.—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions: To be Quartermaster Sergeant (Prov.) T. H. Firth, late Quartermaster-Sergt. of the Winnipeg Field Battery; B. Co., to be Sergt., Corp. G. Harris; B. Co., to be Corp. (prov.) Pte. C. McIntyre; E Co., to be Col.-Sergt., Sergt. W. Roberts; E Co., to be Sergt., Corp. A. Ringer.

By order,
CAPT. MORROW.
Adjutant.

Not a drill should be missed between now and the 24th. Every member should take sufficient interest in the welfare of the regiment to turn out regularly and thus advance the best interests of the battalion.

MR. J. J. KELSO

Superintendent of Children's Rescue Work, Delivers an Address in the Opera House Last Night

Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of the Childrens' Rescue Work in the province, delivered an able and instructive address in the Opera House last night.

Owing to the heavy downpour of rain the audience was not very large, and the meeting probably lacked the enthusiasm that otherwise would have been manifested had the elements been more propitious.

As the lecture was listened to by all the practical, hardworking members of the Childrens' Aid Society, it will no doubt bear good results.

The work carried on by the local Childrens' Aid Society is more important than that of any other kindred organization in the town. In fact we believe that a more beneficial institution does not exist in our midst to-day.

The work the Society accomplishes is a splendid illustration of practical christianity, Ana one which our churches would do well to emulate.

Practice and preaching are entirely different subjects—particularly as applied to circumstances of common, every-day life.

Theory is all right in its place but it has mighty little effect on public morals as compared with its practical application.

RAILWAY NOTES

The C.P.R. Freight Department is Very Much Rushed Just Now

President Pusey, of the I. B. & O. R.R., hopes to lay rails into Bancroft this fall. Over 50 men are at work, clearing the right of way, and have now advanced as far as Bird's Creek, about four miles from the village.

A brakeman named Brown, of the Belleville mixed, got his left hand caught while making a coupling in the yard here Friday night. The middle finger was pinched and lacerated, the flesh being stripped from the bone.

Every freight wheel on this division was turning yesterday. No less than twelve heavy corn-laden trains passed through from Midland to Belleville, changing crews at Lindsay. The majority of the trains consisted of 22 cars, but three sent out with two engines attached were made up of 35 cars each. The rush is unprecedented, and is due to the early arrival of the grain fleet. As four or five vessels have already arrived, and others are on the way with large cargoes, it was absolutely necessary that the elevator should be emptied as speedily as possible, hence the Sunday rush.

The C.P.R. freight department is very much rushed just now.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Interesting Items of Local and District Happenings in Brief

—Everybody reads the Times.

—Wheat sold at $1.05 per bushel on the local market yesterday morning.

—The expenses of the East Victoria candidates in the recent contest were: J. H. Carnegie, $509.90; J. Austin, $286.54.

—Some men know enough to come in when it rains, and others know enough to provide themselves with umbrellas, so that they won't have to.

—The High School and University matriculation examinations for 1898 begin on the following dates: Form I., Monday, July 4; Form II. and commercial specialist, Wednesday, July 6; Forms III. and IV., Friday, July 8.

—Cobourg is going in for cement pavements. Tenders were recently called for a section, and prices ranged from $1,300—the figure of a local man—to $834, put in by the Guelph Paving Co. The latter tender was accepted, as it covered all curbing, and work about gratings. This is at the rate of 12c. per foot, and as owners pay half the cost of construction, the cost to the town will be the same as the first cost of a plank walk, while the cement pavement will last for years with but a trifling outlay for repairs.

A PLEASING EVENT

Last Night Under the Auspices of the Mission Band of St. Paul's Church

A very pleasing event took place at St. Paul's church last night under the auspices of the Faithful Workers' Mission Band of the church.

The programme, which consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, kindergarten exercises, etc., was rendered in a maner which called forth much favorable criticism from the large audience present.

Chairman Tope performed his duties in a highly creditable manner. He kept the audience in good humor throughout and certainly displayed much ability in handling a programme and an audience.

The programme was as follows:

Duet—Misses Morley and Alice Hall.

Recitation—Miss Mary Menzies.

Kindergarten Drill Exhibition — A Dozen Little Tots.

Vocal Solo—Miss Montgomery.

Recitation—Miss Lexia Howson.

Violin Solo, with piano accompaniment—Mesdames Best and Crane.

Sunflower Song—By Six Children.

Piano Duet—Little Misses Leach and Munroe.

Kindergarten Exercises—By Twelve Little Tots.

Recitation—Master Holdan Blackwell.

Vocal Duet—Misses Crane and Dawson.

Piano Solo—Miss Helen Dennistoun.

The whole concluded with a "Good Night Drill" by ten little girls, dressed in night robes and carrying candles in their hands. They were led by little Misses Elinor Collins and Mattie Robertson.

We think we are safe in saying that a better pleased audience never left St. Paul's church.

The little folk certainly did themselves proud and their next entertainment will be awaited with eagerness.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE

The Action of Miles vs. Campbell Dismissed With Costs

The High Court of Justice continued its sitting yesterday before Mr. Justice Robertson.

Miles vs. Campbell.—The plaintiff is a farmer residing in Dummer. The defendant, a merchant and money lender of Keene. The late Mr. John Burnham, as solicitor for Campbell, sold Miles, a farm, the east half the 6th in the 4th of Dummer, for $2,2660, receiving a cash payment of $1,060, and a mortgage for the balance in favor of Campbell, providing for payment of any amount at any time. Miles went on paying principal and interest for two years until the mortgage was fully paid, getting receipts from Mr. Burnham for each payment. After Mr. Burnham's death Miles wanted a discharge of his mortgage. Mr. Campbell refused to give it, alleging that he had received from Mr. Burnham the interest but no principal. The action was brought to compel Mr. Campbell to give a discharge

The evidence showed that since 1884 Burnham had acted as solicitor for Campbell, investing for him a great deal of money in numerous mortgages, receiving the interest and principal and paying it over to Campbell. Campbell kept a mortgage book in which was entered these payments, and when Burnham wanted a mortgage discharged the discharge was either signed by Campbell at the office or Keene, and sent Burnham by mail. Campbell admitted that all the interest and principal on these mortgages was paid to him through Burnham. He never saw Miles or had dealings with him until after Burnham's death. Burnham made many investments for Campbell on his own valuation, Campbell not seeing the property. The plaintiff stated that at the time he gave the mortgage to Burnham, Burnham told him to pay the interest and principal thereon at his office; that he knew Burnham was acting for Campbell and that he paid into Burnham as Campbell's solicitor. The plaintiff contended that the continuous receipt by Burnham of Campbell's interest and principal, representing a great many mortgages and received by Campbell with foreknowledge, was an acknowledgement of Burnham's authority to receive the money and created Burnham his agent for that purpose. The defendant relied on the general law, that a solicitor without authority, expressed or implied, is not authorized to receive either interest or principal.

The Court held in this case that the payment to Burnham was as consistent with Miles paying to Burnham to be given Campbell, as his own solicitor, as his paying to Burnham as Campbell's solicitor, and that there was not sufficient evidence to justify him in concluding that Burnham had authority from Campbell to receive the money; and the action was dismissed with costs, with leave to appeal.

Dumble & Johnston for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendant.

The case of Knox vs. McNeilly was next taken up, and was not finished when the court rose.

The West Peterborough License Commissioners met at their rooms on Water street yesterday morning to decide which of the four hotels that were held over from last meeting should be granted licenses for this year. T. E. Bradburn and Ellen Halpin were granted licenses for the Little Windsor and American hotels respectively, while the licenses of A. Rountree and S. Holland, for the Royal Oak and Southern hotels were extended for three months, these latter two then expiring. Next year three more licenses are to be cut off.

A COSY SPOT

The Children's Aid Society Shelter on Charlotte Street

Yesterday afternoon a Times reporter had the pleasure of taking a look through the cosy quarters of the Childrens' Aid Society's Shetler on Charlotte Street.

The spotless cleanliness of the cots, the nicely arranged furnishings and the general air of homelike comfort that pervaded the entire establishment created a most favorable impression on the Times' representative, and certainly reflected the greatest credit on the matron—Mrs. Miller—who appears to understand her duties thoroughly.

The Childrens' Aid Society have certainly been most fortunate in their choice of a matron.

The beautiful grounds adjoining the Shelter are kept in excellent condition. Nothing, however trifling, appears to miss the eyes of the Society's agent, Mr. Miller, and as a consequence the grounds present at all times an appearance creditable in the extreme.

An artistically arranged 5 o'clock tea service adorned a table in the dining room when our representative called, and if the oriental splendor of the service, combined with the entrancing odors of the aromatic tea plant failed to arouse the discoursive talents of the fair guests, then we say that their bumps of imagination must have represented a minus quantity.

The object of this little 5 o'clock tea service display was the entertainment of the Board of Management and Mr. Kelso, the superintendent for the province of the Childrens' Rescue Work.

The tea was tendered the visitors later and was much appreciated.

Mrs. Miller is certainly right at home in her capacity as matron and does the position immense credit.

He has a very thrifty look about him, and is putting on weight in his advancing years. Peterborough evidently agrees with him. His many friends in Orillia were pleased to see him, and his hand was well shaken, whenever he appeared on the street. Mr. Whiten has leased his handsome residence to Mr. W. H. SPAIN IS AFTER ADMIRAL DEWEY

40,000 Spanish Troops Ordered to the Front

AN EXPEDITION FOR THE PHILIPPINES

The U. S. Navy Department Has Decided to Have the Cruiser Charleston Start at Once on its Relief Mission to Admiral Dewey's Fleet at Manila—Orders are Imperative and Admit of no Delay

(Special Despatches to the Times, 4 a.m.)

RELIEF FOR DEWEY

Washington, May 11.—The Navy Department has decided to have the cruiser Charleston start at once on its relief mission to Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila. The orders issued anticipate the departure of the Charleston from San Francisco to-day if it is possible to get the ammunition and stores aboard, and she will leave without waiting to convey the City of Pekin and the other ships loaded with supplies. The order to the Commandant of navy yard at Ware Island is to put on board the Charleston all the ammunition she will carry so long as her steaming capacity is not retarted. It is the understanding there that at least 150 tons of ammunition can be put on board. By extraordinary efforts on the part of the authorities all the powder, shot and shell requisite for this relief expedition have been assembled at San Francisco already. The ammunition includes five hundred rounds of big projectiles for the eight inch guns of the Olympia, about 20,000 six inch shells and 10,000 five inch shells, as all the cruisers of Admiral Dewey's fleet mount five inch and six inch guns. Owing to hurried departure of the Charleston it is not expected that she will take any considerable number of troops. These will follow later.

She has a crew of about three hundred men and this probably will be augmented by a marine guard of a few hundred men.

ANOTHER EXPEDITION

Tampa, Fla., May 11.—There is good reason to believe that inside of 24 hours another expedition with the same purpose and destination as that of the Gussie which left there yesterday loaded with arms and ammunition and supplies for the Cuban insurgents will ship from Fort Tampa. The Florida, one of the Plant line boats chartered by the Government for use as a transport has taken on a large cargo of Springfield rifles and ammunition and the stalls for horses and mules have been completed. The boat is lying at the dock with full steam up and no one is allowed on board. General Wade went out to the port to-day and held a long conference with Supt. Fitzgerald of the Plant line of steamers, and it is believed that orders were given to have the boat ready for sailing at a moment's notice.

GOVERNMENT OF SPAIN AFTER DEWEY

London, May 11.—Special despatches from Madrid say it is officially declared that the Government of Spain has no intention of allowing Rear Admiral Dewey to rest upon his laurels. About 40,000 men from the reserves of the Spanish army have been ordered to regain the colors, and it is added that a formidable expedition is being organized for despatch at the Philippine Islands.

RED CROSS SOCIETY'S WORK.

New York, May 11.—The members of the American Red Cross Society who left New York with the idea of succoring the starving reconcentrados in Cuba have found an excellent field for their labors in Key West, where there are nearly two hundred Spaniards, mostly fishermen, prisoners on vessels captured while running the blockade, and without means of subsistence. Most of these unfortunate men have lived on fish since they were captured and none of them have a chance to obtain food, as under the law they are not permitted to leave their vessels.

The naval officers have no authority to supply the captives with food, so their lot is far from being enviable.

When Miss Clara Barton received word of their plight she sent Dr. Egan, the chief medical officer of the expedition, with several attendants around among the prizes to distribute food. When the prize cases are settled the Government will care for and feed the men taken on board the captured vessels.

The prize commissioners have decided to recommend the release of the steamer Miguel Jover, on the ground that the time for her departure from an American port has not elapsed. The Miguel Jover is one of the finest vessels captured by the blockading squadron, and her release means the loss of nearly $700,000 to her captors. It is said that the Buena Ventura, the first ship taken, has been held to be a lawful prize.

SPANISH HOARDS COMING OUT.

Madrid, May 11.—The latest news is the rise in the peseta. Nobody until yesterday suspected how much gold existed in Spain, a country where you may live for years and never see the yellow coin. Yesterday morning crowds brought for exchange to the foreign banks nondescript coins, twenty, fifty and one hundred years old, Spanish, Portugese, French and English. The financiers were taken completely by surprise. To prevent the rise in bread the Government is negotiating for the purchase of 100,000 sacks of flour in Belgium.

KILLING STILL CONTINUES.

Hong Kong, May 11.—The Philippine rebel chief, Aguinaldo, has instructed the insurgents at Manila to obey Commodore Dewey and U. S. Consul Williams. Killing still goes on in the outlying districts, where the natives are revenging themselves on the priests and local Spanish officials in spite of Aguinaldo. Wealthy Philippine families who are leaving Hong Kong for Manila daily ask to be allowed to take the oath of allegiance to the United States. The powerful Cortes family insisted on having their prayer for citizenship telegraphed to President McKinley, and offered their palaces in Manila for the accommodation of American officers.

SAMPSON ORDERED BACK.

Washington, May 11.—After a conference of the Naval Board it was decided that Rear Admiral Sampson should not attempt to seize Porto Rico but should return to Key West and begin operations at once against Havana. Admiral Sampson will reach a point off San Juan, the capital of Porto Rico, to-morrow afternoon. A scouting vessel will take him the information that the Spanish fleet is at Cadiz and tell him to return to Key West. The squadron will then sail for American waters, arriving off Key West about Monday. The Administration will for the present consolidate all its power on the capture of Cuba, the invasion of which will have begun in earnest by Tuesday of next week. Rear Admiral Sampson will begin an attack on Havana about the middle of the week. General Shafter's land forces will attack the Cuban capital about the same time, and it is expected that in 48 hours the city will be in the hands of the Americans.

Orders were sent to Captain Clark, commander of the battleship Oregon at Bahia, Brazil, that the Cape verde fleet has been located at Cadiz, that the coast was now clear, and to proceed home. The Oregon and the gunboat Marietta will reach Key West in fifteen days.

RELIEF EXPEDITION.

Cadiz, May 11.—The War and Naval Departments are advancing preparations for a relief expedition to the Philippines, which it is said will be composed of eight thousand regular soldiers and two battalions of marines. Instructions have been sent to General Augusti to hold out as long as possible, fifty days being required for the arrival of an expedition going by way of the Suez Canal and the the Red Sea.

The commander of the squadron conveying the relief will be Admiral Butler, if Admiral Camara elects to remain in charge of the remaining vessels of the reserve fleet.

POINT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

London, May 11.—The project is treated by military and naval experts here as a mere bluff. In the first place it is considered that the Spanish Government needs all the troops it can muster to maintain its dynasty at home. Secondly, the reserve squadron cannot possibly be ready for a month. Thirdly, there would be the insuperable coaling difficulty for the ships for a voyage of 8,000 miles. Some doubt is expressed whether Spain could send a relief expedition through the Suez Canal. The convention between the great powers concluded in 1883 provides that the canal shall be open to all nations on condition that no act of hostility shall be committed in the canal, or its approaches. The vessels of war of belligerents shall not revictual or take stores, except so far as may be strictly necessary.

The question whether the Spanish fleet could coal at neutral ports on the way to the Philippines raises a novel point of international law, and if the fleet sails at all it is believed that it will probably have a rendezvous with colliers sent in advance at different points along the route.

STRAINING EVERY NERVE.

Washington, May 11.—The War Department is straining every effort to hasten troops to Florida and the transportation to Cuba will begin in a few hours. The department will not depend on the insurgents for much help. Officials say that Cuba will be in possession of the United States before June.

BLANCO IS ABANDONED.

Madrid, May 11.—Although the Chambers have voted war credits it is not the intention of the Government to send relief to General Blanco. Cuba, it is said, should be able to support the army now there.

A RAILROAD BATTLESHIP.

San Bernardino, Cal., May 11.—The railroads of this State are raising a fund to build a battleship for the Government.

TRIED TO POISON THE REGIMENT

Atlanta, Ga., May 11.—A special from Mobile, Ala., says: A second dastardly attempt to poison the infantry regiment at Camp Mobile has been made. Several days ago some days ago some soldiers found in the creek which runs alongside the grounds a sack filled with absorbed cotton, which had been saturated with arsenic and tied down beneath a rock which juts out into the stream at a point just above the place where the soldiers get their drinking water. By accident a trooper discovered the deadly trap, removed the sack, and upon the contents being revealed reported his find to the commanding officer. Strict orders were given not to mention the incident and as the matter was hushed up. Since that day, however, the creek has been closely watched and vigilance was rewarded when Corporal John Sullivan, of Company A, 16th Infantry, found a poison bag loaded with arsenic and anchored down just as in the first instance.

Spanish spies are known to be lurking in the neighborhood, where a number of Spaniards reside. They are all under strict scrutiny and sensational disclosures are looked for. No one doubts that agents of Spain are responsible.

FORCED TO CROSS THE SEA.

Washington, May 11.—Ex-Secretary of Navy Herbert says: If the Spanish fleet has gone to Cadiz, I think the Spaniards will get together as strong a fleet as possible and then sail for America. I do not think it will be necessary for us to attack the Spanish coast. The Spanish navy will be forced to come here and give battle. No dynasty could live in Spain that would refuse to do this.

BLOWN UP.

Gibraltar, May 11.—A British str. which has just arrived reports officially that she passed yesterday evening, a Spanish torpedo boat destroyer which was guarding Algiers bay and the Straits. Shortly after the steamer passed her, all the lights of the destroyer were suddenly extinguished a terrific explosion followed immediately and the destroyer disappeared. The disaster, the despatch from Gibraltar adds, was apparently caused by the explosion of the boiler of the torpedo boat destroyer, and it is feared that all on board of her have perished.

IT WAS THE DETSRUCTOR.

London, May 11.—The Spanish torpedo boat destroyer reported blown up near Gibraltar is probably the Destructor. The Destructor was a steel torpedo gunboat, 192 feet six inches long, 458 tons displacement and had a crew of 55 men. She was capable of a speed of 22 knots; her normal coal supply was 104 tons, she was steel clad without protective armor; her main battery consisted of one 3.5 inch gun, three torpedo tubes, and her secondary battery of four rapid fire six pounders and four machine guns.

PUNISHED FOR DISOBEDIENCE.

New York, May 11.—Governor Black has disbanded the Thirteenth Regiment of Brooklyn, forr disobedience of orders and thus wiped out of existence the oldest body of militiamen in Brooklyn. It will be remembered that the regiment refused to respond to the call for volunteers unless its organization was preserved intact, thereby arousing the displeasure of the Governor and that of all patriotic Americans. There is some talk of an appeal to the courts, as both officers and men feel deeply the stigma cast upon them.

TOBACCO TAX INCREASED.

Washington, May 11.—The Senate Committee on Finance decided to increase the tax on manufactured tobacco in the war revenue bill from 12 cents, the House rate, at 16 per pound, and to exempt the stock on hand.

THE MOB RAMPANT.

London, May 11.—A special despatch from Madrid says a mob burned a huge grain warehouse there early this morning. The structure was reported to be a total loss.

TO SAIL AT ONCE.

Washington, May 11.—The cruiser Charleston will leave San Francisco to-day with ammunition and relief supplies for Admiral Dewey, without waiting for the rest of the relief steamers.

TO DISCUSS INTERVENTION.

Washington, May 11.—It is understood that a meeting of the representation of the powers here will be held this evening and discuss intervention of the powers to end the war. In inside circles it is believed the end of the war is in sight.

PRACTICALLY ENDED

London, May 11.—On the stock exchange here to-day the report that the Spanish Cape Verde squadron had returned to Cadiz was generally discredited, though the effect of the seeming backdown of Spain was beneficial. At the close there was a good demand for both Spanish and American securities the leading operators confidently believing that the war was practically ended. American stocks closed booming and Spanish fours sold up to 35.

DALTON McCARTHY DEAD

Died Last Night at 9 O'clock at His Residence in Toronto

The Member for Simcoe Fatally Injured in a Runaway—Concussion of the Brain and a Broken Rib Causes Death—Full Details

(Special to the Times.)

A special dispatch to The Times last night, announced the death, at 9 p.m., in Toronto, of Dalton McCarthy, M. P., as a result of an accident sustained on Monday.

On Monday deceased had made arrangements to leave for Ottawa by the 9 p.m. train, and on getting into his carriage at the door of the Beverley street residence to go to the railway station, his horse was restive and Mr. McCarthy took the lines in his own hands and Thomas Taylor the coachman sat behind. At the corner of Beverley and Sullivan streets the Baptist church was emptying out its congregation, and the horse shied as it passed. The animal swerved right across the street and the left wheel of the high rig struck the curbing violently. The coachman was thrown out and the horse and carriage with Mr. McCarthy in it swept madly down Beverley street. On reaching Queen the runaway turned eastwards and the carriage was dashed against the curbstone in front of the Queen street fire hall where it upset. The driver still hung on to the reins but the carriage turned over upon him and he was dragged along the street for about 100 feet before the harness broke.

Mr. McCarthy was carried unconscious bleeding and covered with dust into the store of Druggist E. G. Lemaitre.

The injured man who was breathing heavily was gently laid on the floor with pillows under his head and pieces of ice were applied to his right hand, the little finger of which was dislocated. Dr. Pepler was telephoned for. He summoned to his aid Drs. Grassett and Burnham, who examined Mr. McCarthy's injuries, which consisted of some dreadful cuts and bruises including an injury to his right side.

Taylor, the coachman, was also badly bruised and sustained an injury to his back that may prove serious.

The accident proved fatal at 9 o'clock last night, and thus a prominent figure in Canadian public life has passed over to the great majority.

The French Peasant.

The French peasant has an independent means of existence. He owns the soil he tills. If he employs laborers, they at least will own a house and garden and hope to own a plot. The English villager is either a small tradesman or a laborer. A garden which he cultivates but does not own is, as a rule, the extent of his possessions. There are two classes in an Engish village, and these may be subdivided into various religious sects. There is only one class in our French commune—a fact which has a material bearing upon the social economy of the community. Every inhabitant of the commune is a proprietor of something, and all are bent on saving; yet, with all their individualism, they combine for common and mutual interest. This is illustrated by the organisation of the syndicate for buying at wholesale prices. They unite for the cultivation of the soil, lending each other horses and making up teams. Every commune has a field, which is common property and where, on payment of a trifling fee, animals graze. After the harvest all the fields become common property, and the gros betail and the other betail are allowed to roam at large.—Contemporary Review.

It Couldn't Be Worse.

Mrs. Millem is one of those inoffensive persons who are continually dreading that they may by some mischance hurt the feelings of others. Added to this she has had considerable trouble in getting a suitable cook and does not wish to offend her.

"John," she said to the manservant on the morning following the party, "do you happen to know whether—that is—I mean, can you find out, without asking the cook, whether the tinned salmon was all eaten last night? You see, I don't wish to ask her because she may have eaten it, and then she would feel uncomfortable," added the good soul.

"If you please, ma'am," replied the man, "the new cook has eaten the tinned salmon, and if you was to say anything to her you couldn't make her more uncomfortable than she is."—Pearson's Weekly.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Great Britain and Ireland combined have an area of 120,979 square miles. The Philippine Islands embrace almost the same extent of land. Their exact area is slightly uncertain, because in the first place there are some 1,400 islands in the group, rendering an accurate survey somewhat difficult; and in the second place, although the Spaniards have ruled the islands for three hundred years they have never taken the trouble to thoroughly explore the territory. The total area is estimated to be 114,356 square miles.

Luzon, the largest island, is given an area of 40,054 square miles, but Mindanao is almost as large. The area of England is 50,867 square miles. The Philippines will thus be understood to comprise a very large territory, and it is also a populous one. Owing to the looseness of Spanish rule and statistics, there is much more uncertainty about the population than about the area. A census in 1876 made the population 6,173,632 while an estimate in 1882 claimed as many as 10,426,000. The population is certainly much larger than that of Canada, and possibly twice as large. But there are only 10,000 to 15,000 Europeans or whites among the number. There are several hundred thousand Chinese, a few score thousands of negritos or aborigines and several million Malays of various tribes. Thirty languages are officially recognized on the islands.

Manila, the capital, is estimated to have a population of 175,000 or about the same as Toronto. The next largest city is Lipa, with only 43,408.

The revenue of the islands is about $14,000 a year, or one-third that of Canada; the foreign trade is $60,000,000 or about one quarter of ours. The chief exports are hemp, sugar, coffee, tobacco, cigars and indigo. There are valuable gold and coal mines. It will be seen that the territory which is falling like an over-ripe peach into Uncle Sam's maw is no less than a great kingdom and a possession far more extensive than Cuba. The area of Cuba for instance is but 41,655 square miles, barely larger than either Luzon or Mindanao in the Philippines, while the population of Cuba is but 1,631,687. Possibly the trade of Cuba has been more valuable, owing to the great American market at its doors, that the Philippines have greater natural resources is undoubted. By her crazy treatment of Cuba, in sptie of all warning omens, Spain has thrown away not only Cuba, like all her other possessions on the western hemisphere, but a greater than Cuba in the eastern hemisphere, and when the war is ended will possibly find herself bereft of every shred of colonial territory whether in the old world or the new.

The two fleets seem to be excellent dodgers.

When two opposing men-of-war meet in a struggle more or less formality is natural. Hence their facing each other with a rather stiff bow.

• • •

A Spanish spy was caught in New Orleans and he was simply arrested. Some may be found hanging about other localities later on.

• • •

There is no uncertainty as to the whereabouts of the Spanish squadron of the Pacific.

A live private was discovered on the outskirts of the city last night. A company of seventy colonels has been chasing him ever since, but there is no news of his capture.

Stop It

The people of Peterborough have been educated in an uncleanly habit of throwing paper upon the street. Merchants tear up their correspondence and fling it in the gutter as they walk. Shopkeepers on the side streets sweep out wrapping paper from their stores. The housewives cave old newspapers cast into the lanes behind their dwellings, and the wind scatters the sheets wild about the locality. All this prohibited by a by-law. The nuisance is not only unsightly, but criminal on account of the danger of frightening horses, and the committers of it should be warned at once that the prosecution will be rigorous.

The Kidneys

are the seat or the starting point of many maladies, all of them serious, all more or less painful, and all of them tending, unless cured, to a fatal end. No organs of the body are more delicate or more sensitive than the kidneys. When symptoms of disease appear in them not a moment is to be lost if health is to be restored. The best way to treat the kidneys is through the blood, cleansing it from the poisonous matter which is usually at the bottom of kidney complaints. For this purpose there is no remedy equal to
